We are sorry there was no more skating this year, but finances and weather were against us.

A word of thanks goes to the retiring officers, President Cornie Heemstra; Treasurer, Carl Peters; and Trustees James Boylon and Marvin DeGood, for their work and interest in the association.

We are looking forward to a big summer of entertainment at the park but will need the help and cooperation of the entire community.

Boosters Lose --- Faculty Wins

The Forest Hills Boosters lost their basketball game to the East Grand Rapids Vagabonds on Saturday night. The final score was 40 to 31. Davis was high point man for East Grand Rapids, with Korhorn second with 10 points. Betes and Haglund led the losers with 9 points each. The game ends any scheduled games for the Boosters this season.

The Forest Hills faculty won out over the Marine Reserve in the second game by a score of 51-47. This game was close all the way, and ended in a tie at the end of regulation play with a score of 44-44. The Faculty outscored the Marines in the three minutes overtime to end up with the victory.

Bob Dangi led the victors with 25 points followed by Klowiter with 7. Grummett was high point man for the Marines with 21 points. Hase had 9 for losers.

Women Want Easy to Clean Kitchen Walls

Women just don't like to scrub walls. They want attractive kitchen walls that are easy to clean, durable and inexpensive, according to Eleanor Densmore, County Extension Agent in Home Economics.

A recent study on wall finishes tested paints, coated fabrics, wallpaper, wallboard, and plastic and aluminum tile.

The finish most resistant to staining and easiest to wash was a wallboard material with gloss paint baked on a pressed-wood base.

Wallpapers—including washable wallpapers—proved poorest in stain resistance and washability of all materials tested. Wallpapers could be made more stain resistant and easier to wash by applying a coat of lacquer, the study showed, but this added to its cost.

Tops in paints tested were the better grades of gloss paint. The so-called "one-coat" variety of paint and the rubber-base and casein paints rated good in soil resistance and washability.

Fresh stains could be removed much more easily and successfully than stains allowed to remain for some time. Washing with a mild soap and warm water and washing with powder detergent cleaner gave equally good results. Many stains were removed faster and more easily with a mild scouring powder, but scouring over a period of time wears away many finishes.

Stains giving the most trouble were caused by ink, lipstick, crayon, shaving cream, shoe

Home, Church, School All Aid In the Development of the Child

Beginning early last fall, we have been discussing quite briefly the areas of the curriculum of our high school and the importance and contributions each area makes toward the proper education of a student. Again the philosophy we have accepted is "We believe the purpose of education is the harmonious development of the mind, the will and the conscience of each individual so he may use his full intrinsic powers." Thus, we recognize that the basic function of an educational system is to prepare the student to solve the problems he will face as he becomes a responsible member of our republic form of political and economic life.

Schools exist to educate the students in the skills and understanding, present and historical, that are necessary for this competency. The home is the place for attitude development. There the student's basic temperament, sense of responsibility and respect for the other fellow is developed. The church is the fountain of spiritual strength.

For competent citizenry, all three institutions are necessary. When one is lacking, the youth develops into a citizen lacking in the fullest realization of his position in society. He is somewhat like a three legged stool with one leg missing. Try as they might, no two of the three institutions can do the job of the third. Schools have been expected to take over many of the functions of the home and church, in many cases. Obviously, they cannot accept these added responsibilities and still furnish the education which is their primary function.

The Forest Hills High School has existed now two and a half years. It will continue, there is no doubt on question of its continuancy. For us as parents and patrons of the school, we should take time to think. Think what it is we want of our school; what standards should be maintained; what practices should be followed in evaluation, guidance, and discipline. Setting these standards depends upon the collective opinion of all of us. If we do not set a standard, none shall exist. Then, the principal would have to arbitrarily set one. Obviously, this would vary as principals and staff come and go. Under one Board of Education, you would have a good school system, under a different board, the quality could diminish. Thus, it becomes evident that the standards should be continuous and not be dependent upon the tone or emotion of the time.

At present, we feel standards should be high. Students should be learning what their abilities merit. To do this, requires effort on the students' part. (We have discussed this before). Thus, the faculty would like to submit the following principles on which our school should operate.

Basic Principles on which Forest Hills Public Schools Should Operate:

Philosophy

We believe the purpose of education is the harmonious development of the mind, the will and the conscience of each individual so that he may use his full intrinsic powers.

