Ada Pastor Dies of Heart Attack Thursday

Rev. Lester Muller, 48, pastor for the past year and a half of the Ada Community Reformed church in Ada, passed away unexpectedly at his home, 7227 Thornapple River Dr. last Thursday afternoon.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret; two daughters, Judith and Ruth at home; his father, Jay D. Muller; two sisters, Mrs. Albert Sieps and Mrs. Hanko J. Jansen and two brothers, Melvin J. and Wesley, all of Dell Rapids, South Dakota.

Services were held Saturday afternoon in VanStrien-Alman mortuary. Rev. Emo Ausema, pastor of Fairview Reformed church and former pastor at Ada, and Rev. John Minnema, representing the Reformed classes of north Grand Rapids, officiated. Interment was in Dell Rapids, South Dakota.

Rev. Muller was graduated in 1937 from Central college at Pella, Iowa and in 1940 from Western Theological seminary at Holland. He served several churches before coming to the Ada church August 1, 1959.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family.

CARD OF THANKS

Dear Friends:
Please accept my thanks for the kindnesses shown me during my stay at the hospital.

For the many cards, plants and flowers. Above all, for the prayers offered in my behalf. Also for the deeds done for my wife and daughter.

God has once again shown His hand and spared my life. Only through your prayers and His directions was this possible.

I wish to especially thank Rev. Gaylor and Rev. Boeskoel for their many visits, prayers and words of comfort, peace and cheer.

God bless all of you and grant you His peace.

Sincerely,
Hugh Duthler

To Build Truck Lane Near Ada On M-21 Soon

The State Highway Department announced this week that they would construct a truck creeper lane west bound on M-21 2 miles west of Ada next year. The lane would extend 1200 feet from near Altadale Rd. to Carl St. on the long grade that slows traffic.

The 12 foot black top lane along side the present pavement would prevent many pile-ups of traffic now caused when heavy trucks slow down to a crawl on this hill. The highway department was urged to build this aid to traffic by the Kent County Road Commission for the past several years.

In their letter to the commission they stated that funds for this were just now available. They also said that their investigation disclosed that this stretch definitely needs the extra lane west-bound to prevent accidents and keep traffic moving smoothly.

Run, Rabbits, Run

With the din of pheasant and deer seasons silenced for another year, the sound of echoing shots and barking hounds tell Br'er Rabbit's famous ears that hunters have again swung their sights his way. This renewed popularity promises to keep his fluffy tail bobbin' until the season ends March 1. For years, he has been Michigan's leading game animal in the hunters' bag and this season should be no exception. Mail carrier counts from the Conservation Department's summer survey indicate that cottontails have made a 34-percent population jump in southern Michigan since last season. Their numbers appear the same or higher in the northern lower peninsula.

Tire Changing Tips Revealed

"If you have a flat tire, your first concern should be to get off the traveled portion of the road—even if you run the tire to do it," today warned Mr. Philip W. Lewis, president of the Michigan Trucking Association.

Mr. Lewis spoke in connection with Michigan trucking industry's November Courtesy & Safety Campaign, "Avoiding Injury."

He offered these rules for safe tire changing, after getting the vehicle off the road:

Request all passengers to get out and wait on the right side of the car, well away from the road.

Set parking brake securely. Put automatic transmission in "Park" position (if so equipped). Put manual transmission in gear.

Block the wheel diagonally opposite the wheel having the flat. Place block on the side which will counteract the car's tendency to roll. (You should carry a piece of wood 4 in. x 4 in., 12 in. long, for this purpose.)

Take out jack, jack handle, lug wrench, and spare tire. Put spare near flat tire. Remove hubcap and loosen wheel nuts before attempting to raise car.

Assemble jack in accordance with car manufacturer's instructions, and place in position. Directions for this procedure are contained in your owner's manual; in late-model cars, they are sometimes pasted on the inside of the trunk lid.

Study Depicts Typical Legislator

State legislators in general are devoted to public service and willingly put in long hours at a thankless job.

That's one of the conclusions of Dr. LeRoy C. Ferguson, Michigan State University professor of political science. He and colleagues from three other universities interviewed nearly every member of the New Jersey, Ohio, Tennessee and California legislatures gathering data that will be used in a forthcoming book.

