At present there is one vacancy each, on the committee in the Martin and Knapp areas. And two vacancies representing the high school.

Anyone interested in representing any of these areas on the committee is requested to write to the secretary of the committee, Mrs. Campbell Stekettee, 2000 Thornapple River Dr. S. E., Grand Rapids 6, Michigan, who will present the list to the committee at the next meeting.

Award Citation To Ada Postmaster

Ada post office vehicle drivers were singled out for outstanding performance in safety during 1958 by the Chicago Regional Operations Director Robert R. Justus, it was announced today by Raymond J. Reyburn, acting postmaster here.

The citation is an annual award presented to postal installations with improved accident experience ratings compared to the average regional rate of vehicle accidents occurring in each 100,000 miles of travel on official business.

"When delay of mail service is caused by an accident, our efficiency of operation is affected," Mr. Justus stated. "Your employees have definitely contributed to good service by preventing accidents by mail vehicles. To maintain our objective of 'Moving Today's Mail Today,' cognizance is being given to the fact that 'Safety is Everybody's Business' by Ada employees of the post office."

Since the Post Office Department began its campaign for safety four years ago Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has been presented the coveted National Safety Council award for "outstanding contributions in the Nation's traffic safety effort." It is the first time that one organizational group has been given this honor four years in a row.

Ada drivers are a part of the huge postal fleet which travels more than 884 million miles per year. About one-fifth of its half-million employees use vehicles on official business. Each of the Nation's 37,000 post offices are a contributing factor in establishing improved safety on the roads throughout America and its possessions, wherever U. S. Mail is delivered.

Ada vehicle drivers, compared to the Chicago Regional area (Illinois and Michigan), average better than the Regional Fleet based on number of accidents, cost and casualties due to vehicle collisions.

Consider School Bonds in March

In a letter to Secretary of Forest Hills Public Schools, Jack Baines the Municipal Finance Commission, revealed that the application for approval of $700,000 in bonds voted last September 29, has been put in sequence to be processed and would be considered by the commission about March 16.

The letter stated that although the application had been received December 19, it would take approximately 12 weeks to bring it before the commission, because of limited personnel.

To date the Commission staff has processed 1,755 applications, as compared to 765 in the calendar year 1957, 665 in 1956 and 541 in 1955. This has been accomplished with the same number of staff people, namely three.

Carl Behnke Presents 22nd Model House

Carl Behnke, 4804 Cascade Road is one builder who has given away more homes than any other. The 22nd model house was given to Coldwater Home for Retarded Children last week. Pictured here is Mr. Behnke and his granddaughter, Susan Rice, looking over the model home he just completed for the children at the Coldwater home. The homes that Behnke builds are complete from door bells that ring, to pictures on the wall. He says that without the many organizations that help him with used plywood, rug samples, scraps of glass, roofing etc., it would not be possible to have made so many children happy with these model homes. Doctors in the institutions that have received the model homes say that being able to handle the many parts of each building is great therapy for handicapped children.

Transportation Needed for Area Retarded Children

Any resident of the Forest Hills area who might be interested in helping transport three retarded children to attend special classes either in Grand Rapids or Caledonia, is asked to contact Superintendent Harold Chambers at GL-9-0165, or at his home.

There are three in the district, one in Eastmont and two in Cascade. They can be taken to the Caledonia Bus at corner of 40th Street and Whitneyville Road, or can be taken to Grand Rapids. The state will pay 7 cents per mile per child for transportation.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

Lower Traffic Fatalities in Michigan For Third Consecutive Year in 1958

For the third consecutive year, Michigan achieved its goal of reducing traffic fatalities by 10 percent, according to the annual year-end activities report issued by the State Police.

Projected figures show that 1,375 persons were killed, a saving of 162 lives and a death reduction of 10.5 percent below 1957's death toll of 1,537. The final figures will be available about the end of January.

There were 56,000 persons injured in 171,000 accidents, reductions of seven and 11 percent respectively.

Continued efforts in carrying out safety measures which proved successful in reducing deaths and injuries in 1956 and 1957 were cited by Commissioner Joseph A. Childs as reasons for the continued downward trend. These include increased enforcement strength, tighter driving license regulations, highway improvements, a public education program and greater safety-consciousness on the part of drivers and pedestrians.

The record was accomplished despite an 11 percent increase in the number of drivers to 4,292,570, which was 439,010 more than last year. Estimated miles traveled was 29 billion, less than a one percent decrease under last year despite the recession. The number of motor vehicles registered dropped three percent to a total of 3,156,150, or 100,000 fewer than in 1957.

