Football Practice For FHS Team Begins August 29

Football practice at Forest Hills High School begins this year on Monday, August 29.

Ed Shy, Forest Hills athletic director, announced that between 60 and 70 athletes are expected to turn out for the first session, attempting to nail down top positions on the varsity and reserve teams.

Physical examinations for all prospective players in grades 9-12 will be given prior to the first practice on Wednesday, August 24, at 9 a. m. No boy will be allowed to suit-up without having taken the physical.

Floodlights Up

Shy also announced that the wiring of the new floodlights recently mounted in place at the football field has not yet been completed. Cost of the new lighting equipment is expected to be in the neighborhood of $11,000.

Funds for the lighting project were donated by the Boosters' Club, headed by Walter Jones.

Stadium bleachers will be rented this year for use at the football field.

The Forest Hills team has a full gridiron schedule ahead of them this season, with 4 varsity and 5 reserve team games being played at home.

Forest Hills is a member of the newly-formed Ottawa-Kent Conference. Other schools represented in the OK League are Byron Center, Hudsonville, Kelloggville, Lee, and Rogers.

Wyoming Park and the new Kentwood high school are scheduled to join the OK League during the 1961-62 school year.

Besides engaging in conference contests, the Forest Hills ball club will also meet Kent City and Kalamazoo University high school.

A complete schedule for the forthcoming football season will appear in Suburban Life soon.

If you have a transportation problem, or wish more information, please call Joan Stout, GL 4-9014.

Murphy Wonder-Workers Enjoy All-Night Outing

The 4-H Murphy Wonder-Workers had an all-night camp-out at Gunn Lake recently.

Present were Kathye Werner, Sallye Werner, Sally Dustin, Sally Kelley, Kathleen Kelley, Linda Sanderson, Kathy Welsh, Roberta Rose and the two leaders, Mrs. Kelley and Mrs. Werner.

The group had a good time and hope to plan another outing in the future.

Softball Team Wins

The Eastmont Baptist church softball team won their game August 1 from the Northland Baptist church with a score of 8-2.

SS WORKERS CONFERENCE

The Sunday School Workers Conference of the Cascade Christian Church will be held Tuesday evening, August 16 at 8 p. m. in Fellowship Hall.

LaBotz. She and her husband are home missionaries, who tour Georgia and Florida during the winter months.

Ada Merchants Challenge Women's Team

This Friday should settle once and for all the superiority question of female versus male. Beginning at 8:15 sharp the Ada Merchants will play the Ada mothers team in a no-quarter-asked-or-given softball game at the Ada Ball Park.

One minor change in the regulations may be of interest to the spectators. The men of the Ada Merchants will be required to bat, field and throw from the opposite side of their natural inclination. If an Ada merchant pitcher ordinarily throws right handed, for this game he must pitch left handed. An Ada merchant slugger who smashes them out of the park from the right hand side, for this game he must bat from the left hand side. The dead eye out fielder must field with his right hand and throw the ball with his left.

Can you imagine our Ada second baseman going deep behind second base for a ground ball, and then making the long throw left handed?

This is a game that is more than a game. The ladies are straining at the leash superably condition and confident that the men will bite the dust. On the other hand the men are supremely confident and assured that a ball player, whether he bats from the right or the left side, is always a ball player.

For those who feel the excitement of this titantic contest, which maybe too great for them to take, may gather strength from the refreshments at the concession stand. Help the ladies or the men to victory by cheering them on. You won't want to miss this one!

Ice Cream Social

Kinney Grange is sponsoring a Homemade Ice Cream Social on Wednesday, August 17, starting at 7 p. m. The Social is to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Roth at 3051 Four Mile Road, Grand Rapids.

NOTICE

Football physical exams for all Forest Hills football players will be given on Wednesday, August 24, at 9 a. m. at the high school gym. All boys in grades 9-12 are to report at this time. No boy will be allowed to practice without a physical examination. If any boy can not be there at this time, will they please call Mr. Shy or Mr. Dangi. 21-22

Cascade Acres Now Ready

Members, superintendent of public schools, re-named Cascade Acres, the most recent Forest Hills plant, open in September. In the midst of a future development on the Thornapple River near Ada, the 4-room building is designed to be expanded to a 20-room capacity if necessary.