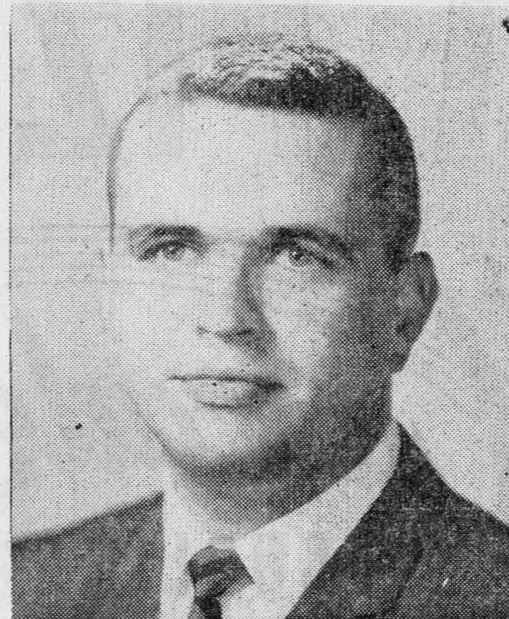

The typical legislator, they found is likely to be a lawyer. He follows informal "rules of the game" in the legislature and expects his fellow members to do likewise. He is probably favorable to education, especially if he did not go to college himself. Word from persons or groups in his home district strongly influence him. Whether he regards his proper role as doing what he thinks best or acting strictly as a representative of his constituents' wishes, he thinks most of the people in his district agree with his views.

Be sure jack is firmly in place before starting to raise car. Remember that car will shift position slightly as it is raised—and jack should be positioned so that it will be straight when the car is raised.

Traffic tickets are like ASPIRIN. Both are used to treat symptoms but can do nothing for the disease (d).

SOIL and WATER CONSERVATION

By Your S. C. D. Directors DONALD KLINE, S. C. S. Editor

Elton Smith, Caledonia, who became a District Cooperator in 1951 has installed nearly five miles of tile on his farm since that time. Nearly two miles of tile were laid this year in random drainage. While the acre cost of drainage is quite high, crop land valuation is increased greatly. Increased crop production and ease of tillage are important factors on Elton's Conover Loam, Kent silt loam, and on his Isabella loam soil types—all highly productive when properly drained.

Minimum tillage—the least amount of tillage or fitting to get a level seed bed—the application of barnyard manure and the plow down of green manure cover crops all improve soil tilth. More oxygen can get down to the deeper roots when the soil is not compacted. Soil Scientists now regard oxygen just as important as any one of the fertilizer or plant nutrients. Oxygen may be regarded as a plant element. Bacterial action is then increased as well as is the chemical action.

Elton, a former District Director, looks back with pleasure on his tenure as a director. He still takes an interest in Kent's Soil Conservation progress.

We came upon several interesting soil and water conservation problems when we "walked" the Walter Flake farm just south and east of Sand Lake. This acreage is one of the best farms in Nelson Twp. in the Sand Lake area.

Walter plans on the construction of two major grassed waterways in the field south of Pringle St. Serious gullies have started in the field where clay loam soil is found. Flake used our suggestion given him early this summer to kill the quack grass ahead of wheat seeding, by the use of a modified "summer fallow" to get a good kill of the quack grass. By this method only two to three harrowings are used with a field cultivator, spaced a few weeks apart, to do a better job at less expense.

Again, minimum tillage is one of the best conservation tools. Walter can use on his heavier clay loams with less soil compaction and less weed growth.

We found many deer tracks around the wheat fields and along the County drain where the deer travel from one swamp area to another. The old abandoned gravel pit area offers a plan for reforestation and as a planted wildlife area.

We assisted Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Toft with the layout of five acres of contour strips—alternate strips 76 ft. wide for strawberries and for green manure cover crops in the alternate strips. Fritz used 12 lbs. of Dalapon early this spring to kill quack grass. The kill was pretty good. Here again the cost of $12 to $15 per acre for the chemical cost on a heavily infested quack area must be compared with the cost of summer fallowing. The organic matter build up and fertilizer build up a year or two ahead of strawberry planting will produce a much more profitable crop. Travel lanes will be used along the edges and in the middle of the strips.

