Supervisors Not Informed, Dangl Says; Employ Attorney to Keep Airport Away

At a meeting at the Cascade Township Hall on Friday evening, November 14, there were some 50 citizens present to hear what can be done, as explained by William Dangl, chairman of the committee, to keep the Kent County Airport out of Cascade Township. Over $300 was contributed at the meeting to employ an attorney to bring the movement of the airport here to a halt.

In the meeting, Mr. Dangl pointed out that the feelings of Cascade Township residents was not a reason to stop the movement of the airport; but the fact that the report that got the Kent County Board of Supervisors to vote to move the airport to the Cascade Township site was not a true picture of the airport's long range planning. The supervisors, because of that, were misinformed and voted without sufficient knowledge.

The report that picked Cascade Township as the number one site it was claimed, was a biased one that failed to give all the information then available. This report is even more out of date at this time, Dangl said. Airport appropriations have been cut, and the funds that were talked about will not be available. This means that the residents of Kent County will have to shoulder the load of building a 7-million dollar airport. This comes only three years after the citizens of the county paid in over 1½ million in tax money to enlarge the present airport.

Bob Hapeman, of Scott Bagby & B o a t m a n Planning Consultants, was present and he read a letter prepared by Scott Bagby, leading planning consultant of the area, who said: "Coopersville area is the only site that should be considered in view of the necessity of making this new airport one that will serve all of West Michigan." He went on to say that it is foolish to move the airport to Cascade Township, and then find in five or ten years that it will have to be moved again. An airport only 23 minutes from downtown Grand Rapids, near Coopersville, would cost Kent County residents only half of one in Cascade.

First Move To Get Attorney

Dangl then stated that the next move was up to the Cascade area residents who want to stop the airport movement. It will be necessary to hire an attorney. He suggested Clifford Murphy, who has had experience in this type of work. To have him investigate what moves are necessary would cost $500. This must be raised at once, by public subscription. If further court action is necessary, the cost might go to $3,500, but help can be expected if this is necessary.

The citizens present voted overwhelmingly to go ahead and within minutes, $300 had been subscribed. The group elected George Strain, treasurer, also George L. Morgan, to replace Robert Wykes, jr., who said he would not be here this winter, and Lewis J. Hawkins. These three will join William Dangl, Mrs. Wilbur L. Schram, and William Thorn, already on the committee.

Appeal For Funds

The committee invited anyone who would like to help in influencing the board of supervisors to reconsider their action, whether by persuasion or by court action, if necessary, to make a contribution to the fund being raised by calling George B. Strain, 6650 Cascade Rd., S. E.

Mothers' Club Hold Bazaar

Four girls were picked from each class in the high school to be cheer leaders with Susie Glaser selected as leader of the group. The girls are a very attractive representative group from the school and their performances made the season's football games very colorful. They will appear at the basketball games this season. Also practicing to appear at the games are the dancing group to be known as the Rangerettes.

Public Hearing On Fire Truck Purchase

There will be a public hearing at the Fire Barn in Cascade Township on Monday, December 1, to give approval on the purchase and financing of a 1957 John Bean fire equipment on an International Truck that is a demonstrator unit, but guaranteed the same as a new truck. The firemen and the township board have approved this unit. Plans are to take immediate delivery, although the money to purchase the truck voted at the November 4 election, would not be collected until next year.

Action at Township Board Meeting

The Township Board, at its meeting on Wednesday evening, November 12, voted to hold a new vote on a Consumers Power franchise in Cascade Township for 30 years on Wednesday, January 7. The question was voted last spring, but a legal defect in the election means a new vote. The cost of this election is paid by Consumers.

The Township Board also acted to give Marinus Staal, 6035 Burton SE, permission to open a gravel pit on his farm. A bond was posted by William Veltling & Sons to return the ground to natural farming after one year.

Tentative approval was given L. Kwikel, who plans a shopping center on 28th Street, just west of US-16, for a 100 ft. setback. This action was subject to the approval of the planning commission.

