It was the best game of the season, going 15 innings, with the score 1-0, with the Grandville team the Tournament winner. The boys on the team have played a wonderful season, and hope they can be the winners of the tournament next year.

Neighbors Aid Burned Out Family

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Perrin, 1415 Grand River Drive, N. E., and four children Robert 14, James 12, Allen 4 and Elaine 2 were burned out of their four-year-old home at 4 a.m. Wednesday morning.

There was only time to get the family out of the house; neighbors called the Ada firemen. The fire is believed to have started from an over-heated clothes dryer.

Relatives and friends have helped the Perrins set up a tent on the home site and they brought clothes and bedding. The Perrins expect to rebuild as soon as possible on the same site.

Thornapple Valley Lions Club Sponsors World Travel Series

The 1957-58 World Travel Series, sponsored by the Thornapple Valley Lions Club, will bring to this area, detailed film-stories of six of the most-popular travel spots in the world today, including Spain, Panama, Alaska, New Zealand, Egypt, and Canada.

"Spanish Interlude" is the title of the first program and will be presented by Dr. J. Gerald Hooper, on September 30. The film covers the romantic cities of Madrid, the capital, Granada and Barcelona; scenes of pretty Spanish girls in Majorca as they do exquisite embroidery, natives in wooden shoes gathering their harvest and gypsies doing flamenco dances for which that country is so well known.

Dr. William G. Campbell explains the sights of "Panama and the Canal Zone" to his viewers on October 28. Dr. Campbell is an expert on this subject, having lived in Panama for eight years and was Educational Advisor to the President of the Inter-American University.

You will visit native tribes Guayami, San Blas, and Chukunaques and Cimmarrones, industrial cities as well as farming country. Included is a report on the Pan-American Highway which is a modern wonder and when it is completed one will be able to drive from Alaska to Cape Horn!

If you have ever watched any of Walt Disney's television programs you will probably remember Fred Machetanz, a noted author and photographer, who is an authority on Alaska, the subject of his film. One of his recent releases is the Cinemascope movie, "Alaska Sled Dog" and he will also be the narrator of "Alluring Alaska." It will show the exciting lumbering, logging, and the mining camps. Also the "Disappearing Lake" which completely vanishes. This film is on November 25.

"New Zealand—Pacific Wonderland", which has become very popular in the last few years, is the title of another of these films. Bathie Stuart narrates the story of its climate, industries, natural resources and most important—its citizens. The New Zealand film will be the first one in 1958—January 13.

Julian Gromer tells and shows some very interesting things about our neighbor to the North, "Canada—Coast to Coast" on February 17. Mr. Gromer is the first-place winner of the World Travel Series for two years and has earned the reputation as being one of the nation's finest photographers. The movie begins in Nova Scotia and on through to British Columbia and displays all the beauty of Canada in between.

One of the most important spots in the entire world today is Egypt. Alfred Wolff visited and took film strips of news-making spots like Aswan Dam, the Nile river, Suez and President Nasser himself. Plus other historical spots—the Sphinx, Mt. Sinai, the Libyan Desert and the Solar Boat of Cheops. This last travelogue will be March 24.

All travelogues will be held at the Ada High School Auditorium at 8:00 sharp. Further information and tickets can be obtained from any Thornapple Valley Lions Club member.

School Enrollment About the Same With 1,121 Registered on Tuesday

In spite of the fact that the ninth grade pupils residing in the Forest Hills system no longer attend Lowell High School, the total enrollment in all grades shows a decline of only nine pupils under a year ago. Forty-five freshmen from Forest Hills enrolled in Lowell last year.

The figures for the second Friday of school a year ago show a total registration of 1,130 pupils, whereas the total enrollment for the second day this year shows a total of 1,121. It is likely that this figure will climb over the 1,130 mark as of the second Friday this year.

An analysis of the figures show a falling off in the high school, which was anticipated. A year ago the freshman class numbered 164 as compared with 108 this year. The total for the upper four grades a year ago was 509, the total for the same grades is 467 this year, but this number will undoubtedly show an increase on the date to compare with a year ago.

The long-range estimate for the high school was and is from 450 to 525 students, and in looking over the comparative figures for the grades it appears that a projection of future enrollments in the high school will approximate the 450 to 525 figure. This means that a new high school structure will not be necessary for some time to come. On the other hand, additional facilities will have to be provided for the grades within a year or two. The total tax levy for the operation and construction of additional facilities will probably remain the same for years to come.

