Group Writes to Abandon Bridge

A letter from Fred Telder signed by 84 residents of the Ada area was read, and placed on file Tuesday, April 9th, at a meeting of the Kent County Road Commission. Contents of the letter request the road commission not to accept the present bridge after the new one is finished. The letter from Mr. Telder states it is, "inadvisable, unnecessary and would serve no good purpose and is not to the best interests of the residents in the area to accept the span."

Previous to this date the road commission had received a letter from a group of residents known as the Greater Ada Safety Committee requesting the present bridge be left intact and used for local traffic making it safer for drivers by eliminating many left-hand turns to cross M 21. The Greater Ada Safety Committee, Joseph R. Gillard, chairman, was joined by two groups, Ada Lions club and the Kent County Conservation league in the request to retain the bridge.

Otto S. Hess, engineer-manager of the commission, has stated that the commission is in no hurry to give a decision in the matter because the new bridge won't be open until November and he'll wait until warm weather to have commission engineers thoroughly inspect the bridge to determine its condition.

New School Plans Near Completion

Plans and working drawings for the new Forest Hills High School are being worked on feverishly by architects Daverman and Perkins and Wells. The Board of Education is meeting with these technicians very frequently to hasten the erection of the building by the summer of 1958. It is expected that the contracts will be let before long. O'Bryon and Knapp have completed the drawings for a 4 room addition to the Collins school and bids will be sought within a few days.

Seek Teachers

Harold Chambers, Superintendent of Forest Hills School, is seeking applicants for teaching positions. Several teachers have been approved by the Board of Education, the names of which will appear in the next issue of Suburban Life.

Positions to be filled as yet are in the early elementary grades. Two experienced and trained kindergarten teachers are especially needed.

Hold Man for Break-In At Buttrick's Store

The arrest of a man by the Grand Haven State police led to the questioning of a 20-year-old Grand Rapids youth Sunday and Monday. The youth being held in the Kent county jail, was implicated in breaking and entering Buttrick's grocery at Cascade March 21. Sheriff's deputies said the youth denied being involved and was to be questioned further. Approximately $10 was taken from the cash register at Buttrick's Grocery store.

ENTER HOSPITAL

Sexton for Ada Cemetery, Stanley Staskus and Boyd Anderson will continue as sexton for Findley cemetery.

Announce Blacktop Plans

Supervisor Fase announced that Bailey drive will be blacktopped this summer, continuing from the present blacktop to McCabe road. This will include widening "Devil's Elbow" there eliminating a dangerous curve.

A request for $50 was approved for the Ada Township Library to purchase a new desk.

The motion was made and accepted to limit the duties of the constables as set up by state law rather than accept the suggestion to deputize these officers thereby making it necessary to bond them.

