Proposed Metro Plan for Grand Rapids A Threat to Forest Hills School District

Although it is conceded that the proposed metro plan for joining the present City of Grand Rapids with Wyoming City, Walker, Paris and Grand Rapids Townships is a remote possibility, it has been pointed out by County School Superintendent Lynn Clark that this would be a threat to Forest Hills School District.

If Paris and Grand Rapids Township joined in the new city and they would have to become a part of the Grand Rapids school system leaving Forest Hills, there would only be a small fraction of the district remaining. It would leave a large school plant with only a few children to use it. Clark pointed out that this would create a serious problem.

In the event of the separations of the area to the City of Grand Rapids, the school debt now voted would still have to be paid by property going into the metropolitan area. This debt obligation of whole districts annexed would have to be carried at least three years when the district as a whole might vote to assume such debts. Fractional districts such as Forest Hills annexed would have to continue to carry their own obligations until they are retired.

Boards Favor Vote

It is reported that township boards of Grand Rapids and Paris Townships favor bringing the Grand Rapids Metro proposal to a vote. Both townships have held public meetings to discuss the matter and fact finding committees are at work. If a vote was taken at this time it is very doubtful if the proposal would pass. Most residents now in the area have moved in from the city. (Suburban Life would be happy to print letters from anyone, pro or con, on this issue.)

Family Night Basketball Game

The basketball game between the married and the single men of the Cascade Christian Reformed church will be played Friday evening, March 13, in the Ada school gymnasium.

Plans Spring Parties For Dance Assembly

The Continental Room of the Pantlind Hotel will be the scene of a lovely spring party given for the Assembly dancers by Verna Stevens on Thursday, March 19.

There will be an orchestra, refreshments and prizes for dancing. Time of the dances are not the same as the regular assembly.

4th, 5th and 6th grades, 4:15 to 5:45 p. m.

7th grade, 7 to 8:30 p. m.

8th, 9th and 10th grades, 8:30 to 10 p. m.

It is hoped that every boy and girl enrolled in the dancing can attend this affair.

Next year Mrs. Stevens will also be in the Forest Hills area; this time having classes on Wednesdays. Invitations will be sent out in the early fall.

To Present Art Exhibit At Ada Town Hall

The Forest Hills Neighborhood Girl Scouts would like to remind everyone in the community that their Home Frontiers Art Exhibit will be held on Friday, March 13, from 3 p. m. until 9 p. m. at the Ada Town Hall.

Girl scout cookies will be sold at the Art exhibit; and girls, don't forget that your cookie money must be turned in by the 20th.

CONFERENCES DRAWS LARGE ATTENDANCE

The parent-teacher conferences which were held in the Forest Hills school recently were well worth while, and the teachers and the school were pleased with the response, which was 50 percent or more.

There would probably have been more but for the sickness which was so prevalent at the time.

TO PRESENT MOVIE

The movie, "Follow the Hunter" will be shown at the Cascade School on Saturday, March 14, at 2 p. m. As usual, popcorn will be sold.

Citizens Committee Makes Report

At the Forest Hills School District Citizens Advisory Committee meeting held Tuesday, March 3, Mr. Chambers presented a detailed explanation of the entire Forest Hills setup regarding teachers qualifications training and salaries.

Mrs. Hendricks and Mr. Chambers told the committee how additional teachers and materials would improve the quality of our education. There followed discussion concerning the possibility of asking the people to vote an additional millage to provide these means of giving our children improved education.

George Darooge, Joe Jaeger,

Howard Aylsworth and Donald Swem were appointed to a committee to investigate further and report at the April meeting.

Proposed Curriculum

Mr. VanLandingham explained the proposed High School curriculum for next year. The committee voted to recommend that the Board adopt this curriculum.

Mr. Chambers asked the committee to make a recommendation concerning the continuation of the present report cards. This discussion was deferred until the April meeting. However, the committee would welcome any comments from parents in regards to the report cards.