Just before we left this farm, we had a sample of Mrs. Toft's home made bread and found it very good.

Decisions for a conservation farm plan were made with Norman Wylie and sons Robert and Dale of Tyrone Twp. The use of grassed waterways, a five year rotation and a small grain-hay rotation plus permanent pasture renovation are to be followed on this farm. Mostly clay loam and some sandy clay loam soils are found on this farm. Considerable surface drainage is to the south onto the Lackie farm. Here two farms can work together on their drainage problems.

Birdfoot Trefoil will be sown on a trial basis on part of the permanent pasture area.

The beginning of this conservation plan is largely the result of Ralph Whit's FFA work in the Kent City High School. Robert graduated last year and Dale is a junior in the FFA this year.

New Jersey cropland yields more cash per acre than that of any other state, the National Geographic Magazine reports.

Fire Losses Heavy In Winter Months

Fire losses during the Winter months are the heaviest of the year, and the National Board of Fire Underwriters urges home owners to help keep down the fire toll by following these suggestions:

Right now, check the basement or furnace room. Remove any paint pails, oily rags, old newspapers, broken furniture or other rubbish that may be near the heating plant.

If you have a coal furnace, be sure ashes are deposited in metal containers, and that the containers are emptied frequently.

If your gas or oil heating equipment has been functioning erratically, call your service man now to inspect it and put it in proper running order.

Your flue pipes, vent connectors, gas vents, and chimney should have been inspected at the beginning of the heating season. If you have not had such an inspection made, have it done now.

Make a check to be sure walls, ceilings and partitions near boilers, stoves, furnaces and heating pipes are protected by noncombustible insulation.

If you are using portable oil or gas heaters, always turn them off when you retire at night.

See to it that your fireplace is equipped with a metal fire screen. Throughout the Christmas-New Year period always turn off the Christmas tree lights when every one is away from home.

Keep an eagle eye on the tree at all times for signs of dryness. If needles start falling fast, take the tree down immediately and put it outside the house.

Christmas fire safety efforts should not be confined to the Christmas tree.

Before preparing the holiday turkey, take a peek at the oven. If there is an accumulation of grease in the oven, scour it out immediately. A clean oven will prevent a possible grease fire and burned turkey.

It is a good plan, too, to keep any grease containers away from the stove.

Single Community Schools Foreseen By U-M Professor

By the year 2000, both Great Britain and the United States will have a single tax-supported secondary school in each community which will educate all the youth born and reared there.

So predicts Warren A. Ketcham, (Ph. D.), University of Michigan associate professor of education, who lectured last semester at the University of Leeds on a Fulbright grant.

"Each student, with help from parents and teachers, will select a program of studies to fit his abilities, purposes and interests."

"In the meantime, a large number of American school systems are going to dismantle hundreds of high school shops, home economics departments and art studios and re-establish them. High school bands and orchestras will disappear and reappear," he predicts.

"For 25 years American high schools have been experimenting with courses designed to meet the real needs of adolescents. Efforts haven't always been perfect but a lot of value has been learned."

The secondary core of the American teaching profession is under attack and has lost heart," Ketcham says. "We have expected the American high school to do for the top 60 percent of American youth 20 percent of British youth."

"No British teacher, educationist, or citizen I met abroad made any pretense of saying that their what the British do for the top 20 percent of secondary students educated in grammar and independent schools is academically superior to the top 20 percent of American secondary students."

"In 1957-58 the drop-out rate after the legal school leaving age in Great Britain was 75 percent. The British are concerned, especially in view of finding a high relationship between the age at which drop-outs rise and the rise of juvenile delinquency. Our drop-out rate is now 33 percent."

Finds 'Slow Learners' Do Better With Peers

"Slow learners" read and recite more, are more confident, like school better and are better accepted socially and intellectually when taught in classes with students of similar abilities, according to a study made by Michigan State University Professor Elizabeth M. Drews among 600 ninth grade English students.

For all practical purposes, Dr. Drews found, the slow students are "silent men" in the usual type of classes.