Chambers indicated that the school board is already considering enlarging the new school next year.

Children from the immediate territory are scheduled to attend the school, which will contain grades 1-6. A group from Whitneyville area will also be transported to it by bus.

Girls Return From 9-Day Eastern Tour

Miss Marion Wride, Miss Norma Wride and Miss Verle Vosburg, all of Ada returned home Thursday, August 4, from a nine-day trip East.

While they were gone they visited Thomas A. Edison's birthplace at Milan, Ohio and the Great Falls of the Potomac on the Potomac River in Maryland. In Washington, D. C. they took a tour and saw the Capitol, White House, Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, Washington Monument, the Smithsonian Institute, the National Wax Museum and many other places of interest, including Arlington National Cemetery.

They visited Alexandria, Virginia where they saw the National Masonic Temple and Gadsby's tavern. From there they visited Washington's home in Mt. Vernon and where they saw the Law Office of James Monroe, Kenmore (home of Betty Washington and her husband, Colonel Fielding Lewis) and the Masonic Lodge.

Next they went to Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, and Michie Tavern at Charlottesville and the Pocahontas Exhibition Coal Mine at Pocahontas, Virginia. They also saw the Natural Tunnel near Gate City, Virginia, Cumberland Gap and the Cumberland Falls in Kentucky.

They took the all-day tour through Mammoth Cave, and to conclude their trip, they went to Abe Lincoln's birthplace in Hodgenville, Kentucky, the Pioneer Memorial State Park at Harrodsburg, Kentucky, the Lincoln Homestead State Park near Springfield Kentucky and My Old Kentucky Home at Bradstown, Kentucky.

The girls had a wonderful time, and their only mishap was a broken windshield, caused by a stone thrown up by another car, but this happened not too far from home, fortunately.

"Freezers, Food Plans and the Cold Shoulder"

Food freezers sold in combination with various types of food schemes cause the largest share of complaints to the office of the Attorney General in the area of consumer frauds.

Investigation indicates that before signing any contract for a freezer and food plan you should consider the following:

1. Representations that a food plan allows you to buy foods at special discounts or wholesale prices are often grossly exaggerated.

You may be induced to pay an exorbitant price for a freezer which is supposed to include food but actually does not. You may pay for a membership card in a food plan which supposedly will save you enough money to pay for your freezer. You may be told that by joining the food plan you can purchase food at wholesale for the rest of your life.

These are gimmicks. The food plan generally will not save you money. It will cost you much more than purchasing a freezer and food separately from legitimate merchants.

The discount or wholesale prices are usually the same as you would pay by judicious shopping. The grade of meat and other items to which you are entitled may be misrepresented. The stock from which you may select your groceries may be limited and inadequate. Companies involved have on several occasions discontinued business, leaving food plan members with no place to get their food and with no one to return their money.

2. The food freezer itself may be greatly overpriced. Always check the price with a reputable local dealer before you sign any contract.

3. Do not sign the contract for the purchase of the food plan in blank as is too often done! See that all representations made by the salesman are included in the contract.

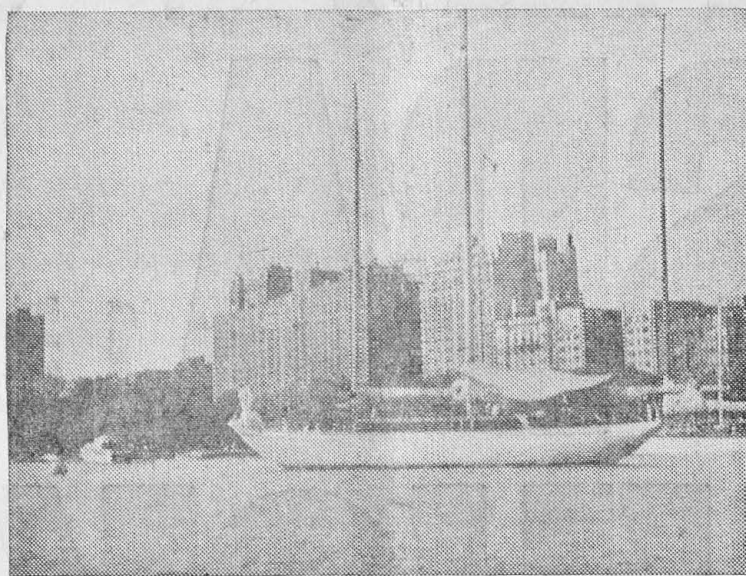

When the blanks in the contract are filled in later by the company or salesman, the terms are often different than represented to you. If you complain to the seller, you may be informed that the salesman is no longer employed by him and you are stuck with the contract.