Recall Origin Of "Blarney" At Shamrock Time

Chances are the blarney will be as thick as the shamrocks when the Irish honor St. Patrick on March 17.

But the original "blarney" was an Irish chieftain who proved that you can still win even if you lose.

When the castle of Blarney was besieged by the English, the lord of the manor concluded an armistice with the English commander. According to the research experts he promised to surrender the old homestead to an English garrison in Cork on a certain date.

The Englishman waited politely for the terms of the armistice to be fulfilled—and waited—and waited.

The Lord of Blarney held him off with promises and flattery, until the commander became the laughingstock of the court of England.

And the name "Blarney" ironically took its place in the "English" language, as a synonym for sweet talk.

Murphy School P.T.A. to Sponsor Square Dance

PARIS GRANGE HELD AT REED'S HOME

Last Friday evening the Paris Grange met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reed, 4767 Burton S. E.

After the business meeting cards were played and donuts and coffee served.

Men talk about doing good deeds, and consider that as their share.

Conservation in Classrooms

"Conservation in the schools," an important medium of educating younger generations in the wise use of natural resources, is the 1959 theme for National Wildlife Week, March 15-21. The theme reiterates the philosophy of educators and conservationists by stressing the need for a conservation curriculum in our schools. In Michigan, the departments of public instruction and conservation work jointly in shaping the program of conservation education.

Ada, Bowne and Vergennes Townships Ask Extra Taxes for Fire Protection

Special votes have been called in Ada, Bowne and Vergennes at the Spring Biennial Election, Monday, April 6, for extra millage to provide fire equipment and housing in the various townships.

Kent County Board of Supervisors have also called a special vote to raise 1 mill for two years to finance a children's detention home and a mental hospital.

Ada Township

Ada Township voters will be called upon to authorize the increase of taxes 1 mill a year for 10 years for the purpose of operation and maintenance of fire protection and equipment.

Bowne Township

In the Township of Bowne a vote is raised not to exceed 2 mills for two years for use in the purchase of fire extinguishing apparatus, equipment or housing and the money must be used not later than 1962. Plans are now to purchase a John Bean high pressure fire fighting unit which will cost in the neighborhood of $12,000.

Vergennes Township

Voters in Vergennes township are being asked to approve a levy of 1 mill for one year to provide additional fire protection for the township. Vergennes Township board agreed to join Lowell Township, the Village of Lowell and Kent County in sharing the cost of fire equipment. The cost of this was $4,000.

Fluoride Program Letters Ready

Letters to parents of 2nd, 5th and 8th grade students in the Forest Hills District will be brought home by the children soon, to find out whether or not the parents would like their children to have the fluoride treatment on their teeth.

The clinic will be held at the Collins school during the summer. Pre-school children may be included if parents wish.

Mrs. Verhil is chairman of the committee, which was created by the joint parent organizations of our district.

TO DISCUSS 'SCHOOLS' AT MARCH 17 MEETING

The Eastmont Coffee group will meet on Tuesday, March 17, at 8:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. H. Weaver, 1065 Cutter Parkway S. E. Her co-hostesses will be Mrs. R. Waterfield and Mrs. O. Spadetti.

The program "What Do We Really Want For Our Schools" will be led by Mrs. Weaver. This will be an interesting and informative discussion.

Heart Patients To Wear Identification

Herb Lee didn't carry a white cane because he wasn't blind. But Herb was a heart patient and he died because nobody knew. At a gathering where he was relatively unknown, Herb Lee suddenly became ill. His hosts tried to make him comfortable while they calmly tried to reach a doctor. This wasn't enough. As with most heart conditions, this attack called for oxygen—fast! But there was no "white cane" or appropriate symbol to indicate that Herb had a heart condition and he died in a matter of minutes.

A person wearing the SOS identification is a heart patient. He needs emergency oxygen in case of sudden illness.

It was this unfortunate and unnecessary death that inspired the founding of S. O. S.—The International Society of Survival. Roger Lee, younger brother of Herb and a heart victim himself, was shocked into recognizing that there are thousands of lives lost each year because people with heart conditions are not readily identified. To lessen this danger, Roger Lee developed the SOS plan of saving lives through identification.

