Forest Hills P.T.A. Meeting February 25th

The second important P. T. A. meeting on Testing and Guidance will be held at 8 p. m. on Thursday evening, February 25th in the High School gymnasium.

At this time, James McKee, a representative of the Iowa Tests of Educational Development will interpret the results of the tests our high school children have taken. Each parent of a child in the Senior High School—grades 9 thru 11—should feel a strong obligation to attend this meeting. Next week the parents will receive an IBM card with his child's tests results recorded thereon.

However, without the explanation by Mr. McKee, these results will have little value or meaning, since each individual's results have to be interpreted in connection with the whole group taking the tests and then further compared to other high schools in the nation.

This meeting will be followed by personal conferences with Mr. VanLandingham or Mr. Van Oeveren, so each child, as far as possible, will be placed in the proper field for his abilities and his curriculum will be the one most beneficial to him.

Parents of Junior High Children will have other conferences. However, we urge them to attend this meeting also, as it should be very interesting to all parents.

Also on the business agenda of the P. T. A. will be the election of new officers for next year. The following slate will be presented by the nominating committee: President, Howard Aylesworth; Vice-President, Wm. Hillman; Secretary, Mrs. Lester L. Norwood; and Treasurer, Mrs. Fred Sytsma. Nominations will also be taken from the floor.

We hope that all 300 P. T. A. members and their friends and neighbors will mark this important date, February 25, on their calendar, and attend this worth-while meeting.

Cub Pack 3284 Hold Blue and Gold Dinner

Cub Pack 3284 will hold their annual Blue and Gold banquet on Thursday, February 18, at 6:30 p. m. at the Forest Hills High School gymnasium, for the Cub Scouts and their families.

Guests will include Sam Ervine, P. T. A. representative and Carl Lanhal, Scoutmaster of Troop 284. Arthur Meurs of District Scout Headquarters will be the speaker.

Webelos, Eric VanderVeen, Tom Mittner, Greg Clinton, Jim Groening and Roger Sladovnik will be accepted into Troop 284 and each will be presented a Webelos badge and archery arrow.

Awards for Den 1 will include Wolf badge and gold arrow: Ronnie Johnson and Jeff Bulson; and Wolf badge, Tim Sytsma.

In Den 2, Kai Sorenson will be awarded the Bear badge, gold arrow and two silver arrows.

In Den 3, Peter Spadetti will be awarded a Wolf badge and gold arrow; Doug Koessel, the gold arrow, and Jay Post and Bill Gingrich, the Wolf badge.

In Den 4, Richie Culp will receive a gold arrow; Roger Ruffin, a Bear award and gold arrow.

In Den 5, Kirk Frey, Gary Carpenter, Rex Ogden and Randy Simon will receive a gold arrow.

In Den 6, David Wright will receive the Wolf badge, gold arrow and silver arrow. Tom Dennison and Bobby Bunda will each receive the Wolf badge and gold arrow. Butch Freeman will receive the Wolf badge.

Orchard View School Observes Scout Week

In observance of National Boy Scout Week, an open house was held February 8, 1960, at Orchard View School for Parents and friends of Scouting. Robert Dodde, Daniel Morgan, and Thomas Oberlin were inducted into the troop. Brady Crinion was awarded a pin for two years perfect attendance and Thomas Clark and John Smith received one for one year.

An exhibit of the ranks of Scouting, a camping scene, and our first aid equipment was enjoyed by all. Movies were shown of our boys at summer camp over the last six years.

Free Movies Saturday At Cascade School

The Mother's Club of the Cascade school are sponsoring FREE movies once a month as a service to the children in the community. The first movie will be held Saturday afternoon, February 20, at the Cascade School from 1:30 to 3 p. m.

The best pictures have been selected from the Grand Rapids Public Library by the Mother's Club. These pictures will fascinate the boys and girls from kindergarten through the 8th grade, and will even appeal to the adults.

The selections include "Beaver Valley", a true life adventure by Walt Disney, and highly recommended.

"The Pony" has a winter setting at Christmas time, when two farm children have their hearts set on having a horse. "The Steadfast Tin Soldier" is a Hans Christian Andersen and Gold Medal Award picture, and "Chimp, the Aviator" is a cartoon.

Fresh popcorn will be sold, which will be prepared in the school kitchen by the mothers.

Murphy 4-H Club Girls Entertain Families

The 4-H girls of the Murphy Clothing Club were hosts to their families and leaders at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Werner on Saturday evening, February 6. Following the dinner they entertained with a short program.

Taking part in the program were Joyce Meade, Linda Sanderson, Kathy Welch, Sue Simons, Marilyn Watrous, Cheryl Watrous, Sally Dustin, Kathye Werner, Donna Titus and Sallye Werner.

During the program the girls presented their leaders Mrs. J. D. Kelly and Mrs. Werner and their junior leader, Michelle Powers with corsages.

While the girls cleaned up, the parents enjoyed a social hour. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welch, Mrs. Earl Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kamp, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Watrous and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Dustin.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Titus, Mrs. J. D. Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Werner.

