Forest Hills PTA To Hear Debate

Do you recall when you last heard a High School debate? Do you remember how exciting and thrilling it was?—Now, how about it? Would you like to hear one again? Well, there is a golden opportunity awaiting you if your answer was in the affirmative.

This Thursday evening, November 17, at 8 p. m. at the Forest Hills High School P. T. A. meeting such a debate will take place. Six girls from Mr. Fletcher's Speech class will present "Resolved, that the new 4 year Grand Valley College be located next to the Forest Hills High School."

The girls on the debating team are Penny Shoemaker, Karen Timmer, Sue Stovall, Mary Burkhead, Candy Reyburn and Jerry Paine.

This topic should be quite exciting and we feel sure you will have a most pleasant evening. See you then.

Eastmont Reformed Sunday School Elects Officers

At the business meeting of the Eastmont Reformed church Sunday School, the following were elected officers for the year 1961:

Superintendent, Richard Marsman; Assistant Supt., Raymond Reynhout; Secretary, Robert Postema; Treasurer, Harry Wood; Librarian, Lawrence Koetsier and Corresponding Secretary, Adrian Gillesse.

The date for the Sunday School Christmas program was set for Wednesday, December 21.

Bishops' Clothing Drive Underway in This Area

The 1960 Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Week Clothing Collection November 20-27, heralds the twelfth consecutive year that the appeal for wearable used clothing, shoes, blankets and bedding supplies has been made among the Catholic churches of the United States. All Catholic churches in this area will participate in the Drive.

In announcing this year's campaign during Thanksgiving week, Monsignor Joseph C. Walen, Diocesan Director, reported that the Bishops' relief agency, Catholic Relief Services—National Catholic Welfare Conference, estimated the clothing collections of previous years produced some 120 million pounds of usable clothing, shoes, blankets and bedding supplies valued at $145 million.

ADA MEN'S SOCIETY

The Men's Society of the Ada Christian Reformed church will meet at the church at 8 p. m. on Tuesday evening, November 22.

Defense costs per family in the United States are about $1,000 a year.

The Superintendent's Corner

It's one thing to vote money for school house construction, but there are many more steps that have to be taken to actually have the cash in the bank. Both the State Department of Public Instruction and the Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing have to give approval before the bonds can be advertised. Our bonds were finally sold on October 27 at 3.645 percent to be repaid over a period of 26 years.

To actually get the cash, it has been necessary to have eight hundred $1,000 bonds printed in Chicago by a firm specializing in such work. These were delivered to Attorney Strawhecker's office last Friday.

Plan Exciting Trip To Central America

December 13, 1960, marks the most exciting day in Leslie Stanley's life, a Junior High student. She and her family are leaving for Central America. This trip is considered a big vacation for them.

They plan to spend their Christmas in Mexico City, Mexico. After Christmas they will go to see all of the sights. They are taking their car and trailer and are going to drive all the way living in the trailer at night and driving during the day.

The Stanley's will return to Michigan at the beginning of April.

Mission Chooses New Name

At a potluck meeting held at the new Episcopal Mission in Cascade on November 9, the group chose to call the mission, St. Michael's. Rev. Frank Arland, assistant will conduct services the 2nd and 4th Sundays, with lay leaders or clergy from other Episcopal churches on the other Sundays.

Holy Communion will be celebrated the 2nd Sunday of the month.

The choir practices at 3:30 p. m. on Saturdays at the church.

Advent Programs Listed To Begin November 27

The Ada Congregational church would like to list the Advent services which will be held beginning on Sunday, November 27.

At 4 p. m. Sunday, November 27, the Grand Rapids-Kent Council of churches, of which the Ada Congregational church is a member, will sponsor an Advent Festival of Music at Park Congregational church.

On Sunday, December 4, the Thornapple Guild will sponsor an Advent musical program in the church sanctuary, put on by the Olivet College Choral Ensemble, with some 35 voices.

On Sunday, December 11, members and friends of the church are invited to an open house at the parsonage, 7175 Bronson St., between the hours of 4 and 7 p. m.