The Board of Education found it necessary to hire three teachers to fill vacancies. Mrs. Gladys Bergin, who has a degree from M.S.U., will teach English and French. Mrs. Marjean Brillhart will take over the fifth grade vacancy on a temporary basis, and Mrs. Rosena Pullen who was recently awarded a degree by Western Michigan University will teach the children in the former McCabe school near Parnell.

Several teachers are still on a European tour and these positions have been filled temporarily by local people.

SCOUT MEETINGS

Boy Scouts of Troop No. 334 will meet at the Cascade Christian Church Fellowship Hall on Monday evening, September 9th, at 7:00 o'clock. Explorer Scouts of the Troop will meet at Fellowship Hall on Monday evening, September 9th at 8:00 o'clock.

All boys eleven years old and up are cordially invited to join the troops.

A beeline is not straight; they zig-zag.

Grade School is Time to Start Language Study

The ideal time to begin foreign language study is at the grade school level, a University of Michigan professor of German said recently in an interview with the Michigan Journalist, experimental laboratory newspaper of the U-M Department of Journalism.

Prof. Otto G. Graf maintains that every cultured person is obligated to acquaint himself with at least one foreign language because of America's position as a world leader.

Men of business and government in many countries have a proficient knowledge of other languages, and are much more successful in their dealings with foreigners because of this fact, Professor Graf says.

Americans, asserts the professor, cling to the idea that English is the "only language" and find it unnecessary to learn another language.

Professor Graf heads a special summer session of the Institute in Foreign Language Teaching in the Elementary Schools, Language departments at the University also have been working experimentally with the local public schools, teaching German, French, and Spanish in the fourth through sixth grades.

Starting language studies in elementary schools is especially ideal, he says because children at this school age are very critical and analytical, and very often learn by imitation.

Teaching languages in primary schools, says the professor, will also add much to the aesthetic and cultural value of an education, and besides that, it is actually fun.

Not only does the percentage of Americans who travel abroad warrant such a venturesome mission, he says, but Professor Graf points out, we actually have the responsibility of learning to understand the culture and mores of foreign citizens due to our economic and political interests abroad. There is no better way to become aware of their society than understanding their languages, starting from the first grade level, contends the professor.

Advocates of this doctrine, he says, realize that the typical two-year languages requirement in most high schools is not enough to acquire thorough, working knowledge of the people and customs of a country; thus the presentation of their plan.

It seems that Mom and Dad always think of their children. So it is with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brian of Heartland, Michigan. What pleasanter way to spend a vacation than to spend a part of it with one's children? That is exactly what they are doing to the delight of their son and daughter-in-law the Gerald Brians of Buttrick road. Naturally the children are always happy when Grandma and Grandpa come for a visit.

JUDY VISITS KAREN

The LaDue cottage at Reed City echoed with the joy and laughter of two teen age girls over the Labor Day week end. Yes, Judy Brian, daughter of the Gerald Brians of Buttrick rd, was the guest of Karen LaDue. We know that you had a wonderful time Judy, and when you come home that you will eagerly look forward to all the activities that come with the end of summer and the beginning of the Fall activities.

GOODBYE TO SUMMER

Mrs. James H. Stilson, Maxine, and Larry VanDort and Mrs. Sidney Bacon, with Greg, Allan and Jimmie decided that the way to say goodbye to summer was to have at least one nice picnic. We haven't had an opportunity to get out and have a picnic this year as Larry just wasn't able to get around.

Seeing as how last week Tuesday he had the cast taken off his arm, he is able to get around much better.

We had a nice dinner under the beautiful shade trees, and the kiddies. Allan and Jimmie went wading in the creek that proves to be so fascinating to old and young alike.

EVERYONE LOVES CHILDREN

Everyone loves a child, so it is with the Gordon Svobodas of Ada and Silver Lake. What better way to let the kiddies know than to have them for a visit. Gordy and Sharon had as their guests Labor Day, the Marshall Beldings and children, Marian, Jane and John; Orison and Dorothy Weaver and children, Scott, Doreen, and Jindra, the Kenneth Klynstras and children, Kurt Kristine and Kreig, and Darwin and Loraine Nellist and children, Debbie and Cathy.

Of course Gordy and Sharon's children were also present to help mom and dad entertain; Gordie Jo, Brit and Dolph did a most extraordinary job helping to entertain the other eleven juvenile guests.

Both adults and children had a nice day, the perfect way to start one's busy Fall activities.

The Cascade Businessmen's Association will hold their monthly meeting on Tuesday, September 10th at 7:30 p. m. at the Fire Station.