Ready for Annual P.T.A. Carnival Friday at Ada School

Jennifer Hoekje, 8375 Bailey Drive, Bob Knox, 8253 East Fulton and Katherine Reyburn, 545 Ada Drive, sixth graders at Ada School, are pictured here preparing the bulletin board for the annual Ada School P. T. A. Carnival, Friday evening, February 19th. All the grades in the school are taking part in preparing for the gala affair. The sixth grade are constructing booths, and the 5th grade have posters around the community. Bring the entire family, there will be Bar-B-Q's, hot dogs, tuna fish salad, and other supper items. Plenty of games and amusement for everyone.

New Kitchen At Carl School

Mothers at Carl School are justly proud of a real accomplishment! Since the beginning of the school year, they have sponsored and engineered the remodeling of an unused section of the school's furnace room into a much needed kitchen. Most of the work was done by the following fathers on a volunteer basis: Richard Poelman, Al Wentzloff, John Worfel and Charles Berry. Principal of the school, Marco Salamone, also assisted.

The kitchen is now being used for the weekly hot dog day. At its February meeting the Club decided to introduce the new kitchen to the community with a ham dinner scheduled for the 19th of Mar.

Another project just completed was the purchase of the "SRA Reading Laboratory" for use in the upper grades.

Members of the community are asked to save magazines and newspapers and watch for notices of the Paper Drive the Club will sponsor in the spring.

Cascade Businessmen Elect New Officers

At the last meeting of the Cascade Businessmen's Association the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Bob Woodrick; Vice-President, Ben Zoodsma and Secretary-Treasurer, George Miller.

The Cascade Directory will be ready in about two weeks, at which time they may be obtained free from any of the merchants in Cascade.

Garden Series to Be Held Beginning Feb. 22

A series of five lectures and work-shops on the ABC's of gardening will be given by Joseph Potchen at the Garden Center, 233 Washington St., S. E., beginning February 22 at 8 p. m. His subjects will include soils, seeding, cuttings, air-layering, etc. The series will be held every second week thereafter, namely March 7, 21, April 4 and 18.

Shipbuilding got off to an early start in New England. The first ship built by English colonists in America was launched on the Kennebec River in Maine in 1607.

Family Narrowly Escapes Death

Sunday morning the Cascade Fire Department was called to bring oxygen to a home on 28th St., where during the night a length of stove pipe from a coal furnace had fallen off. The family with their overnight guests—nine in all—were nearly gassed from the fumes. Oxygen was administered to only one of the persons; the rest were able to get out into the fresh air.

This was a very near tragedy in our community, and the Fire Department thinks it would be well if each person made it a point to check their furnace pipe to see that it is fitting properly.

Mining has long been—and still is—one of Michigan's greatest industries, worth $400 million a year in production value.

When production of sand and gravel is included, it can be said Michigan has mineral industries in all of its 83 counties. Some 60 percent of our mineral production, however, is concentrated in seven counties—Marquette, Wayne, Iron, Midland, Alpena, Gogebic and Ontonagon.

Historians are finally admitting that the 1844 discovery of iron ore at Negaunee, in northern Michigan, was of far greater importance to the economic and industrial development of America than the California gold rush of the same era.

For the first 50 years of the Steel Age, and until the 1901 discovery of Minnesota's Mesabi range, we led the nation in the production of high grade iron ore. . . producing in 1957 was valued at $110,605,- 000—slightly over a fourth of the total value of our mineral products output.

This rich yield of ore is shipped from the great ore ports of Marquette, Escanaba and Ashland, Wis. (the latter nearest the Gogebic range) through the vital Sault Ste. Marie locks down the Great Lakes to Detroit and other Michigan steel centers as well as to mill cities in Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania.

By 1886 there were 60 mines on the three Michigan ranges, dominating the nation in output of ore. One of the Gogebic mines, the now-inactive Eureka, with a 3,500 foot shaft, was once known as the deepest iron mine in the world. Some of our currently active mines have shafts which descend to a depth of 2,000 feet.

Copper mining is another of our great Michigan industries. . . with a tremendously fascinating story all its own. In Michigan we have the only commercially important deposits of native copper in the United States. Geologists have long regarded it as the most important deposit of its kind in the world.

Michigan was the greatest copper producing state in the union from 1847 to 1887. Currently our production of copper centers in three upper peninsula counties. . . Houghton and Keweenaw, known as the "Copper Country," the oldest copper-producing district in America. . . and Ontonagon county, where the White Pine mine, Michigan's newest and largest copper mining property, is located.

Geologists say the White Pine ore body is the largest known copper reserve in America. Opening of the White Pine Mine in 1955, at a cost of $90 million, more than doubled our Michigan copper production.

The 14 mines in our three-county copper area. . . plus three reclamation plants for recovery of waste or tailings from earlier mill operations. . . produce around 115,000,000 pounds of copper a year. . . giving Michigan sixth rank in the nation in copper output.

Our Michigan copper mines drop down into the earth to unbelievable distances of 9,000 and even 9,500 feet—close to two miles deep. Largest single moveable piece of metallic copper ever found in the world. . . a three-ton mass of pure copper. . . was discovered in Michigan in 1867, in Ontonagon county, and removed in 1877. . . Since 1853 it has been on display in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. . . The irregularly shaped boulder measures roughly 4 feet 3 inches by 3 feet 11 inches and is about 18 inches thick.