"They are so overwhelmed by responses made by the brighter students that they rarely, if ever, say anything," she explains. Superior students monopolize the class discussions, talking 10 times as much as the typical slow student.

However, Dr. Drews does not advocate teaching by ability groupings unless the student is given his choice and made aware of the fact that his class is slow, average or superior. Also she recommends that teachers have special training, be willing to teach such groups and have the use of special teaching materials.

Advertising is the fine art of making you think you have longed for something all your life that you never heard of before.

Make '60 Christmas A Merry One; Take Special Care With Fire

With the Yule Season rapidly approaching, Americans across the nation are being urged to use care with fire, and make Christmas this year a happy one. The National Board of Fire Underwriters points out that Christmas fire safety is a job for all the family.

Buy Toys That Are Safe

Parents, uncles and aunts are being urged this year to buy safe toys for children—toys that are not likely to cause fire, shock or explosion.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters points out that miniature rockets, airplanes and automobiles that use kerosene, gasoline, or carbide for fuels, may be hazardous for the very young.

Parents should supervise all play with electrical toys, or those using fuels and chemicals, the National Board advises.

Weather Bureau Warnings

A better informed public and resulting reduction in the number of highway accidents is the goal of an intensified cooperative program of weather reporting, forecasting and WARNING for the coming winter.

Through the efforts of Capt. LeRoy Hunt, Michigan State Police District Commander, Arnold Pigorsch, Kent Co. Sheriff, and other State and County police and highway officials, and the U. S. Weather Bureau, collection and dissemination of weather information will be much improved.

The refined system provides for routine radio reporting, morning and evening by State Police, and at intermediate times by all police units when requested by the Weather Bureau or when dangerous conditions are seen to develop. Also, arrangements have been made with North Central Airlines to have hourly reports relayed to the Weather Bureau at Grand Rapids from Benton Harbor, one of the key locations in the heavy snow belt, so frequently troublesome in Southwest Michigan.

The worst thing about crossing a bridge before you get to it is that it leaves you on this side of the river.

Attention, All College-Bound Students

John Zancella

A lot of room is left, and most of our colleges and universities continue today as they have in the past, looking for more good students. A few colleges seem to take pride in generating a far larger number of applications than the places available in the freshman class. But these schools number not more than a dozen or so, all in the Ivy League or similar combines. Hundreds of other institutions, first class in quality, have open doors, and will grow to serve all those who seek admission and are qualified. The proper way to judge an institution of higher education, is not according to whether it is small or large, public or private, co-educational or not, but whether its academic and intellectual program is suited to any particular student. Some institutions are right for one kind of student, some are very wrong. What counts is the individual fit. Be certain your choice of college is made from a thoughtful approach. The freshman-to-be should know something about the academic program available at the college of your choice. Visit the campus and walk around and inspect it independently without a college representative steering you too much. Every one of the 2,000 colleges and universities in the U. S. continue to seek a better student. No college yet has ever turned down any student because he was too smart but many students have been rejected because they weren't smart enough to hit the books rather than the activities.

Lorraine Penninga John T. Sytsma Exchange Vows

The Ada Christian Reformed church was the scene of the wedding Friday evening of Miss Lorraine Penninga and John T. Sytsma. Rev. A. Verberg officiated at the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Penninga of Ada and Mr. and Mrs. George Sytsma, Kalamazoo Ave., are the parents of the couple.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. A pearl and sequin crown held her finger tip veil. She carried a white Bible topped with a white poinsettia, red roses and green holly, with streamers of white feathered carnations. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Esther Penninga as maid of honor and Miss Joan Sytsma, sister of the bridegroom as the bridesmaid. They wore red velvet gowns with satin cummerbunds and carried white poinsettias, red roses and silver holly.

The best man was Ted Sytsma, brother of the groom and David Penninga, brother of the bride also assisted. Ushers were James Heemstra and Gerald Sytsma. At the reception held in the church parlors, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Penninga were the master and mistress of ceremonies. Those assisting about the room were Mrs. Ted Sytsma, Miss Virginia Sytsma, Miss Elaine DeGeest, Miss Mary Ann Luyk and Miss Arlene Heemstra. After an eastern wedding trip the couple will reside at 7157 Burton St.