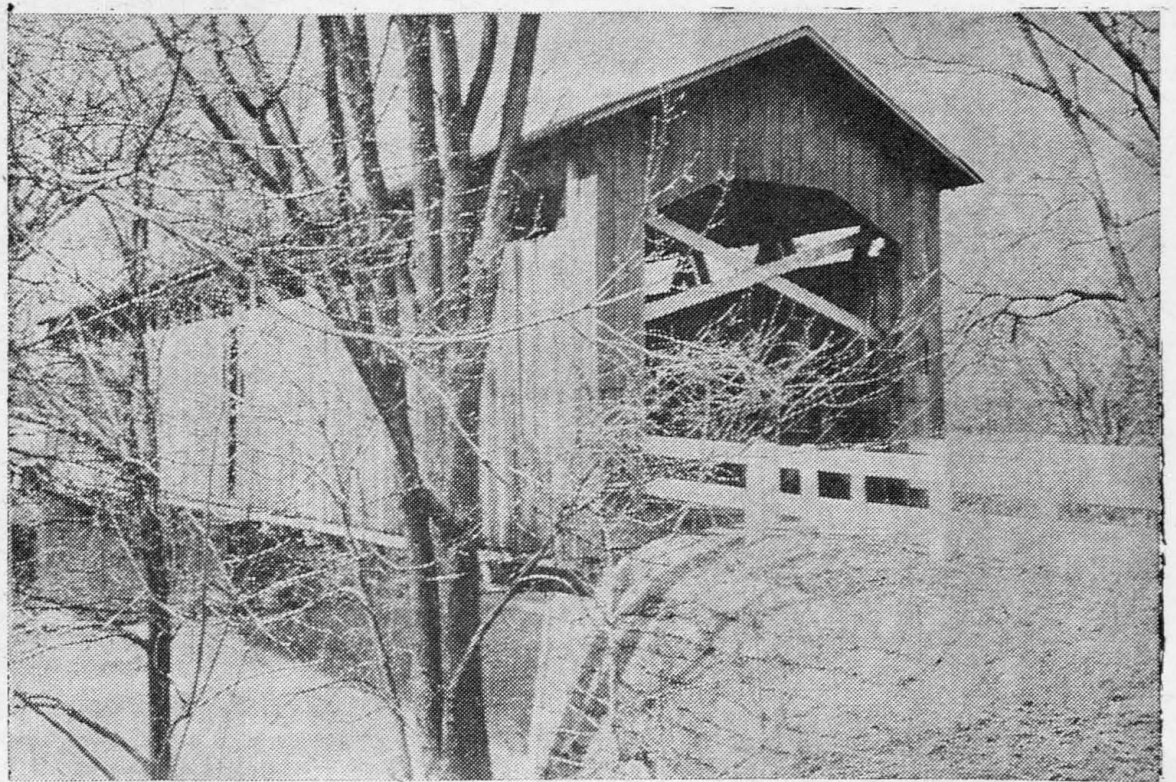

Application was made for permission for a "class C" tavern license to sell beer, wine and liquor to be taken under consideration after the 1960 census has been taken in Ada township. No action was taken by the board and it was decided to table the application for 30 days.

Building permits were granted as follows, covering a period from March 2-April 6, a total of $87,000. New homes: Conservation rd.—$15,000; Ada dr.—$12,000; Thornapple Downs Plat—$15,000; Grand River dr.—$27,000 duplex; Apple Plat—$11,000. Additions to three present homes total $7,000.

bridges in Kent County. The other bridge is over Flat River at Fallsburg and is still being used by automobiles.

Cascade Pharmacy Damaged by Fire

A passing motorist turned in a fire alarm Friday morning at 1:00 a. m. reporting a fire at the Cascade Pharmacy, 6859 Cascade rd. The fire was confined to the basement, damage to the first floor was caused mainly by smoke. Heat was so great that a plastic piece on a light fixture melted.

Defective electric wiring, in the basement, was believed to be the cause of the blaze. It was necessary to chop a hole in the floor to completely extinguish the fire. Damage was estimated at $5,000 by Sybrant Dykhouse, Fire Chief of the Cascade fire department.

The County fire unit from Ada assisted in fighting the fire. The two departments fought the fire efficiently and later placed a pump in the basement to remove the water.

Chas. Weston, proprietor of the Cascade Pharmacy plans to be open for business this Friday.

Athletic Boosters Meet April 26

A mass meeting of men interested in helping promote the athletic program of Forest Hills High School will be held in the Ada Gym on Friday night, April 26th.

The School Citizens Committee is the stimulating force back of this move.

Both football and basketball games will be scheduled with the 9th grade next year. Coaches Ed Shy and Ferris Post, together with Principal Ray Price are making the schedules now.

It has been thought that a Booster's Club of some kind should be organized at once to provide some of the necessities for playing next year and for backing the teams.

An interesting program is being planned for the Ada-meeting details of which will be announced soon.

CLEAR $510

The Martin School P. T. A. International Festival held March 31st cleared approximately $510.00 which will go towards purchasing playground equipment and fixing up the playgrounds.

(This report compiled by Darwin Nellist, March 18, 1957.)

On July 7, 1867, the little village of Ada celebrated the opening of the first bridge across the Thornapple River. This bridge was originally constructed by Will Holmes and still stands today as he constructed it, 14 feet in width, 15 feet in height, and 125 feet long. Since that time it has been repaired several times and is used today for pedestrians only.