On Sunday, December 18, the annual program by the church school and the Senior Choir will be held in the sanctuary at 4 p. m. with refreshments in Fellowship Hall following the program.

Trade and Swap Meeting

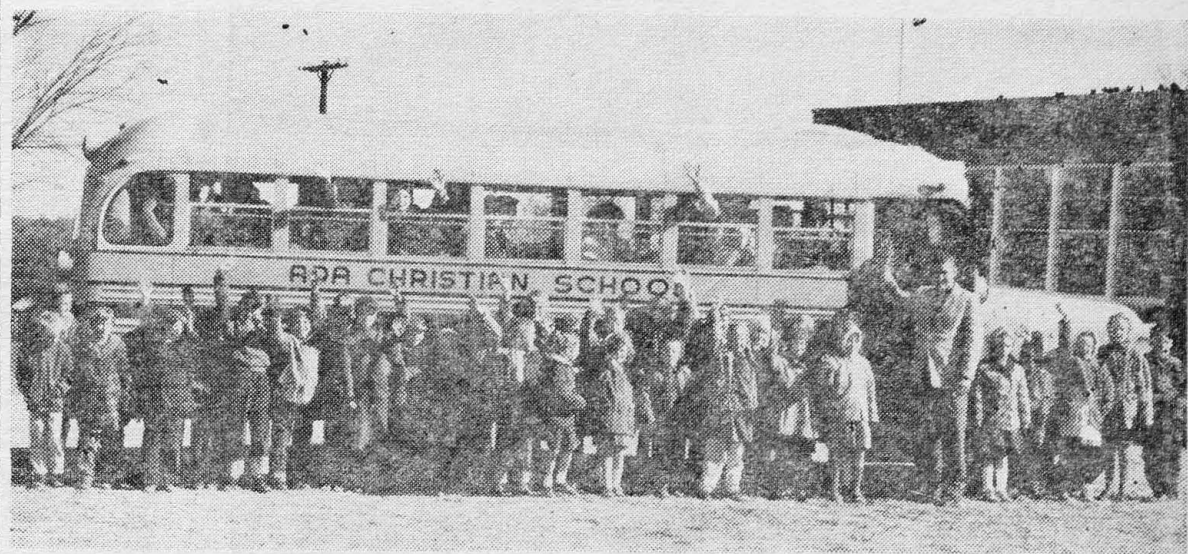

The Murphy school Community Club will meet at the school for their regular meeting on Friday evening, November 18, at 8 p. m.

Bring something with you to trade and swap—anything from a cake to mittens, or any item you don't use or want any more—bring it and trade or swap for something someone else doesn't want. Sounds like fun? Come and see.

Board President John Adrianse, signed all 800 of them on Saturday. Board Secretary, Jack Baines will personally transport these bonds to Chicago where he will sign them also—all 800 of them. His signature could not be affixed here in Grand Rapids for that would make them negotiable if lost or stolen.

As soon as Mr. Baines has signed the bonds, he will turn them over to the purchaser—the Northern Trust Company—and will receive a check for $800,000.00. The Board will then invest this money here in Grand Rapids at the highest interest rate possible and still have it available as the building construction bills come in.

Ada Christian School received delivery of its new 48-passenger school bus last week. The inadequacy of one bus was clearly evident last season when the bus had to make three separate runs each morning and each night. Parents of children who stood at the road more than two hours before the 9 o'clock starting time in the dead of winter and often didn't get home 'till after six, considered conditions to be near hardship. The children didn't like it either. The school found that such inadequate transportation facilities seriously limited the growth of the school too, having been forced to reject enrollment requests from several families who lived too far out of the way.

A complete lack of funds for the purchase of a second bus posed a serious problem to the school until a solicitation for funds was made from a number of private individuals and business men, as well as parents and regular supporters, who generously provided most of the necessary money.

Ada Christian School now boast seven classrooms, seven teachers and one-hundred and sixty students. The school board is pleased to announce that, with the acquisition of the new bus, the school is now in a position to accept and transport the children of families moving into the fast growing Ada-Cascade-Eastmont-Lowell area.