Junior Class Activities

Gerry Paine

Friday, December 2, was a big day for the majority of the Junior Class. This was the day they purchased their class rings which have been on order since September. Pins to match their class rings were also purchased by a few and made a very nice pair. There were many different colors and different sizes but the main dispute was how long everyone would have their own class ring and if we're going to beat the Junior Class of last year of holding out.

Candy Sale

"Candy Sale?" You mean you didn't hear about it? Well I assure you that you weren't the only one. Many students vowed to make candy for the sale but in the end very little was made, this being a great disappointment to the Chairman, Carole Pearson. How they ever made $15.55 is beyond us but it could very well have been much more. There is going to be another scheduled candy sale sometime real soon and everybody will know about it as they have before, but this time we are going to have more candy than ever before and if we don't there will be no more candy sales. This project was taken by "YOU" the Junior Class in order for you to have the best Prom ever, and if you don't even want to support your own projects then you had better forget about ever having a prom. Candy sales is just one of our projects but it is such an easy one there is no reason why everyone can't participate.

LOOK AHEAD IN DECORATING

Every item you buy for the living room should fit into that room. Home economists at Michigan State University recognize that you may not be able to redecorate the entire living room at one time. But they suggest you make a long-range plan which will guide you with each new purchase.

My Neighbors

"Hello, Dear—still mad at me?"

STOP AND GO

Frequent, short rest periods before you get tired can make your housework easier. These brief stops are better than one long rest period after you become tired. Home economists at Michigan State University suggest you stretch out on a couch, in a lounge chair with a footstool, or on some firm surface so that all parts of your body can relax completely.

Junior High News

Betty Winslow
and Cam Morse

Tony Becker, a popular figure in the seventh grade halls, has moved to Wayland to the dismay of his many friends.

Classmates of Susan Keeler who is home with pneumonia, extend their sympathies to her, and hope that she will get well soon.

There are two new students to be welcomed into junior high. Dick Lantz came here from Godwin, where he had Mr. Nordhuis' brother for a home room teacher. He is now in Mr. Dangl's room. His new home is in Cascadia Meadows. Janice Reeves moved here from the Central High School District. She is living between Cascade and Eastmont. Both students like our school very much.

The junior high has now organized two basketball teams. Mr. Klawiter coaches the eighth grade seventh grade team. Their first practice was November 28. There will be a further notice about those who have definitely made the team.

Fur-Blend Sweaters Newest Fad at F. H.

Betty Winslow

It's a shaggy dog! No, it's just a new fur-blend sweater. They are the latest for all the young girls here at Forest Hills.

These sweaters really look sharp with the newest fad skirts, or knee-knockers.

Of course there are always the old stand-by's, such as white blazers, tights, and camel-hair boy coats.

As for hair styles, there is no set rule—it can be worn long or short, which ever pleases the individual.

PICK A PAIR

Whether you choose the pattern or the fabric first, be sure they go together. Home economists at Michigan State University, say a design featuring fullness or draping requires a fabric that is soft and pliable. When the pattern displays pleats or sharp details, look for fabric with body that will keep creases.

Debating Season is Here

Gerry Paine

Debating season is here again! Tuesday, November 22, was the start of the first "Local League" debating and this year we are able to participate.

Last year the speech class was all for debating in the Local League but when the fees for the judges were mentioned they had to forget the Local League debating.

The debate took place at Ionia High School with visiting debating loggsville and East Grand Rapids.

The proposition was Resolved: "That the U. N. Should Be Significantly Strengthened."

The following is the order in which the debate took place:

Before Dinner

1. Forest Hills, affirmative, Connie Simons and Sandy Purcey; Godwin, negative.

2. Kelloggsville affirmative; Forest Hills, negative, Shirley DeMuth and Karen Timmer.

After Dinner

3. East Grand Rapids, affirmative; Forest Hills, negative, Roger Grimes and Fred Sytsma.

4. Ionia, affirmative; Forest Hills Negative, Linda Grimes and Sue Baker.

All the students enjoyed their debates very much even though Forest Hills lost all their debates, but they did gain in experience.

