Welcome Old Kent Bank To Cascade

Forest Hills Board Points Out Need for Classrooms, Library, Gym to P.T.A.

On Monday night of this week, the Forest Hills Board of Education met with 30 officers of the P. T. A.'s of the 10 Elementary school communities within the bounds of the District.

At the meeting, members of the Board set forth the building needs for the next three years after 1960-61. The following will be needed, said John Adrianse, president of the Board:

- 8 Elementary classrooms
- 10 Classrooms added to the high school
- 1 High school library
- An addition to the present gymnasium

Mr. Adrianse said that the Board was being as foresighted as possible in planning for the housing of Elementary and Secondary children through 1964. The total cost of the buildings plus equipment and site development will be in the neighborhood of $800,000.00 This includes provision for a new Elementary sight when needed.

The Board also discussed the operating needs of the District for the next school year when the present 2½ extra millage voted last year expires. The Board members pointed out that even with the increased revenue to result from the upgrading of property valuations by the State, some extra tax will be necessary. Just how much will be determined when the new values to be set on properties are officially known. One member estimated that 1½ mills might be the rate needed. The Board stated emphatically that it would not ask for more than would be necessary to operate a good educational program in Forest Hills. 2330 students are expected to be enrolled next September.

The Board has set June 13 as the date for balloting on extra revenue for building and operating.

Details concerning the buildings being contemplated will appear in an early edition of the Suburban Life.

Forest Hills to Honor Students at Assembly

Late in May there will be an Honors Assembly at the Forest Hills High School, to which the public will be invited. The exact date will be announced later.

Students having a B average or better will receive certificates, and those having a B average or better in citizenship will also receive certificates.

Stage Talent Hunt for Thornapple Minstrel Show

The annual Thornapple Minstrels event sponsored by the Cascade Christian Men's Fellowship has been scheduled for June 15-16-17. The show will be presented three nights in the new All-Purpose room at the Forest Hills High School. Last year over one hundred people participated in bringing the 4th year show to standing room only crowds, thus making it necessary to extend the show to three nights this year.

Rehearsals have started and Jack Breidenfeld, who is again the Master of Ceremonies, along with Lyle Dykhuizen have written into the program, in addition to the usually popular number, several new specialties. However, they have a few more spots open for TALENT. If you have a desire to appear in an act or a specialty, call Jack Breidenfeld, CH 1-2997 or Lyle Dykhuizen GL 4-7937 any evening this week and arrange for an audition. The 6th of May is the last audition night, so call now for an appointment.

Every year, Thornapple Minstrels bring to Cascade and Thornapple Valley, people with entertaining ability, and in addition provide enjoyment to many villagers who saw, hammer, erect, paint and prepare the many items that go into a production of this kind. There has never been a year when so many people have asked to help, and we sincerely believe that 1960 will be the finest and best rehearsed show ever to be presented by the Thornapple Minstrels.

Tickets go on sale May 10. All the proceeds from the Minstrels go for the Youth Activities of Cascade Christian church and the Community Youth Programs sponsored by the Businessmen of Cascade.

"Aboard The Heather" by Theresa Collins

We really enjoyed having David with us for his week of spring vacation. We had hoped to sail to the Bahamas which is really only an overnight trip across the Stream. But with full gale warnings up we decided not to try it, and started north, first day only on the ocean, from Miami to Ft. Lauderdale. Now that we have been traveling the Waterway, we are finding it most interesting. There are many lovely places to stop all along the Indian River. But that would take all winter. We enjoyed the fragrance from the orange groves in some narrow places. Saturday we reached St. Augustine. Skipper decided to stay for a couple of days and enjoy the place. We loved it. We went sight-seeing all the time. We could easily walk all over the historic section.

Sunday was Easter, and what a place to spend it! Florida was discovered on Easter. A whole week of Easter festivities were planned but the part we just loved was the Horse and Carriage Parade. Various organizations sponsor a horse and carriage, and they are marvelously decorated, not only the carriage, but the horses. The "blanket" on the horse was gayer than gay of course. But the prime show-piece was the Easter bonnets on the horses. Some were of tulle, some of plumes, some of flowers, each a bit more extravagant than the next. The carriages were filled with men and girls in lovely Spanish costumes, just pretty girls, or people in old-fashioned clothes. Also in the parade were companies of Spanish cavalry, Spanish grandees, and just horsemen. And of course bands. It was a fine parade, and a lovely sunny day in which to watch it.

