Unless Law is Changed by Legislature Forest Hills Will Elect 7 - Member Board

The number of board of education members which will be required in school districts of the fourth class, which operate grades is presently in question.

Under the law which became effective Saturday, March 19, all such school districts of the fourth class will increase the number of their board of education members from five to seven—the additional members to be elected at the 1960 annual election or annual meeting.

FTA and GAL to Sponsor Carnival And Dance April 1

On Friday, April 1, the Future Teacher's Club, along with the Girl's Activity League of Forest Hills High School will be the co-sponsors of a Spring Carnival which is to be held in the high school gym from 6 p. m. up until 8:30.

Everyone in the Forest Hills area is welcome, and the evening's well-planned activities will provide much fun and entertainment for the entire family.

Among the activities will be many booths sponsored by the various clubs and organizations throughout the school. Just a few of the booths include such things as a "Telegraph Office", a "Kangaroo Court", a "Penny Pitch", and several others. Refreshments will also be sold throughout the entire evening.

After the carnival closes, the junior and senior high students, and any adults wishing to, may stay for the dance which will immediately follow the carnival from 8:30 until 11 p. m. An orchestra will furnish the music for dancing and tickets will be sold at the door at a slight charge.

Why not circle the date, April 1, on your calendar and bring the whole family out for an evening that promises to be lots of fun for everyone!

World Tour Pictures to Be Shown at Ada

On Friday evening, March 25, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Driesenga of Africa will show World Tour pictures at the Ada Christian Reformed church at 8 p. m.

This program is being sponsored by the Men's Society. Everyone is invited to attend.

Parents of 8th Graders To Meet March 30

There will be a meeting in the gymnasium of the Forest Hills High School on Wednesday evening, March 30, at 8 p. m. for all the parents of the 8th grade students.

This will be held for the purpose of acquainting the parents with the high school program, and to better understand and help their child select his four year program.

SCHOOL STUDENTS TO GET ENROLLMENT MATERIALS

The students of Forest Hills High School will get their pre-enrollment materials on Friday, March 25, for the coming year.

TO ATTEND MISSIONS WORKSHOP IN OWOSSO

On Saturday, March 26, Mrs. J. Leibfroer and Rev. Alvin Brewer of the First Congregational church of Ada will attend the all day workshop of Christian Missions at the First Congregational church in Owosso.

There have been several questions raised in regard to school districts which are not operating but plan to operate a full 12-grade program. If a school district will be operating all 12 grades by the fall of 1960, then those districts will elect a full seven-member board at the coming annual election or meeting.

The manner of electing the two additional board members is explained in the law (Sec. 55 of the School Code, as amended by Act 16 of the Public Acts of 1959) and an incumbent may run for either one of the new four-year terms or as a candidate to succeed himself for a three-year term. This would have to be designated at the time of nomination.

NOTE—There is legislation now pending before the 1960 Legislature which would repeal the mandatory features of the seven-member board of education and make it permissive. This proposed legislation has been amended to House Bill No. 74 which has passed the House of Representatives and is now being considered by the Senate Education Committee.

Extension Service To Hold Panel Discussion, Mar. 29

On Tuesday evening, March 29, at 8 p. m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Cascade Christian church, the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service will be holding a meeting for the parents in the Southeast area. At this time there will be a panel discussion on "The Rights and Responsibilities of Parents." The Moderator will be Miss Eleanor Densmore.

The panel members will be: Dean VanLandingham, Principal of the Forest Hills High School, representing the school; Rev. Raymond Gaylord, minister of the Cascade Christian church, representing the church; Veryl Meyers from the Probate Court, representing the legal side; Mrs. Louis Seeley, representing the mothers; Dr. Robert Paine, representing the fathers; Menno Baker, a youth group leader and Brian Cornell, a teenager.