State Tax Provides Less Than Half Colleges Revenue

Less than half the total spending by Michigan's state-wide institutions of higher education comes from state tax revenues. This finding is reported by John W. Lederle and William L. Steude in the current Michigan Business Review. Now president of the University of Massachusetts, Lederle formerly directed The University of Michigan's Institute of Public Administration (IPA). Steude serves as a research assistant at the IPA.

During 1957-58, they report, legislative appropriations provided about 45 percent of the total spent by Michigan's nine state colleges and universities and 15 junior and community colleges receiving state grants. Tax aid totalled $97.6 million of the $216.5 million spent by these institutions.

In total spending for higher education—including both private and public colleges and universities—Michigan ranked only modestly above the national average per person in the 1948-56 period, they report.

"Relatively high public expenditures in Michigan balance the much greater private school expenditures and facilities elsewhere," they explain.

During the 1948-56 interval, average annual spending per person by public and private institutions of higher education was somewhat higher in Indiana and Illinois than it was in Michigan. But this state was somewhat above New York, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. The annual averages were:

Indiana $24.64; Illinois $24.26; Michigan $23.15; Entire U. S. $20.95; New York $20.70; Wisconsin $19.39; Pennsylvania $16.98; and Ohio $16.44.

Tricks of Learning Revealed by Expert

There are tricks to every trade—even that of being a successful student. Success in school, according to the Michigan and National Education Associations, is the result of good planning, careful budgeting of time, knowing how to listen and other tricks of the learning trade.

Teachers in junior and senior high school have this advice for students who want to improve their learning ability:

1. "Budget" your after-school hours. Make a chart, leaving a space for each free hour. Then schedule your time between study, sports, hobbies, outside reading, social activities. Don't allow interruptions during study periods.
2. Make use of "odds and ends" of time. Study on the bus. Keep flash cards in your pocket for studying French verbs, chemical formulas, or history dates, while you wait in line or get a quick lunch.
3. Train yourself to be a good listener. When your mind starts to wander in class, try listening "for use." This means looking for information you can pick out and use from what is being said—facts that will help you understand a difficult part of the subject, information that is not in your textbooks.
4. Try the trick of "overlearning." After you have committed to memory a series of dates, a list of foreign words and their English meanings, or a poem that you have been told to memorize, study them some more. Tests have proved that students who study material a while longer, after having learned it, will remember it longer than students who learn it and stop studying.

5. Take an active part in classroom discussions. If you're not particularly interested in a certain subject, make yourself interested by taking part in the class room discussion. The result may surprise you!

6. Ask yourself questions about what you are studying. To impress information forcibly on your mind, close your book from time to time and ask yourself questions about the page you have been reading. Write down the answers, and check them against the text.

7. Study in an organized way. Don't plunge in and wade through the heavy material in your textbook. First read the summary of the chapter's contents. Then read headings and subheadings throughout the chapter. If you know "where the chapter is going" your concentrated study will roll along more smoothly.

8. Do something extra, "above and beyond the call of duty." Read a short story in the foreign language you're learning. Like math? Try a paperback book of mathematics puzzles and problems. Read magazines and books about your favorite subject—whether it's biology or history.

In 1980 men in business offices outnumbered women by 8 to 1 in clerical jobs; today, women outnumber men by 3 to 1 except in government offices, where men still dominate.

Winter Ice Holds Fun and Tragedy

It's a rare child who can resist the lure of walking, skating or sliding on a slick sheet of ice—one of the real joys of winter.

But thin ice can be a hazard when it covers an unemptied backyard swimming pool or larger body of water, warns Edward J. Slezak, associate supervisor of physical education for men at The University of Michigan.

1. Parents should instruct youngsters on ice danger.
2. Schools should have safety assemblies, visual aids and discussions.
3. Fence in all swimming pools.
4. Restrict skating to supervised ponds, rivers and lakes.
5. Adults should test ice safety in unsupervised areas.
6. Skaters and others should stay close to shore.
7. Avoid ice fishing areas with their thinly covered holes.
8. Watch for soft spots caused by warm currents.
9. Avoid large group of people on partially frozen areas.
10. Keep cars off iced ponds, rivers and lakes.