A heart patient who is a member of SOS now wears an attractive pin which displays the distinctive symbol of the organization—a winged purple heart over a cluster of hearts. Equally important, the public is becoming aware of what the pin means and what steps should be taken when a SOS member becomes ill.

As a rule, persons with a heart condition are subject to recurrence of the illness, especially during physical exertion. When an attack occurs, the heart is not able to supply the body with enough oxygen, so it is important that the victim receives extra oxygen at once.

Immediate medication, usually nitroglycerin capsules, is also required to keep the person out of danger until he receives proper medical treatment. For this reason the SOS pin is fashioned like a locket so that it opens and holds two or three capsules of the medicine prescribed by his doctor for emergency medication.

On discovering someone in an unconscious or helpless condition, anyone can make a quick check to see if the victim wears an SOS pin or carries an SOS identification card. If so, the local fire department should be called immediately because it will have oxygen for such emergencies quickly available. The medicine within the pin should also be given to the victim as soon as possible.

Wood Siding Makes Color Changes Easy

Jello came up with the idea years ago: a variety of colors and tastes.

Now manufacturers of automobiles, typewriters, appliances, papers, and many others are taking part in the "color parade."

For instance, you can now buy a range to match your kitchen, a car to go with your wardrobe, or facial tissues to compliment your bathroom tile.

What about houses? You may have a variety of colors and exterior finishes to choose from, but when it comes time to change to another color what do you do? Dr. Alan A. Marra (Ph. D.) of The University of Michigan Department of Wood Technology thinks that of the three most-used sidings now available—brick, aluminum, and wood—the demand for the latter will continue to remain high in view of greater color consciousness.

Explaining his prediction, Dr. Marra remarks: "As people become even more aware of color change, wood siding will probably increase in demand because it is a siding that can be easily painted and thus changed at the owner's whim."

"Aluminum siding is fine—you don't have to paint it. On the other hand, however, if you should like a change in color you would most likely find difficulty in covering the enamel surface of aluminum siding."

"Brick, of course, is generally thought to be the best siding available. But, the initial cost is two or three times that of wood and you would have real problems in changing its color."

Wood siding has performed well through the centuries, Marra says. Contemporary construction methods, modern paints, and home environment—especially in northern areas—have caused some problems in moisture control and subsequent damage, he adds.

"The wood industry hopes to produce pre-treated water repellent siding with vital back priming—underside protection of the siding—some time in the near future."

"This step, I think, would end some of the damage troubles which now face those who own or intend to buy homes with wood siding."

Seed Test Label Assures Quality

Some growers in the state are advertising seed of their own production for sale without first having a purity, germination and noxious weed examination test made to determine whether the seed is marketable as required under Michigan law.

This is the recent finding of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, according to its chief seed analyst, John Garver.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture operates a seed testing laboratory at East Lansing where farmers and others dealing in seeds can get seed tested at a nominal fee.

The state seed law makes it unlawful to expose seed for sale that is not up to standard. This is to protect growers and others from sowing seed that will not produce good crops or using seed that contains the seed of noxious weeds.

"Testing is necessary," according to Mr. Garver, "to the proper labeling of seed. Good seed can best be sold when a test label is attached. Poor seed is often offered without the test label. The man with quality seed wants it known. The person offering inferior seed does not."

The prospective seed purchaser should buy tagged seeds. Read carefully the tag in order to know germination and purity," Mr. Garver said.

The Michigan seed law permits a farmer to sell seed of his own production to neighboring farmers without complying with these tagging requirements, but it does not permit him to advertise this seed for sale. Although aware of this exemption, some growers have their seed tested anyway for their own protection as well as that of the buyer.

Check the labels when you buy a sweater. If the label says "Dry clean only," you should follow that advice. The dye used on the sweater may not be permanent to washing, and an uneven color might result if you try to wash it at home.