A cold shoulder for a persistent salesman may save your food budget from future bankruptcy.

By 1968 a hospital room will probably cost $50 a day, says a hospital administrator. The time seems to be rapidly approaching when staying alive will scarcely be worth what it costs.

"Aboard The Heather" by Theresa Collins

When we planned our trip to the Lake Erie Islands we thought we would like to visit a winery, and see how wines are made, especially see how champagne is made. This and summer resort business are the chief industries of these attractive islands at the western end of the lake. But all we saw was the neat vineyards from the top of the Perry Monument, wine making was out of season. Besides the weather was fine, for sailing.

Early Thursday morning, David was getting up the anchor and Skipper was starting the motor when I woke up. At first the sail was quiet, but a nice breeze came up. In a couple of hours we were in the steamer lane. We had as much fun as ever identifying the Great Lakes freighters, on boats, grain carriers, tankers, etc. and always extra fun to see one from Germany, Norway, Netherlands, England. The Canadian ships are like ours, at home on their own waters.

As is usual when sailing, everything below was well stowed when we saw a big passenger boat coming fast. Skipper said "Go below and be prepared to roll badly." A quick check, everything OK luckily. Then it was like being hit by something solid. Heather staggered.

I looked out the portholes and the seas kicked up by that ship made me think of the rapids of Niagara—eight feet high. Such turbulence. Both motor and sails held us on course, but we did feel like shooting that boat. It was a lovely day and all the passengers were out with cameras to take a picture of the pretty sailboat. Their pleasure changed to shock when they saw the way we were pitched around so violently. As the water quieted down, across the distance you could sense their relief that nothing had broken and that we were continuing on our way.

Soon we were in the Detroit River. The current is between three and four miles an hour. We were sailing beautifully with a good wind, and when necessary, used the motor to supplement the sails—sailing at five knots, motor at six knots, we covered the ground. On the American side all the frontage is commercial. The Canadians have homes and cottages on a good bit of the river—Windsor is much smaller than Detroit. Our destination was a quiet harbor, away from all the constant procession of freighters. There were many boat yards and yacht club—largest yacht club in the world, "2000 members" They assigned us a "well" in the lagoon they have for sailboats, out of the current of the river. A group of sailboats came up and welcomed us to Detroit and to the Detroit Yacht Club. Which included a tour of the grounds and the club house. We do meet the nicest people this way. Early Friday morning an obliging young chap took me to a grocery about a mile or so away for supplies and shortly we were ready to go.

This day we had a really good wind, blowing from a southerly direction, and we were delighted. Shortly we were sailing—no need for a motor—right up the river. Then into Lake St. Clair. The shore at Grosse Point, St. Clair Shores, etc. was lined with the most beautiful homes, with lovely gardens around them. Then, as in Lake Ponchartrain, we were out of sight of land for a while, then into the St. Clair river.

It's one thing to read that the Detroit River is the most heavily traveled body of water in the world, carrying more tonnage than the locks of the Soo, the Panama and Suez combined. But to move along always in sight of at least four huge freighters has a real impact. They don't throw much of a wake—the Great Lakes ships less than the ocean going ones. The usual motor boat throws more. The river is also full of every size boat, not the least being the usual aluminum skiff with an outboard motor for its fisherman occupants.

As the day advanced the wind came up, and we were delighted that we were so lucky to be able to sail up the river faster than the motor could have pushed us. The problem was, should we stop at Algonac or go on. We hated to stop when the sailing was so good. Just past Algonac there was a change in the direction of the river. We had to jibe. The big mainsail slammed over, and the slings snapped, and the sheet (the rope which controls the sail) fell uselessly to the deck. Needless to say, we stopped at Algonac. Skipper had the break jured up shortly, but by then, we decided to wait until morning to go on. He stood us to a shore dinner at Sid's, a restaurant right on the water, where we could watch the ships go by while enjoying our dinners. That was some day's sail.

