The song is sung in practically all civilized tongues. Yet, little or no thoughts are given to the poet and composer and the little town and country in which they worked and lived.

World at Peace

Europe was at peace on Christmas eve in 1818. The Napoleonic wars were over and there was much happiness in the little town of Obendorf, Austria.

There was one minor note of sadness. The organ in the little church had finally given out and there would be no music for the traditional midnight mass.

But the people of Oberndorf did not know that Mohr had written a poem and given it to his organist Gruber. In a few hours during the afternoon and evening of December 23, 1818, Gruber set the words to music.

Accompanied

And strange as it may seem Gruber used a guitar to provide the musical accompaniment. Thus was born the song that is universally loved and which has made Mohr and Gruber immortal. Mohr died as vicar on December 4, 1848, in Wagrein, Salzburg. He was greatly loved and respected, but so poor that the town had to pay the funeral expenses. Franz Gruber fared a little better, but according to our standards both author and composer were as poor as the shepherds on the fields near Bethlehem.

The church of St. Nicola at Oberndorf no longer stands. A simple memorial chapel has been built there and is a shrine receiving pilgrims from all parts of the world.

"In the dead of winter, it may be advisible to veer south as soon as possible by another route. There is the danger of the turnpikes being snowed or iced in several times during the winter. However, this route is safe virtually all year round

Fisher also warned of "letter of the law" enforcement in Virginia

"When speed signs say 55 or 60 miles an hour, that's exactly what they mean. Even if there is little traffic and conditions are generally good, drivers should adhere to the speed limit. The Virginia State Police enforce the speed laws strictly."

Fisher says the new route of-fers an extra bonus to antique collectors. "There are more good antique shops in the Shenandoah Valley area than just about any other place I've seen.'

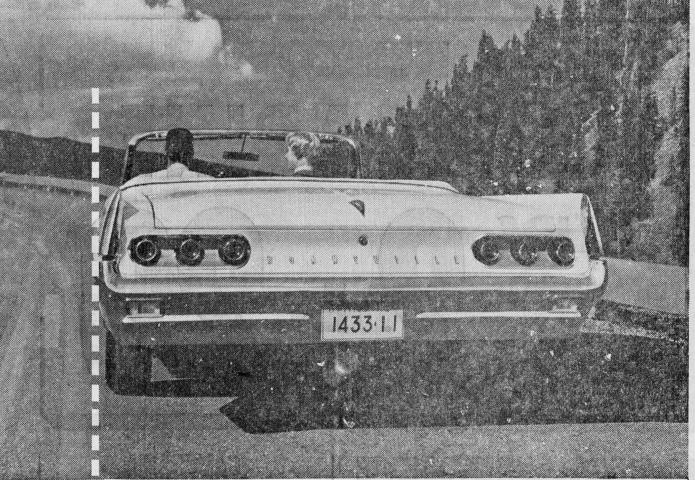

Fisher suggests this route as a possible alternate to other popular routes either on the trip to or from Florida

Scattered stretches of interstate super roads will be available along two popular roads to Florida. An Interstate road between US-50 in Southern Indiana and Louisville, Ky., will speed traffic along the most popular Florida route. This is the western non-mountainous drive that passes through Nashville, Tenn.

Another Interstate highway links Dayton and the northern outskirts of Cincinnati another heavi ly-traveled route, that continues through Knoxville, Tenn., and Atlanta, Ga. This route travels through mountainous terrain that travelers generally wish to avoid in the midst of winter, Fisher says. Fisher adds that vigorous enforcement areas in Georgia generally have been eliminated through the co-operation of the Georgia state government and the American Automobile Association. He cautioned that several small cities along US-31W in southern Kentucky are enforcing speed laws strictly.

An estimated 350,000 Michigan residents will journey to Florida in 1961, about 75 percent by car, Fisher said.

Emerging from his underwater home, Mr. Muskrat probably senses there are better places to be than in his favorite marshlands at this time of the year. It doesn't take any usual intuition for him to figure this out, not with trappers busy setting and checking trap lines around him. The Garden

Near Jerusalem is the Garden of Gethsemane where Jesus prayed the night before he was killed. Some of the olive trees are said to date from the time of Christ's entry into the Holy City. The garden is cared for today by Franciscan fathers.

The tomb of Mary, mother of Christ, is near here and attracts many pilgrims.

Visitors to Jerusalem today can not enter by the Golden Gate. It has been blocked and they must use the Dung Gate which leads into the North African Quarter.

The Holy Place From inside this gate one can see the holiest places in Christiandom-the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, erected over the place where Christ was crucified and buried.

It was completed in the twelfth century by the Crusaders and many different Christian orders have shrines here.

One of the many traditions of the church is that the keys are kept by a Moslem of the family of Nusaibeh. This custom has been in practice since the time of Saladin, who was Sultan of Egypt Supposedly by letting the family of Nusaibeh keep the keys to the

We are in our eighth month here in Ankara, the capital city, and urious and practical if the choice feel that we have learned much have a long way to go in under-standing this culture so different from our own.