Principles

1. The highest standards for academic achievement and citizenship training shall be maintained.

A. No student should be retained who is a disturbing influence and interferes on the rights of others to learn.

B. Students over compulsory attendance age who are demonstrating that they are not benefiting from school participation through negligence in doing school work; and are failing the majority of their classes, and are irregular in attendance, and are general disturbing influence shall be warned and must demonstrate their sincerity or be dropped from the rolls.

2. We accept the competency of the faculty as trained professional people dedicated to their work and they shall be free from coercion forces which would direct their efforts away from proper educational activities.

3. All possible avenues shall be utilized to insure the best possible educational opportunities for our students.

4. Extra curricular activities are encouraged, but shall not interfere with the regularly scheduled academic classes.

5. Participation in athletics is a privilege and students shall be doing work commensurate with their abilities and passing all classes.

6. Activities of a commercial nature shall not be condoned or approved.

7. Without exerting undue pressure, the teacher has the right to expect each student to work according to his or her ability. Parents should be contacted as soon as it is evident that the student is achieving below expectations.

8. Teachers shall be free to encourage and wisely direct competitive efforts by the students toward productive undertakings without fear of unfair comparisons.

A. A guidance program shall be maintained to measure student potential and achievement; and interpret the results to teachers, students and parents.

9. As education and learning is the most important job a student has, it must come ahead of all other activities which are available. Thus, regular and continuous attendance is necessary. All work missed through absences must be made up. The student is expected to contact the teacher to get his assignments.

Of these principles, the first is the most controversial. High academic levels can be maintained only when teachers and parents know what level of achievement to expect from a student and cooperate toward attaining this level. When this cooperation is present, the student benefits.

A high citizenship level is much more difficult to measure. Emotion creeps in and colors thinking. Basically, it boils down to this.

How many times should a teacher have to request a student be attentive and cease whispering or creating other minor disturbances?

How many times should tardiness be tolerated by a teacher?

How many times can a student be sent out of classroom for disturbances?

When should parents be consulted?

There is no definite answer to these questions. Some disturbances are behavioral, some are emotional. Some should be disciplined, some need consultation. We will be following a procedure such as this in the future.

1. A record is kept of all discipline referrals.

a. First visit to office a "talking to" by principal (severity dependent on age and grade of student.)

b. Second visit. Student will probably have to make up hour missed and write why he wishes to be back in class.

c. Third visit. Suspension from class for a period (depending on age and grade). The student will have to earn his way back to class. Also, parents will receive a letter on behavior.

d. Fourth offense. Suspension from school for definite period of time. Parent will have to come to school to reinstate the student.

e. We hope there will be no re-occurrences.

Hard and fast rules can be as undesirable as no rules. Each student is different. Each has a unique background. The factors that cause certain symptoms are innumerable. Two students may misbehave—each for an entirely different reason. If the misbehavior is detrimental and interferes with the class activity, the student MUST be removed.

The way the student is disciplined may and should be different. To punish both the same way ignores that the Creator made them differently. We will continue to try to handle students as individuals and still stay within the framework of good school control.

Rangers Lose To Rogers

Mike Boedy, Rogers High School star, scored 47 points for a new O-K league individual scoring record as the Rogers Atoms defeated Forest Hills 75-48. A deliberate attempt was made by Rogers to establish the record as Boedy was consistently fed by his team-mates, and he played the entire game with the exception of the last minute and twenty seconds. This in spite of the fact his team had a comfortable lead through out the entire game.

Rogers played a full court press for three of the four quarters with Boedy being given the ball each time Rogers gained possession. Teammates often refused to take good shots in order to pass off to Boedy.

Rogers rushed off to a 9-0 lead early in the first quarter and increased it to 28-4 at the end of the quarter. Boedy scored 18 points in the first quarter. The Rangers played better the rest of the game, but the damage had been done.

In the prelim Forest Hills Reserves lost to Rogers 49-40. They finished their season with 1 win and 14 losses.

Varsity-Faculty Game

The Forest Hills varsity will play the faculty team this Friday night in the Forest Hills Gym. This will be the last year for the Varsity-Faculty game as next year another high school is being added to the Varsity schedule.

This will be the last regular season game for the Varsity before they enter the District tournament at Rogers next week. The drawings for the tourney will be held Tuesday, February 23, which will be too late for this week's paper.