Education Outdoors

Students examine a sumac branch while their teacher explains its identifying characteristics during a nature class in the field at a state outdoor center. Outdoor centers serve as headquarters for this educational program, supervised by educators and Conservation Department employees, to yearly play an important role in linking thousands of Michigan's young citizens with principles of conservation and outdoor living.

Buy Clothes With an Eye to Washday

Next time you're buying clothes or household articles, look ahead to wash day. This tip is offered you by extension specialists in home management at Michigan State University.

They suggest you choose materials and weaves that are easy to wash and iron. For example, a man's shirt made of loosely woven oxford cloth is easier to wash and iron than one made of fine, closely woven broadcloth.

Some fabrics have weaves or finishes that make them slow to soil. Smooth weaves shed dirt more easily than napped or pile surfaces. Weaves such as jersey or terry cloth require little or no pressing. Special fabric finishes can add to ironing ease.

Be sure to read washing tags and garment labels before you buy.

How to Buy a New Car

Buying a new car this spring? If so, give it the thought the investment demands. A car is the most expensive thing most of us buy—except a house.

Here are some tips to consider when making that exciting purchase:

TV News

THE WHOLE WORLD?
Walter Brennan, TV's Grampa McCoy, is a 40 year veteran of showbusiness. Looking back over his long career, Brennan recalls that his years with famed producer Sam Goldwyn were the most productive of his life. "Goldwyn is not right all the time, but he is right just enough of the time to make him the best producer in the business. For ten years Sam kept telling me I was the greatest actor in the world. Fifteen minutes after my contract expired he and Ned Depinet (former RKO movie executive) and I were walking down the studio street. 'You know, Ned,' said Goldwyn smilingly, 'that Valter Brennan is the most overrated actor in the world.'"

Instead of competing with books for children's leisure time, television actually encourages them to read more. In its survey of librarians on television's effect on children's reading habits, they tell about a particularly impressive young lady. She was nine years old and small for her age—a little blonde angel with her library card clutched firmly in a red-mittened hand. "Please," she said softly and earnestly, "I'd like a book on how to make a monster." The librarian, herself a TV fan, was understanding. Without a change of expression she guided the youngster to a section on puppetry and suggested she begin there.

TV BRIEFS:
Walter Brennan: "I'm not good copy. I've been married to the same wife for nearly 40 years."

Tom Rondell, TV stuntman: "Well we just usually don't get hurt, that's all. We can't afford it."
Catherine E. Adamson, Chicago library official: "Today the three (TV) programs that consistently send children to the library for books are 'Robinhood,' 'Walt Disney Presents,' and 'Shirley Temple Storybook.'"

Lucille Ball, commenting on the entrance requirements for the Desilu Workshop: "We aren't interested in measurements or profiles. We are interested in dedicated young professionals—who aren't afraid of hard work."

Motorist Won't Walk Far, Says U-M Traffic Man

How far is the average motorist willing to walk after parking his car in the city?

That depends, according to Prof. John C. Kohl, head of the Transportation Institute at The University of Michigan, on whether the driver is a man going to work or a woman going shopping.

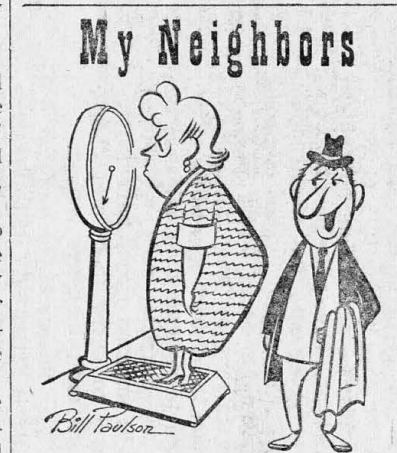

If the motorist is headed for work, he'll walk quite a distance, but the housewife bound for the store doesn't like to step more than 300 to 500 feet.

In any event, the maximum the average driver will walk is 1,300 feet or about one-quarter mile, although big city dwellers will walk further than those who live in smaller towns.