If an accident should occur, Slezak concludes, rescue should be made with the aid of poles, ropes or ladders.

Turkey and Cranberries In Abundant Supply

That traditional team of turkey and cranberries leads the list of November abundant foods, says Virginia Helt, Michigan State University Food Marketing Agent for Grand Rapids area.

The cranberry crop is a record. It is expected to be four percent larger than last year's record crop and 29 percent above average. No need to get all upset about this year's cranberries. It's a true fact—consumers can enjoy them with confidence.

The big turkey supply will bring birds of all sizes to market, but the larger sizes will be most abundant. Also keep in mind the larger the bird, the more meat in proportion to bone.

Three late-fall vegetables will be in heavy supply at prices favorable to shoppers—potatoes, onions and cabbage. Onions are traditional not only for the turkey stuffing, but for that old-time Thanksgiving menu—boiled or creamed onions. Beef will also be abundant at meat counters this month. Beef of the less expensive grades, suitable for hamburger or stew, will be in heaviest supply.

Dates from California are on the markets for holiday baking and confections, between-meal snacks and lunch box items.

Finally, check the markets for very generous supplies of vegetable fats and oils for cooking and salads.

SCREAMING EAGLES—Two golden eagles, the gift of soldiers stationed in Alaska, have joined the 101st (Screaming Eagles) Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Kentucky. Symbolic of the eagle shoulder patch worn by the 101st, the year-old birds are destined to become mascots for the division which wrote history with its stubborn stand at Bastogne during the Battle of the Bulge. Proudly holding the mascots are Specialist Fourth Class William C. Wetmore (left) and Private Louis Courthorn.

Law Enforcement Aides for Deer Seasons

Conservation Department fisheries and game men, foresters, and parks rangers will join ranks with conservation officers early in November to bolster game law enforcement in northern Michigan before and during this year's deer hunting seasons. These "plain clothes deputies" will accompany officers on patrol and generally assist them in communications, checking "any deer" permits and their kill (above, center), and other duties. Cooks, maintenance men, and others will ease the officers' normal work load and help to step up actual law enforcement by registering hunters at field offices, searching for lost hunters, delivering messages, and recovering illegal kill. Next month's shift in manpower will double the Department's regular conservation officer forces.

The Times and Republicans Hopes Die

By Frank G. Morris

At 3:30 a. m. on Monday before the election, a special crew of Western Union messengers started delivery of dismissal notices to 782 employees of the Detroit Times. Before daylight, all Times workers had been notified that the newspaper had been sold to The Detroit News and that their jobs no longer existed.

This was the newspaper that ran a seven-installment series in 1959 praising the economic climate of the state. This was one of several newspapers that mocked and derided the Republican State Senators who would not yield to Gov. Williams' demand for more taxes on industry and an income tax on the people.

Its demise was a tragedy, comparable in a lesser way to the deaths of the Packard and Hudson Automobile Companies. But it could not survive the economic climate and the pressure of labor unions.

A bit of the heart of every newspaperman in Michigan died with the passing of the Times.

On the following day, the voters in 82 of the 83 counties decided by an overwhelming majority that they demand a change from the kind of government that has knocked Michigan into a tailspin.

Paul Bagwell, the Republican nominee for Governor, went down to the Wayne County line with a majority of 290,000 votes over his Democratic opponent, John Swainson.

Once again the UAW political machine demonstrated its amazing power in Detroit.

Bagwell's majority vanished and Swainson was elected Governor by a majority of 40,000.

By the narrow margin of one seat, the GOP recaptured control of the House of Representatives. Republican control of the Senate never was questioned.

So Michigan will continue with all elective administrative officials dominated by the UAW, and defiantly battling a legislative majority responsible only to the voters at home.

The next two years in Lansing may not be quite as hectic as the last two. Having broken the impasse in the House, Republicans will be able to kill all income tax bills being prepared by the union.

Approval of the four-cent sales tax amendment to the Constitution exonerated Republican Senators for their determined stand against an income tax in 1959.

