Voters Approve School Expansion Plans By Two to One in Monday's Election

Voters of the Forest Hills School District turned out last Monday to approve consolidating the debts of the district and authorizing the school officials to bond the district for $700,000 for school expansion purposes. The vote was as follows: Proposal No. 1—For raising the tax limit to 4 mills maximum to insure sufficient funds to pay the amount necessary to pay off old debt. Yes, 596; No, 348. Proposal No. 2—Consolidation of old debts of original districts. Yes, 599; No, 348. Proposal No. 3—Authority to borrow $700,000 with which to purchase additional land, erect, furnish and equip new elementary school building and erect, furnish and equip additions to present school plant. Yes, 638; No, 306.

Early Construction Planned

The bond issue will provide funds to construct 12 additional classrooms for the high school and provide rooms for advanced shop work, home making, arts classes and a multi-purpose room.

It will also provide eight elementary rooms, four as an addition to the Orchard View building and four as the first unit of a new elementary building between Ada and Cascade.

Supt. Chambers said it is hoped to complete all the construction work by next fall.

Compare Other District Vote

This is the third time the district has voted on major matters that concern the future of the entire area. In the first vote May 9, 1956, the original districts voted Yes, 848; No, 294; to merge into one district. The first bond proposal for the merged districts for $800,000 was held September 18, 1956. This issue was approved by a vote of Yes, 637; to No, 251.

Cascade Fire Chief Warns Plan in Advance For Fire

Escape routes planned in advance can save the lives of your family if fire strikes your home, according to Cascade Fire Chief Sy Dykhouse, in a special Fire Prevention Week recommendation. "Pre-planning for fire emergencies," says Chief Dykhouse, "would save 85 percent of the lives lost annually in home fires. And home fires take about 6,000 lives each year, National Fire Protection Association records show."

He recommends that all families follow these rules to avoid being trapped in their homes by fire:

1. Plan at least two ways to get out of every room in the house.
2. Make exit plans for every member of the family, day and night, and rehearse them regularly until everyone—even the youngest children—understands clearly and can move through the plan swiftly and smoothly.
3. Keep exit routes clear. Avoid placing stoves, space heaters, and furnaces near doors. Fire could start in one of these and block all escape. Make sure bedroom windows are large enough and low enough to serve as emergency exits.
4. Be sure you know how to notify your fire department quickly and correctly.

TALENT SEARCH?

Spike Jones estimates that he auditions 100 sidemen (band musicians) for every one he hires. Spike's never-ending search for zany musicians has led him to many strange places. "I'm looking all the time," Jones said. "I've auditioned men in dives where the only customers were two guys from the Vice Squad."

A Brooklyn woman told her granddaughter that there wasn't any TV when she was a little girl.

Gifted Kids Often Bother Their Parents

Discovery of a gifted child usually begins with a suspicion on the part of his parents that the child is exceptionally talented, says Warrar A. Ketcham, associate professor of education at the University of Michigan.

However, he advises, "Before a parent takes a suspicion of his child's giftedness too seriously he needs to consider an important fact. The odds are against him. If the term means only a very select group of children whose intellectual ability is far above most of their age mates, the odds are still smaller, only about two in 100 children.

What are some typical characteristics which may lead parents to suspect their child of being gifted? "Most gifted children accomplish almost everything sooner and better than less able children of the same age. There are, of course, exceptions, he says.

"When compared with other children of the same age in a community the gifted child will be larger and stronger, will talk earlier and more, will be more curious about his surroundings, will be more apt to notice events and changes in the home, will need less rest, will be more independent of his parents.

"He will become interested in printed words and numbers earlier, and will be more apt to want to go to school before the legal age for entrance. A suspicion of giftedness would be based on the presence of most or all of the characteristics over a period of several years."

A word of caution: Says Professor Ketcham, "The above list of imposing characteristics in a single child won't exactly make him an unmixed blessing.

"He will frequently irritate adults. His curiosity will make it difficult to keep him within sight and hearing. His physical size and strength will enable him to get lost more quickly and effectively than other children.

"He will ask questions about matters which are not thought to be suitable for the thoughts of little children. At an early age he will have real purposes about which he will be very persistent to the utter despair and consternation of his parents and others. He'll probably be labeled a problem child in the neighborhood.

"Parents may even find their suspicions of giftedness smothered by a desire for a more peaceful and uninterrupted existence!" he concludes.

Small Game Licenses Ready For Hunting Season

Michigan's 4200 license dealers will be receiving approximately 1,700,000 small game and deer hunting licenses during the next several weeks.

Conservation Department workers started the mammoth mailing job August 12, and the annual distribution will be completed well ahead of the state's first hunting season this fall.