The reason for this discussion meeting is that apparently the role of parents has changed in the past generation. Parents agree they are responsible for their children up to a point, but feel that children should have some responsibility also. Schools say their efforts are not backed by the parents and do not get the support and interest that is needed. Churches also cannot teach all the morals and ethics necessary unless there is cooperation from the home. All these angles will be brought out in the panel discussion.

Although this is being sponsored by the Extension service, it is not only for Extension members, but for every father and mother in the district who is interested in their child. So, feel free to attend this meeting, which promises to be an educational one.

Mrs. Stewart Bradley and Mrs. George McClellan are the acting chairmen for this district meeting.

Refreshments will be served following the panel discussion.

Susan Keck LHS Leader and Honor Student

A consistent place on the Honor Roll and a frequent recipient of all "A's" are Susan Keck's reward for her great enthusiasm in her studies at Lowell High School. Susan who is the seventeen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Keck, formerly of Cascade, is continually making great achievements in her school activities.

Having a major in Science, math, and English, and a minor in Latin and history, Sue has especially found in Math and science "a great challenge and a subject that always keeps you thinking." About science she says, "amazing, as you learn how all things of our world came to be, how they work and affect us."

Apart from her grueling studies, Susan has been a member of Latin Club, Cheerleading, Pom-pons, Varsity and General Choirs, Band and the Operetta. And outside of school she enjoys cross word puzzles (a challenge), music (especially musical instruments), sports from swimming to tennis, and studying people and their actions.

A member of the Methodist church of Lowell, she sings in the choir and is a member of the youth group.

With a major in medicine, and a possible education from the University of Michigan, Susan plans for a career in physical therapy.

PIE IN THE SKY

When it rains in New York City, most dessert-eating families top off their evening meals with pie. That's because the average American male is a pie lover, says Al Worth, chief meteorologist for station KWTW, Oklahoma City. When the weather's rainy, Worth revealed, New York City wives phone their husbands and ask them "to pick up a loaf of bread and something for dessert." The "something for dessert" usually turns out to be pie. One New York bakery chain saved an estimated $250,000 a year by thus keeping the weather in mind, reports Worth.

WOMEN NEVER FAIL

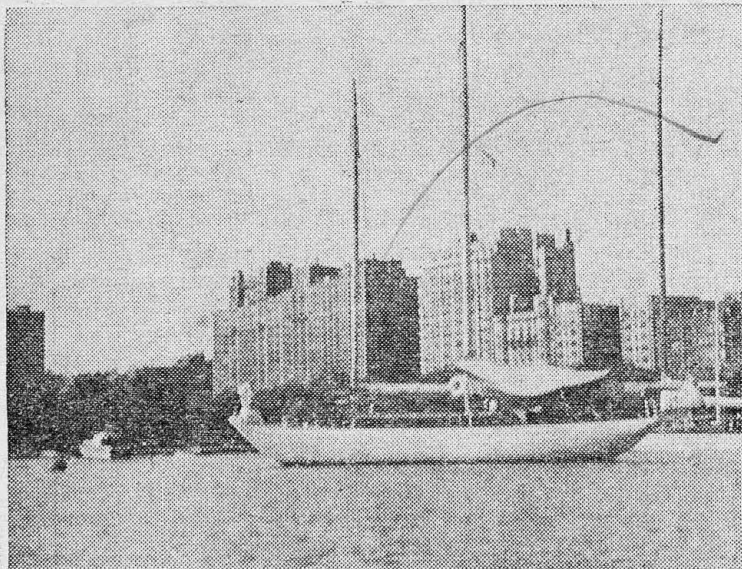

Helen Jean Rogers, recently named a producer of ABC's new special events department, has discovered that a woman sometimes enjoys an advantage in the profession of gathering news. Miss Rogers said that when she visited South Africa to film the results of the government's system for segregation, she met considerable official hostility to her project. The crowning blow fell when Miss Rogers discovered that all her film was about to be confiscated at Customs just before her departure. "This was too much," Miss Rogers related. "I screamed and I threatened and I beat on the side of the plane with my fists. In short, I acted like a woman. And it worked. They let me take my film."