Bert Schalk, 2794 28th St., was given permission to move a house to his lot on Kraft Ave.

The urban or "city" 4-H Club is no longer an exception in Extension work, according to statistics released by the USDA. The number of 4-H'ers living in urban areas has increased more than 28 percent since 1954. Country folks are fast becoming city folks, while the distinction between farm and city boys and girls is virtually non-existent.

Proof of these changing times and people can be found during the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago where approximately 1,800 youth assemble annually. The date this year is Nov. 30 to Dec. 4.

These future citizens come from all parts of the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. All are members of local 4-H clubs, and all have achieved top state rating in a specific 4-H award program. They represent the 2,200,000 rural and urban 4-H'ers who continually strive to "make the best better." Those who are selected each year by the State 4-H office to attend the National Congress, have accomplished just that.

These talented teenagers travel by train, plane, and bus to reach the Windy City where they will join their fellow 4-H'ers and adult leaders in a week of new and interesting adventures.

Many business firms and private citizens cooperate with the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work and the Extension Service to make the Congress possible. Not only are the trips paid for, but other valuable awards are provided for state and county 4-H winners. College scholarships will be presented to

by Bob Bartos
Prominent Dog Authority

"I'm in the dog house" is an expression everybody uses to indicate an unpleasant situation. But it's easy to make every dog's house a healthy, happy home for your pet if you have the essential facts. To provide adequate paw room for all dogs and to protect them against dampness and drafts and drizzle from leaky roofs, the Friskies Research Kennels is initiating an FHA (Friskies Housing Authority) program during National Dog Week, September 21st to 27th.

Under the FHA, every dog house, whether it's an old one you're reconditioning, or a new

Tourists Should Eye Restaurants While Abroad

American tourists should be careful in selecting restaurants when they go abroad, indicates a Michigan State University scientist.

Dr. W. L. Mallman, an authority on food sanitation, studied the handling of food in Iran, Turkey and Yugoslavia on a trip for the United Nations World Health organization.

"There are many places in these countries that are as sanitary as those in the United States, but they are the exception rather than the rule," Dr. Mallman said. "However, tourists here are more concerned as long as they are in restaurants that are clean."

The M. S. U. scientist found "great progress has been made in improving health conditions," but still noted many unsanitary practices. They have convinced him, he said, of the need for educating people, particularly personnel of food-handling businesses.

One city, he said, had a large organization for food service program. Workers there have been effectively instructed in food spoilage and adulteration, the city had little or no evidence of sanitation except in public markets. Raw milk was handled under sanitary conditions in the markets but was dispensed without control throughout the city by vendors.

Dr. Mallman found highly qualified men in such specialized fields as medicine and food inspection, but added that they often had no knowledge of overall sanitary requirements.

Every Community Has a Message And "Silence Isn't Golden"

Every community has a "selling message," advantages a town has to offer cannot be appreciated by industries seeking new sites unless they are made known. This is emphasized in an industrial development advertisement, carrying the caption "Silence isn't Golden," which appears today in this newspaper.

A community which seeks to attract industry needs the assistance of every resident and every organization to give its message wide circulation.

How this message can be carried to industry is illustrated by one Western Michigan community where a "chemical empire" has been built because one man decided to be a salesman for his town.

Knowing that an eastern company was seeking a Michigan site, this man took soundings, obtained samples and provided the company with information he had obtained. The company was sufficiently impressed to give the area further study and make its own tests. The result was a multi-million dollar installation in an area which had not received attention originally.

That is only a part of the story. Allied industries followed and the original investment of the first company has been multiplied many times because of its expansion beyond first plans and the location of the other industries.

The result has been added employment, school additions, expansion of the residential section and a general building up of the area.

Obtaining a new, large industry for a community is an exception. To most towns, a small industry is just as important and more likely to be attracted. But, once it is there and providing employment for local residents, it has a growth potential that may add many more workers as the years go by. No industry is too small to deserve attention of towns engaged in an industrial development program. Several smaller manufacturers could provide greater diversification which might have a combined potential equal to a single large

SILENCE ISN'T GOLDEN

It takes a certain amount of horn-blowing to sell a town, and if it seems as though one day long ago somebody put away the horn and it has been forgotten, let's get it out and join the parade. Otherwise we stand aside and watch the parade go by.