But the day was not yet over. We were back from dinner talking about our day's sail, and what we would do next day when the wind changed. And we started to drag the anchor. More scope, and used chain instead of rope. Then at midnight the same thing happened. The sound of that heavy kidge anchor sliding along the rocky bottom was shocking. That river bottom seemed as smooth as a paved road the way we slid down steam, fast too. There was a gas dock nearby, closed for the night. We went over and tied to the gas dock for the rest of the night.

We left early Saturday morning and soon came to St. Clair. This looked lovely and we tied up to a sea wall in front of a beautiful inn, why not here. But the wash of passing boats made Heather jerk and roll so that Skipper could not work. So we had to get going again. Before too long we arrived at Port Huron, and found a harbor up the Black River, with docks all along the river banks. Skipper phoned for his mail, and we were all set for a day or so. Early Sunday morning he phoned Erik and Judy, figuring Erik would be back from Camp Grayling. They drove across the state from Holland to Port Huron in only a few hours, and were there by one. The twins did not know they were coming, and were so delighted and surprised. We had such a nice visit with them. They spent the night with us, and started back to their respective jobs by 4:30 Monday morning. It was such fun seeing them.

Rural CD Active 'In the Field'

Residents of rural America's 5,000,000 farms are being urged by civil defense officials to plan now for their safety from nuclear attack as they consider ordinary hazards during Farm Safety Week, July 24-30.

Leo A. Hoegh, director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, points out that "the safety of the nation depends upon our farmers being prepared not only to reduce their human and property losses through accidents. They also should take the necessary steps to insure that if an enemy ever attacks us with nuclear, biological, or chemical weapons, our farmers would know how to survive, recover, and produce the food and other products upon which victory would depend.

A broad rural public information program is now underway in 3,000 counties. It stresses the relatively simple methods by which people can develop their own self-protection against the fallout hazard of a nuclear attack—the principal threat to people who live in rural areas.

Family fallout shelters are urged as the least expensive and most effective means of saving the greatest number of people from a nuclear attack. Shelters would be highly effective to protect families against tornadoes. All shelters should be equipped with a two-week supply of food and water, a battery radio, first aid kit, flashlights, bedding and other survival items, according to OCDM.

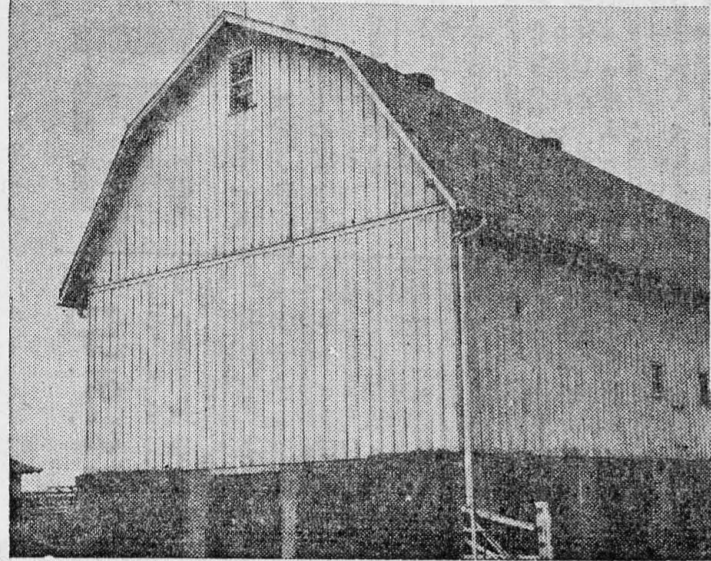

Family fallout shelters cost as little as $150.00 when constructed on a do-it-yourself basis. When built by contractors, the cost ranges from $500.00 upwards.

Precautionary reinforcement of barns and outbuildings can lessen the hazards of fallout on livestock. The more massive the materials between livestock and fallout, the less radiation will come through to injure or kill the animals. Steel and concrete are good shielding materials from fallout. Earth costs nothing and also is effective for shielding. Even bales of straw or wood, if thick enough, can keep out most radiation.

Detailed information on shelters, treatment of fallout-contaminated soils, what fallout-contaminated foods could be eaten and how they should be prepared, and other survival information is now available to rural Americans through public meetings sponsored by county civil defense directors. Printed material also is available from county directors or by writing to the OCDM Rural Activities Office, Battle Creek, Mich.