Michigan's 1958 Game Law Digests also are being shipped to license dealers for distribution. Supplements to this digest, containing hunting regulations for waterfowl and special deer seasons, will be mailed later. Information and applications for special season deer hunting permits also are slated for distribution by license dealers, probably in late September.

THE GUNFIGHTER
A 30-year-old marriage came to an end, an indignant wife told the court, because her husband nicknamed himself "Tex," tried to outdraw TV cowboy heroes and tacked up targets on their bedroom walls for shooting practice.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN
A motel manager told police that when a guest complained because his room had no television, he was promptly transferred to a room equipped with a TV set. He relates that when the room was checked the next morning, the guest was gone—and so was the set.

Ingenuity and Small Emergency Are Basic Ingredients of Invention

The basic ingredients of a good invention often are ingenuity and a small emergency; money and education are less important than a lively mind.

So writes John C. Green, Executive Director of the National Inventors Council, in an article, "Let's Put Our Inventive Talents to Work." Thomas Edison, he notes had just three months of formal schooling in his life. Some years ago, Albert A. Michelson clocked the speed of light, with a device he invented and built himself, at a cost of just $10.

A former chief engineer at Carnegie Hall, Arthur Maroth, said: "When you get mad enough at something to kick it or swear at it, you are very close to invention."

The man to whom he said this remembered it when a salesman was demonstrating a vacuum cleaner in his home. It sucked up a corner of a throw rug and wouldn't let go. The salesman tried to kick the rug loose; he knocked over a telephone stand and began to swear. This rang a bell in the other man's mind.

California garage mechanic a hand mirror and some grade physics to create a shiping device with which a shiping pilot can beam a distress at rescuers miles away.

Dr. Charles F. Kettering, research chief of General Motors, said: "Inventing is a combination of brains and materials."

Unwise Buying Habits Cost Money

'Wholesale—Hooley!' You Get What Pay For; Retailers Have Costs of Service

(This is the third in a series of articles prepared by the Michigan Retailers Association in an effort to better educate the buying public of Michigan in improving their buying habits. This newspaper is cooperating with MRA by bringing this series to you.)

How many times have you heard, "I can get it for you wholesale." Phooey! No matter who you are, you just can't get it wholesale. Dictionaries define wholesale as "the sale of goods in large quantity" and "the business of selling to retailers or jobbers items for further consumption by consumers." There are certain costs involved in the sale of single items to many people, and that cost can not be compared to "wholesaling" large quantities of one item to one customer.

However, quite often you may purchase fine merchandise at bargain prices. For many reasons such as: slow turnover, the need for cash, or style or color changes, a manufacturer may cut prices to less than the original cost of making the merchandise, and then pass the lower price on to a dealer, who will then sell to you at less than his wholesale price once was. Still the dealer is making a profit, and you are not getting merchandise at "wholesale". You are paying a retail price for merchandise whose wholesale price has been cut for a business reason.

Any "wholesale" price claims are phony, however there are many different "discount" claims, whose prices are sometimes lower. Speak "discount house" prices to people and almost immediately they seem to get the impression that there is the place to buy. Discount house operators have been able to cut prices on some items because of their cut in overhead, which usually means, no free delivery, no merchandise may be returned, no "charge it please"—cash for all purchases, no service department, and smaller inventories with less choice of selection of goods. If you want to forfeit these rights as a customer, then buy at a discount house, but then don't go crying to one of your local, long established and reliable merchants that you have been "taken". Sure, its a good idea to shop around for a good price, but only if you remember that the lowest price isn't necessarily the best deal, and that you just about always get just what you pay for. The big problem that buying at a discount has caused is that so many people have been "taken" by falling for almost any pitch to save a little money that the "discount" and "factory-to-you" gyms have invaded more and more shopping areas. You are keeping these undesirable, in business and making it hard on your local retailers who have been doing their best to give you good and honest bargains. Two of the discount operators most common practices are "price padding" and "name brand come-ons." Many unethical retailers and discount houses put a price on a certain piece of merchandise double what it should be, and then offer the product at "half-price", which makes it appear that you are getting a big discount. The "name-brand come-on" offers you a discount on a well known product, which often leads you to buy off-brand items that are way overpriced. "Discount House catalogs" are another favorite means of enticing you to buy at a "bargain price." Here the discounters have you at their mercy and you may get second-hand or damaged merchandise, poor quality merchandise, or even no merchandise at all for your good money.

We offer the following "pills", which will cure any "discount sickness" that you might catch:

1. Beware of the "I can get it for you at a discount" guys. Shop around to find out the prices on the same item in stores that you know and trust.
2. If someone offers to get something for you "wholesale", it only shows that he doesn't even know what "wholesale" means.