Two contracts calling for a four-mile stretch of US-16 expressway (Interstate 96) in Kent County near Cascade were let Wednesday, February 17, in Lansing. The two contracts will extend the expressway from near Whitneyville rd. northwesterly to 28th st. (US-16-M-50). Structures on this section include an interchange at 28th st., grade separations at Kraft rd. and Thornapple River drive, and a bridge at the Thornapple river. The contract also calls for a rest area north of the expressway to serve westbound traffic. Completion date on the entire job is June 30, 1961.

The census taker is getting more personal all the time. The ancient Romans simply counted noses and property, chiefly for the purpose of taxation. William the Conqueror compiled a little more information on who-own-ed-what when he decided to spread some payola, in the form of land, among his followers. . . at the expense of the nobility. When his officials finished adding up the English people and their possessions in 1086, they had two huge volumes called the Domesday Book.

European cities kept to the bare facts when they began to count their population in the 1400's and 1500's. The first such count was taken in Nuremberg, Germany, in 1449.

Three hundred years later Sweden compiled the first national census, based on parish records. In 1790 the fledgling U. S. government sent out 17 marshals and a few hundred assistants to count the population in order to provide a basis for taxing the states and to determine the number of representatives they would have in Congress.

The first great invasion of privacy occurred in 1850, when census takers began to write down the names of all people in the country. They also classified the population according to age, sex, race and place of birth. Soon the "enumerators" were poking their noses into such matters as occupation, education, income, marital status and the fertility of women. In 1950 they wanted to know about your plumbing.

This year they're going to find out whether you're really keeping up with the Joneses. A sample of the population will be asked whether they own a washing machine, a clothes dryer, a food freezer and air conditioning. . . and the number of cars in the family garage.

TRY A TOURETTE

by Carol Lane
WOMEN'S TRAVEL DIRECTOR

WINTER WEARY? NEEDN'T BE. WEEKEND VACATIONS BY CAR (I CALL THEM "TOURETTES") NEEDN'T STOP WHEN WINTER COMES. HERE'S HOW TO PLAN ONE.

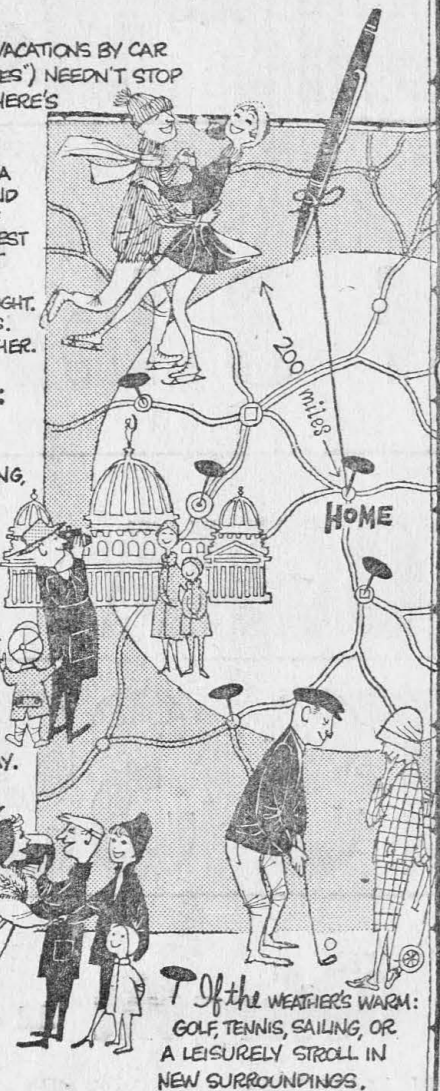

ON A ROAD MAP, DRAW A CIRCLE (200-MILE) AROUND YOUR HOME TOWN. NOTE SEVERAL POINTS OF INTEREST IN THE AREA. THE SPOT FARTHEST FROM HOME IS WHERE YOU'LL STAY OVERNIGHT. STICK TO THE BACK ROADS. GO ONE WAY, RETURN ANOTHER.

Some tourette tips:

Skating, skating, tobogganning, hunting, ice fishing.

Visit the state capital, historic sites, museums, agricultural areas, or a sports event.

Have a weekend reunion with friends who meet you half way.

If the weather's warm: golf, tennis, sailing, or a leisurely stroll in new surroundings.

Whatever you do and wherever you go, a winter weekend adds zest to life. Try it, and have fun.

UNWANTED IN MICHIGAN

Bumper Pusher

DESCRIPTION

Might be anyone, any age, either sex. Generally ignorant of distance required for stopping at different speeds. Delights in crowding car ahead. Considers himself/herself a "better than average" driver.

METHODS OF OPERATION

- Specializes in rear-end, side-swipe collisions
- Depends on driving skill rather than driving sense
- Drives too close to the car ahead
- Tailgates when waiting for passing opportunity
- Uses the horn instead of the brake
- Relies on other drivers to compensate for his/her mistakes of judgment

RECORD

Involved in thousands of accidents last year in Michigan in which 12 were killed and 2,440 were injured. Cost Michigan people in excess of $1.6 million. Will kill or maim more than 2,500 in Michigan this year.