Shelter for livestock for protection against fallout was improvised in this barn by using bales of straw as a shield against potentially deadly "post-attack" radiation. Heavy concrete walls, with straw shielding windows, would protect livestock in pens on the barn's lower floor. Barn's upper floor (right) would be covered four bales deep directly above the pens. A shielded room for caretakers, and tractor-powered feed grinder and automatic feeder complete the shelter. (OCDM Photo)

July Water Accidents Cause 16 Deaths

Forty-nine boating and water accidents added 16 deaths and 25 injured persons to the list of water victims in Michigan in a two and a half week period, a State Police accident compilation discloses.

Up through July 26 this year there have been 189 reportable water accidents which have claimed 90 lives and injured 99 persons. Forty-six of the accidents were property damage only.

Included in the 90 fatalities were 21 swimmers or waders, 13 boat operators, 11 boat passengers, 11 who fell into rivers, six children who strayed from parents and into water and 28 who drowned in miscellaneous mishaps.

With water sports activity normally heavy in August, the State Police again emphasize the imporance of vigilant safety practices to prevent needless injuries and loss of life and curb the growing toll.

The Egyptians gave us the inch, which they called the ynce. It was the distance from the end of the little finger to the first joint.

Corn-on-the-Cob Time Rolls Around; Good Season

Home-grown green beans and corn, blueberries and fresh apples, watermelons and cantaloupe, dominate the fresh fruit and vegetable bins, as cherry and raspberry season winds up for this year.

If you have been prolonging the raspberry freezing session... better not put this off a day longer, says Virginia Helt, Michigan State University Food Marketing Agent for Grand Rapids area. Peak season is over for raspberries this year, but you might be lucky enough to find some at the tail-end of the season. Fresh cherry season also will soon be coming to a close.

As you flip the calendar to remind you of August days, let this also be your reminder that this is the month to can and freeze green beans, corn, blueberries and peaches. Now is not too early to be getting the green beans and blueberries out of the road.

Most people who enjoy outdoor living, enjoy corn-on-the-cob roasted either in foil, or in the husks, and most people who know their "corn" facts, enjoy the tender corn-on-the-cob that is local grown. When supplies of sweet corn are most abundant, the quality is best and prices are lower.

The shortest time from the garden to the kettle is one of the big secrets. Here's why! Natural corn sugars begin to change to starch within 20 minutes after picking... unless corn is handled rapidly and kept cool all the way from the field to the kettle. This is why so much sweet corn is now hydrocooled in the fields, then iced in the stores.

So many people ask about roasting corn in the husks. This is the way it's done! Tear only the larger outer husks from the corn. Turn back the inner husks, being careful not to split them. Remove silk and spread corn with softened butter or margarine. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pull the husks back up over the ears and dampen the husks. If needed, tie the tips with string to keep in moisture. Place in a shallow baking pan for oven-roasting, or over hot coals out-of-doors. Roast in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes, or over coals 15 to 25 minutes depending upon the hotness of the fire.

Corn can be roasted in foil, too. Remove the husks and silks. Spread corn with softened butter or margarine. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, and your favorite herbs. Wrap well in double-thick aluminum foil. Proceed as with corn in the husks.

Anybody who thinks this is a nation of conformists hasn't been around during an air raid test.

Watch Out When Crossing the Street

"Don't cross the street!" "Play in your own yard." "Come back here!" Are the above sentences taking top billing in your vocal expression these days? Did you think that your toddlers who stayed in their own yard last year would require less watching this year? Now you find they need more watching because they are learning about the whole new world across the street.

What to do about it? All the calling and warnings seem to have little effect, therefore, you will have to continue being very observant of their activities and whereabouts. On the other hand, this is the time to really teach them how to cross the street safely—and remember, you don't do this in one day by just talking to them.

1. You set a good example yourself and let them know what you are doing when you cross the street with them, and explain why you first look one way and then the other.

2. Watch them carefully and as they cross the street (after you have given them permission) remind them to look both ways before going across.

3. If a toy rolls into the street, have them tell you about it rather than getting it themselves. It may take them longer to pick up the toy or they may be tempted to roll or wheel it back to the curb in which case a car will have time to arrive on the scene even though the street was perfectly clear when the child ran after the toy.