State Police traffic arrests totaled 244,419 and there were 412,528 oral warnings. Non-traffic arrests totalled 29,197.

The figures do not include the arrest of 5,765 juvenile traffic offenders and 5,014 delinquent and wayward minors.

No new State Police posts were established during the year, but new post buildings were completed at Clinton, Pontiac and Ithaca at a total cost of $230,000. There are now 54 posts.

Highlights of the Year

Among highlights of the year the following were listed:

Semi-marked patrol cars are replacing unmarked ones on highway patrol to increase the hours of effective traffic law enforcement and reduce nighttime accidents. Unmarked cars could be used only in the daytime.

The state blockade system is in the process of being completely revised by three cooperating agencies, the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, the Michigan Sheriff's Association and the State Police. Object is to gain greater coverage and efficiency in less time.

A new policy was established to separate juvenile records from those of adults to give youthful offenders a new start. Most juvenile records will be destroyed when the offender reaches 21 to give him a clean start.

Two medals of valor, the highest awards bestowed by the State Police, were presented, one of them posthumously, and one for bravery in connection with a gun battle September 30, 1957, in which a

Beware! Thin Ice

It's too late to warn this fisherman, but don't you substitute haste for caution when ice-covered lakes open avenues to winter fishing this year. Freezing temperatures and other cars on lakes are misleading guides. Many areas will not support vehicles due to rapid undertows and the fickle whims of nature. The most hazardous periods are in early winter and spring. Discolored ice is a reliable sign of weakened and dangerous areas.

Michigan and an Indiana trooper were shot to death, a Michigan trooper critically wounded, and an Indiana trooper and Indiana city patrolman injured. One of the gunmen was killed and the other captured.

Forty-two officers were promoted and 12 retired after completing more than 25 years of service.

Less than 100 years ago American labor received about 38 percent of our total national income. Today that share is more than 85 percent.

Everyone Needs Immunity Shots for 6 Diseases

If you fear hypodermic needles, there's news from The University of Michigan Medical Center:

Dr. Ernest H. Watson, professor of pediatrics and communicable diseases, says everyone should have basic immunization against at least six major diseases, some of which require more than one "shot."

Dr. Watson declares certain immunizations have become routine for everyone. Among them are: diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, smallpox, polio, and, according to many physicians, influenza.

Additional immunizations, Dr. Watson says, "depend on your age, where you reside, where you travel, and, to some extent, on what diseases you have already had."

For example, he says, a trip to South America or Africa would call for shots against yellow fever, typhus, and perhaps cholera. Rocky Mountain spotted fever immunization would be necessary for a hunting or camping trip to the Montana-Wyoming mountains. Many new viruses have been discovered in recent years, Dr. Watson says, and new vaccines will be made from them to add to the basic six.

State School Fire Inspection Say Needed

Desirability of establishing a state school fire inspection code to be promulgated under authority of the state fire marshal was voiced by fire marshals and inspectors representing a group of municipalities at a meeting at State Police headquarters in East Lansing.

The code would be similar to one now being prepared for hospital inspections and to be placed in effect in February.

Fire inspection legislation also may be introduced at the next session of the legislature and if enacted, the code in this case would be drawn up to define hazards and procedures.

By virtue of the law, State Police Commissioner, Joseph A. Childs is also the state fire marshal and is empowered to establish fire safety codes which, after approval by the state attorney general and the secretary of state, become part of the state administrative code and have the effect of law.

"There has never been a uniform state fire inspection code for Michigan schools," said Capt. Glenroy M. Walker, chief of the fire marshal division of the State Police, who presided at the meeting. "Such a code would be much more effective than the inspection programs now carried out on a local level with local regulations and by the state fire marshal division in specific instances only."

The officials agreed that a state inspection code would result in better and more regular inspections and put teeth into the local inspections programs.

Pending the possible establishment of a code, Walker said, a set of standard procedures for school fire inspections may be drawn up by his office after consultations with various fire officials, architects and school authorities to provide uniformity, although it will not have the force of law.

U-M Experts Study Snow On Keweenaw

If you think your sidewalks get snowy, consider Michigan's Keweenaw Peninsula.

This narrow strip of hilly land jutting into Lake Superior and representing the most northern part of the state, receives more snow than any other point east of the Rockies with the exception of certain local areas in New England and New York.