REMARKS

All Michigan drivers are warned to ward off BUMPER PUSHER when overtaken by flashing your brake lights "on and off" rapidly; if this doesn't warn him/her to fall back, pull over to the side and let this Unwanted Driver pass. Avoid sudden stops when BUMPER PUSHER is crowding you.

The next victim of BUMPER PUSHER is unknown.

Your Washington Review by Congressman JERRY FORD

"Two years ago it was estimated that 50 percent of our Foreign Service officers had no useful knowledge of any foreign language; today tests indicate that this 50 percent figure has been reduced to 15 percent." So reports Harold Hoskins, Director of the Foreign Service Institute of our Department of State. The Institute, which was organized in 1947, offers general as well as language training to personnel in the Foreign Service and in other Federal agencies dealing with foreign affairs.

All officers newly entering the Foreign Service are enrolled in the Basic Officer Course. At mid-career level, 7 to 12 years in the Service, approximately 35 percent of the 3,500 officers in the Foreign Service receive training. Full-time instruction in Washington is given in 26 languages while 49 languages are being taught, mainly part-time at 170 posts overseas. The Department of State is working toward the goal of having every Foreign Service Officer attain a "professional" use level in at least one foreign language. That progress is being made was verified at the recent signing of the U. S.—Japanese Treaty. Seven of the ten Japanese-speaking U. S. Foreign Service officers participating were graduates of the Foreign Service Institute.

Mr. Hoskins points out that a best seller, "The Ugly American" is what it purports to be, "a book of fiction." "Naturally," he says, "it contains a good bit of truth, but the main point is that the book is out of perspective. In addition many of the facts and figures used by the authors, even if they were ever true, are now entirely out of date."

DEFENSE AND SECURITY: Representative George Mahon (Democrat of Texas), Chairman of our Defense Appropriations Subcommittee, is a responsible expert on national security in whom I have the utmost confidence. Recently he said, "I don't know of anyone who thinks the U. S. is inferior to Russia at this time in over-all strength. . . . Asked about the effect of the controversy among politicians and military officials on our defense effort he replied, "I think it confuses the American public. For example, the Army. . . feels very strongly that we ought to have several hundred million additional dollars. . . for the Nike-Zeus. . . The Chief of Staff of the Air Force argues for more money for air-borne alert and for an all-out B-70 bomber program. . . The Navy means the fact that the Navy is constantly shrinking in size. We have to consider all the vested interests and all the ideas, and as a result, apply our best judgment to the situation." That is the responsibility, first of all, of the Secretary of Defense and of the President as Commander-in-Chief. FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION: The Congressional situation on federal aid to education grows more complicated and confusing. The Metcalf Bill (H. R. 2) recommended last year by the House Committee on Education and Labor appears to be tied down in the Rules Committee which technical-ly could report it to the House any time. However, our best authority indicates that the Rules Committee will not send the bill to the floor this year.

The Senate on February 4th approved S. 8, a bill resembling H. R. 22. The Senate bill has been referred to the House Committee on Education and Labor. This Committee, however, is now considering H. R. 10128, a school-construction bill differing from both H. R. 22 and S. 8.

The Metcalf Bill (H. R. 22) would allot to the states over $1 billion a year for four years to be used for school construction or teachers' salaries. During the last two years the amount a state would receive could be reduced if that state failed to meet the national average "school effort." During the first two years it would get the Federal funds regardless of its own effort, or lack of effort. This bill permits the state to determine what part if any of its Federal aid should go for school construction and what part for teachers' salaries. No state is required to show a need for assistance for either purpose, not is any state required to put up matching funds.

The Senate bill, S. 8, authorizes a federal contribution of $20 per child of school age or about $916.8 million a year for two years. This could be spent for school construction or teachers' salaries. Federal funds would be allotted on a variable matching basis so that low-income states would get $2 in federal funds for $1 in local money while the high-income states would receive $1 for each $2 of local funds. States are supposed to allot state funds to their school districts on a basis of need.

While H. R. 10128 has not been reported and is therefore subject

Age Does Not The Alter Bar

Society should not ridicule marriages by older persons, a University of Michigan gerontologist believes.

Woodrow W. Hunter, a research associate in the U-M Division of Gerontology, says younger people sometimes have a stereotyped attitude toward old age which leads to misunderstanding of older people who attempt to find happiness through marriage.

"This is not to say that all older folks should marry," he explains. "But if they have evaluated their health, compatibility, support for living and normal expectations for remaining life, marriage after 65 can be successful."

Younger people often feel older people do not have the capacity for love, Hunter adds. "Yet we know, from the standpoint of one's needs, that love and affection are necessary throughout life."

When friends and companionship dwindle during the later years, Hunter reasons, life loses one of its primary motivating forces. A marriage partner can supplant this friendship need.

Hunter reports that little research has been attempted on marriage after 65, and that which has been completed is limited in scope. He says that there is a considerable need for such study, however, since more facts could eliminate some of the erroneous attitudes towards elderly marriages in our society.

to change, it is a school-construction bill without provision for federal aid for teachers' salaries. At this writing, the bill would authorize $325 million a year for three years at about $6 per school-age child. States would not be required to match federal funds the first two years but would have to go 50-50 the last year.