According to Eleanor Densmore, County Extension Agent in Home Economics, safety lessons cannot be taught too early. A little time spent this summer may mean a great deal to you.

Opportunities to Become State Trooper Available

An opportunity to become a trooper in the Michigan State Police, one of the finest police organizations in existence, is again open to qualified young men, according to Sgt. Gordon Hanthorn, commander of the Rockford post.

"Every young man should investigate this opportunity right now because it doesn't come very often," he emphasized. "The pay is good, the work interesting, there is job security and a liberal pension plan."

Complete information and application blanks can be obtained at any State Police post or from the State Civil Service Commission. Applications must be turned in or mailed to any post or the Civil Service Commission not later than Wednesday, September 7. Applications postmarked up to midnight that day will be accepted.

Eligible are men 21 to 29 years of age, married or single, at least 5 feet 10 inches tall, in good health and of good character, and with a high school education or its equivalent.

THINGS TO COME

Planter boxes and room dividers are now available in reproductions of quarried stone and clay brick. They have the same appearance as natural cut stone but are but a fifth of the weight. They are individually mounted. Golfers may now accurately measure distance to the hole with a simple plastic card held at arm's length, which not only gives the distance but recommends the club to be used... A new plastic bucket boasts a divider making it possible to use both soapy and rinse water from the same container.

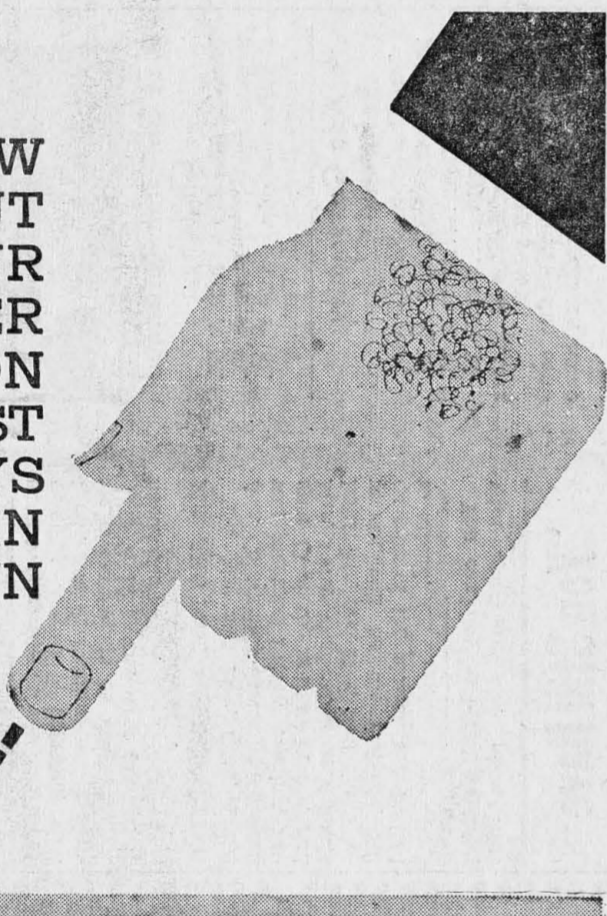

Middle Age is when the thing you like to get wrapped up at Christmas time is the whole celebration.

MORE PEOPLE, MORE WATER: People living in villages average using 60 gallons of water per day; those in large cities, about 200 gallons.

"This is my country" Theme of Kent 4-H Fair

"This Is My Country" will be the theme of the 1960 4-H Club Fair at Lowell, Michigan, August 15-19. Over 3,000 4-H projects will be on exhibit. Four-H projects include: beef, crops, dairy, horse, rabbits, sheep, swine, dairy goats, tractor maintenance, vegetable garden, archery, dog care, entomology, electrical, electronics, flower garden, handicraft, photography, clothing, knitting, food preparation, food freezing, canning, personal improvement, child care, gift, home improvement.

Although the 4-H Club program has long emphasized "learning by doing" in their projects, boys and girls also learn by participating in demonstrations, judging, talent programs, camping, and their many local club activities throughout the year in addition to the fair activities.