If you're going to be cooking a lot of your meals outside this summer, here are a few safety tips: Carry matches in a tin container; don't heat unopened cans of food—they may explode; wear canvas or asbestos gloves to protect your hands from burns; carry your own drinking water if a safe supply isn't available; be sure the

FERTILIZING WHEAT AND WINTER BARLEY

Nitrogen fertilizers can be a real yield booster for wheat and barley if you have a plentiful supply of phosphorus and potash. If you plowed down a crop of clover or alfalfa which was top-dressed with manure you probably have enough nitrogen. If you did not plow down manure, chances are that you need at least 20 pounds of elemental nitrogen besides the nitrogen in the fertilizer you use at planting time.

If your crop grows on land that had neither a manure or legume crop plowed down, plan on adding 40 additional pounds of nitrogen. Next spring in March or April is the best time to add this extra nitrogen if you are using dry or solution forms, but if you plan to use anhydrous ammonia, apply it now before planting the wheat.

If you have trouble getting on your fields in late winter or early spring you can apply the dry forms of nitrogen in late October or November. It is much better to get the nitrogen on then than not getting it on at all in the spring.

There are some indications that germination will be harmed by too much fertilizer sown with the seed at planting time. If there is not a plentiful supply of moisture, injury may occur when you use over 75 pounds of elemental nitrogen and potash at planting time. If you need larger amounts of fertilizer at planting time, it is best to drill it separately before planting.

These same recommendations fit barley as well as wheat. To assure fertilizing in the right direction, be sure to get every field tested at least once in your rotation.

KENT COUNTY TO START WHEAT PLANTING, SEPT. 18

September 18 is the fly free date and the date at which wheat planting should begin in Kent County.

Genesee and Cornell 595 are the only varieties recommended. Genesee is the best yielder, and has out-yielded Cornell by two bushel and Yorkwin by 7 bushel each year over the past five years. Cornell 595 has a little advantage in straw stiffness and both Genesee and Cornell are more resistant to smut than Yorkwin.

Little is to be said about growing red wheat here. The best red wheat is Seneca, and it has yielded 7 bushel less per year over the last 5 years than Genesee. Good yields will depend on your use of good seed, preferably certified which will be pure in variety, uniform in size, free from noxious weeds and rye and usually treated for stinking smut.

450,000 TO HAVE CANCER

It is estimated that 450,000 Americans will develop cancer this year. But approximately 150,000 will be saved due to improved methods of diagnosis and treatment. Give generously to the 1957 Cancer Crusade so that more lives can be saved.

Dr. Walter Haney of the Michigan State University horticulture department recommends a garden variety of the chrysanthemum plant for the money saving flower lover. Garden varieties obtained while in bloom from your florist can be enjoyed as a house plant. When the bloom is gone, the tops can be cut off and it can be planted in the garden where it will bloom again in the fall.

Mon., Sept. 30 — "SPANISH INTERLUDE"

Dr. J. Gerald Hooper

Dr. Hooper is one of the most able speakers and photographers on the platform, and his travelogues are always outstanding events. He comes to us with his latest production, "Spanish Interlude," which is one of the best and most interesting film-stories yet to be offered. Travel in Spain is growing every year, and this film covers the places and events of unusual interest, including Madrid, Seville, Granada, Barcelona, San Sebastian, Valencia, Toledo, Avila, Cardiz, Salamanca, Ronda and many others. And, of course, outstanding events are an important part of the film. Most unusual are the flower carpets of Corpus Christi in Sitges, where the streets are blanketed ankle deep with flower petals laid in intricate designs. The most elaborate handicrafts of Majorca—close-ups of pretty girls as they do exquisite embroidery with pearls of every hue. A film-study of the little known province of Galecia where the natives in wooden shoes gather a most unusual harvest. A tale of the Spanish gypsies and their fiery flamenco dances so typical of Spain. All this, and much more make this an outstanding attraction, and a beautiful musical background serves to enhance the thrilling and delightful scenes.