In the three months of December through February, snow falls an average of 52 days—or more than half the time. In January, 1950, alone, more than nine feet came down in the Calumet area of the Peninsula.

This abundance of snow tends to draw skiers as well as snow plows. In the case of The University of Michigan, it has attracted meteorologists to Houghton to study the effects of the weather on snow after it has reached the ground.

The researchers want to learn how to predict accurately the condition of the snow in any part of the world through knowledge of weather conditions rather than having observers there to examine the snow.

The study is being done through the University's Willow Run Laboratories for the U. S. Army Snow.

What Is The Largest "Farm Group" In Michigan?

112,000 Farm Families That Regularly Save Trading Stamps Are The Biggest "Farm Group" In Michigan.

America's farm families are traditionally thrifty. The same pattern of thrift is found in Michigan. It is only natural, therefore, that the response of Michigan farm families to one of the oldest forms of thrift—the trading stamp—is so noticeable.

Today over 112,000 farm families save them. You might almost say that these savers constitute the largest single farm group in the state.

During 1957 alone, thousands of dollars worth of trading stamp merchandise went into farm households in the state, and every 2 seconds a farm family is receiving trading stamps. There is still another side—direct income for farmers. During 1957 the stamp industry purchased from Michigan farmers $975,000 worth of primary materials that go into the manufacture of merchandise for stamp redemption.

No one can contemplate these facts and fail to realize that both personally and economically the trading stamp industry is a meaningful and welcome force in the life of our state.

This message is published as public information by THE SPERRY AND HUTCHINSON COMPANY, originator 63 years ago of S&H Green Stamps.

Ice and Permafrost Research Establishment. Obviously the Army could use such information when trying to decide if snow in some remote spot could support vehicles.

Why does the Keweenaw Peninsula get so much snow? Very cold air coming down from the polar regions passes over Lake Superior which, because it never freezes over, is comparatively warm. The air gains heat and moisture as it passes over the lake and gets a push upward by the ridges on the Peninsula which range up to 900 feet above the lake.

Air already unstable and forced to rise above the ranges will continue to rise of its own accord as long as it is warmer than surrounding air at the same levels. The result is cumulus clouds and typical snow-squall conditions.

The snow study is one of the more complicated meteorological investigations and falls into a branch of the science called micro-meteorology. It's complicated because sun, wind, clouds, ground, snowfall, soil moisture and other conditions, and combinations of conditions, all have an effect on the snow.

But the meteorologists are not worried, for in this land of Paul Bunyan prodigious snows—and feats—are commonplace.

New corn program approved by producers will mean all corn grown next year will be supported at about $1.15 a bushel, according to farm economists at Michigan State University.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

The horse has been defined as a creature more sensible than the human being because, whereas people pay to see a horse race, horses never pay to see the human race.

Probably the most dangerous horse race being run anywhere today is that by the so-called Four Horsemen of the Highway—Speed, Alcohol, Pedestrian Mistakes, and a dark horse called Night Driving Danger that is moving up fast on the rail position.

Misuse of speed, driving after drinking, and careless pedestrians have long been recognized as leaders in the annual injury and death race on the highways. Only recently have safety organizations, traffic officials and the general public become aware that night driving dangers are probably the single biggest highway crash cause of all.

Speed violations were a factor in 38 percent of last year's 33,500 traffic deaths, according to National Safety Council tabulations. A drinking driver was involved in 30 percent of all fatal accidents. Erroneous pedestrian actions such as crossing against signals, crossing in mid-block, and walking in the roadway accounted for 16 percent of all traffic deaths last year.

But far out in front of the pack is night driving danger, a factor in 54 percent of all traffic fatalities last year. For every four drivers killed on the highway in daytime, 10 are killed at night.

What can be done to put this dark horse out of the running? Speed crackdowns, heavy law enforcement, and public education may suffice for the first three factors, but no one can stop the sun from setting nor make a driver's eyes see better at night.

Highway officials and traffic safety experts are urging that if drivers' eyes can't be improved, the dangers be made more visible.

They are putting up reflective markers and signs that give better warnings of hazards after dark. In some areas they are putting in huge lighting projects, although these are expensive and limited by highway budgets.

Where possible, they are enacting legislation that will require motorists to slow down at night.

In brief, they are taking all possible steps to reduce the nighttime fatality rate, which is now the single biggest cause of deaths on the highways.

Night driving danger will be a dead horse when efforts such as these to improve the track for motorists become standard practices on every course.