The old fort, the Castillo de San Marcos, was the best exhibit of all. We covered the whole place a number of times, marveling at

it. Tho' the English fleet of 25 ships under Drake captured and burned the town, they could not take the fort. The pirates also sacked the town, but the fort held. History is real here. From here it was settled in dreadful massacres that the French could not hold this part of the country. And from here an expedition went up to Georgia to attempt to drive out Oglethorpe's colonists. At Bloody Marsh the Spaniards learned that their sphere of influence did not include Georgia.

Monday morning Heather started north again, and David took the bus back to school. Again we had a "norther," motored most of the way against the wind, and stopped early at El Verde Yacht Basin, Jacksonville Beach. There we got a ride to the Beach and the boys had a wonderful time in the surf. Again cars driving on the hard sand beaches seemed odd. We did some shopping and took a cab back.

Tuesday we had a solid day of motoring, constantly against the north wind. We anchored just off the waterway right in the middle of miles of marshes. Wednesday was more of the same but the winding course enabled us to raise sail and sail a mile or so a couple of times. We went only ten miles to Jekyll Island, one time private club of a group of New York millionaires. The state of Georgia bought the island, and most of it is being developed as a park with certain areas set aside for residences. We concluded that the Georgia Park System had done even better by Jekyll Island than the millionaires could have.

As we came up to the dock we saw some children fishing so the twins wanted to fish. In a few minutes we became acquainted with the Loki family. We found we had several mutual friends, and that we liked each other. Fishing was interesting if unproductive, the catches being undersized fish and crabs mostly. Wish we had a snapshot of Kevin when he caught an eel! Then they asked us to go swimming on the ocean beach on the other side of the island. This was wonderful, but as it also ended up by including a sightseeing tour, we were completely delighted. We had both lunch and supper with our new friends at their camp. Yes, they were camping out for their spring vacation. The twins were thrilled to see how people live in tents, cooking over a camp fire, or on a gasoline stove, using a gasoline lantern, then at dark settling around a fire. They thought camping would be just about as much fun as cruising.

Next morning we left early for a quiet trip across a sound to the next island, St. Simons Island, which is offshore from Brunswick. If possible this island is even more beautiful than Jekyll Island. It is a resort area, with communities of summer places of people of more or less wealth on one side or the other of Bloody Marsh, where Oglethorpe's band repulsed the Spanish. Here again we loved driving around the island on fine roads under the beautiful trees. We loved the fine old oaks festooned with Spanish moss. In the days of wooden sailing ships the best timbers for the frames of the boats came from these twisty live oaks. They could select pieces for frames (ribs) and knees which were naturally curved and therefore stronger than if steamed and cut into shape. The oak for the famous old "Constitution" came from this area. Lanier's "Marshes of Glynn" takes on new meaning when read here where they are.

Political Year the Time For Slogans, Handshakes

As early as 1840, when a political party promised the voter "Two Dollars a Day and Roast Beef," the slogan was as much a part of presidential election campaigns as the handshake and the stump.

It's a fitting arena for the slogan, which was once the battle cry of the Scots. The word comes from "sluagh," meaning "army," and "gairm," or "call."

The voters of 1840 took up the battle for two dollars, conceding that "Van, Van (Martin Van Buren) is a Used-up Man." They gave their votes to "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too"—William Henry Harrison, the hero of the Indian battle of Tippecanoe, and his running mate, John Tyler.

In 1864, when Lincoln was running for a second term, the Union was warned: "Don't Swap Horses in the Middle of the Stream." The cry was to echo 80 years later, when Franklin D. Roosevelt won a fourth term in the dark years of World War II.

Theresa Collins

Horace Greeley thundered, "Turn the Rascals Out" in 1872, but Grant held the presidency for another term.

The country wasn't ready for "The Plumed Knight," as James G. Blaine was called, in 1876, and the election went to Rutherford B. Hayes.