It is quite apparent that "politics" has taken charge of "aid-to-education" legislation. I have stated repeatedly that some federal aid may be justified for school construction in those areas which have demonstrated a genuine interest in education but lack the wealth to provide adequate school facilities. To promise more at this time is neither realistic nor defensible.

U-M To Examine Old Man River

Nature's own method of fighting river pollution will be the object of a three-year investigation by The University of Michigan School of Public Health.

Scientists are planning an intensive "health examination" of two Michigan rivers. From their findings, they hope to aid the natural self-purification process.

The United States Public Health Service has approved a three-year grant of $52,669 to support study. Associate Prof. John J. Gannon of the U-M School of Public Health will direct the investigation. He will be aided by state and local health officers, research assistants and U-M graduate students.

The first year will be devoted to a survey of lower Michigan to select two rivers for intensive study. Researchers will choose one river which carries domestic organic waste, and another with industrial organic waste.

Prof. C. J. Velz, chairman of the U-M department of environmental health, says work to start February 1, 1960, will consist of field studies and laboratory tests. Velz describes a healthy stream as one which purifies itself through a normally well-behaved biological process. Tiny organisms that live in the stream destroy the impurities.

But sometimes this process goes bad. The organisms don't function properly. The river exhausts all its oxygen and becomes sick. It won't support life; the fish die off."

It is this process, and ways of checking it, the public health specialists plan to study.

Velz' department has concentrated on river studies for the past ten years to develop knowledge about water resources and waste disposal problems.

The USPHS grant is an outgrowth of these investigations, Velz says, and will permit the most intensive examination yet undertaken.

One out of every seven households in the United States now consists of persons either living alone or with others who are not related to them, according to figures compiled by the U. S. Bureau of the Census.

Mother Knows Best When Picking Clothes

What looks good on father? The man in the gray flannel suit probably took his wife along when he selected it. Michigan State University specialists say that the average man just isn't a shopper. He dreads the ordeal of buying a suit and trying it on. He wants to get it over with as quickly as possible; and if left to his own devices, would probably buy another just like the one he's wearing.

Not so with mother. She likes to shop and she knows fabrics and fit. She can often buy his shirts and underclothing all on her own.

Her advice is especially valuable when it comes to buying a suit and father is smart to take her along. She will probably urge him to try a different style, color or fashion, and in the end he'll no doubt be pleased with it.

Now if mother is going to hand out all kinds of advice, she'd better be really informed on current fabrics, their wearing qualities and the fit of the suit.

According to Eleanor Densmore, County Extension Agent in Home Economics, most suits fall into two general fabric classes, the worsteds and woolens.

Worsteds are closely woven with hard finishes, smooth, pliable surfaces. They are made from long wool fibers and are fine and strong. They hold a press and keep their shape well, but they wrinkle more easily, too. They wear well but tend to develop a shine with wear and pressing.

All wool gabardine, sharkskin, and serge are good examples. Woolen suitings are softer and less firmly woven than the worsteds. They can be napped to give a soft fuzzy surface and they lend themselves more to casual styling.

Flannel, hopsacking and tweeds are typical woolen suitings. They are hard to keep pressed, but they don't develop a shine.

A combination fabric may be the answer. It is the "unfinished" or "semi-finished" worsted which has a light surface nap to help prevent or at least postpone the shine. This fabric is made with worsted yarns lengthwise and woolen yarns crosswise, giving qualities of both.

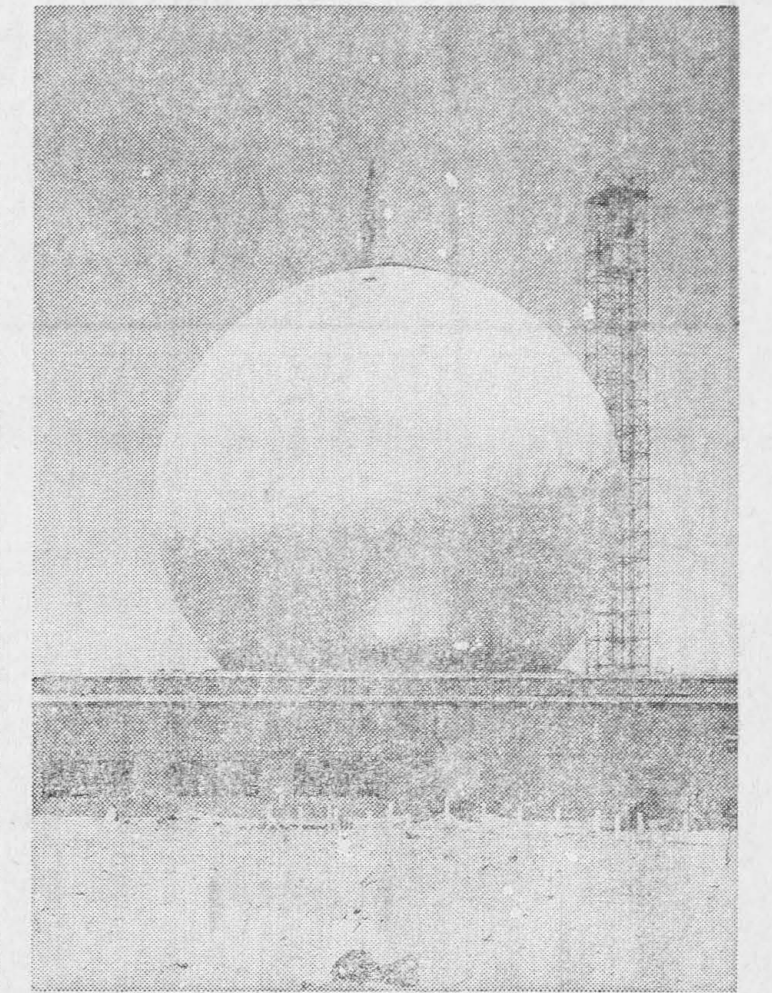

A diplomat is a person who uses his head without anyone suspecting it.