Where the timbers came from for the beams in this bridge, cannot be clearly established, but it was truly a masterpiece at that time. The lattice work was tied together by long wooden pegs, (since, replaced by wrought iron bolts), and was a near replica of the bridges being built in the New England States at that time. A timber at the Southwest end of the bridge, recently uncovered during some repair work, can still be seen bearing these words, "J. Brown—Patented 1867". This seems to indicate that the design for the structure had been patented by J. Brown.

Moses Whaley, one of the early settlers in the Ada area, arrived there with his father in 1868 at the age of 8, after a tornado had demolished their farm near Owosso, Michigan, and littered their land with trees and stumps. After he and his father had made a new home, his mother and sisters arrived. This boy, in later years, became a highway commissioner, and was directly responsible for getting the timber abutments under each end of the bridge replaced with concrete. The wooden piles were left standing and concrete was poured between them and around them. This was done in approximately 1913.

In 1904 and July of 1905, the two worst floods in the history of this bridge, it was nearly destroyed. Farmers, filled with courage by the thought of losing this bridge, loaded wagons with stone and pulled them onto the bridge to hold it down. They also took boards off from each side to enable the river to flow through the bridge, thus relieving much of the pressure on the wooden beams. They then took a heavy cable, secured it around a large elm at the southwest end of the bridge, and tied it to the bridge for an extra precaution. This cable, though badly rusted and deeply imbedded by the growth of the tree, can still be seen today.

The community at this time was thriving, consisting of a large hotel, a public school, a railroad station, two churches, a blacksmith shop, post-office, two general stores, a basket factory, a sawmill, gristmill and between twenty-five and thirty-five homes. The gristmill was located very near the covered bridge and was owned and operated by John Bradfield. Because of this, the bridge became known as the Bradfield Bridge.

In September, 1930, the Kent County Road Commission opened traffic over a new concrete bridge just north of the old Bradfield Bridge, and the wooden structure was closed to automobile traffic. Approximately eight years later, the Road Commission intended to tear the old bridge down, but appeals from many public organizations stopped them.

In January, 1941, the Road Commission bought an old barn near the bridge and were able to salvage enough lumber to put a new roof and new sides on the bridge. At this time it was found necessary to put on a new creosote-shingle roof, some new beams and to replace many of the rotted supports. The bridge stands thus today with the exception of a few boards on the sides that have been removed by fishermen and floated down the Thornapple River.

This bridge is used today by most Ada residents as a shortcut to the ballpark, a safe route for school-children, and a place where most young lovers will at one time or another, carve their initials.

NOTE: Due to the fact that many of the township records between 1850 and 1900 were lost in a fire, much of this information was obtained from a scrapbook and an old diary that are in the possession of Norman Wride, 7266 Rix Street, Ada. The scrapbook has been put together by Mr. Wride over a period of many years, and the diary belonged to his uncle, Wilbur Wride, who passed away in 1908. Wilbur Wride was a brother-in-law of Moses Whaley mentioned in the article.

Common household items may be used to make an improvised stretcher in a civil defense or other emergency. Possibilities include an ironing board, the leaf of a dining table, a door or a window shutter.

White Rock Yearling Lays 7-Oz. Egg

A White Rock Yearling hen, at the Alvin Wells farm in South Lowell, last week presented to the world a 7-oz egg! Mr. Wells, owner of the 52nd Street farm the past 16 years, is shown examining the prize egg, which has a girth of 7½ inches and an oval circumference of 9½ inches. The other eggs shown, for comparison, are a normal one and a double yolk size. The Wells feel this is quite a record for their farm. Mrs. Wells is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yeiter, and the farm is the former home of her parents. The place has been in the family for 99 years—next year we will be running a story about them when they receive their Michigan Centennial farm certificate!

Says TV Hasn't Hurt Child's Reading Habits

Worried because your child is glued to the TV set instead of to a good book?

You needn't be! "It's true TV viewing has cut into time that might have been spent reading, but in what time youngsters have left for reading it appears they've more selective and—judging by children's book sales—more enthusiastic," says Edward Staheff, associate professor of speech at The University of Michigan.

He says, "It was first feared that the effect of TV on children's reading habits would be completely devastating but families calmed down after the set had been in the house six months or so, and then the librarians found something very strange happening.