TV BRIEFS:

Erwin D. Canham, Editor of the Christian Science Monitor and President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, discussing the responsibility of television today: "I would indeed hope than an instrument as powerful for good as television is, would not fiddle for a barn dance while the barn burns."

"Aboard The Heather" by Theresa Collins

Heather had a haulout this past week. Boats here need to be hauled out every six months to have their hulls cleaned and painted with antifouling paint. We have discovered that certain paints work better in some areas than in others. Put on one type for fresh water, another for salt. Even so various areas have preferences as to which works out better. When Heather came out of the water the wooden hull was beautifully clean, but the unpainted fathometer was encrusted with barnacles and other marine growth. Also there was a little growth on the iron keel and on the iron rudder. We were glad that we did not have a metal boat. She was cleaned, dried, painted. Also a tiny seep leak around the drive shaft was thoroughly investigated, just to make sure there was no electrolysis. Electrolysis and teredo worms are scary subjects to fresh water sailors. Teredo worms are a sort of sea-going termite which eats the wood of a ship if it is not covered with a prism-copper-paint. Now we feel we are ready for the rest of the time we will be in salt water.

Life goes on here about the same as at home. Skipper gets out his work. The twins go to school, as does David. I attended a PTA meeting, just to see if it varied much from our local brand. The program this night was a television lecture on the dangers of an atomic attack and what to do in case one should occur. Afterwards a Civil Defense officer enrolled the interested parents in a first aid and survival class. From his point of view, respectfully stated, the danger from an atomic attack might be slight, but having the city, the countryside, and all utilities wrecked by a severe hurricane was ever present, and they work to minimize the loss of life and property in such a disaster. Which is pretty identical to Michigan residents who know that such a disaster as a tornado could happen to them also. But I was dejected over the poor turnout they had.

Other children here have birthdays too, and it is fun to see them being the center of attention for a brief time while being sung to, and while opening packages. Then they promptly revert to their usual play and are again just one more child. All the parties are held out on the dock, and when it is over the remains and splashes of ice cream, cake crumbs, spilled punch are simply hosed off. Paper plates, cups, napkins are stuffed into trash cans, and you'd never know a squirming, shrieking, singing, laughing mass of children had been living it up there ten minutes before.

People frequently ask, "Do the children fall into the water?" Certainly they do. Kevin and Glenn usually do a couple of times a season. In play Kevin was pretending some kind of ghost with a canvas sail bag over him that came down to his knees. This must have been fun until he stumbled and fell into the water. Encased in a canvas bag he couldn't swim. A man who happened to be nearby dived in, brought him up, and pulled off the bag. Soon as he got his breath back Kevin said, "Thank you, Sir," which amused all the onlookers who had rushed over. When we thanked Fred Coburn for his prompt action he said, "Glad I was there, same as that someone was there when my girl fell in." Glenn was riding his bicycle when he went in. As he fell his chin struck the bowsprit of a boat. He said his one foot was tangled in the bike when he tried to swim up, and he had to kick himself free from the bike first, then he surfaced, and climbed into a dinghy tied there. His concern was for his lovely new bicycle. The people around were concerned for him, and were truly glad to know after a few hours that he was only bruised. They promptly fished the bike out with boathooks and were busy hosing it off thoroughly so that it wouldn't be ruined by the corrosive action of the salt water. Even so the bicycle store man insisted upon the bike being brought in and taken completely apart and all parts properly cleaned and oiled. But not many do fall in.

We continue to have visitors too. Win and Mae Jane Tice looked us up. He sails "Greetings" on Lake Michigan, and has placed well in the Mackinac the last two years. He came down to crew on a boat in the Miami to Nassau race. Before attending a party at the Yacht club just north of us, they came over to see if they could find us. It was fun seeing them.