Blaine was back in 1884. But he had the misfortune of being labeled an opponent of "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion." The Catholics turned against him and helped elect Grover Cleveland.

William McKinley promised "The Full Dinner Pail" in 1900, setting a precedent for Hoover's later pledge of "A Chicken in Every Pot, a Car in Every Garage."

In 1916 the country re-elected Woodrow Wilson with the explanation, "He Kept Us Out of War."

Five months later the U. S. was in the war. When the next election rolled around, the voter wanted "Normalcy" and Warren G. Harding.

In 1924 the electorate decided to "Keep Cool with Coolidge." By 1932 they were ready for a "New Deal," and the "Forgotten Man" gave his vote to FDR.

More recently some people thought "We Need Adlai Badly," but the elections of 1952 and 1956 proved that more people like Ike.

What will the slogans be this year?

Maybe we'll hear, "I'll Stick With Dick" . . . or "My Cup of Tea is Kennedy" . . . or "What's Good for the Country is Hubert Humphrey."

I get all the week-end calisthenics I need just from turning the pages of my giant Sunday newspapers.

Congregational Head Resigns Church Post For New York Position

Dr. Harold N. Skidmore, of East Lansing, today announced his acceptance of an appointment as Associate to Dr. William Kincaid Newman in the national offices of the Annuity Fund and Pension Boards of the Congregational Christian Churches in New York City.

For the past nineteen years Dr. Skidmore has been Superintendent of the Michigan Conference of Congregational Christian Churches. His resignation, made public following a special meeting of the Conference Board of Trustees in East Lansing this morning, will be effective September 1, 1960.

During Dr. Skidmore's nineteen year term as its administrative head, the Michigan Congregational Conference has grown to its present stature representing the work of nearly ninety thousand Congregational Church members in the state. The Conference has been noted for frequent pioneering in new areas of contemporary churchmanship; including the development of the Pilgrim Haven Conference Center in South Haven, which has received national recognition for outstanding Youth and Family Camp summer conference programming. Dr. Skidmore was also one of the first church leaders to devise and initiate the comprehensive adult education program now well known throughout the state as "Schools For Churchmanship."

In his new position Dr. Skidmore will work primarily in the Ministerial Relief Division of the national Congregational organization, and will over-see various concerns for retired Congregational clergymen throughout the country.

Residents of East Lansing since 1941, Dr. and Mrs. Skidmore will move to the New York City area in late summer. Plans for the selection of a successor to Dr. Skidmore will be announced when the Michigan Conference holds its annual meeting in Battle Creek in mid-May.

Dogs' Bite Is Serious Problem

G-R-R-R-R. In 1957, according to a recent survey, about 611,500 Americans were bitten by animals, mostly dogs. And most of those bitten were pre-school and school children. How can dog bites be prevented? According to Eleanor Densmore, County Extension Agent in Home Economics, this bit of advice is handed out by experts.

Don't give a dog to a child under six. A dog is a wonderful companion for a youngster. You can help him develop a feeling of responsibility by teaching him how to care for his pup. But don't expect miracles. Of course, he will forget occasionally and you'll have to do it yourself, but remember he is only gradually learning to be responsible and a few slips aren't significant. Only if he completely neglects the animal for an extended time, should it be taken away from him until he is older.

It is a good chance to teach him kindness and consideration, too. Teasing and abusing dogs encourages them to be ugly. Discourage running, bicycling or playing ball with a dog if these activities excite the dog. Teach your youngster not to pet, startle or take food away from a dog when he is eating, to avoid abruptly awaking a dog, to be careful in picking up pups so that the mother dog won't be offended, to avoid holding his face next to a dog's. You see why he needs to be at least six years old?

In conclusion, female dogs bite more often than males and hounds are the safest dogs to own. Remember a dog is a playmate and not a plaything.

The trouble with the average budget is that it is hard to fill up one hole without digging another.

State Police Advise Parents to Warn Children Against Talking to Strangers

Now is the time to warn your children about talking with strangers, advises Sgt. Gordon Hanthorn, commanding officer of the Rockford post of the Michigan State Police, who reminds that the season of warmer weather always brings an increase in child molestation cases.