With the lack of adequate parking an increasing headache everywhere, Professor Kohl states the mere provision of a parking facility will not always solve the problem. The facility must be appealing to the driver in location, convenience and cost.

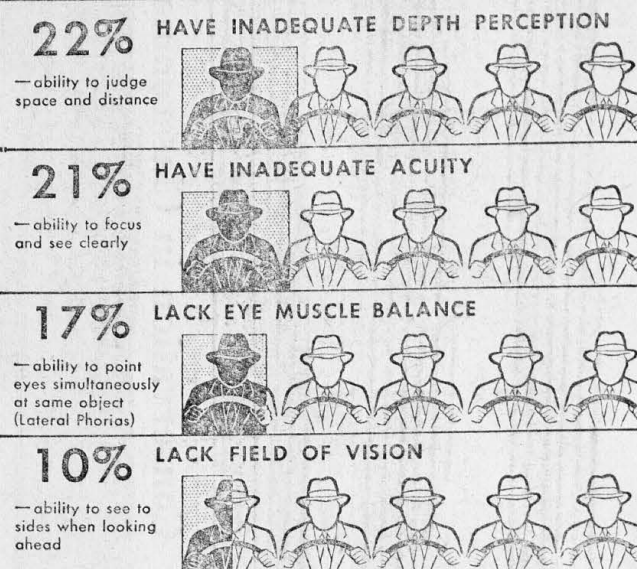

That's why some motorists will circle the block looking for a parking place instead of driving another block to an uncrowded parking structure.

Money in the bank is a friend in need.

"That's the trouble with creeping inflation—pops out in the wrong places, stifling imagination and incentive!"

ONE OUT OF FIVE MOTORISTS LACKS VISUAL SKILLS FOR SAFE DRIVING

Figures on 3000 drivers in 25 states were obtained in a pilot survey which American Optometric Association will extend to 100,000 drivers in cooperation with state and local organizations. The national survey, being launched during SAVE YOUR VISION WEEK, March 1-7, aims at accident prevention by cautioning the motorist to respect his individual limits in eyesight, remembering that "DRIVING TAKES SEEING!"

The Soviet news agency Tass reports that a University of Atheism has been opened in Ashkhabad, capital of Soviet Turkmenistan. Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota have only four percent of the nation's school population but 25 percent of the school districts.

"What's in It For Me" Attitude Hurts Every Community Effort

Newspaper headlines can mean many things to many people. Take for instance, a headline that reads: "NEW INDUSTRY TO LOCATE HERE, WILL EMPLOY 75 PERSONS" or another headline reading: "LOCAL PLANT TO EXPAND, WILL ADD 30 WORKERS".

To some, headlines such as these mean an opportunity for a job. To others they may be a promotion and more money. Merchants hope they will result in more business for them.

When you read about a new industry coming to town or one of our present industries expanding, you may ask:

"What's in it for me?" The answer is "plenty!"—regardless of whether or not you will be employed by the industry or have a business that stands to profit from sale of products to the firm or its employees.

That new industry coming to town may offer a job opportunity for your son when he gets out of school in June or for your unemployed brother-in-law in Ohio who you've been helping out with an occasional $5 or $10.

It could result in a job for your teen-age daughter at the drug store downtown which had to add a part-time clerk because of an increase in business. But one thing is for sure—new jobs mean more money circulating in our town.

And the industrial payroll dollar is a wonderful thing. In some ways it's like a rolling snow ball. It gets bigger as it goes through the community, passing through many hands and touching many people.

Some of it is bound to rub off on all of us sooner or later.

New industries and plant expansions mean more payroll dollars for our town, increased economic security for you and your family and greater opportunity for you and your children.

Everyone in the community must work together to attract new industry by telling others about the advantages our town offers for industry.

And we must encourage our existing industry to expand locally by letting it know we appreciate what it is doing for the community.