But don't conclude that the UAW will surrender.

Gov.-elect Swainson will go before the legislature in January with a record-breaking spending program.

By advocating more money for schools, for higher education, for hospitals, for welfare aid, for old age pensions, for medical care and other undertakings, Swainson will attempt to rally public support for a program that will cost more than all of the tax money now in sight.

He will try in vain to compromise on a "minor" income tax, hoping to force the door open for this kind of levy.

So the election did not clear the air.

The anti-business climate will be continued by the administration.

The UAW will tighten its hold on the courts, the educational system and on the administrative commissions.

And if a Constitutional Convention is approved by the voters at the election next April, the union will demand re-appointment of the legislature to let the metropolitan area control the lawmaking machinery as completely as it now controls the executive branch.

Meantime, unemployment is increasing in Michigan—and not only among newspaper workers.

Inside Story of The Egg Told

When you hold an egg in your hand, do you ever stop to wonder what's inside the shell? When you hold an egg in the palm of your hand, you are holding a bundle of goodness packed with nutrients galore. The cost for this concentrated nugget of food value is usually around a nickel or around 10 cents for two. If large eggs are more than 60 cents a dozen, then the cost will be slightly more. If a dozen of large eggs costs less than 60 cents a dozen, then the cost is less.

Let's look inside the shell and inspect the contents, says Virginia Held, Michigan State University Food Marketing Agent for Grand Rapids area. If you could see what is there besides the white albumen and egg yolk, you would see a rich source of protein, iron, vitamin A and D, phosphorus and riboflavin.

Let's figure a little more and get down to brass tacks. Two eggs give the following percent of the daily requirements: Protein-17.2 percent; Phosphorus-13.5 percent; Iron-21.6 percent; Vitamin A-22 percent; Riboflavin-16 percent; Vitamin D-25 percent.

Yes, it's true—those two eggs that you can easily hold in one hand represent a terrific value for the money spent. Eggs can be compared to "convenience foods". They come already wrapped in the shell, ready for the frying pan. Eggs are convenient to cook and serve. Just as eggs like cool temperature storage places, they also like low temperature frying pans. Too high cooking temperatures cause tough and leathery cooked eggs.

Stop before you throw the egg yolks away after separating the egg white from the egg yolk for meringues. Left-over egg yolks can be kept up to three days. Simply cover them with cold water and place in your refrigerator.

When days are busy and you're in a stew about what to have for dinner—reach for a dozen of eggs. Whip up a batch of eggs and bacon, and this is a low-cost "dinner in a hurry" that does not deserve an apology.

Some careers are carved. Others are chiseled.

Birthday Party Planning Makes for Success

Pre-schoolers get a special thrill out of these words, for a birthday party is one of the thrilling events of their young lives. According to E. Eleanor Denmore, County Extension Agent in Home Economics, the party can be a headache or a truly satisfying experience for both youngster and mother. If all depends on the planning. Here are a few rules for a successful birthday party:

1. Keep it small. As many guests as he is years old is a good guide. This isn't always possible in a neighborhood where there are many children, but some type of limit can be used such as age of guests or the children on one block.
2. Keep it simple. It should be well planned if it is to move smoothly and your youngster will get a thrill out of helping with the plans, such as what games to play and how he can help look after his guests. It's better not to plan more than two or three days ahead for a long wait is just too much for small children.
3. Decorations should be simple. Youngsters like paper streamers and balloons tied to windows or festooned over doors, and the small host will enjoy helping to shop for them. Simple games are best. Four and five year olds aren't ready for competitive games. They like the kind where everyone has a turn or does the same thing. Some little visitors may be happy with toys, books, blocks, clay or other quiet activities.
4. Food and favors are the highlight of the party, but keep them simple. Serve with gay napkins those foods that are easily digested and easy to handle. Kids love to wear paper hats while they eat. Simple party favors sometimes help a child to leave the gift he took to the party by having something else to carry home. It's best to present them just before the youngsters leave for home.
5. Keep it short. One or one and a half hours is all a pre-school youngster can manage without getting too tired or excited and it will probably be all you can take.