Jr. High Students to Play

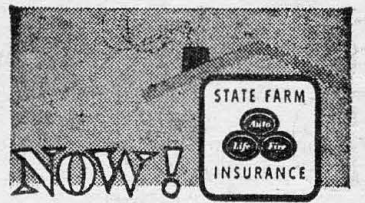

The 7th and 8th grade teams of Forest Hills will play the prelims to the Faculty-Varsity game on Friday night. The first game starting at 6:30 will pit two 7th grade teams against each other, and the second game at 7:15 will pit a 7th grade team against the 8th grade. The Varsity game will start at 8:15.

Phys. Ed. Classes to Perform

Physical Education students of Miss Carolyn Scholten and Robert Dangi will provide half-time entertainment Friday night at the Varsity-Faculty game. They will do a series of gymnastic routines, specializing in tumbling.

The Winter Olympic Games were initiated in 1924, in France. The Winter Olympics consist of skiing, skating, ice hockey and bobsledding.

33,500,000 persons have been affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America since 1910.

"Aboard The Heather" by Theresa Collins

David went off to school Monday. When at Ann Arbor he had learned how very useful a bicycle can be, and after looking over the campus here at Miami U., it seemed that one was indicated here also. He bought his bicycle, equipped it with a basket, but gave up on trying to license it as that was too involved. He had his clothes packed and tied onto the bike, and happily took off. He phoned late that night to say everything was fine. He came home for the week-end and told us about orientation week, what his classes are, and about his apt. mates. Here the dormitory system is somewhat different. They have apartments, and the students do their own cooking. There are four young men in the apartment, which has 2 bedrooms, a study hall or living room, a kitchen and a bath. Of course, it was no surprise to learn that the whole thing is costing more than was anticipated. That's the usual story nowadays.

We finally saw Polaris again. Lon and Libby Withey, with Chuck and Mary Bissell as guests, came into the Dinner Key Marina Monday. They came from Ft. Lauderdale, and were here just a couple of days, and went on down the keys. They asked us to go with them Tuesday morning to watch the start of the Miami to Nassau race, and tho' poor Skipper had to work, I was glad to go along. I wondered whether I'd be able to recognize any of the boats we'd come to know down in these Southern waters, but we kept a safe distance to be well clear and all I could say was that it was a most beautiful sight. They started with spinnakers up, and those beautifully colored spinnakers are a glorious sight as they balloon out pulling the boat along.

High in Food Value For Your Money Spent

Your milk money buys calcium and other important nutrients. Let's study calcium first. It is difficult to obtain enough calcium daily without the use of milk or cheese according to Virginia Helt, Michigan State University Food Marketing Agent for Grand Rapids area.

Vitamin D is necessary to insure the use of calcium by the body. This is the reason for vitamin D fortified milk. Calcium builds bones and teeth, repairs bones and teeth, aids in the clotting of the blood, helps regulate muscular action, helps regulate nerve action.

You get all this for the 20 to 25 cents you spend for a quart of milk, plus many other important nutrients.

Macaroni and cheese not only comes to the rescue of many weary budgets, but aids those who are trying to think of the many ways to add variety to the menu. Check your cook book for macaroni and cheese recipes, or maybe it will be easier for you to just remember—make a white sauce, add about 1-1/2 cups of cheese, more if you choose, and pour over cooked macaroni in a greased baking dish. Bake at 375 degrees F. until piping hot and delicately browned. You can figure that 1/2 pound of macaroni will serve 4 to 6 people. Some people prefer tomato sauce—in which case, simply substitute tomato sauce for white sauce.

Takes about 1/4 pound of cheese to make 1 cup of grated cheese—cost approximately 20 cents, plus 5 to 10 cents worth of cream

We learned pointedly again this week that bad news travels fast. At 3 a. m. there was a knock on Heather's housetop, a wire for us. Father sent us a wire telling of the sudden death of Tom Lunan. Yes, a shock. Only a few weeks before Tom and Fran had been sailing with us on Tampa Bay. Although not in vigorous health, he was as well as anyone. Now he has put out to sea, his boat has crossed the bar, he has turned again home. And we will miss him.

Soon after the twins had gone to school there was a phone call for us. It was from a local short wave radio "ham" saying that "Doc" wished to speak with us on short wave radio. It was Dr. Clark from Holland, who is a "ham" operator, calling to tell us the news about Tom and to let us know that they had arrived safely home.