Editorials Still In Buggywhip Era Says U-M Expert

Newspaper editorials are still in the buggywhip era, a University of Michigan Journalism professor maintains.

Writing in the autumn issue of the Michigan Alumnus, Quarterly Review, published this week (Dec. 6-13), ex-editorial writer Karl F. Zeisler said today's editorials are guilty of:

1. The editorial "we!" "The product of the editorial conference, tuned to echo the views of the owner, invariably hides behind the impersonal, colorless, anonymous and meaningless editorial 'we.'"

2. Ignorance of the techniques of opinion-forming. For example, Zeisler said, if editorial writers during the Truman-Dewey campaign in 1948 had taken the trouble to find out how the polls were conducted, and what top professionals in the field knew, "they would never have stretched themselves over that particular barrel."

3. Crisis-crying. "There just ain't a new World-shivering crisis with each edition. With the help of doom-in-the-Adam's-apple radio and TV commentators, they (editorial writers) have numbed the public till it could hardly hoist an eyebrow if a 20-carat crisis came along."

"Only on the rugged U. S. weekly can you be pretty sure the edit you read is the editor's." On dailies up to about 25,000 circulation, editorial writing is often a one-man assignment and usually the position is filled in a haphazard fashion, he said.

On larger papers, "editorial writing may be a joint product of the editorial conference." In such an atmosphere, with frequent differences of interpretation of the newspaper's policy, "it is surprising if much in the way of reasoned analysis, hard-biting opinion, or inspired writing emerges," Zeisler added.

"Is it any wonder readers turn with relief to the signed, syndicated columnists, who write as they purportedly think and sometimes even say what they really believe?"

The remedy? Let the press shed the timidity of the editorial conference, Professor Zeisler suggested. "Brain trusts, in Hollywood, TV, or the editorial office, often distill only the mediocrity of their lowest common denominator. Let the press get back to kick-in-the-teeth editorials."

Early papers were crude, uncouth and partial in our view today, "but they did express and influence personal opinion by being exceedingly personal," he said.

We should return "to the informed free-thinker writing personally to the individual democrat—the Mark Hopkins relationship on either end of a log.

TAX FACTS #1

Selecting The Proper Tax Form

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Michigan Society of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

If you are one of the millions of American taxpayers who spends the lion's share of his income feeding, clothing, housing and entertaining his family, chances are there is very little you can do to reduce your 1958 federal income tax bill—but you owe it to yourself to try.

First of all, decide which of the two individual tax forms you are going to use to report your income. If you choose the wrong one, you may automatically cut yourself off from a possible tax savings.

The easiest way to file is to use the simple 1040-A Form. It's a card the size of a check, on which you answer a few simple questions and have the choice of either computing your own tax or letting the Government do it for you.

You are permitted to use the card form if your gross income consisted only of wages, dividends or interest totaling less than $10,000, and if you did not have more than $200 of gross income apart from that listed on your W-2 withholding slips.

Facts to Consider
Before deciding to use the card Form 1040-A, you should consider these facts:

1. Your tax will be figured from a table which allows you a deduction of about 10 per cent of your income instead of itemized deductions for contributions, taxes, interest paid, medical and dental expenses, etc.

2. There is no provision in this form for filing as the "head of household," as a "surviving spouse" or for claiming special credits for dividends and retirement income.

If you are sure that these two points would not cost you any tax savings, and your income is within the limits for filing a Form 1040-A, you might as well use this simple card form.

Whether to Itemize
When you elect to use the regular Form 1040, you still must decide whether to itemize deductions or take the standard deduction which usually amounts to about 10 per cent of your income or $1,000, whichever is less. Generally, you will save by itemizing deductions if you:

- (1) Own real estate
- (2) Had unusual medical expenses
- (3) Had deductible child-care expense
- (4) Suffered losses from fire, storm, accident or theft
- (5) Made fairly large charitable contributions

If you are supporting a dependent, although you are unmarried, you may be able to qualify as a "head of household" and figure your tax on a special table that gives you part of the advantage enjoyed by married couples filing joint returns.

You may qualify for a "head of household" status if you provide more than half the support of a parent, and more than half the cost of maintaining the parent does not live with you. You cannot claim a "head of household" status if you file a Form 1040-A.

The 1040 Form is arranged again this year so that a taxpayer whose income was entirely from wages need to use only the first one or two pages. Pages three and four are for other types of income and for computing the special credits for dividends and retirement income.

The instructions which come with your tax forms give further information on how to select the correct tax form. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service.

writers write, under bylines, what they actually think and believe, with or without benefit of the conference's joint sagacity."