The man who lives by the golden rule today never has to apologize for his actions tomorrow.

Motorists Demanding Economy

James M. Hare, Secretary of State, reported today that nine out of ten citizens who have written their views on whether to have new automobile license plates each year or plates with tabs favor saving money through the three-year use of plates.

"Although the great majority of those who take the time to write are in favor of economy and efficiency," Hare said, "those who want to get new plates each year present some interesting and persuasive arguments."

Hare Thanks Editors

Hare thanked Michigan editors and citizens who are cooperating in the survey. In his original report Hare had pointed out that office holders had the "right to know" how citizens feel about the way public business is conducted, just as the taxpayer has a right to ask officials about their stewardship of government posts.

Among the arguments in favor of issuing new plates was that fresh annual licenses "makes one proud to be from Michigan" and that bright new licenses "believe the canard that Michigan is a broken-down state."

Citizens Write

Bernard J. Ziola (20091 Helen Street) of Detroit wrote: "A new set of plates is something tangible for my money. It is much easier to install new plates than to remove a rusted bolt to put a tab on."

Harold Kurth (24155 Union Ave.) of Dearborn says: "As we travel on yearly vacations we should advertise the wonders of our great State."

Likes New Plates

Hugo Hufnagel (1931 Loraine) of Lansing said he "likes to get a little value when I spend money and getting new plates takes some of the sting out of parting with such a large sum of money."

Alfred M. Pheley, Sr. (110 Lakeview Drive) of Oxford is of the opinion that "25 percent of Michigan license plates are no longer legible" and goes on to say that "the front license plate is unnecessary" and could be eliminated to save money.

Suggests Heavier Metal

Charles E. Black (1450 Philadelphia S. E.) of Grand Rapids likes to see new colors each year and believes that the metal should be heavier and the paint more durable if plates are to be used for 3 years.

Hare said that many of the hundreds of persons who favored the plan which saves the state $668,000 were also careful with their own budgets; they wrote on plain 3 cent postcards instead of using 4 cent envelopes.

Hare Wants Opinions

"I'm glad we brought this matter to the attention of the public," Hare said, "Before the question received widespread attention in the press we received several letters each day complaining about the three-year plate system. Now, with the flood of letters running 90 percent in favor of saving money, we in the Department of State get an adjusted perspective as we plan our budget for next year."

Coming Activities Set At Redeemer Lutheran

The Cresset Society will meet Tuesday, November 22, at 8 p. m. Couples are asked to bring canned foods and miscellaneous items appropriate for use in the preparation of Thanksgiving baskets. These will be distributed to needy families.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rossin are in charge of the preparations. On this same evening, some of the members will repair hymnals. This is an important meeting for the election of officers.

Mrs. Paul Goebel Speaks

The Parent Teacher League of Redeemer School were privileged to hear Mrs. Paul Goebel on November 16th, speak on "Immortality in Print and on the Screen in the City of Grand Rapids."

World Relief Clothing Drive

The Lutheran World Relief clothing should be brought to the church no later than November 20th. Clothing for men is especially needed. A special drive for clothing is usually projected at or near Thanksgiving time—concurrently with a similar appeal in Lutheran congregations in other synods, in order to prepare boxcar shipments. Thousands of tons of usable clothing is sent overseas. This year all types of usable clothing are needed—winter and summer wear for men, women and children. Also shoes in good repair, blankets, sheets, pillowcases and cloth remnants for sewing are welcome.

These items may be brought to the church or school offices. For pickup phone GL 2-713.

Complete Sewing Project

The Ladies Missionary Society has completed sewing eighty-two neck rests for the Maple Grove Home. The neck rests are supplied with two additional covers. The Society will meet in the church undercroft from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. on Thursday, November 17 to finish the covers. All ladies interested in sewing are invited to join the group. Mrs. Carl Nelson is President.

Circuit Supper

A Circuit Supper meeting will be held at Immanuel Lutheran church Sunday evening, November 20, at 6 p. m. All Lutheran churches in the area will be attending. Supper will be served from 6 to 7. Rev. Paul Heinicke will speak for the District, and Rev. Ralph Carey will speak for the Grand Rapids Circuit.