If a town wants new industry it must talk up its advantages so industry can hear. Towns too must sell if they are to stay in business, and no town ever sold itself sitting silently by the side of the road.

New industry means more work for people of the community, more dollars in circulation all over the town, more prosperity for you and your neighbors. Your town has a selling message; help make it heard.

If your town is to attract industry, it needs every citizen as a salesman, and in this business there's no such thing as silent selling.

Join hands with your local industrial development organization and the Michigan Economic Development Department to help your community prosper.

This ad is published as a public service by this newspaper in cooperation with the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Economic Development Department.

U-M Expert Says Ladder Accidents Can Be Prevented

Ladders are a useful tool but climb one without inspecting first and you're a fool, or so the old saying goes.

A University of Michigan wood technologist has a few safety hints for those who must struggle with storm windows and other late Fall work on the ladder.

Although a few accidents are caused through inspection failures during manufacture, "In most cases accidents can be prevented if the user knows what to look for," says Prof. Stephen B. Preston, chairman of the U-M Department of Wood Technology, School of Natural Resources.

But, aside from inspection, ladder abusers can become useful users if they follow Professor Preston's easy-to-remember safety rules:

1. Always store your ladder in a horizontal position with sufficient support, equally distributed at several points;
2. Never allow a ladder to hang over the edge of such things as the tailgate of a pickup truck;
3. Don't paint your ladder—if you really want to, however, inspect it carefully for defects beforehand; for protection in place of paint, cover your ladder with a transparent wood preservative;
4. Never use a ladder in a horizontal position for such things as a scaffold;

5. Never place the base of the ladder more than one-fourth the height at which the top rests;
 6. Face the area at which you're working and face the ladder when going up and down;
 7. Be sure your ladder has a secure, level footing; and,
 8. Don't use the top of a step ladder as a step.
- Contrary to popular belief, seldom does a rung snap or a step break causing injury to the ladder user, Preston reveals. It's the rails that cause all the trouble and if the purchaser knows what to search for, he may help eliminate dangers caused by wood failure.

weight of the user. At each point as a person climbs up and down, the ladder "gives" under the impact. Faulty rails, then, are the cause of most structural failure in ladders.

Abuse by the user after the ladder has been purchased is the chief reason for rail failure, says Professor Preston. Ladder manufacturing companies try to eliminate defects, but sometimes they escape detection. A careful inspection by the purchaser may turn up defects and save him a few broken bones.