The basic aim of the 4-H Club program is given to the development of the individual as the most important thing... a concern for personal worth. Projects and related activities are the "tools" used to accomplish this aim.

The Kent County 4-H Club Fair is a free fair. There are no entry fees or admission charges. Only parking will require a small fee. The State of Michigan, Kent County Board of Supervisors, the City of Lowell and several townships give generously toward supporting the fair. Also, business and professional people in the various towns and communities of the county help sponsor this fair which is a part of the educational 4-H Club program.

Program

Tuesday, August 16, will be Youth Day at the 4-H Fair. Following day-time activities which includes the judging of horses, a special Youth Day program will get underway in front of the grandstand at 7:45 p. m. A special recognition program has been planned to honor the following three former Kent County 4-H Club members: Russell G. Nawby, Assistant Director, 4-H, Michigan State University; Miss Marie A. Wolfe, Assistant State 4-H Club Leader, Michigan State University; and Clarence Dean Allen, Assistant State 4-H Club Leader, Michigan State University. The Comstock Park Junior Drum and Bugle Corps, one of the finest junior bugle corps in the state, will entertain the audience with a 15-minute show on Tuesday evening.

On Wednesday, the day-time program includes the judging of swine, poultry, rabbits, vegetable and flower gardening, baked goods, beef cattle, sheep, goats, dog obedience, entomology, electrical projects, electronics projects, handicraft, photography, clothing, knitting, food preparation, food freezing, canning, personal improvement, child care, gift and home improvement projects. 4-H baked goods will go on sale at noon. There will be a Pet Parade and the first

Forest Hills Baseball League In Final Week

The Forest Hills Baseball season goes into its final week on August 8. The boys have had a good time playing ball this season. There has been some good baseball played in the league this year. Four tie games have been played, with one week to go. This gives you an idea of the closeness of some of the games. Other games have been lopsided, while many have been won by just one run.

As we go into the last week of the season, the Braves are leading with 19 points, with the Cougars close behind, with 17 points. The Bearcats are in third place with 14 points and the Lancers are in fourth place with 8 points.

The Bearcats and Lancers seem to have a good chance to control the final standings as they have three rained out games to make up after the regular season is over.

The standings at end of eight weeks are shown below:

	W	L	T	Pts
Braves	8	5	3	19
Cougars	7	6	3	17
Bearcats	6	5	2	14
Lancers	4	9	0	8

To determine points, we allow two points for a win and one point for a loss.

Pitching has been an excellent part of the Baseball League this summer. Two, three and four hitters have been common. Occasionally, there would be some heavy hitting, but this has been the exception, rather than the rule. With one week to go, Dick Sheldon leads the pitchers with 4-1-2 record. Wayne Blocker is close behind with a 4-2-1 record.

	W	L
D. Sheldon	4	1
W. Blocher	4	2
B. Burkhead	3	2

New Type Burial
Structure Built
At Chapel Hill

Construction started this week on a unique burial structure at Chapel Hill Memorial Gardens located on 28th Street and Patterson Road. The announcement of the construction of a unit of garden crypts came from Chapel Hill Manager, Morris Stuart.

Although crypts have been used for burial since the time of the early Egyptians, the method to be employed in building those at Chapel Hill are new in modern America. According to Stuart, garden crypts of this type have been built in a few of the Western states, but construction here is the first of its kind in Michigan.

The crypts are built by pouring a concrete wall in an area approximately 80 feet square. Additional concrete walls are then poured within the retaining wall giving the structure a honey-combed appearance. The completed unit will provide vault space for 296 entombments. After the engineering phases of the internal structure have been completed, earth is moved in around the wall and terraced down to ground level. Sod is sown on top of the crypts, shrubs and flower beds are planted, and a religious memorial completed the setting.

The garden here is to be named Everlasting Life and the memorial depicts Jesus with the woman at the well.

Garden crypts provide above ground crypt entombment in a manner similar to below ground burials, at a cost far below mausoleum interment.

The garden crypt section now under construction at Chapel Hill will be the center section in a group of five which eventually will form the shape of a cross. It will be the eighth garden to be completed since the cemetery opened in 1950. Other gardens completed include the gardens of the Last Supper, Masonic, Victory, Nativity, Apostles, Good Shepard, and Devotion.

Stuart reports that construction should be completed about September 1st.