"NEW ENGLAND IN ALL FOUR SEASONS" combines history, tradition and scenic beauty. We will visit the historic shrines of Boston, the Mayflower, and the homes of Revere, Emerson, Hawthorne and Thoreau. We will see modern New England in the industry at Hartford and the educational institutions of Harvard and Dartmouth. We will look into the faces of the New Englanders. The sparkling colors of spring, the vivid foliage of Vermont and the fairyland of ice and snow of a New Eng. winter will fill our eyes with color and magic.

Dummy sheets are in progress and subscription campaigns are being started at Forest Hills. Since the Junior and Senior High pictures have come, things have really been popping in the Journalism room, where the yearbook is in progress. Coke Machine New Addition at Forest Hills

Steve Bushouse
The Varsity Club of Forest Hills High School have obtained the use of a coke machine, in which they hope to make enough money to buy a scoreboard for the football field. The machine serves either orange, coke, or rootbeer for the price of one dime. This machine will be in operation Monday thru Friday in the gym lobby, but it will be closed during basketball games because the Boosters Club has concession rights during the games. Students who use this machine are asked to abide by the following rule: No drinks may be taken out of the lobby in which the coke machine is located. Making 3 percent on the first 400 cups and 30 percent on the rest, the Varsity hopes to make a lot of money.

New Library Building Started

Tom Bonch
Work has started on the new library at Forest Hills High, one of the most unusual school structures in the state. The surveyors were here Wednesday to lay ground and start preparations for the building. The site of the new library will be in the lot between C-building, D-building, and the Junior High building. There will also be a fourth building to the west of the new library in which there will be new English classes and private offices for the teachers. This unusual library building will be circular in shape, and will add a unique distinction to Forest Hills.

Cross-Country Finishes Season

Johnny Zanella
Forest Hills Cross-Country bowed out to Fennville at Forest Hills in their last meet of the season 22-33. Forest Hills' two top runners, Leo Boot, out with a cold, and Jim Gager, spiked by one of his fellow teammates as the starting gun sounded, were unable to participate in the meet. Coach Paul stated his boys did surprisingly well by placing Jim Gager and Leo Boot sixth and seventh respectively in the YMCA relays at Indian Trails. Due to sickness and bad luck Forest Hills finished 14th among the 18 participating teams in the regionals. Next year has a bright future for the team, for lettermen Jim Gager, Marv Dietz, Ray Dietz, Leo Boot and Bob Regan are returning. The season was completed with two wins and three losses.

Mock Elections Prove Wrong At Forest Hills

Steve Bushouse and Candy Reyburn
Forest Hills students in their mock election chose Richard Nixon as their next President. But when the parents and all the rest of the registered voters of America went to vote they elected John Kennedy for their President. So the day after the election, Forest Hills was a very sad site indeed, for everyone but a few, those of course were in favor of Mr. Kennedy, were moping around. Those few who were for Mr. Kennedy have been having the time of their life ribbing and teasing the Nixon fans. As a result of election bets, we have several slaves running around our school. Suzy Boyer is "the exclusive property" of Joe Gillard and Hans Luchs is serving Karen Reed, Chris Heller is a slave to Sy Dykhouse and Chet Grohuske. Brady Crinion is packing for a trip to Europe because Nixon lost. He also has to write "I like John F. Kennedy 1,000 times on the board. Money has been changing hands all week as a result of the Kennedy victory. In Journalism class an assassination plot is being formed. In addition to all this, many long faces have been seen this week. Over one-third of all the clothing produced in the U. S. is manufactured by firms in New York State.