"Each week, after 'Mr. I-Magination,' a program which dramatized children's classics, there was a run on the featured classic. TV was creating a new audience of readers, many of them children who had been classed as non-readers but who had suddenly discovered the excitement in good stories. It was also discovered that while children undoubtedly had less time to spend reading they were reading better books and reading more intently when they did read."

You Must Help In Search For Unknown TB Cases

First of a series of three articles by John A. Cowan, M. D., M. P. H., Director, Division of Tuberculosis and Adult Health, Michigan Department of Health.

If you rely on averages, within the next 24 hours at least 14 Michigan people will be told that they have tuberculosis. This contagious disease is reported in Michigan at a rate of 100 new cases every week of the year—about 14 daily. For you and your family—for everyone in Michigan—the high number of tuberculosis cases warns that you still can't count on safety from this disease.

As you probably know, tuberculosis is caused by a germ. Millions of these dangerous, invisible organisms can be passed around unknowingly by a person who has active TB. There is no effective vaccine for your protection. To prevent the spread of tuberculosis, people afflicted with the disease must be found early, before they expose others. Because there are no warning symptoms in its early stages, all of us—even people who look and feel healthy—must cooperate in the search for tuberculosis.

About 5,500 new tuberculosis cases are reported yearly but eight out of ten patients enter Michigan sanatoriums with their disease already advanced. Late discovery gives tuberculosis time to spread.

This is why Michigan needs to press the search for tuberculosis with vigor. It is also why you and members of your family are urged to be checked for tuberculosis... to share in the search to find the disease in time. This can be done through your doctor and here in Kent County in the Christmas Seal X-ray bus of the Kent County

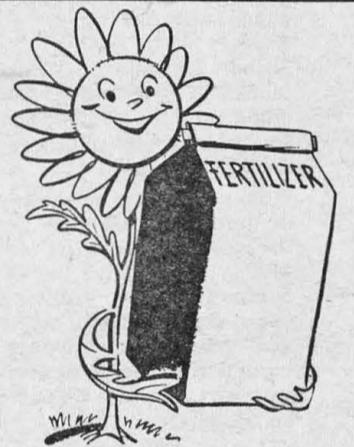

Hot water heaters would provide a good source of uncontaminated water for families forced to remain for days in a basement fallout shelter after a nuclear attack.

Gardening Is a Good Hobby For Everyone

There are garden activities to suit everybody, says Harlowe O. Whittemore, professor of landscape architecture at The University of Michigan.

"Let's suppose we're advising a vigorous busy man who has a fairly large piece of ground, say five to ten acres, of rather poor soil. If this man has proper frost drainage, he could raise fruit trees and experiment with grafting them. He could raise flowering trees, cherries and magnolias. Or he could have a small woodland area and enjoy the birds and animals living in it.

For the man who has more interest in flowers and less space to work in—say a half acre of fairly good soil—the answer might be flowering shrubs and hedges. Shrubs do not require rich soil and they do not need excessive attention. Once started, pruning would be the only problem.

A family with several children but not much money may have back yard space with quite good soil. For them Professor Whittemore suggests a small home vegetable garden. An area of 30 by 40 feet is usually satisfactory for the average family. They could harvest more than $100 worth of vegetables from an investment of $5 in seed.

The landscape architect advises perennial gardening to express artistic temperament. In working a garden of this sort the foresight of an artist in visualizing colors and compositions is absolutely necessary.

About one in five hogs that get to market are meat type. But the demand by the buyer for lean pork is gaining. Looks as though consumers are building a demand faster than farmers are building a supply.

Jim Rooker Wins $100 In Phillips '66' Jackpot

Jim Rooker of Ada Oil Company, Inc., 522 Ada Drive, Ada, Michigan, received a $50 award from John Foley of the Phillips Petroleum Company for giving perfect driveway service to a Phillips "Mystery Motorist". The award was made when the "Mystery Motorist" paid an unheralded and strictly incognito visit to Ada, Michigan, recently.

The picture in the Ada Oil Company Service Station advertisement shows the presentation of the award. The $50 award was matched by the Ada Oil Company and presented by Gordon Svoboda.