The Witheys had more visitors, Bill and Helen Merriam from Holland came down to go to the Bahamas with them. As luck would have it, Don and Audrey Jesick stopped in to see us the week-end just before they took off, so there was quite a gathering that afternoon. Then we were surprised by our neighbors Fred and Eileen Bliss who looked us up one morning. Fred looked a bit white, but just the same, pretty good for a man who had been a pretty sick man not long before. They were really interested in how we managed to live on a sailboat. They'd like a boat too. So I wanted to show them a remarkable solution to the "sail or motor" problem. There is a motor boat on this dock with a couple who live on it. It rarely goes out on a fishing trip. The davits at the stern are a little different than most, in that when the dinghy, a sailing dinghy, is hauled up the mast remains in place. It is sailed about the harbor and surrounding area frequently. Unfortunately Fred and Eileen didn't see it—that day they were out fishing.

Theresa Collins

Comedy writer Jack Douglas comments on Jack Paar, with whom he worked for years: "Very good man. Sometimes he seems to me to be overly sensitive."

Chuck Connors, speaking about a particularly sentimental scene from "The Rifleman": "Brother, that's corn. That's as pure as they grow it, but that's what people want."

PIONEER V, traveling at a speed of 5675 miles per hour, reached a distance of one million miles from the earth last Friday morning at 2:00. Launched March 11th, Pioneer V is the fifteenth United States satellite placed in orbit. Eight of these are still in the prescribed path. In contrast, Russia has placed three satellites in orbit—but only one remains. Our overall record compares quite favorably except in engine thrust or one area of rocket thrust propulsion. The Soviets are one up on us in successful lunar and space probes; we have made two to their three.

The United States' Pioneer V is sending back to earth strong and clear signals from its position over a million miles in space. These are received for about two hours daily, and amazingly enough are turned off and on by a command from earth. The signals report scientific data on the space between the orbit of Earth and Venus where nothing man-made has flown before.

Like Pioneer IV and Lunik I, Pioneer V will orbit the sun. It will do so in 312 days; some 53 days faster than does our own earth. Spokesmen for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration tell us that Pioneer V will remain in orbit as long as Earth and Venus continue to revolve about the sun.

STATUTES AND TAXES: The U. S. Code, a compilation of Federal statutes, was first published in 1926. The original edition was composed of ONE volume which contained ALL the Federal Laws in effect at that time.

In 1946 it required FOUR volumes to summarize Federal law. But the most recent edition of the U.S. Code (1958) is composed of TEN volumes. To bring this edition up to date the First Supplement has gone to press. This volume alone will contain 800 pages—a book nearly equal in size to the original 1926 Code.

Today, therefore, it requires eleven volumes, averaging 900 pages each, to compile the Federal statutes. This is nearly a 1000 percent increase over 1926 and is illustrative of the increased control exercised by Washington over the lives and fortunes of each citizen.

In 1926 the total Federal budgetary expenditures totaled $2.8 billion. In 1946 this had risen to $60.4 billion. But in 1958 Uncle Sam spent $71.9 billion, and this year the figure will be about $78.3 billion. This is a 2700 percent increase over 1926 and demonstrates the enormous power of the Federal Government in the economic life of our country at the present time.

In 1926 a married man with two children earning $5,000 a year and taking the standard deductions paid a Federal income tax of only $7. In 1946 a man in similar circumstances paid $405, and today the tax table supplied with Form 1040 lists for him a tax of $416. This is an increase of 5840 percent over the tax in 1926 and is familiar proof of the extent to which Uncle Sam puts the bite on each taxpayer.

It must be pointed out, however, that this man's Federal income tax increased only 2 percent from 1946 to 1960 or in an amount of only $11. The $7 tax of 1926 which had become $405 in 1946 was up only $11 more fourteen years later.

In 1926 the national debt amounted to $19.6 billion. In 1946 the debt reached $269.4 billion while today it stands at $290 billion. This is an increase of 1380 percent over 1926 and emphasizes the enormity of the inherited burden weighing on us and our children. Interest charges alone will cost $9.6 billion in 1960 or $46 for our $5000-a-year taxpayer with a wife and two children who is paying $416 in income taxes this year.