Honor Society At Forest Hills

Cam Morse
Many students who have not been accepted in the Honor Society, have wondered what this organization is actually about! Mr. DeWitt, the sponsor of the Forest Hills chapter, explains that it is a national leadership and service society. Any student with a four year scholastic average of "B" or better, is eligible to file an application. The school's faculty will discuss the individual with relation to his superior qualities, character, leadership, and service. They decide whether or not the student should be accepted. No more than 15 percent of the Senior class, and 10 percent of the Junior class may be members of the club at one time. Only juniors and seniors belong usually, because it takes two years for a student to prove himself. Occasionally, however, sophomores are accepted as probationary members. Membership fees are $10 per person. Each member receives a pin. If a member moves to another school, he is not accepted automatically into their club, until he has attended that school for one semester. The club's goal is to continue offering service and leadership to their community. The Forest Hills chapter is just getting under way, as it first had to be accepted and approved by the national officers, and also because each chapter must be in a four year school. Soon our faculty will select those who they think should be members, and officers will be elected. Plans have already been made for an honors banquet, to be held in May. Mr. Buschman is helping as a community advisor. The speaker will be the Dean of Honors from Michigan State University.

B.I.E. Day For City of G. R.

Cam Morse
On November 10, teachers from the Grand Rapids schools attended various factories and business places, as they do every other year on Business, Industry, and Educators Day. The purpose of these visits is to acquaint the teachers with the businesses of our city. They split up, and each teacher spent all day touring one particular place of business. Then, they all met together in a designated place and discussed their individual visits with each other. The following day, they described their visits with their students. The city schools and the suburban schools alternate each year, so that the factories will be less crowded. Naturally, the Grand Rapids students had a holiday. Several students from Ottawa and Creston visited our school and liked it very much.

Forest Hills Principal Takes Short Trip

Cam Morse
Mr. Van Landingham has recently taken a short trip, which should be of interest to all the students in Forest Hills. He attended a meeting of the college admission board in Haven Hill, Michigan. The meeting was held at the old Edsel Ford estate, which is now part of the State Conservation Department. The committee made several interesting comments, such as: "Any student with a 'B' average need not worry about getting into any college." They emphasized the importance of filling out the application forms clearly and, in taking preliminary tests in High School. These often make the big difference in whether a student is accepted or not, if his entrance exam result is average. The "Pause that replentishes" your purse.... Suburban Life Want Ads.

How Big Is A Dime?

Barb Ballast
How big is a dime? And just how long is a second? These were two of the questions asked by Mr. Ferguson, speaker at a safety assembly in the all-purpose building on October 26. Guests were Lowell High School Juniors and Seniors. Officer Dale Benjamin, Safety Officer for the Kent County Sheriff Department, Mr. Burch, drivers training teacher for Lowell, and Mr. Ferguson conducted the Driving Safety assembly. After a short film on driving safety, Mr. Ferguson gave a short talk on safety. He said that people who say they can stop on a dime or in an instant, don't really realize how short an instant is. After his talk, Mr. Ferguson conducted a driving test to determine how fast a driver could stop and the distance it tallied at a given speed. Drivers for this test were Mary Dyer and Scott Ransome.

Future Plans For Forest Hills Football Squad

Sy Dykhouse
Even though football season has been over now for less than a week, we are already starting to think of next year when we expect to win all of our games and the conference championship. Next year our varsity team will have two different game jerseys, one green and the other white, and also one pair of green pants. The reason for the two different colored jerseys is that both teams in a football game have to have contrasting colors and some of the teams we will play next year will wear dark jerseys similar to the green jerseys we now have. Also next year instead of having just a Varsity and Reserve team we expect to have a freshman team but this won't be decided for sure until we find out if the new locker rooms will be completed in time. Next year we will play seven conference games instead of five because Wyoming Park and Kentwood are joining our league, and will play one non-league game which will be with West Ottawa.

Speech Class Participates In Discussion Groups

Sy Dykhouse
On Friday, November 4, five members of the fifth hour Speech Class, (Mary Beth Gietzen, Bob Becket, Rita Fasmur, Leo Dean, and Gerry Brian) were in discussion groups with members of Godwin Heights, Ionia, Hudsonville, Unity Christian High Schools, and Marywood Academy at our high school. The question which they discussed was "How might the UN best serve the security of the free world?" This was the first Discussion Clinic this year. The next will be at Marywood Academy some time within the next two weeks. Patronize SUBURBAN LIFE Advertisers.