3. You will usually get what you pay for, and if you want delivery, return privileges, credit, wide selection, service, and guaranteed product quality, then you had better buy from a merchant who will give them to you.

4. Don't buy without a manufacturer's warranty, and be particularly wary of furniture and appliances that seem to be new, but have a brand name that you have never heard of before.

5. Learn the reputation of the dealer from who you are going to buy. As a normal citizen, you can not expect to know all there is to know about a certain product, therefore you must rely on the integrity of the store you buy from to give you the true facts about the merchandise that you are interested in buying.

6. Never sign any paper until you have studied it completely, looking for "extra" charges such as installation or delivery fees, and be sure that you get a receipt, or copy of all transactions.

THINGS TO COME—The British have come up with an electronic analyzer for chemical materials claimed to be 100,000 times as sensitive as previous instruments of this type. . . And now there's a new lubricant for tight-fitting parts assembly. . . But if it's blood you're working with rather than machined parts, a new clot-dissolving drug is being developed.

Letter to Editor

Reply by Rep. Gerald R. Ford, jr., to Richard F. VanderVeen's open letter of September 23, 1958. September 25, 1958

Mr. Richard F. Vander Veen, 320 East Fulton Street, Grand Rapids, Michigan

Dear Mr. VanderVeen,
It is encouraging to note that you have joined me in condemning the practices and methods of Joseph P. Kamp. Over eight years ago, to be exact on August 31, 1950, I voted in the House of Representatives (House Resolution 836) to cite Mr. Kamp for refusing to produce documents before the House Select Committee on Lobbying Activities. I am pleased to learn that my long standing disapproval of Mr. Kamp's practices and methods coincides with the views expressed in your letter of September 23, 1958.

Mr. Robert Howlett, Kent County Republican chairman, has clearly stated no Republican candidate in this county has circulated Mr. Kamp's pamphlet. No Republican candidate on the statewide ticket has circulated this pamphlet. No Republican organization in Michigan has endorsed or circulated Mr. Kamp's publication.

May I re-emphasize my long standing record of disapproving Joseph Kamp's methods and practices. Your concurrence with my views on this issue is encouraging. Sincerely, Gerald R. Ford, jr., m. c.

HIDDEN TALENT

Garry Moore is a man of many talents—evidently a fact that continues to surprise a number of the nation's TV viewers. During his 20 years in the entertainment business, Garry has been featured as a sports announcer, radio comedian and TV personality. "It's funny," Moore explained to a reporter, "for eight years I sang, danced, cracked jokes and made faces. The housewives apparently loved my forays but never told anyone else. One night on 'I've Got a Secret' Fred Astaire was the guest. We did a little dance together and everyone practically passed out from pure amazement. It was as though John Cameron Swayze had done a bubble dance with his boutonniere."

BIG WHEEL ON THE CIRCUIT

Chuck Connors, star of "The Rifleman," literally cart-wheeled his way off the big league baseball paths into the movies. Whenever he smashed a home run Connors would turn a few cart wheels while rounding the bases to "celebrate." As the story goes, a movie director in the stands liked Connors and his clowning so much—Chuck got a bit part in a movie. He's been facing cameras instead of pitchers ever since.

TV BRIEFS:

Jack Linkletter, on being a son of a celebrity: "Other kids had paper routes—I went on the stage with Dad."

Garry Moore, on Garry Moore: "I'm 43 now. Please don't say I look like a pixie!"

New S. S. Schedules at Cascade Christian Church

Beginning on Sunday, October 5, there will begin duplicate sessions in the nursery through primary (third grade) at 9:45 a. m., and at 11 a. m. Robert Cribbley, Superintendent, announced that we are trying to cut down on the number of students per class by increasing the number of classes, since there is not enough room to hold all of these classes.

It will be left to the parents as their children will attend Sunday School, but it is hoped that after you once establish the hour best suited to you, you will not switch back and forth, but attend that session regularly. There will now be 22 classes serving all age groups in the Sunday School; or eight more than last year.

The classes, teachers and hours they will serve are as follows:

9:45 a. m. Classes

Nursery, Mrs. Fay Johnson; Kindergarten I, Mrs. Guy Chandler; Kindergarten II, Mrs. James Scripps; First Grade, Mrs. David Schneider; Second Grade, Mrs. Joseph Fox; Third Grade, Mrs. Sybrant Dykhouse; Fourth Grade, Miss Nancy Wykes; Fifth Grade, John Hamer; Sixth Grade, Mrs. Leonard Schalk; Seventh Grade, Tommy Ray; Eighth Grade, Mrs. Tommy Ray; Ninth Grade, Mrs. Karl Keck; Tenth Grade, to be announced; Eleventh and Twelfth Grades, Mrs. Raymond Gaylord; Post-Hi, James Banta; Adult, Will George.