Mich. 4-H'ers Back From Chicago

Three Kent County teenagers and one from Livingston County were named 1958 state winners in 4-H programs conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service. All four were delegates to the National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago, and are now back home after a wonderful week packed with exciting events.

Carolyn Meyers

Ruth Engman

Peter McPherson

Ginger Jensen

Kent County's Carolyn Meyers, 17, of Clarksville, has the distinction of being the first state winner in a brand new 4-H Swine project. She was awarded a trip to club congress by the Moorman Manufacturing Company.

Miss Meyers, a 4-H'er for seven years, started raising pigs reluctantly in 1952, as a favor to a neighbor. She was quite surprised to discover she liked hog-raising and even more surprised when one of her animals was chosen reserve champion barrow at the West Michigan Fat Stock show that first year.

In 1957, Miss Meyers showed the champion 4-H pen and individual hog at the Ionia Fat Stock show. She was also winner of the president's trophy for top all-around showman at the Ionia show. This year she was chosen winner of the sweepstakes trophy for top showman at the West Michigan Show.

President of the Bowne Center 4-H Club at Alto, Miss Meyers has found time for projects in food preservation, cooking, sewing, home improvement, and beef cattle.

In 1953, she showed the grand champion Hereford female at the State 4-H show, and in 1956, the county champion steer.

Champion Cook
Another Kent County 4-H'er, Ruth Engman, 18, of Grand Rapids, is a judge of fine food. She proved her exceptional ability by winning the state award in the 4-H Food Preparation program.

Her trip to the congress was given by Betty Crocker of General Mills.

Since 1953, Miss Engman prepared some 475 plates and 625 meals. She won county honors in family living, sewing, knitting and junior leadership.

Boys' Agricultural Winner

Peter McPherson, 18, of Lowell, is a firm believer in the importance to agriculture of the newest scientific discoveries and modern technology.

Named winner in the 4-H Boys' Agricultural program, he was awarded a trip to the congress by International Harvester Co.

Twice he has shown the grand champion and reserve champion Shorthorn at the county fair. He won senior champion honors three times.

He also won the grand champion and reserve champion title at the Michigan State Fair.

For three years he was county winner in dairy judging.

McPherson, now attending Michigan State University, has been a 4-H'er 10 years. He has served three years as president of the local 4-H Club.

Bug Expert

There's more to an insect than meets the eye, according to Ginger Jensen, 16, of Linden, Livingston County, winner in the 4-H Entomology program. The Hercules Powder Co. awarded her trip to the club congress.

Miss Jensen got the "bug" for entomology four years ago. She has since collected and identified some 334 insects. Recently she has been experimenting with a process of embedding her specimens in plastic.

Because of her skill, Miss Jensen has been asked to prepare two boxes of insects embedded in plastic to be shown at the National Entomology Convention in Salt Lake City.

She has won numerous county and state awards in 13 other 4-H categories besides entomology.

HELP YOUR VETERINARIAN

by Dr. E. M. Gildow
Director, Friskies Research Kennels

Your veterinarian's lot is not an easy one. His patients can give him no help in pointing out where they pain. You, the pet's owner, however, can be of invaluable help to your veterinarian in diagnosing your dog's ills.

You know your pet better than anyone else does...are familiar with how he looks and acts when in the pink of condition. You're therefore the one who notices variances in the norm...such as drinking more than his usual quota of water, having trouble relieving himself, sleeping more than usual, eating and playing less, an unexplainable loss of weight.

Any such variances, unless mentioned to your veterinarian, may pass unnoticed, for they won't turn up on the examining table. Yet they may provide an important clue to what is troubling your dog.

When your pet is ill, make a list of any irregularities you've noticed and don't trust the list to memory. Write it all down. The better you know your dog and the more observant you are, the longer the list will be. Don't worry about how unrelated or seemingly unimportant your notations appear to be. They'll help speed up your veterinarian's diagnosis, and the time saved may mean the difference between life and death for your pet.

Feeding Tip: Fish is desirable in a dog's diet because of its high food value quality. The feeding of a quality dog food which contains fish meal in correct amounts, provides this good nutrition without the hazards of fresh fish, which may transmit tapeworm, or protozoa, and the ever present danger of fish bones.