No nation ever really wins the Olympic Games. The purpose of the games is to let the great athletes of the world compete in a spirit of peace and friendship. The practice of ranking nation against nation is unofficial.

TAX FACTS FOR THE HOMEOWNER NO. 1 Theft, Damage And Destruction Of Property

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Michigan Society of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

YOU can get some relief from casualty and theft losses by taking advantage of the legitimate tax deductions you are allowed.

To help you prepare a correct return and take advantage of legitimate tax savings, this newspaper is printing a series of four articles prepared with the help of the state and national organizations of certified public accountants.

Today's article considers the problems you may have in claiming deductions for theft or casualty losses. Later articles will offer advice on other tax problems of particular interest to homeowners.

Time and Destruction
There are a great many ways in which your property can be damaged or destroyed, as for example, by fire, storm, flood, or explosion. Generally, a casualty which will give rise to a deductible loss must occur with some suddenness. However, there are situations where the casualty occurs over a period of time and still results in a deductible casualty loss. For example, consider the damage caused by termites.

Say that you purchased your house in June 1957 and at that time a check by experts showed that there were no termites present. Then, in February 1958, you discover that termites have been eating your house from under you. Can you claim a casualty loss deduction for the termite damage? Yes, you can, even though the damage took place over a nine-month period.

The casualty here, is the invasion of your house by the termites. However, it is probable that a casualty deduction will not be allowed where the termite damage did not occur over a relatively short period of time.

The Property Must Be Yours
You must have ownership of the damaged property to claim a loss deduction. It is quite conceivable that severe damage to the property around your house may cause the value of your property to decline. Although the damage occurred suddenly, you cannot claim a deduction for the loss in value unless your own property was actually damaged. You can claim a deduction for a drop in the value of your car due to an accident. This is true regardless of whether you or another driver is to blame, unless the accident is a result of your willful negligence. However, if you are responsible for a car accident and have to pay for damage inflicted on someone else's car, you cannot deduct the payment as a casualty loss.

Proving a Casualty Loss
Determining the amount you can claim as a casualty loss may be very difficult. Generally you are allowed to claim the amount by which your property decreased in value. In some cases, a repair bill will be considered sufficient to support your deduction.

The best thing you can do is gather together any information that may help support the amount you claim as a deduction. For example, if your house is badly damaged, a qualified architect can often give a reasonable estimate of the before and after value. The appraisal fee, by the way, is a deductible expense.

Theft Lost
You can claim a deduction for the value of property that is stolen. The problem in claiming losses from theft is that you will probably have to show some evidence that the theft took place. Be sure that there is at least a police record of the theft and a report of any findings the police may have come up with. Also, you might keep track of newspaper accounts, insurance reports, and so on. Theft losses are deductible in the year you discover that your property is missing.

You can get additional information on casualty and theft deductions from the instruction booklet issued by the Internal Revenue Service each year.

Serve Salad Greens Cold, Crisp and Dry

Cold, crisp and dry is the way salad greens should come to the table.

Home economists at Michigan State University say the salad dressing is added at the last possible moment because acid and salt cause the greens to wilt and break down rapidly.

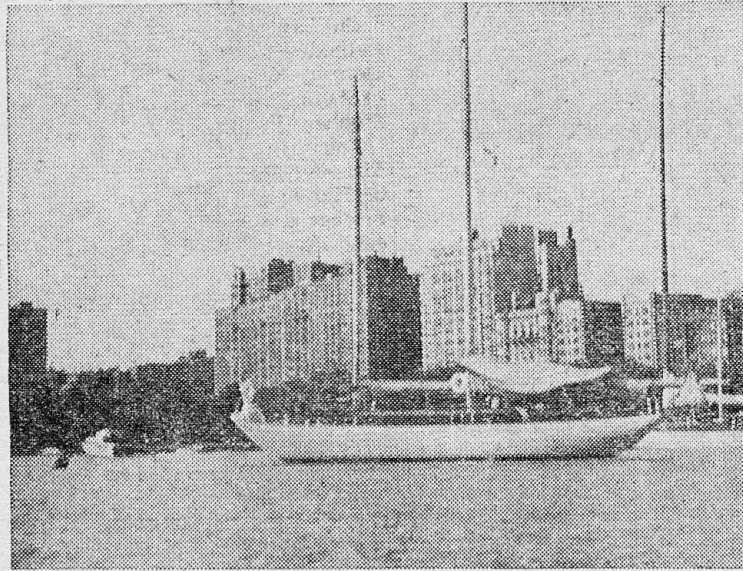

When using a dressing that's already mixed, add a little at a time until leaves are lightly coated. If you prefer to use oil and vinegar separately, add the oil first until the leaves are delicately coated, then add the vinegar and seasonings. Try about one part vinegar to three or four parts of oil.