Six offenses against children reach their peak during the summer vacation period. A word of caution now could help your child from becoming involved in a degrading experience that could mar his life or even bring physical harm.

"The safest rule for children to follow," Sgt. Hanthorn said, "is to have nothing to do with strangers and to tell their parents immediately if any strangers approach them and offer them candy or other things if they will go with them."

Child molestation cases investigated by the State Police increased 3.2 per cent last year, 18 more than the 538 reported the previous year. The highest incidence was in August with 76 as compared to 71 in July, the high month the year before. June last year was second with 73 cases and July next with 61.

April, as the previous year, showed a marked jump from 29 cases in March to 52. With the start of school in September, incidents dropped off, which is characteristic of the pattern each year according to State Police records.

One of the difficulties in coping with the child molestation problem, according to Sgt. Hanthorn, is the reluctance of parents to report incidents to the police for fear of embarrassing publicity. For this reason, the problem is a larger menace than figures indicate.

The press, radio and television never use the names of children except in cases of murder, and if all incidents were reported police would have a much greater chance of apprehending offenders and offenses could be reduced considerably.

Another important factor which could lessen the problem, Sgt. Hanthorn said, is to impress children that policemen are friends who want to help and protect them. They should be encouraged not to be afraid to notify police of any strangers seen loitering around grounds, neighborhoods, schools or at public comfort stations.

Because depraved men and women are often successful in enticing children to become victims of their immoral and criminal sex behavior, Sgt. Hanthorn suggests several "don'ts" and "do's" for parents to tell their children to protect them:

1. When you meet strangers walking or in cars, do not stop to talk with them.
2. Always know the person you are with. If you don't, do not accept rides or go for walks with them.
3. Don't let strangers join you during play hours at school or around home.
4. If it is necessary for you to use public toilets, leave immediately after you are finished. These are danger spots.
5. Don't play or walk alone in alleys, deserted buildings and other secluded places. Always arrange to be with one or more playmates.
6. If strangers offer you money, a gift, candy or ice cream, do not accept them.
7. If a stranger offers to give you a job to earn some spending money, do not accept or go with him until you have talked with your parents and they have given their consent.
8. When you go to a movie, always take a pal along. Do not let a stranger sit next to you touch your clothes or body. If one attempts to report it to the theater manager immediately.
9. Do not play or walk too close to the road. Keep a safe distance away to prevent strangers touching or grabbing you.
10. If pals or strangers ask you to disobey these rules, don't. They are for your protection.

Here are some helpful "do's" to recommend to children:

1. Either write down or memorize the stranger's description, approximate height, weight, color of eyes and an estimate of his age. Remember particularly any special things like a moustache, scars, blemishes on his face, tattoos, or physical defects like a limp or glasses with thick lens, and peculiar actions.
2. Make a note of the color, type and style of clothing worn, particularly any jewelry or other unusual thing which might help identify the person.
3. If possible get the license number of the stranger's car. Write it down with a pencil or, if you don't have one, scratch it on the sidewalk with a stone or in the sand with a stick. This is particularly helpful in police investigation. A description of the license plate should include the letters, numbers, color and state.
4. Whenever you can, keep together in a group during outside activities at school or away from your home.
5. If a stranger or suspicious acting person is hanging around school, a playground or other place where children congregate, promptly report the fact to your parents, the police or teacher. Police investigation will reveal whether the person has a legitimate reason for being there and if he does, he will not be offended by being contacted.

Point Out Danger Of Small Vehicles On Streets and Walks

Parents of children operating four-wheeled motorized go-carts are being cautioned by Sgt. Gordon Hanthorn, commanding officer of the Rockford post of the Michigan State Police, to warn them it is not only dangerous but illegal to use the machines on streets and highways.

Now that warmer weather is here, the go-carts, or midget cars as they are otherwise called, will be wheeled out but unless their operation is restricted they can be hazardous.

Two-wheel motor scooters are licensed under special regulations for street and highway use the same as motorcycles, but the secretary of state's department does not license the midget cars because they are not equipped for safe operation on streets and highways.

Go-carts must be operated either on private property or on parking lots or tracks specifically authorized for their use when other vehicles are not occupying these areas. A number of such places have been established by private interests and there are several racing tracks where the junior drivers compete.