"What's in it for me?" is the theme of an advertisement, sponsored by the Michigan Press Association and Michigan Economic Development Department, appearing today in this newspaper.

It is another in a series of advertisements designed to stimulate local industrial development programs which appear in this and 318 other Michigan newspapers as a public service.

Governor Williams Says Only Solution Is to Borrow From Veterans' Funds

By G. Mennen Williams
Governor of Michigan

Many citizens are not aware that the State of Michigan is prohibited by the Constitution from borrowing more than $250,000.

The State is a one-billion-dollar business. The idea of an enterprise of this size, public or private, being unable to borrow to get over a tight spot is unrealistic. The State is in a tight spot, principally because revenues have been depressed about $40 million in this single fiscal year as a result of the national recession.

Obviously, the sensible way to avoid payless paydays and a financial breakdown would be to ask the people to vote on April 6 for an increase in this $250,000 debt limit to let us borrow enough to meet our most pressing bills.

But there are obviously some in the Legislature who are ready and willing to see the State go broke and miss its payrolls and welfare payments, rather than take this remedy.

All efforts to reach an understanding in the Legislature to place a debt limitation increase on the April 6 ballot have fallen through.

Democrats in the Legislature even offered to get together with Republicans on some temporary tax measures (other than the sales tax) to pay off borrowed money. But these overtures were rejected.

Now there appear to be only two remaining alternatives—either to let the State actually default on its payrolls, welfare costs and payments to other units of government; or to borrow against the Veterans Trust Fund.

By the time you read this, the deadline for putting anything on the April ballot will be past. We have a enough money to meet payrolls and other essential costs until about April 15. The Legislature will have to act before then—unless it intends to stand by and see the State's finances collapse.

House Speaker Says Dems Insist State Personal Income Tax as Only Plan

On Thursday, March 5, all efforts to reach a compromise on the Republican sponsored 1 cent sales tax increase and the Democrat sponsored $50 million debt limit increase failed. Attempts to place these issues on the ballot were voted down—and the time apparently has run out to reconsider them in the future.

A lot of feverish activity and a good deal of talk between House Democrats and Republicans last week ended without any agreement being reached. Every compromise offered by the House Republican leadership was flatly turned down by the Democrats.

Briefly, let me review for you some of the compromises Republicans suggested to the Democrats:

(1) Give constitutional status to the Veterans Trust Fund, guaranteeing an annual appropriation in equivalent of the interest return on an investment of $50 million.

(2) A constitutional amendment to authorize a general obligation bond issue of $50 million, these bonds to be sold to the Veterans Trust Fund in exchange for the U. S. government securities now held by the Fund.

(3) A 1 cent increase in the sales tax to be submitted to the people.

(4) Raising the debt limitation to $50 million, earmarking a 1 cent increase in the sales tax for 6 months, 1 year, 1½ years, two years on any limitation Democrats would agree to.

(5) Raising the debt limitation to $50 million and at the same time pass and earmark certain "consumer taxes" to pay back the bonds over a five year period. Democrats submitted no written specific proposals to the House Republicans.

Democrats from the outset would not even consider the Republican program for a vote by the people on the 1 cent sales tax increase. We were willing, however, to compromise on their suggestion to raise the debt limitation.

House Republicans feel Democrats have refused to compromise on this issue because they are determined to force the state to accept the Governor's graduated personal income tax.

It now looks as though House Democrats will have to revive their Veterans' Trust Fund liquidation Bills which they unanimously voted against several days ago. If the trust fund is not taken we will probably face one or more "payless paydays."

Republicans Look for Protest Vote Apr. 6

Michigan Republican leaders predict a large "protest vote" in the April 6 election.

GOP National Committeeman John B. Martin, of Grand Rapids, declared that the people "will protest against the type of leadership that has resulted in a $110 million state deficit, that has led to the prospect of state bankruptcy, that refuses to let the people vote on how they want taxes levied, and that insists on a graduated personal income tax."

"The election on April 6 is the only opportunity the citizens have to express their dissatisfaction with conditions in Michigan and demand that the state administration shape its policies and attitudes to restore responsibility to our government."