And that evening, Dr. Van Zwahlenburg called also. Kind people, each one put our name on some flowers they sent.

Every now and then we hear from envious people who envision us as moving from one adventure to another. Actually the excitement is there, but is no more continuous than is a constant diet of Thanksgiving, Christmas and birthdays. We are now concentrating on working a bit inside the cabin. The counter top looks ever so much better for a new coat of paint, tho' it needs another coat. We sadly realize that progress will be slow as there is no place to put anything when you want to paint an area. We won't do much sailing during the week while David and the twins are in school. So that will be the time when we try to freshen Heather below decks. David did a fine job above decks while we were at St. Pete. It takes a lot of work to keep up a home—floating or stable.

Among the 48 field and orchard crops grown in Michigan, we rank among the 10 top states in the country in the production of 30 of them.

In Michigan we have the world's cereal foods center and production leader at Battle Creek...the world's biggest bean elevator at Saginaw...the world's largest cash-to-grower market at Benton Harbor...and the nation's principal chicory processing plants in the Port Huron area.

Kalamazoo is known as the birthplace, more than a century ago, of America's celery production...With its diversity of fruit crops, Southwestern Michigan is known as the "Fruit Basket of the Middle West"...Holland, Mich., is nationally known for its fields of tulips and its annual Tulip Time Festival which attracts a half-million visitors to the Holland area every May.

Michigan ranks first in the nation in the production of red tart cherries, field beans, cucumbers and blueberries.

We are second in production of spearmint, strawberries, asparagus for processing, and plums. And we are third in production of celery, apples and sweet cherries.

Our state ranks fourth in the United States in production of sugar beets, pears, grapes, buckwheat, tomatoes for market, red clover seed, cauliflower, and red table beets.

We rank fifth in production of peaches, peppermint, sweet corn, carrots, and we are sixth in production of onions and maple syrup.

We are seventh in production of fall potatoes and cantaloupes; 8th in oats, popcorn and lima beans; ninth in field corn, honey, and tomatoes for processing; tenth in winter wheat, rye, head lettuce, cabbage, snap beans and potatoes of all varieties.

We are not widely known as a corn state, ranking ninth in the nation in production of that crop. But our 1958 corn yield of 56 bushels an acre was well over the national average of 51.7. Corn is our leading field crop in terms of production volume, but wheat is our most important cash crop. Whereas much of our corn is consumed by poultry and livestock on the farms where it is raised, most of the wheat grown in Michigan is sent to market.

Our 1958 winter wheat yield averaged 38 bushels an acre, far above the U. S. average of 28.4.

Perhaps the most notable of Michigan's farm products are its fruit crops.

Our main fruit belt extends from the southern state line to Grand Traverse Bay along the western side of the lower peninsula. This rich fruit belt lies next to Lake Michigan, which shields orchards and vineyards from sudden temperature changes.

Michigan ranks among the chief dairy states...seventh in the nation in milk production...and 8th in number of dairy cows.

At least 75,000 Michigan farmers are engaged to some extent in the dairy business...and 35,000 are primarily dairy farmers. Collectively, they own 759,000 dairy cows.

While agriculture ranks second in dollar value among our economic enterprises, it's a big second—worth around three-quarters of a billion dollars in annual income to our farmers...So big, in fact, that it easily surpasses the value of agriculture in 35 other states.

Our cash income from farm marketings in Michigan in 1958—not counting government payments—was $714,118,000, placing us 15th among the 50 states. When government payments to farmers are included, Michigan's agricultural income approaches $750,000,000 a year.

Michigan ranks among the top 10 states in the percentage of farms having electricity (98 percent). A recent report also shows that 67 percent of our farms have telephones, 84 percent have piped running water and 86 percent have tractors.

Michigan was first to have a statewide milk pasteurization requirement...and is also a leader in the control of Bang's disease among cattle.

In soil conservation work Michigan is also among the leaders. To recapture and preserve soil fertility and prevent erosion, we have 76 soil conservation districts, covering 92 percent of our farmland in 71 of our 83 counties.

Important, too, is the fact that Michigan ranks second in the nation in the number of organized 4-H clubs...4,600 in 1959, with 69,200 members and 15,318 adult and junior volunteer leaders.