Among the dangers of operating go-carts on streets and highways are their smallness and low height which make it difficult for other motorists to spot them, the immature judgment and inexperience of drivers, whose ages range from as young as six years to 14, much slower travel speeds than other traffic and greater exposure to injury or death because of their light construction and lack of body protection.

Sergeant Hanthorn warned that young drivers found operating go-carts on streets and highways will be ordered off and their parents contacted. Repeat violations could bring probate court action and possibly impounding of the tiny vehicles.

The go-carts, a good many of them homemade by mechanically enthusiastic fathers and sons, are usually powered by one and a half to six horsepower engines converted from power lawnmowers. Speed ranges from 10 to 40 miles per hour. The absence of two-wheel brakes, lights, windshield wipers, defrosters, turn signals and other equipment makes them unsafe on streets and highways. A further reason for restricting their operation is the chance of injuring other children in neighborhoods.

GUILD FOR CHRISTIAN SERVICE MEETING, MAY 3

On Tuesday evening, May 3, at 8 p. m. at the Eastmont Reformed church, the Guild for Christian Service will hold their meeting. At this time they will have a deputation team from Hope College YWCA and YMCA.

They will present special music, devotions and an informative program of the college. All community women are invited to attend.

EXTENSION GROUP

Merry Wives Extension Group held their meeting April 14, at the home of Mrs. Lyle Kriek. Topic was "Care of Furniture."

Spaghetti Supper And PTA Meeting

Remember the Spaghetti supper tonight, Thursday, April 28. Supper will be served continuously from 6 to 7:30 p. m. There will be no waiting because of the new roomy kitchen and dining room facilities in the All-Purpose building at the Forest Hills High School. Remember, this is a real Italian supper, prepared by an Italian chef, so you will be assured of a good dinner. Why not invite some friends or urge your neighbors to come with you.

After the dinner there will be a brief P. T. A. meeting, installing the new officers, and an interesting demonstration by the girls and boys of the Physical Education department.

This is the last meeting of the school year. We hope to obtain much needed funds for the treasury and provide an evening of enjoyment and fellowship for our community.

4-H Leaders Meet May 2

All 4-H leaders in Kent County, who will be active in the summer 4-H program, are invited to attend the County Leaders' Association meeting. The meeting will be held at the Camp Vining lodge on Bostwick Lake on Monday, May 2, and will begin at 8 p. m.

After a short business meeting, a program of leader training will be presented. Project leaders will meet with the chairman of their project to discuss the following:

1. Requirements for the project.
2. Proper methods and procedures to use to teach the project to the members.
3. Discuss the kind of training meetings needed the rest of the summer.
4. Discuss mutual problems and answer questions.

According to Bill Milbrath, County Extension Agent, this training will be greatly beneficial to all leaders in helping them get-off to a good start as they begin meeting with their members.

Problems of Taxation, Equalization Discussed by School Principal

We have been asked by several people to attempt to answer some questions on local property taxation. These questions, in general, can be summarized as these: "How is my property assessed?" "What is equalization?" "How come I pay more taxes than my neighbor who has a house as good as mine?" And, "Why when we voted 2½ mills for operation, my taxes went up forty dollars ($40.00)."

These questions are not easy to answer in a word or two. If you are willing to read a rather long explanation, I'll attempt to be as concise as I can.

First, under our system of taxation, the township supervisor has the responsibility to determine the value of your property for tax purposes. This was somewhat simple when the area was farm land. However, as the areas become suburban, as ours has, the job of the supervisor becomes greater and more difficult.

Being human, the supervisors approach their responsibilities with varying degrees of conscientiousness and diligence. Too often, he has to use what has been called "By guess and by gosh" to evaluate property. Consequently, values on property can vary tremendously and do. In one township, a house of market value of $12,000 may be assessed at $1,000, in another, $6,000.

Knowing these differences occur between townships, some method was needed to more fairly assess all property or "equalize" valuations in the townships. Consequently, the Board of Supervisors, generally, established a committee to spot check properties in all townships in the county. These results are studied to see which townships on an average are low and which are high. This average figure is used to raise or lower all properties in the various townships so they would be on an average more equally evaluated. This process equalizes the totals, but does nothing about the differences on individual property values.