Gerald Ford Signs Fair Campaign Practices Code

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, jr., announced today that he has signed the "Code of Fair Campaign Practices" established and supported by the Fair Campaign Practices Committee of New York City. This bi-partisan Committee, counting among its members James A. Farley, Paul Hoffman, Charles Taft, and former Senator Herbert Lehman, has asked all candidates for Congress and state governorships to put their principles on record and to uphold them in the 1958 election campaign.

"I'm happy to sign this Code," Ford stated. "I want a vigorous campaign but personal vilification, character defamation and appeals to prejudice have no place in the American way of selecting public officials. The issues should be met fairly and the record examined honestly. That is what this code demands."

The Code calls upon all candidates to present their record and policies with sincerity and frankness, and to criticize without fear or favor the record and policies of their opponents and the opposition party when such criticism is merited.

Those who sign the Code also agree to condemn and repudiate all dishonest and unethical practices which may be done in behalf of their candidacy.

"Americans are people who wish we would go back to letting Atlas support the world."

Mrs. Verna Stevens To Hold Dance Classes

The Forest Hills area will be privileged this year to have Mrs. Verna Stevens, dance teacher of Grand Rapids, conduct a series of social dancing classes for children in the fourth through tenth grades.

These dancing classes will be held in the Ada gymnasium, every other Tuesday, beginning on November 4. The 4th and 5th and 6th grades will have their class at 4:15 to 5:15 p. m.; the 7th and 8th grades from 5:15 to 6:15 p. m., and the 9th and 10th grades from 7:15 to 8:15 p. m.

Every parent in this area whose children are in these grades will soon receive an invitation and letter from Mrs. Stevens, outlining the dancing program.

In an area as large as Forest Hills, some people will be unintentionally omitted, and there are many new families whose names the committee does not know. It is hoped that neighbors will share their information, because we are most anxious that everyone feels welcome to participate in this fine program.

Rangers Play Grandville Thursday Afternoon

The Forest Hills Rangers will play their third game of the season on Thursday, October 2, at Grandville at 4:30. Although the Grandville team have a lighted field, their reserve team is restricted to one night game per season. The Bulldogs are members of the Grand Valley Conference.

Grandville's field is located near Wilson Avenue about 3 blocks south of the main stop light in town.

This will be the first game of the season for the Forest Hills freshman team. The game will start at 4 p. m., and will be played at the Oakleigh field, located on West Leonard Rd., just a short way past the city limits.

Forest Hills vs. Kelloggsville

The Forest Hills Rangers will play their 4th game on Thursday, October 9, at 7 p. m., at Kelloggsville. This will be another home game for the Rangers. Forest Hills has rented the Kelloggsville field and will take in the receipts. Profits after the expenses will go to the Forest Hills Athletic Association fund to pay for football operating expenses. Athletic director, Edward Shy, reports that the Lee game provided profits for the fund. He said that a comparable profit of the Kelloggsville game will assure payment of football operating expenses for this year.

Kelloggsville is a member of the OK Conference of which Forest Hills is also a member. The Kelloggsville field is located behind the high school on Division Avenue, S., midway between 44th St. and 52nd St.

Mr. Shy reminds the fans that the game is at 7 p. m. The reason for the early starting time is that the reserve games are played on nights before a school day. Therefore, school officials want school children home as soon as possible.

Cancellation of Game

The Athletic officials of Comstock Park High School have notified the Forest Hills officials that they will not be able to fulfill their football contract for the game that they were to play with Forest Hills on October 16.

It was noticed upon going over their contracts that Comstock was scheduled to play two games on the 16th, so they had to cancel their game with Forest Hills, because Rogers contract was signed first.

The Comstock officials apologized to Forest Hills for the inconvenience that was created. Although disappointed, Athletic Director Edward Shy hopes to schedule another game for Forest Hills with another school for that date.

Forest Hills Defeats Lee

The Forest Hills Rangers won their first football game of the season last week Thursday, by defeating Lee 25-7 at the Lee Field. The Rangers trailed 7-6 at halftime. A comeback rampage in the 2nd half was put on by the Rangers to completely dominate play. The Rangers scored in the 1st period when Harold Bailey raced 45-yards for a touchdown. In the 2nd quarter the Lee Rebels scored a touchdown and the extra point to lead 7-6 at halftime. The Rangers took the second half kickoff and drove for a touchdown on a series of plays. Bailey scored the touchdown on a 2-yard plunge. In the 4th quarter, the Rangers scored twice, once on a 2-yard run by Mike Ruffin and again on a 50-yard pass interception by Jerry Boomers.

Some 400 fans turned out to see the game on the losers' gridiron. This evened the Forest Hill's football record to one win and one loss.