Rangers Basketball Season Starts; Reserves Win Third Straight Game

Sy Dykhouse

The Rangers lost to Rogers Friday night by a score of 51-41. The Rangers started out good, but after each quarter they started dragging behind more and more, until the close of the first quarter when they made a vain attempt to out-score their opponents. Which only ended in a pile of penalties against the Rangers.

The Rangers greatly missed two of their star players. Nick Duiven and Bob Chambers who were out with injuries. Bob with an injured nose and Nick with torn ligaments in his wrist.

State Audit Taken

Cheryl VanStreen

Were you there? Monday, November 28, the Kent County Audit of Students was taken. This role call is taken every year by the state to find out how many students attend each school and to make sure that no school has names listed that do not even exist.

This is done to make sure that no school receives extra money from the state that does not rightfully belong to them.

When asked if any fictional names were found on our enrollment cards, Mrs. Duiven assured us that there were not.

Reserves Win

The Reserves won their third straight game this year with a 41 to 33 victory over Rogers. Rogers started out with a 7-5 lead over the Rangers at the end of the first quarter; but the Rangers came back strong and were ahead 20-18 at half time and 28-24 at the finish of the 3rd quarter.

With about 6 seconds left in the third quarter one of the Rogers players tried a desperate half court shot that completely missed the backboard. The ball was thrown in to Jim Connors, who from about ¾ court heaved the ball just as the buzzer sounded. The ball went high in the air and swished through the hoop. Unfortunately this did not count.

Commercial Club To Sponsor Christmas Dance

Cheryl VanStreen

"Christmas Fantasy" is the name of the Semi-formal Christmas dance the Forest Hills Commercial Club is holding in the All-Purpose building from 8 to 11 p. m. December 22. This dance will be for senior high only. The admittance fee is $1.00 for stag or drag, so why don't you bring along a friend.

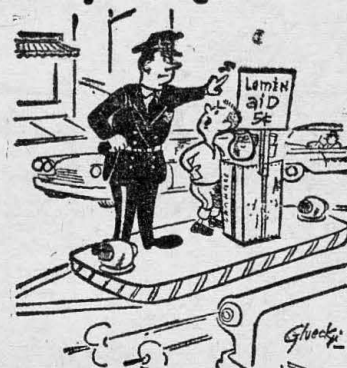

The same rules for guests will apply to this dance as the rest of the dances so don't forget to sign on the dotted line if you want to bring a friend.

The entertainment committee headed by Donna Neal will be getting a band for this dance. The other committee chairmen are Janice Rondeau Decorations; Refreshments, Sharon Vandenberg; Publicity, Charlotte Cardinal; Ticket, Sharon Thompson; and clean-up, Kathy Engen.

These girls will be working very hard to make this dance a big success and a pleasure for you to attend. Let's support this dance and everyone attend!

Red fluorescent tape applied to car keys and flashlights makes them easy to locate.

Jr. Achievement Sell Products

Right now if you have not already noticed, many Forest Hills students are going around selling different objects. These students are members of Junior Achievement, a youth organization which is sponsored by different businesses, to help promote a better understanding of the various divisions of business, management, production, and sales, in the high school student. This is a very interesting and beneficial program, and the students participating in it would appreciate your help in supporting their companies by buying their products. The following is a list of the students participating and their companies and products.

Lec-Tro-Lite—Mike Knuer Sales Manager; Leo Dean Production Manager and Bob Chambers, Assistant Treasurer. Electric Dart Board.

Kelv-Ko—Rob Godfery, Safety Director. Mad Pads (Magnetic note pads) Price 98 cents.

Parent-Teacher Conferences at F. H.

Tom Bunch

This Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the 7th, 8th and 9th of December, there will be half days, starting at 12 p. m. immediately after third hour class.

The purpose for these half days are Parent-Teacher Conferences that will extend from 12 p. m. to 5 p. m. on these three days.

These conferences are for the purpose of forming a better relationship between Parent and Teacher and to help the child in his progress and work habits.

In this way the parents will get an idea of the opinions the teachers have of their children.

SIMPLE SOLUTIONS

Remove fresh ballpoint pen ink stains by sponging spot with a piece of cotton soaked in rubbing alcohol.

To loosen old paint on hinges, screws or similar metal objects, soak them in household ammonia for an hour or so.