For example: Property A and B could be worth Sixteen thousand dollars ($16,000.) A could be assessed $2,000.00 B could be assessed $5,000.00

If the township is one whose total evaluation is low and is to be increased—let's say 10 percent—then House A would be taxed at $2200.00 while house B would be taxed at $5500.00. Thus, house B which is already too high becomes more unfairly taxed.

Then, as studies show, counties also vary in their totals. The state through the same process attempts to more fairly determine county totals (state equalization). Let us say that the state ups the county evaluation 50 percent. Now, house "A" is now taxed at $2750. House "B" now is taxed at $7,750. Where the difference was originally $3000, it now becomes $5000.

In summary, equalization is an attempt to more fairly tax averages of townships and counties. This, it does fairly well. However, it only increases the original unfairness on house "A" and house "B".

I hope this answers what is equalization and "How come I pay more taxes than my neighbor?"

In determining the state equalization figures, the state workers use a set of criteria (rules, etc.) which attempts to determine what your property was worth in 1955. Your "state set" property value (state equalized figure) is now set at 50 percent of that worth.

Perhaps, an example or two would help using the equalization figure for Grand Rapids township and the new figure for Cascade township.

a. Grand Rapids township—suppose your supervisor's figure is $2,000 (this is the figure you find on your tax slip). Now the state equalization figure for Grand Rapids was 2.25 which means your property is actually taxed at $4500. Multiplying this $4500 by the total tax rate of the township (including county school and township)—let's use 30 mills—we would arrive at a tax bill of $135.00.

b. Cascade township—if the 2.56 figure is to be used, the same property would be paying $153.60. This difference is the result of the original unequal value placed by the supervisor. The equalization process works on township and county averages and not on your actual property's true value. If your property was one actually visited by the state tax investigators, you can be quite sure you are fairly assessed and taxed. If your property wasn't, then you can be sure you are under-assessed or over-assessed.

Last year, the district voted 2½ mills for school operation. At the same time, the state "equalized" Grand Rapids township at 2.25 times the original supervisors figure. Both of the items, the voted millage plus the state's upping the property evaluation resulted in an increase in the tax bill of the Grand Rapids Township which shocked and confused many of us. Thus, it was the combination of the two items which caused a jump in your property tax. In all fairness, we must recognize the major portion of the actual dollar increase was due to the evaluation increase through the state equalization factor. Without the facts, it is much easier to blame the Board of Education, who are all too often blamed for things we parents do not understand.

The unfairness of the property tax situation lies in the method and in law. The supervisors, untrained and without sufficient time, cannot do an adequate evaluation job no matter how conscientious they are. To tax all property equally and fairly necessitates all property being studied by trained personnel. Paris township and East Grand Rapids have obtained the services of trained people to scientifically evaluate all property. Thus, their basis for property taxation is fair.

Whether personal real estate should be a source of revenue for school operation is a situation open to considerable question, one which I'll discuss at a later date.

Rangers Win Track Opener Against Lee

The Forest Hills Rangers showed surprising strength in defeating the Lee Rebels in the O-K Conference league opener Friday night on a fast track at Lee. The final score was 57½ to 51½.

The meet was decided in a thrilling fashion as Larry Wentzloff broke the tape one stride ahead of Lee's Van Dyke to win the 880 yard relay in the last event of the night. Larry Merchant was the real hero of the relay as he overcame a 12 yard Lee lead on the third leg to send Wentzloff off even with Van Dyke on the anchor leg.

Wentzloff led the winners with 12¼ points scored on firsts in the 100 and 220, third in the broad jump, and a leg in the winning 880 relay. Nick Duiven was second in scoring with 8¼. He took first in the high jump, thirds in the shot-put and 440, and ran a leg on the winning relay team.

Tom Price gave the crowd a big thrill in the 880 when he overcame a 30 yard deficit on the back stretch to break the tape even with Lee's Buckley. After a long consultation the judges decided that Buckley's head crossed the tape first so he was awarded first place and Price second.

Jim Gager turned in the best time in the mile with an even 5:00.