To win the award he gave the "Mystery Motorist" the six steps of "Golden Approach" service, which included a friendly approach; checking under the hood of the car; cleaning all the car windows; whisk-brooming the floor mats; checking the tires, and thanking the customer for his purchases. At the conclusion of these services, the customer identified himself as a Phillips "Mystery Motorist" and left a $50 certificate at the service station.

The "Mystery Motorist" is one of more than 2,000 who will this year be rewarding Phillips 66 dealers and their driveway salesmen for giving customers complete driveway service. Dealers and personnel of more than 16,500 Phillips 66 service stations operating in 35 states are eligible to win an award by giving the "Golden Approach" service.

The program is part of a $166,000 Jackpot which Phillips Petroleum Company has established to encourage its dealers and their driveway salesmen to give top driveway service to all customers. As further recognition of driveway performance efficiency, a Jackpot certificate was awarded the Ada Oil Company for display in the station window.

Cascade Mothers Club Activities

On Tuesday April 9th, three of the neighborhood groups met for their monthly meetings. The Burdell group met at the home of Mrs. Vekasi at 10:00 a. m., and the Villagers met at the home of Mrs. June Smith at 10:00 a. m., and the Westway group met at the home of Mrs. Peg Zoellner at 8:00 p. m.

As noted by the paper last week, the Fluoride Clinic for the Forest Hills School District has been approved. The school children were given slips to be returned to school. If these have not been returned, please do so at once, as they must be in Ann Arbor by the 15th. They can be turned in to Martin school, or to any member of the Fluoridation Committee: Mrs. James Carpenter, Mrs. James Shear, or Mrs. Louis Bitto, by April 12th. Pre-school children are also eligible for this Fluoride program.

Health Department Issues Pointers On How to Select Your Home Site

Pointers on how to select a home site were offered to prospective lot buyers recently by the Michigan Department of Health.

Of special importance to health are a home site's surface drainage, sewage disposal and water supply. These three items create greater problems for the individual home owner in unincorporated areas than in towns or cities. But prospective buyers in any location can obtain valuable advance information about a lot or subdivision by inquiring at the local health department.

Surface drainage usually causes the greatest problem in low, flat areas where the soil is dense and water can't seep into the ground. Under such conditions, drainage ditches or covered tile will usually carry surface water away.

The state health department said one way to test seepage is to dig a hole about two feet deep, pour in water and observe the speed at which the water enters the soil. For most accurate results, the test hole should be thoroughly wetted for three or four hours before the test is made.

Soils vary widely in their ability to absorb water. Sandy and gravelly soils are most absorbent. Thick layers of dense clay will stop seepage completely. But if the clay is near the surface and isn't thicker than 12 inches, water can sometimes be made to drain away if seepage trenches or disposal fields are extended through the clay and down to the gravel subsoil.

Unless seepage qualities of the soil are good, sewage disposal systems involving seepage trenches or fields are likely to fail.

The ground water level also can be a problem in sewage disposal. If ground water is encountered at depths of two feet in the spring or four feet in the summer, then the ground water level is too high for good disposal of sewage from septic tanks.

The best solution of the sewage disposal problem both within and outside municipalities is extension of public sewers. But prospective lot buyers should make certain that sewer lines, if available, aren't overloaded or won't soon be overloaded because of residential or commercial expansion.

The adequacy of the water supply in unincorporated areas usually can be gauged from neighbors' experiences with wells. Water also is a problem in incorporated areas where demand exceeds the supply.

In considering the health aspects of a home site, inquiring at the local health department usually will be helpful.

Now there's a liquid water-proofer that you spray on hats, shoes or other clothing to protect them against sudden showers.

Good Credit Established—Bonds Now to be Sold

The Board of Education is about ready to sell the school bonds voted last September. Attorney Strawhecker explained to the Citizens Committee recently that the cause of delay was due to the many details necessary to establish a good credit rating to insure as low a rate of interest as possible.

Since our District is entirely new and not known to prospective bond buyers in Michigan and the East, it is necessary to do a lot of ground work.