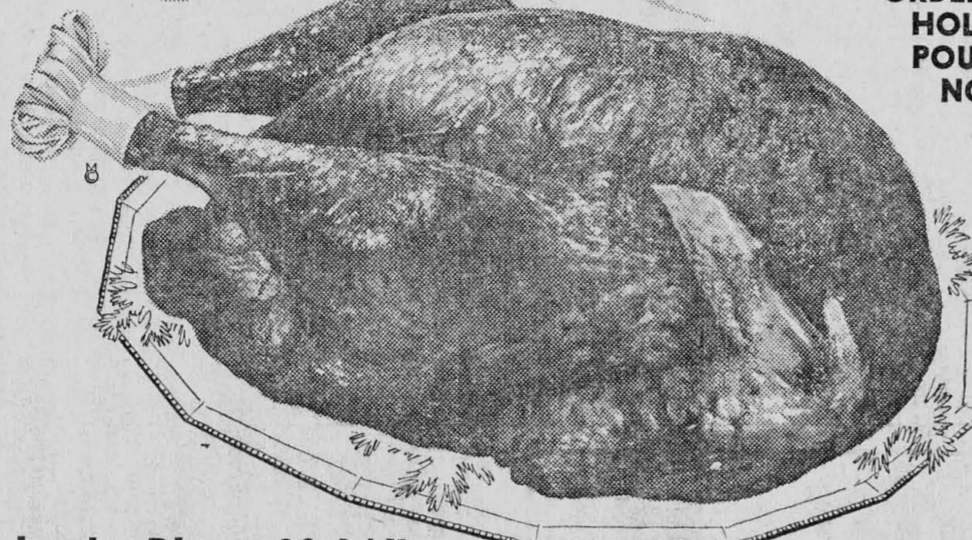

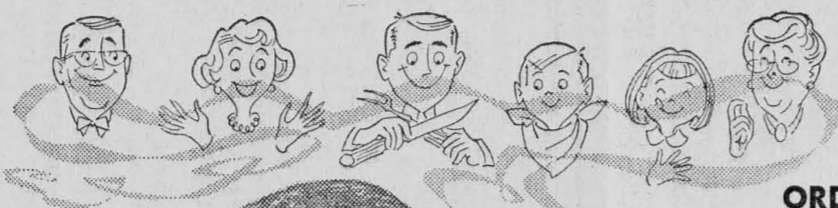

Here's what Preston suggests you look for when buying a ladder or before using the paint-spattered one on hand:

characterized by grain running across rather than parallel to the rail and it seriously reduces bending strength of a ladder. Cross-grain is sometimes difficult to detect, but notable, however, is the fact that in many cases chipped grain on the rail may be linked to the defect, says Preston.

2. Compression failure: Tell-tale lines of buckling fibers running perpendicular to the rail, which look something like a scratch, warn the user, and show that wood has been compressed to the breaking point.

Newcomer to Michigan
Recently introduced to Michigan by private shooting preserve operators, the coturnix quail provides a new target for hunters. Smaller than our bobwhite quail, coturnix usually do not cover up like bobwhites. Also unlike the protected bobwhite, coturnix quail may be hunted at anytime in Michigan.

TV NEWS

YOU CAN'T FIGHT CITY HALL

The producer of a television show can run into some peculiar situations. When Jaime del Valle was first casting his two leading men for the "Lineup" television series he signed Tom Tully for the part of Matt Greb, the old line cop with a heart. It seemed an obvious choice. Tully not only looked the part, but was an actor of proven ability. The part of Lt. Ben Guthrie was not so easy to cast, but del Valle came up with Warner Anderson, a little known actor, to play the role of a cop who went by the book. Trouble developed when Tully was to be billed over Anderson. In stepped the protocol-conscious San Francisco Police Department, saying they just couldn't have this happen—an "inspector" could never be billed over a "lieutenant."

LEAVE THE DRIVING TO US

Mere sentiment cannot warm a sponsor's heart. One of Steve Allen's summer shows was a reunion of all Steve's pals from the old "Tonight" show. No one bothered to explain why Andy Williams wasn't there. Andy wanted to be on the show, but Williams was Pat Boone's summer replacement and dedicated to the business of selling autos. One of Steve's sponsors protested, "We spend millions of dollars teaching people to take buses. We don't want them to see this guy and be reminded to buy cars."

TV BRIEFS:

Armand Schaefer, president of Flying A Pictures: "Westerns come and go in cycles, just like everything else. Next one coming up will be the musical Western."

Robert Loggia, who portrays Disney's newest Western hero, Elfege Baca: "I like the character. I like the part. Right now I can walk down the street unmolested. I shudder to think what might happen if 'Elfege Baca' becomes a hit."

St Patricks Juniors Hold Thanksgiving Dance

The juniors of St. Patrick High School are sponsoring a Thanksgiving Record Dance in the Parish Hall at Parnell, on the evening of November 21. The dance will begin at 8 and last until 11. Refreshments will be served.

Those on the committee are: Judy Quillan and Robert Matulis, posters; Bob McCarthy, Bob Matulis, and Dick Bowler, refreshments; Judy Quillan and Maureen Mooney, chaperones; Irene Weeks, advertising; and the class will do the decorating.

Chaperones for the party are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wittenbach and Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor. Everyone is invited.