There are actually a variety of oils and acids you can choose for salad dressings. The oil may be olive oil, corn oil, cottonseed, soybean or peanut oil, but it should be fresh.

The acid may be cider, wine, malt, tarragon, or herb flavored vinegar, lemon or lime juice, or a combination of vinegar and lemon juice. Selection of oil and vinegar, plus herbs and seasonings should enhance the flavor of the salad ingredients.

"Aboard The Heather" by Theresa Collins

Before we left St. Petersburg, Skipper laid in a supply of new charts for the journey. But he could not get charts that were newer than six years old of the run up the section of east coast. And inasmuch as the channel is fairly shallow, and sand bars can form readily in shallow water, he planned to pick up those charts further along the way. He could not find what he needed in Marathon. When he reached the Ocean Reef Club he knew he must have this one particular chart. It was not available at the Marine Store there either. Then he met a Border Patrol officer, stationed there to prevent illegal entry of aliens into the country. This man understood the problem and offered to take the Skipper to a place where it should be in stock. Off they went. It was just as we were about to sit down to a late dinner that they returned. The officer had dinner with us, and we learned that they had driven over eighty miles before they found that chart.

Invariably when we meet people and they learn where we are going they are full of dire predictions of the dangers ahead. You have the impression that what has been accomplished is simple, the real problem is ahead. We heard this at almost every stop. But when you have a capable skipper with a good imagination, he can anticipate a lot and take the necessary precautions. Charts are one of these. This last day's passage he had been told by sailors from the St. Pete Yacht Club was especially dangerous, because two of them had run aground on coral, one on sand. Coral is so rough, it's almost like a lot of broken glass. You just don't want to hit it. We didn't. The chart showed where the coral reefs were, and we could locate them by the various channel markers, thereby staying in safe water all the time. The fathometer would show when we went over some, the thing would read that we were in 30 feet of water, then suddenly it would be 12 ft., which was safe for us. Those reefs are where people fish, and in some places there would be several deep sea fishing boats trolling such an area or anchored there. It was marvelously beautiful. The water was crystal clear, and according to its depths, and the character of the bottom, whether sea weed, sand or coral was every imaginable shade of blue and green. Cloud shadow and wave action would add still different light effects. We knew we simply must go back.

We hadn't really expected to stay at Miami, only stop here. Things just worked out that way.

It did not take us long to get our bearings. We are at the edge of Coconut Grove, which was settled before Miami. "The Grove" is just like a small town, and has a distinctly small town flavor. We can walk to the business area in ten minutes where there is every kind of store or service, and the Coconut Grove Elementary School. We decided that this was an area ideally suited to living without a car. Buses to down town Miami are close by. Skipper discovered immediately an advantage of a large city. He had carried a good supply of illustration board with him, but it was running low. He had tried to get some more, but could not find an art material store which stocked it. He was at the point of sending away for some when he discovered he could get it here. He phoned in an order, and it was delivered the following morning. The area had many advantages, so here we decided to stay for a while, at the Dinner Key Yacht Harbor.

There are hundreds of boats here at these five huge docks and in the anchorage. We are only a short distance from the Atlantic. Many people here live on their boats the year round, and go sailing week ends or vacation time. There are bicycles, tricycles and baby carriages on the docks in front of the owners boat. At the end of the dock is a large motor boat owned by a paraplegic who has a man to lift him from boat to wheel chair, and from there into his car. We are here more than ever aware that just all kinds of people are nuts about boats.

First thing we did after deciding to remain here for a while was to register Glenn and Kevin in school. They are in separate rooms, both third grade, and after school they have a fine time telling each other of the various funny things that have happened in their rooms, and compare notes on the curriculum, and how each did in his spelling or arithmetic. They are learning Spanish on television, which intrigues them.

This past week Heather had an unusual experience. Tuesday afternoon we went for a sail with two honeymoon couples! I have a sister Martha, who has been a widow for ten years. She was married Saturday and she and her husband flew to Florida for a honeymoon. Skipper had a letter from the syndicate for whom he works telling him about a man who writes for them, Jay Heavelin, who is in Florida on his honeymoon, and who may look him up. Next he had a letter from Jay saying that he and Jane were in Key West and would phone when he got to Miami. And as it worked out, both couples came the same day! Fortunately it was a lovely sunny day, still a little cool from the cold wave we'd had, and a good sailing wind. It was a beautiful sail, and everyone had a fine time. Yes, the weather here is simply marvelous again.

Truog-Werbeck Rites Performed

On Saturday at 12:30 p. m. in Cathedral Church of St. Paul in Detroit, Miss Ann Ribble Werbeck exchanged her marriage vows with Stephen Palfrey Truog.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart A. Werbeck of Highland Park. Parents of the bridegroom are Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Peter Truog, 1470 Briarcliff S. E., Ada.