Mon., Jan. 13 — "NEW ZEALAND—PACIFIC WONDERLAND"

Bathie Stuart

A few years ago the travelogue field was astounded when a native of New Zealand, Bathie Stuart, brought to the screen a picture of that remote country little-known to the average American. Few of us had any idea that the islands were so beautiful, that they held such a variety of natural wonders, that the natives and other citizens were so industrious, that the cities were so modern, and, in all, there could be such a fascinating part of the world. World War II changed our opinion, and New Zealand became a household word in many American homes. In a new film of great beauty, and with a narration of unusual charm, Miss Stuart shows what modern New Zealand is like, and hers is a delightful travelogue. Her treatment of the scenic variety in her homeland is thorough and dramatic, for she shows, in beautiful rugged rock-bound shores, breathtaking mountains, unique thermal regions like "another Yellowstone" and glaciers that are among the earth's most magnificent. And there is fishing "out of this world," yachting, horse racing, sheep and cattle ranches of huge dimension, and all manner of flora and fauna. Your trip to New Zealand with Bathie Stuart will long be remembered for its beauty, interest and variety.

Mon., Oct. 28 — "PANAMA AND THE CANAL ZONE"

Dr. Wm. G. Campbell

One of the most experienced world travelers will present the first travelogue to be made in a very interesting and important part of America—Panama and the Canal Zone. Dr. Campbell lived in Panama for eight years, where he was Educational Advisor to the President of the Inter-American University. So he knows this area well. He produced this film in 1957, and we will be among the first to see it. It is a beautiful coverage of the countries' geographical attractions, interesting native tribes, important products and industries. Of course the cities and the Canal are thoroughly covered, and through it all is the story of the modern engineering wonder—the Pan American Highway. When it is completed it will link North and South America and make it possible to drive from Alaska to Cape Horn! He will give a good account of the natives, who have had little contact with civilization. He journeyed on river boat and horse-back to photograph the Guayami, San Blas and Chukunaques tribes and the Cimarrones—negro slaves who fled from their masters three centuries ago. And there will be scenes of cattle raising, industry, army life, and much more. As described by Dr. Campbell, in person, this film will be an outstanding one.

Mon., Feb. 17 — "EGYPT TODAY"

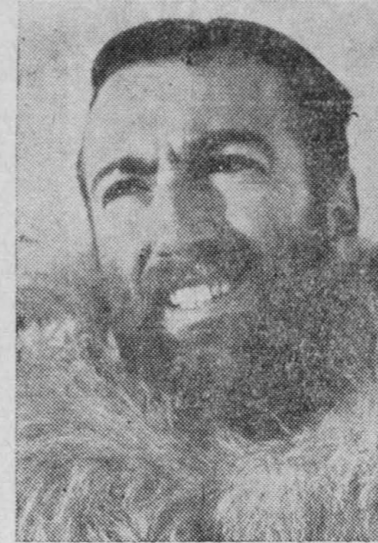

Alfred Wolff

Egypt is news! The famous photographer Alfred Wolff captured it on beautiful color film, and will narrate it in a fascinating manner. This intrepid adventurer recently returned from Egypt with pictures of places forbidden to the camera for years. He took the first photos of the Solar Boat of Cheops. He made the first color films of King Tutankamen's tomb, and he flew to the seldom seen Siwa Oasis in the heart of the Libyan Desert—favorite of Cleopatra. He held a picture interview with Egypt's President Nasser—who is so often in the news today. Of course he filmed the familiar sites of the Pyramids and the Sphinx, Suez, Isamelia, Luxor, Karnak, Memphis, Sakkara, Edfu, Cairo, Alexandria, etc., and many not so well known. Included are the summit of Mt. Sinai, where Moses received the Ten Commandments, and, in modern times, the Aswan Dam, and the site of the new controversial dam; the Nile Valley and the Nile Delta, with their agriculture and industry. And much, much more to bring us up-to-date on what is transpiring in this controversial area of a greatly disturbed world. This is a travelogue that will be long remembered for its delightful photography and Mr. Wolff's descriptive narration.

Mon., Nov. 25 — "ALLURING ALASKA"

Fred Machetanz

Few men in America are as well versed in Alaskan lore as is Fred Machetanz. He, and his beautiful wife, Sara, live there much of each year. This famous team has written seven books on Alaskan subjects, and Mr. Machetanz is one of the nation's foremost artists. He has produced a number of movie films covering various phases of this area, and he is now on the staff of Walt Disney. His latest production for Disney is the Cinemascope movie "Alaska Sled Dog,"—a recent release to the countries' important theaters. We have persuaded Mr. Machetanz to edit a film especially for our audience from the thousands of feet in his library. This glorious film will give a very complete picture of modern Alaska as well as much of its excitement—animals, fishing, logging, lumbering, gold mining, etc. It will show the famous Alaska Highway, Ketchikan, Juneau, Glacier Bay, Fairbanks, the Aleutians, Anchorage, Matanuska Valley and other points of interest. At our request it will include Lake George, and the famous "Disappearing Lake"—a body of water 14 miles long and 120 feet deep, which completely vanishes when the Knik Glacier, which holds it back, disintegrates in one of the most exciting sequences ever filmed. Mrs. Machetanz and their famous sled dog "Seego" will appear with her husband when he conducts us on a tour of this fascinating section of our country.