Martin continued: "There is a lot of public resentment over the fact that the Democrats would not permit the people to vote April 6 on whether they wanted to increase the sales tax as an alternative to the personal income tax proposed by the governor. Public approval is necessary before the sales tax could be raised because it now is fixed constitutionally at 3 cents."

"I believe they will protest on April 6 against this refusal to let them express themselves on taxes. They will protest against the Democrat tax program which does not touch on an overhaul of the tax system but simply piles tax on tax. They will protest conditions which have led to chronic unemployment in Michigan while the automobile industry, in particular, is adding to payrolls in other states."

"They will protest against the Democrat attempts to hide the sorry record in Michigan behind a cry of 'smear.' This cry is just a political smokescreen."

Keweenaw Peninsula Top Sight

Keweenaw Peninsula—Michigan's Upper Peninsula's upper peninsula—gets its English name from the Chippewa Indian word "Kakiway-onaning" meaning "place where a portage is made," says Indian place name expert Ivan H. Walton, professor of English at The University of Michigan.

The jutting, copper-rich peninsula has been selected as one of Michigan's top ten attractions in a survey of U-M faculty and staff. It is the sixth U.P. area to be named in the top ten. Others include the Mackinac Bridge, Soo Locks, Tahquamenon Falls, Porcupine Mountains, and (next week) Mackinac Island.

The "place where a portage is made," is located near the base of the Peninsula. It takes shape in the form of a canal stretching from Lake Superior on the west, past Houghton and Hancock, into Portage Lake, and hence into Keweenaw Bay and back to Lake Superior.

Traveling north on U. S. 41, the tourist will see the waters of Keweenaw Bay and Portage Lake for the 30 miles between Baraga and Houghton.

The other main route north—M-26—splits the peninsula until it hits Eagle River on the western shore of Lake Superior. From there it points northeast to Eagle Harbor where ferry service between Michigan and Isle Royal National Park is maintained. Then it proceeds to historic Ft. Wilkins and Copper Harbor where it ends at Michigan's northernmost point.

Keweenaw Peninsula, as with most U. P. attractions, contains "wilderness" country at its finest. At Houghton, center of peninsula activity, is the Michigan College of Mining and Technology—nationally known for its curriculum in engineering. The "portage" required to travel further north is well worth making.

County School Supt. Answers Questions On School Consolidation and Annexation

Mrs. William C. Andrews
5780 Alpine Avenue
Comstock Park, Michigan

Dear Mrs. Andrews:

I am sending you the answers to the ten questions which you raised last month. I have slightly revised some of the questions in order that the answers would be more helpful to your readers. I also would like to send copies of the questions and answers to each of the other weekly newspapers in Kent County.

1. What is the difference between annexation and consolidation?

(a) Annexation is the addition of one district to another district. Consolidation is the union of two or more districts into a completely new district.

2. Why the need for annexation or consolidation?

(a) The population of the State of Michigan is increasing at the rate of about 70,000 children a year and our increase in Kent County is about 3,500 children per year. Districts are growing so rapidly that which furnishes a complete program from kindergarten through 12th grade, there is a possibility in the next few years that some of our children will be unable to find a place to attend high school.

3. What happens to the school board with annexation and consolidation?

In annexation the school board of the annexed district goes out of existence with the board of the annexing district continuing to operate the enlarged district. In consolidation all boards are discontinued and a new board is appointed or elected.

4. When a district annexes, does it give up all its rights to govern itself?

Yes. It becomes a part of the new district and helps to determine the policies of that district.

5. How is a grievance handled when the school board is dispersed and there is no representative to voice or aid this grievance?

The annexed district may at the next election elect a board member from their area but in all cases board members are supposed to represent the whole district and all the children rather than a particular area. A grievance can always be presented to the board of the school district.