Mr. Strawhecker, Auditor Fred Sherk, and superintendent Chambers have been engaged in securing affidavits and facts which will put the school's financial house in order both for present and future bond sales.

Beware of "Bargains" In Nursery Stock

Beware of "sucker bait" this spring when ordering nursery stock because quality trees, shrubs and other nursery items cannot be priced at ridiculously low prices in the opinion of C. A. Boyer, chief of the plant industry division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Already the 1957 nursery catalogs are in many homes. In them are to be found many outstanding new creations as a result of years of constant research and experimental work. There will be several All American selections in addition to numerous old reliable varieties that have given excellent results over the years.

"Customers", said Mr. Boyer, "should be exceedingly aware of quacks and gimmicks used in advertising the sale of nursery stock. Reliable firms can furnish a copy of their certificate from the Michigan Department of Agriculture. This is the customer's assurance that plants have been properly inspected and found to be apparently free of serious insect infestation or contagious plant diseases".

In scandal as in robbery, the receiver is as bad as the thief.

That "Word" Is in the News Again!

Tornado "Season" is Almost Here

Tornadoes, the most violent and spectacular storms produced by nature, are a menace to the life and property of almost everyone living between the Rockies and the Atlantic. They occur in the eastern Gulf States at the beginning of the year, then advance north-westward to reach Iowa and Kansas in June, remaining in that area until late September.

But in knowing what to do when a tornado is observed may mean the difference between life and death even though there is no universal protection against them except in caves or underground excavations, such as the so-called "cyclone cellar." Regardless, here are a few suggestions:

If you are in open country:

1. Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.
2. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If in a city or town:

1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. Stay away from windows.
2. In homes: Usually the safest part of the house is in the corner of the basement toward that from which the storm is coming. However, when you are unable to determine from which direction the tornado is coming, go to the southwest corner of the basement, which

Keep Calm! Don't Run into Street

Keep calm! It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though "just in case."

Keep tuned to radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the area.

usually offers the greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People storm cellar, although a depression, such as a ditch or ravine, can offer some protection. If time permits electricity and heating appliances should be shut off. Doors and windows on the north and east sides of the house may be open to help reduce damage to the building.

In houses without basements should find other shelter, preferably in a

If in schools:

1. In city areas: If school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly-supported roofs.

2. In rural schools that do not have strongly reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

If in factories and industrial plants:

On receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Employees should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

Wives Must Help Their Husbands To Stay Alive

American men are literally killing themselves to produce "a better world" for their wives to live in—alone. To prove this statement, Hannah Lees of Philadelphia, in an article condensed from her book, "Help Your Husband Stay Alive," cites these insurance company statistics:

There are 7,000,000 widows in the country. Seventeen men die in their 40's for every 10 women. Eighteen men die in their 50's for every 10 women.

American women, who would prefer to have their husbands to the mink stole his overwork earns, can do more than a whole battery of psychiatrists to save their lives, Miss Lees asserts in offering these suggestions.

Help him relax. Make him happy to be a good father and husband. If he seems more happy at work than at home, find out why and try to do something about it. If your husband is growing away from you, broaden your interests and match his strides.

At the University of Michigan, examination of 500 executives revealed more than half suffered diseases of which they are unaware which needed immediate attention. So make medical check-up appointments for him. If he needs more sleep, reduce his social engagements; if he is overweight, plan attractive low calorie meals.

Encourage walking, swimming, gardening, golf in moderation and other forms of light exercise for the sedentary man but don't expect a tired man to shovel snow or do anything that makes him more tired.

Offer him love and the approval and admiration which too few men get on their job.

"There are a hundred different ways a man's wife can contribute to his happiness and well being if she once starts thinking about it," Miss Lees concludes. "And the fine thing about this is that most of them are also ways of contributing to her own."

Inland Lake Maps Available

Maps of 26 Michigan lakes were completed during the past winter by Conservation Department workers from the Department's institute for fisheries research at Ann Arbor.

More than 2,400 inland lakes now have been mapped under the Department program. Two crews worked during the winter on lakes in several counties, including Cheboygan, Otsego, Mescota, Newaygo, Osceola, Calhoun, Lapeer, Oakland and Tuscola. Six lakes were remapped because older charts lacked some important details.