It is this tax bill and debt costs which the "spenders" choose to ignore when they sponsor one new project after another in an endless effort to expand the power and control of the Federal Government. The answer to further expansion of the U. S. Code, the Federal budget, the national debt, and your tax bill will be given in the legislative halls throughout the country. But the answer given there will be determined by the action taken in the voting booths in every precinct in the United States.

A still deeper lunge into deficit financing and additional Federal control has been averted in recent years through the strong leadership of President Eisenhower. His adherence to sound political and fiscal policies and his judicious use of the veto power has helped to maintain local and state authority, and has protected all of us who pay taxes.

NATIONAL DEBT AND THE POSTAL DEFICIT: Some may be surprised to learn that about one-third of the national debt incurred since 1946 has been due to the postal deficit. Of the $21 billion increase in the debt since that date, the Post Office has been responsible for $7.2 billion. Because the postal deficit runs about $2 million a day, the Postmaster General has recommended an increase in postal rates.

In 1958 the Congress established the policy that "postal rates and fees shall be adjusted from time to time as may be required to produce the amount of revenue approximately equal to the total cost of operating the postal establishment less the amount deemed to be attributable to the performances of public services" as outlined in the law. Mr. Summerfield's recent recommendations are to satisfy another provision of the 1958 law which requires him to submit proposals to carry out this Congressional policy.

The PMG reports that first-class mail has traditionally covered allocated costs plus about 40 percent to pay for preferential service. The law recognizes the priority status of first-class mail and requires that postage should be sufficient to cover allocated costs plus an additional amount to compensate for the preferential treatment which this mail receives over other types of material handled by the Post Office.

He who is at war with what is hateful within himself is too busy to be at war with his neighbor.

Education Costs Up 87% In Past Ten Years

It costs 87 per cent more to educate one student in Michigan's public schools today than it did 10 years ago, Thomas J. Northey, of the Michigan Education Association's Research Division, reported.

A survey of expenditures per pupil by the MEA revealed that in 1957-58 $321 was spent on each elementary and secondary pupil in the state. In 1947-48 the total was only $171.50.

Figures compiled by Northey include money spent on operation, which includes the six categories of administration, instruction, operational money, maintenance, fixed charges and auxiliary charges.

The per cent of increase in cost per pupil has declined each year since 1955-56, when the biggest hike was recorded. Per pupil expenditure in 1955-56 was almost 10 per cent greater than in 1954-55.

Suggested Publicity For Resource File

Forest Hills High School wishes to discover and needs those friends and parents who will be willing to visit the school on occasions to serve as resource persons in their particular field of experience.

An example of what is eventually desired occurred recently in one of the science classes at the high school. The students were concluding the study of a unit on weather. At the conclusion of the unit one of the students at the school informed the teacher that his father was a meteorologist.

Imagine how beneficial and interesting the study of this unit could have been to the students had this information been known previously so that a visit to the classroom by this individual could have been arranged. The students lost a fine opportunity because this information in ready form was not available to the teacher.

As a consequence of this experience and other similar experiences those of you who have children in school will soon receive a letter containing a questionnaire. The questionnaire will ask all parents or others in the community who have specialized training in a vocation or profession or who have hobbies, travel experiences or interests which they would be willing to share with students in the school to complete and return the questionnaires to the school.

If you do not have a student in Forest Hills Public Schools it is suggested you contact the school office personally or by telephone in order that the desired information can be obtained. The school phone number is GLendale 1-2941.

Upon receipt of the information it is the intention of your school to catalog the information by subject matter heading and place the information on file in the school library where it will be readily available to all faculty members in planning units of study for Forest Hills students.

Then, as occasion demands, you will be contacted by the school and arrangements made for you to share your knowledge, experience and interests with Forest Hills students.