Mon., Mar. 24 — "CANADA — COAST TO COAST"

Julian Gromer

Julian Gromer has earned an enviable reputation during the past fifteen years as being one of the nation's finest photographers, and his "Canada—Coast to Coast"— his latest production—is one of his best. It is a succession of colorful scenery and delightful people, famous cities and unusual occupations, historical sites and thrilling action. It starts in Nova Scotia, on the Atlantic, and it follows the route of the TransCanada Highway—which will be completed in 1959. It ends in British Columbia, on the shores of the Pacific, and in between it gives a vivid picture of just about the most important aspects of life and beauty to be found in the Land of Our Good Neighbor to the North. The beauty of the film is enhanced with the best in hi-fidelity music and unusual photographic effects. It will demonstrate why Julian Gromer won first place honors on the "World Travel Series" for two years running. This is a very high honor, and one much sought after by all artists in this field.

All Travelogues will be held at the Ada High School Auditorium, starting at 8 P.M., Sharp

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

BUZZ-SAWING through its final legislative chores, with bill chips flying in all directions, Congress speeds toward adjournment as this is written. In a last-ditch harangue against civil rights, a lone Southerner stalled the Senate for over 24 hours, but now we're back on the home stretch. Exhausted Senators voted a historic civil rights measure into law in the wee hours of the morning. Moments later $3.4

billion for mutual security was rammed through and sped to the House. A bill to safeguard FBI files, of which I am a sponsor, and a bob-tailed immigration bill containing several of my provisions, came next. It was one a.m. when sleepy lawmakers headed home. Fatigue and short tempers give evidence of one of the longest Congressional sessions on record.

NUTSHELL SCORE of our major accomplishments includes the Middle East resolution, civil rights and $5 billion chopped from the federal budget. I am delighted to report that several bills vital to Michigan, into which I poured much time and effort, are now law. Here they are:

SIGNED BY THE PRESIDENT the other day, my ship bill will bring jobs, contracts and cash into Michigan port cities. Until now the Merchant Marine Act hamstringed the Middle West by restricting shipbuilding and repair to Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific ports. My bill amends the Act, opening new channels of revenue and making our yards competitive. Detroit, Muskegon, Escanaba and other yards can bid for big deep-water ship contracts now. Best of all, they can do so well ahead of the Seaway's opening. Navy officials here, who gave me much encouragement all along, say the nation needs this broadened shipbuilding mobilization base.

WRAPPED UP in the big immigration bill are two measures of my own, intended to relieve hardship cases. All of us know personally folks who would make wonderful parents, who are deprived of children by unreasonable laws, while at the same time thousands of little tykes, orphaned by war or poverty, lack the love and care to which every child is entitled. My proposal, now in the law, permits alien orphans adopted by U.S. citizens to enter without quota limitation. It has taken me several years to bring this one to reality. The other measure which I authored extends a helping hand to specialists who falsified birthplaces for fear of deportation to Communist-controlled countries. When these people can show that passports and other documents were doctored to save their own lives or those of their families, deportation penalties will be lifted.

MASON was settled in 1836 at the junction of two Indian trails. Two years later Ingham County was established, but not until 1840 was Mason designated as county seat and then over the strong protests of Charles Thayer who wanted the county seat located on his land.

Best wishes.

Long Vacations Encourage Many To Travel More

If you're entitled to a week or more of paid vacation this year, the chances are 50-50 you'll take a long trip away from home, University of Michigan research reveals.

As you might expect, the chances that you'll actually get away from the old homestead increase with the length of your vacation and the total income of your family.

But if you think you're unusual because you have two or more vacations this year, read on. According to a special study by the U-M's Survey Research Center (SRC) for the Travel Research Association,

"The practice of taking more than one vacation has become common. One in four of those with vacation took their vacation at two or more times during the year. The rest took their vacation all at one time."

The U-M analysis covered only those persons who worked for others and received vacations of a week or more with pay. It did not include housewives, students, retired people, farmers or self-employed businessmen and professionals—persons for whom vacations may not be clearly defined.

Among those who had paid vacations and took a trip, about two-thirds traveled between 100 and 500 miles away from home. The remaining third took trips of 500 miles or more.