Maps of inland lakes are available to the public. Please indicate the specific county desired. All requests and inquiries should be addressed to: Institute for Fisheries Research, University Museums Annex, Ann Arbor.

Small Shrub May Yield New Drug

A small shrub called Christmas Cherry, which will grow in Michigan, may be useful in producing the important drug cortisone and other steroidal hormones, a Michigan State University research team has discovered.

Chemical materials in root and leaf extracts from the plant possess a compound closely related to a raw material now used in cortisone manufacture.

Cortisone, rated one of the top drug discoveries of the last 20 years, is used in the treatment of arthritis and adrenal gland deficiencies.

Dependence on imported plant materials in producing valuable cortisone would be lessened if the Christmas Cherry plant extract could be used as a starting material, the scientists point out.

NOTICE

Readers — Residents — Voters — Taxpayers

The entire Michigan Nursery Industry has gone on record as opposing the building of another nursery in Southern Michigan by the Michigan Conservation Department, Forestry Division, for the following reasons:

Commercial nurseries in the same temperature zones can and will produce all the stock needed—without spending one cent of tax money! Michigan Conservation nurseries already sell over 75% of the stock produced by them to the public—some 30 million.

Private nurserymen feel it is a waste of money for the state to increase production one-third or to 40 million. The cost of a state built nursery is too high; $181,000 of Soil Bank money thru the Clarke-McNary Act will be granted and government payrolls will be expanded.

Businessmen claim they can build the same production facilities for approximately 25% of the amount wanted by the state and some nurserymen can expand for $10,000.

All the nurserymen want to do is to stay in business without government competition, while paying taxes.

If you don't feel you should help your neighbor plant trees with your tax money, write to your Representative, c/o The House, Lansing, Michigan, and your Senator, c/o The Senate, Lansing, Michigan. A postcard will do—but do it now!

KATIE'S KORNER

Spring cleaning time is upon most families. While mothers march to the attic, and fathers to the basement rearranging their treasures and setting aside "things they do not know what to do with". After these sessions we usually wind up with awkward items, those which aren't bad enough to throw away and not quite good enough for the rummage sale.

Economists who watch the business trends of the nation have placed squarely on the shoulders of American women the responsibility of determining the direction in which economy will go. Or, so it would seem, at least, from the emphasis being placed this year on the Easter trade. A late Easter usually is considered more favorable as a stimulate because spring weather has more of a chance to provide a favorable atmosphere.

That's not saying in so many words that the women are respossible, but any husband will tell you that it's the fair-sex which runs up the pre-Easter bills.

The effects of buyer habits go far. Yes, it's a tremendous responsibility, ladies. The hand that rules the purse-strings rocks the economy.

Ada Bicyclist Hit by Auto; Dies at Hospital

A Lowell high school junior, Stewart Thomet, 17, of 1970 Pettis, N. E., Ada, was driver of a car which collided with a young 13-year-old bicyclist Friday morning.

The youth, David Miles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip R. Miles of 600 Two Mile rd., N. E., Ada, died in Butterworth hospital at 10:25 a. m. just two hours after the accident.

Stewart was taken to Burton Heights Osteopathic hospital following the accident, suffering from severe shock and hysteria. He was released Saturday.

Ronald Thomet, age 11, was the only passenger in his brother's car, and escaped injury.

Car Rolls Over

Deputies Roberts and Williams reported that the Thomet youth's car went out of control as he was trying to avoid hitting the bicyclist. The auto flipped over on its top, according to the deputies.

David and his sister, Sharon, 10, were pedaling to River school at the corner of Pettis and Egypt Valley road, N. E., when the accident occurred. Sharon was following her brother by about 10 feet.

The accident occurred in the 900 block of Pettis road. The road is unpaved.

Funeral Services

Funeral services for the Miles boy were held Monday at Van Strien-Alman funeral home; interment in Fairplains cemetery.

In addition to his sister and parents, David is survived by his maternal grandparents, Mrs. Warren Veltman, of Grand Rapids, and Samuel C. Fox of Ada; and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Miles of Saginaw.