TV NEWS

SHORT-CUT TO FAME

Actor Craig Stevens took a long chance on a short haircut. Stevens had always been a typical long-haired leading man type until "Peter Gunn" creator-producer-director Blake Edwards put the finger on him for the title role. The finger was applied via a phone call from Los Angeles to Honolulu, where Stevens was trying to sandwich a vacation in between roles. "Come home," said Edwards, "we're going to cut your hair." Edwards tells, "It was an awful feeling watching that beautiful dark stuff hit the floor of the barber-shop. I remember thinking, 'If this pilot doesn't sell, the guy will never speak to me again.'" The pilot did fine.

TV BRIEFS:

Craig Stevens, when asked what sort of a character "Peter Gunn" was supposed to be: "I wish you hadn't asked that. We've finished about 20 episodes so far and I'm still not quite sure."

Dorothy Collins: "A girl really can't sing 'Love For Sale' in a turtle-neck sweater."

Lola Albright, one of the world's most beautiful women, explaining why she doesn't like closeups: "They make me nervous."

Children Under 20 Increase 42% in 10 Years

There are 42 percent more Michigan youngsters under the age of 20 today than there were 10 years ago, and their ranks will increase by another 610,000 by 1960, the Michigan Department of Health said today.

According to the department's latest population estimate, Michigan now has 2,894,527 youngsters under 20 years of age—854,473 more than in 1948.

"Never before in Michigan's history has a population expansion of this magnitude taken place," said Dr. Goldie B. Corneliuson, director of maternal and child health for the Michigan Department of Health.

"To public health, the sharp increase in the number of children means there has been a sharp rise in the demand for the services these children need—particularly for maternal and child health services," Dr. Corneliuson said.

She said the one single area of child health in most urgent need of improvement in Michigan is care of children born prematurely.

Forest Hills Rangers Basketball Team Seeks Second Victory

Boosters' And Faculty Play Friday

The Forest Hills Faculty basketball team will tangle with the Forest Hills Boosters' Club this Friday, January 9, in the Forest Hills gym. These teams played several thrilling games last year with the faculty winning two out of the three games played. All the games were closely played and keenly contested.

The faculty team has played one game this year winning over the varsity, 45-29. The Boosters' have been practicing every Saturday since November. They recently scrimmaged an independent team from Byron Center.

The faculty team will consist of Ferris Post, Dave Klawiter, Ron Magee, Jerry Dangi, Bunk Van Ark, Hank Doele, Tom Gober and Ed Shy. Klawiter and Shy paced the faculty victory over the varsity with 16 and 14 points, while Dangi controlled the back courts and Van Ark sparked on defense.

The Boosters' team will feature former stars Mel Bushman, Lee Scott, and Tommy Ray, all of whom stand over 6 feet tall. They will be ably assisted by the speedsters like Dr. Paine, Ken Klynstra, Jim Vanderploeg, Gus Afendoulis and Leo Blocher.

The faculty hopes to off-set the Boosters height advantage with usefulness, speed and superior shooting.

A preliminary game starting at 7 p. m. will feature two teams composed of women. Last year these games provided fun for all. Come, enjoy yourself, and "be a booster."

Saturday Program to Continue
The Saturday morning athletic program conducted by Mr. Van Ark and Mr. Shy, will resume this Saturday after a two weeks' holiday vacation.

The gym floor was refinished during the school vacation. This program is open to all boys in grades 5 through 8 and starts at 10 a. m.

The Forest Hills Rangers will go after their second victory of the season, when they travel to Caledonia on Tuesday, January 13.

The first game will start at 7 p. m., with the Forest Hills freshmen playing the Caledonia freshmen. The second game starts at 8:30 p. m.

There are several items of major importance on the agenda for this meeting. All members are urged to attend.

The golfer confidently addressed his ball, "This hole should be good for one long drive and a putt," he remarked to the caddie.

There was a mighty explosion of dirt as he swung and the ball dribbled a few feet from the tee. "Now," said the caddie, "for a hell of a putt."

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to commend the members of the Cascade Fire Department. The service these volunteers give is of inestimable value to the community.

As an example, I cite an instance shortly after midnight recently when the motor in our furnace became overheated and the house filled with smoke. Within five minutes after I put in the alarm, the firemen were at the house. They checked thoroughly and soon located the trouble. Not only did they remove the burned-out motor, but they obtained another and hooked it up to the furnace, thus enabling us to have heat through the remainder of the night.

I think all who have had occasion to call the fire department will agree with me when I say, "hats off" to these unsung heroes who are always on duty. They're on the spot when you need them and that's a service you can seldom buy today at any price!

Sincerely yours,
Lorraine Rueff