The SRC found that about half those with paid vacations get 11 days to two weeks vacation. Persons in this group comprised about half the stay-at-homes and half the short, medium and long distance travelers.

Roughly one-third of those with paid vacations had only a week to 10 days off their jobs. Persons in this group were more likely to stay at home and, when they did travel, less likely to take trips of 1,000 miles or more than the average for all groups.

Approximately 13 per cent of those with paid vacations had three weeks or more away from work. Individuals in this category were much less likely to stay at home and took far more than their proportionate share of trips 1,000 miles or more. About 85 per cent of long distance vacation travel is done by persons with 11 days or more of paid vacation, the SRC reported.

The U-M study is the first major national survey on travel using a scientifically selected sample representative of the entire U.S. adult population. Data were collected from 4,000 interviews.

Complete findings of the survey are reported by John B. Lansing and Ernest Lilienstein of the SRC in "The Travel Market 1955" recently published and available at $5 per copy from the librarian,

C-R-O-P Program Offers Self-Help

Russell Hartzler of Clarksville, state director of the Christian Rural Overseas Program for Michigan, says that the self-help program is now in order and its usefulness has been proven in many ways especially in the Heifer project which is generally accepted as a good method of helping others to help themselves.

The project actually germinated in the mind of Dan West when he was in charge of an emergency feeding program in war-torn Spain back in 1937. He was doing out dried milk to children when all around them were lush pastures of green grass. He thought of sending cows to Spain instead of dried milk. After working diligently and with little enthusiastic support, he was able to make that first shipment of heifers in 1944.

Seven long years of trying. The Heifer Project Incorporated now operates as a department of CROP and Michigan residents have sent nearly one hundred heifers overseas since the program started.

The recipient of each heifer has to sign a contract that the heifers will be used for milk and not for meat. Also he agrees to give the first calf to someone else in need.

Under the self-help program, goats, pigs, horses, chicks, even hatching eggs have been sent overseas. In countries like Japan where most farms are too small to support a cow, the gift of over 2,000 goats has supplied a source of milk for the same number of families.

So that livestock may arrive overseas in the minimum of time and in good condition, airlift has been used extensively. Under CROP Heifer Project flew 297 purebred hogs, 95 Saanen milk goats and 216,000 hatching eggs to Korea. Heifer Project also airlifted 200 hogs from Texas to San Salvador and a second shipment of the same amount from Texas to Honduras. From New York, 65,000 day-old chicks were flown to Egypt; from Virginia, 30,000 day-old chicks were shipped by air to Iran. Iran also received by air 30,000 day-old chicks from the Ohio CROP organization.

To build up a new source of income, it was decided by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the UN that 500 woolly sheep were needed to produce lambs which would be given to the families of Ecuador over a ten year period.

Charles A. Rogers, experienced industrial and labor relations specialist, has been appointed to the Michigan State University Sept. 1.

Rogers is a joint appointee of the M.S.U. College of Business and Public Service and the Labor and Industrial Relations Center.

Besides campus teaching, he will work with management groups throughout the state in the development of industrial relations and personnel programs, according to Dr. Charles C. Killingsworth, director of the center.

Rogers has wide experience in the industrial relations field. The following letter winners from the '56 team will be the backbone of this year's squad; backfield men are Don Dawson, George Henderson, Charles Ryder, Lloyd Rosenberger, Tony Stormzand. In the line the following are back; Dick Connors, Brian Estes, Tom Kauffman, Kerry Shoemaker, Truman Stahl, Leonard Venneman, Jim White, Stan Wingeier and Peter McPherson.

Besides these proven members of the team there are several good prospects from last year's second team and a couple of good looking boys who have transferred to Lowell from other schools.

Jellies Need Real
Seal Not Paraffin

There's a chance that you may be able to blame the weather for one more thing—spoiled jams and jellies. If you have been sealing your jams and jellies with paraffin, you may have found that they have spoiled or become moldy even though it doesn't look like the seal has been broken.

Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University, says that air can get into paraffin-sealed jars no matter how good a sealing job you may do. In a climate such as Michigan's, Miss Hershey explains, changing temperatures cause the paraffin to expand and contract. The wax may undergo such a slight change that you can't even see it, but the seal has been broken enough to allow bacteria to creep in.

The only way you can guarantee that old man weather won't spoil even one glass of your jams and jellies is to completely seal them by putting them into the same type of jar you use for canning. The vacuum seal used on these jars is unaffected by temperature change; every jar on your pantry shelf will stay sealed until that cold, wintry morning when you want to use it.