The bride chose an ivory peau de soie gown fashioned with a scooped neckline re-embroidered with Alencon lace and bow trim and three-quarter length sleeves. The full skirt formed a chapel-length train. Her fingertip-length veil of illusion was held by a matching lace cap, and her cascade bouquet was of stephanotis, orchids and ivy.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Gustav Rydman of Cologne, Germany. The bridesmaids were Miss Abigail Truog, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Tur McDonald of Grand Rapids, Miss Dael Gilroy of Boston, Miss Peggy Murphy of Grosse Pointe and Miss Mary Griffith of Highland Park.

All wore identical Valentine red faille dresses with scooped neckline and bell skirts with bows at the waistlines to carry out the bow detail on the bride's gown. Their bouquets were red and white.

Acting as best man was Anthony Truog, brother of the bridegroom. Seating the guests were Gerald Sweeney, Peter Fox, William Wheat, John Axe all of Ann Arbor; and Drake Atkinson of Grand Rapids.

A reception in the Women's City club of Detroit was held after the ceremony.

The couple left on a skiing trip to Aspen, Colorado. Upon their return they will reside in Ann Arbor, where they are students at the University of Michigan.

Letter to Editor

Letter to the Editor
Suburban Life
Lowell, Michigan

Dear Editor,

If you will, I'd like to belatedly thank the Ada Township Board for our fine new expanding Ada Street-lighting system.

I happen to know that no Ada Town Board ever plowed through more ramifying rigmarole than it did in bringing this good thing to our urban area.

Many thanks, gentlemen—who too often have to try to brace yourselves to none.

Sincerely,
Edwin T. Wedemeier

Last Thursday evening parents and friends of music students at Forest Hills High School enjoyed a program presented by the Junior and Senior bands, under the direction of Carroll MacInness and the choir, directed by Mrs. Marjory Dick.

All of us parents that evening were proud of our young people and their developing musical abilities. We can be grateful to the school for offering opportunities for musical education that many children would not otherwise have.

Many things are needed to build a comprehensive music program in our school. The choral group needs robes; the band, several instruments; and for a marching band, uniforms and drums top the list.

A marching band inevitably becomes a symbol of pride and respect for a school, as well as spurring interest and participation on the part of students. A marching band adds a great deal of interest to sports events and helps build support for athletics. The only way such a band can become a reality at Forest Hills at this time is for parents and students to work together to provide the necessary equipment.

We are all busy—all "organized" to capacity already. But if ALL of us who have children participating in the music program work together, no one job will be too demanding and great things will be accomplished.

Let's get our new music program off to an enthusiastic start!

Mrs. James Banta

Many changes have taken and are taking place in the ACE area, but how will these changes affect our communities and the citizens in them? ## Boosters Club General News

The Boosters Club is issuing a special appeal to all people interested in promoting more and better sports for the Forest Hills School system at this time. We would like for you to put Wednesday, March 2 at 8 p. m. on your calendar when you read this news. That is the time set for the next regular Boosters meeting at the Forest Hills High School.

We are holding the news on final financing arrangements until that time and want to cover it thoroughly with as many as we can. See you there so we can light the football field by next fall.

Arrangements for the All Sports Banquet are coming along rapidly.

The definite date for the banquet will be Thursday, May 26, and it will be at the Forest Hills High School, and in all probability, will be held in the new multi-purpose room which will be ready by then. As reported previously, the All Sports Banquet is being planned to honor the participants in the four major sports of the Forest Hills High School.

The planning and general arrangements of the banquet are under the guidance of the chairman, Dick Simkins. Helping Dick out will be the following committee chairmen: Walter Jones and Hal Felsing are in charge of tickets and their distribution. Phil Anderson and Ed Shy are in charge of entertainment. Dick and Ed are planning the menu with Jennie Slinger who had graciously committed herself to be head cook for the banquet. Tommy Ray is in charge of publicity. We are planning this as a gala event for the athletes in our high school, and will keep you posted as new news comes in. Don't forget to put that date on your calendars right now.

Afternoon Recreation Period

The Boosters Club will continue their Saturday afternoon recreational period starting February 27 at 4 p. m. at the Forest Hills gym. These periods have not been held for the last three Saturdays, due to the games on Saturday nights. If there are enough men interested, we will continue these recreational periods into March.

coming events

Thursday evening, February 18, St. Robert's Guild are sponsoring a card party for women at 8 p. m. in the church auditorium. There will be door prizes, table prizes and refreshments.

Faculty Defeats Boosters Club

The Forest Hills Faculty basketball team continued their winning ways by beating the Boosters team on Saturday night. The final score was 55-26. Jerry Dangi was high point man for the Faculty, with 15 points, followed by Bernard Van-Ark with 12 points. Don Bates led the Boosters with 9 points. The first half was a closely fought contest with the score being 24-18 with the Faculty leading. Youth began to tell and the Faculty drew steadily away from the Boosters in the second half.

The preliminary game was immensely enjoyed by the spectators. This game pitted the Forest Hills Women's faculty team against the Senior High Girl's team. The Faculty led throughout the game, until the final seconds of the game when the girl's team scored the winning basket. The final score was 19-18 in favor of the Senior High girls. Heller led the winners with 6 points and Scholten was high point girl for the losers with 8 points.