6. What are the qualifications for board members and how does one become a candidate?

A board member must be a United States citizen, 21 years of age, a resident of the state for six months and of the district for 30 days, and in addition must be the owner of property assessed for school taxes or the wife or husband of a property owner.

7. Does an annexed school have to retain its debt and also share the debts of the annexing school?

Not necessarily. The question of debt is determined at the time of annexation, and each elector votes upon this question as well as the question of annexation.

8. Is it possible for one taxpayer, living on the fringe of the annexed school district, to leave that district and join the adjoining district? If so, how can this be done?

Yes. This may be done by getting the proper form and making application to the county superintendent of schools. The county board of education then holds a hearing and determines whether the property will be transferred.

9. Is moving the only answer for a party near the center of the district when they strongly oppose sending their children to the "mother" school?

Yes. This is generally true since we live in a democracy and have majority rule.

10. Will it be possible for a small school to continue alone when consolidation or annexation will absorb the majority?

Yes, it is possible although it may be very difficult. There is a bill in the legislature which proposes that all non-high school districts become high school districts by 1962, annex to a high school district or consolidate with a group of districts to form a new high school district. We do not know yet whether this bill will become a law.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Lynn H. Clark,

County Supt. of Schools

DOGS AS BURGLAR ALARMS

By Bob Bartos
Prominent Dog Authority

What makes a good watch dog? Just about any dog that's alert, has good hearing and can bark is a likely prospect, and that includes the great majority of dogs. Size and viciousness have little to do with deciding what dogs will best guard your property.

While most dogs are born with a built-in sense of protectiveness for their family and family's possessions, basic obedience training can do much to sharpen the sense. Once your dog has learned the meaning of such words as "good dog," "bad dog," "no" etc., you can control his spirit of guardianship.

When he hears a strange noise outdoors or somewhere around the house and starts to bark, follow him to the door or wherever he stations himself. Investigate the source of the sound and then reward him with a pat and much praise, advising him that he's been a "good dog." Your act of following him and showing interest in the proceedings, coupled with praise, indicates to him that this is a fine thing to do.

If he continues barking, however, order him to stop with a firm "no," for with a little encouragement from his owner, a dog can easily turn into a chronic barker.

Feeding Tip: By letting your dog accept food from strangers he may turn into a door-to-door beggar, in which case you never know what or how much he's eaten. By having only members of the family feed him a top quality prepared dog food you know he's getting the best nourishment possible. Buy.

Childs Growth May Baffle His Parents

"Many parents are baffled just trying to keep pace with the various stages of their children's development," says William Mills, instructor in education at The University of Michigan.

"They can take heart remembering that their greater past experience should help them to outguess the children now and then," he says.

"In the early years, physical growth is very rapid. Parents learn a lot and learn it fast because the changes are apparent to the eye. As the child's growth pattern slows down, he becomes more independent of the parents, who may then find themselves in the role of just trying to keep up with his development," Mills says.

He stresses the importance of helping children understand and be tolerant of their own physical characteristics. "You may need to help your child accept his role of being tall, short, average, blond or brunet," he says.

Mills advises parents to "live along" with their children. "You can do this by enjoying their successes with them and by being supportive of them in their failures—supportive, but not defensive," he underlines. "This means being understanding rather than critical, helping children to see ways to improve rather than 'riding' them for what has happened."

Feeling frustrated? Mills advises, "If you feel unsure of how to handle the situation, just sit back and do nothing. But try to enjoy experiences with the children, and let them know you are interested in how well they are getting along."

"Even with all the assistance you can give, you'll probably come to the conclusion that you are, after all, just the 'assistant editor' of your child's life," Mills concludes.

When preparing gravy, use the water in which you cooked potatoes. This will make use of the vitamins which the water obtained from the potatoes during cooking and will also help to thicken the gravy, say home economists at Michigan State University.

For this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments; and His commandments are not grievous. —(I John 5:3.)

We may profess with words and gestures that we love God, and yet by our actions which violate even one of His commandments, be a living denial of our protestations. Loving God and obeying Him is no part-time, half-hearted thing.