EXTENSION GROUP MEET

Paddy's College Extension Group met on November 18, at the home of Mrs. Bernard Schaaf, Kraft Ave. Mrs. Stuart Bradley and Mrs. Clarence Hansen gave an interesting lesson on "Hard Surface Floor Coverings."

CUB SCOUTS MEET

The Ada Cub Scout Pack No. 3290 will hold their pack meeting at the Ada School on Friday evening, November 21, at 7:30 p. m.

There will be a "Bob Cat" induction ceremony for new boys. It is hoped that there will be a good attendance at this meeting.

THINGS TO COME

Hunters who don't get their buck can obtain a synthetic deer head mounted on a wooden plaque and having antlers moulded of plastic. New, easy-to-use thermometer for testing baby's formula eliminates necessity of splashing drops on the wrist.

If a winter vacation is out of the budget, men can get the illusion of a sun tan by using a new after-shaving cream.

It is a mistake to think that the primary job of education is to make people happy. The job is to teach people to think.

Film Strip Program for Kent County Schools

Four years ago the Kent County Board of Education established a film strip program for the benefit of the schools of Kent County. Quite a number of schools have invested on a yearly basis in this program, and it has proven very helpful and satisfactory in the instructional program of the county.

This year 16 millimeter sound movies in black and white and color have been added, but due to the fact that many of the larger schools were not in the film strip program, the total cost on a yearly basis has kept a number of these schools from joining. A rental program is now being started and it is hoped that this fine program will be used by most of the schools of Kent County.

Primary money should be available next week and about three-fourths of the district state aid payment will be made the last of that month. So far only three-fourths of each payment has been made and with the state in bad financial condition due to reduced sales tax collections, it appears that something drastic must be done in order that schools may end the year in solvent condition. A special session of the state legislature is being considered and a revision of the state tax structure is also being proposed as a solution to the problem.

CASCADE TERRACE GROUP TO MEET MONDAY

The Cascade Terrace group of the Cascade Mothers' Club will meet on Monday evening, November 24, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Lyle Stovall, 7118 Thorncrest. Bring glitter, toothpicks and glue.

CROP Drive Opens Next Week Here

The 1958 Kent County CROP Campaign for funds to send government surplus food to needy people overseas will be conducted next week, beginning Sunday, November 23, when CROP Sunday will be marked by special services and offerings in many churches.

Bill Bennett, Kent County CROP Treasurer, points out that cash contributions are vitally needed to meet the Kent County goal of $5,000. He also points out that one dollar given will now send 190 pounds of government surplus food overseas. This food is donated by the government with domestic and sometimes oceangoing freight paid by CROP, which is an arm of the Church World Service Division of the National Council of Churches.

Mr. Bennett urges everyone not directly contacted to either give through his local church, or else send contribution directly to CROP, 3 Federal Square Building, Grand Rapids 2, Michigan.

Football Banquet December 2 At Forest Hills

Athletic Director Edward Shy, announced final plans this week for the Forest Hills High School football banquet to be held Tuesday, December 2, at 7 p. m., in the new gym.

Milton "Bud" Hinga, former coach and athletic director, and now Dean of men at Hope College, will be the main speaker. Mr. Hinga has a great record as a football and basketball coach at Hope College for a period of 25 years. His teams many times won the MIAA championship in both football and basketball.

"Bud" as he is known by his hundreds of friends, has a wide background as a banquet speaker. He is reputed to have spoken at least once at every high school and college in Western Michigan.

John Vanderkuyl will provide entertainment at his spinet organ. He will play a selection of college pep songs plus the traditional dinner music.

Football Players Honored

The football players will be honored guests, and they will receive their awards from coaches Edward Shy and Jerry Dangi. Dean VanLandingham, high school principal, will be the Master of Ceremonies.

Tickets on Sale

The banquet is open to the public, and both men and women are welcome. The football players are selling tickets at $1.75 each. Anyone wishing to attend, but who does not have a son playing football, can reserve a ticket by calling the high school office, GL 1-2941.