However, it did not take us long thing of all-that people are very hospitable and friendly. We have been in their hotels, restaurants, stores, public buildings, and in their homes, and everywhere we graciousness. Whenever we have our problem. They are very proud of their country and with good reason, for they maintain a vigorous, thriving democracy in the face of Communism so near their borders.

They are continually strengthening their defenses and belong both to CENTO and to NATO organizations, so they are making a real contribution to the Free World. This is such a beautiful land, much like our wide open spaces in the West where nothing ob-structs the view, Lofty mountain ranges extend for miles. Some of the hills are heavily wooded with pines and shrubs; others are completely barren but reflect beautiful soft colors in this clear atmosphere. The climate ranges from tropical to north temperate. Ankara is about like Denver.

We have enjoyed a long summer with warm sunny days and cool nights. Some of the trees are still green yet this last week in November. The flowers in their seasons are lovely here. Rhododendron, poppies, daisies, and all the roadside plants we have blossom profusely. People are very skillful in planning and planting their parks with trees, shrubs and flower beds. Water is very pre-cious here for there is a long dry season. Streams are narrow and not many inland lakes, but flowing wells, provide refreshment. One of the common sights here is the flowing well and people gathered there to fill their jugs.

People live in groups, but each family owns its spot of land out from the villages and they share the workloads. The animals help. Oxen, water buffalo pull the heavy loads, horses pull light carts and wagons. Big dogs help guard the sheep and cows; and the little burros carry the riders and small

Wise Choices They Bring Her Luxury In Practical Way

To be or not to be practical is no problem at all for Santas pondering what to give her this Christmas. The gift can be luxis a new handbag.

There's such a wide selection of totes, satchels, tailored shoulder or pretty evening clutch bags in smooth, grained or suede leather that Santa is sure to find one to to find out the most important suit his budget as well as pleasing her, says Leather Industries of America.

Big, roomy tote bags come in this year's brand new furry "hair on calf" versions, as well as popuhave been received with special lar grained and smooth leathers. Box bags in oblong, barrel shape and thin horizontal styles appear in brushed, smooth and grained leather.

Many have side pockets she'll love for keeping bus tokens, car keys or a spare handkerchief at her fingertips.

Big, soft pouches of brushed leather or suede or even reptile are perennial favorites. Shirred pockets are elasticized to side hold accessories safely yet allow quick access to cigarette lighters, compacts or pencils.

During the festive season a pretty clutch or small envelope bag will be warmly cherished.

The newest smoky neutral colors make it easy to choose a hue that will blend with her wardrobe. But if a particularly bright color catches Santa's eye, chances are she'll love it.

The Japanese version of Santa Claus is the ancient god Hoteiosho, who has eyes in back of his head to help him see how children behave.

Fish Seldom Remember Hook

Fortunately for the angler, a fish is not smart enough to remember being hooked once before, according to a University of Michigan Zoologist.

John E. Bardach, U-M associ-ate professor of fisheries and zoology, points out that a fisherman once hooked, or bumped by a car, would be wary of a subsequent similar occurance.

"But from what little we know about learning abilities of fishes, you would have to hook a bass four or five, perhaps even ten times in a row within a relatively short period of time-say a weekin order that he would remember."

The zoologist adds that a fish may not be biting for other reasons-such as not being fooled by an artificial lure.

Just how smart is a fish? Bardach was asked on "Conservation Report," radio series produced by the U-M Broadcasting Service (WUOM) and carried around the state.

"Calling an animal smart doesn't necessarily imply intelligence,' the fishery specialist explains. 'Fish are as smart as humans when it comes to distinguishing between two hues of a color. They are smarter than some in distinguishing between two tones of a different pitch and probably smarter in distinguishing between two odors.

"Fish can learn, and certainly do remember many things in their lives. They find their way over long distances (as in spawning) and through corners in a streamby following things they have learned such as the odor of a stream, the look of a boulder or other landmarks.'

What the fish lacks mainly is the ability of some mammals and man to use true insight, to make 'mental jumps'' such as the monkey putting two sticks together because they will then reach a banana outside his cage.

But the fish, which has "a more limited nervous system than the higher vertebrates, and performs in a more rigid and stereotyped manner," does quite well at learning simpler tasks such as negotiating a maze, Bardach reports.

If you persist in following the driver AHEAD like a sheep, he may turn out to be a "Judas goat."

Another common sight is the lonely rider on his burro leading another burro with the pack load. People are busy everywhere in the country raising food. Wheat is the main crop-we have seen it sown and harvested in the old, old way used long before our grandfathers' time. Bread is the sacred substance-it is evil to waste a crumb though I must say it is not handled too reverently in the buying and selling of it! Many other crops are raised; rice where there is standing water, sugar beets, corn, potatoes, alfalfa, sesame plants, and squash in the summer-pumpkins and huge cabbage are fall favorites.

The fruit has been wonderful and we have enjoyed the various kinds all in season from the minute we came-oranges, tangerines, grapefruit, and bananas, strawberries and raspberries. The peaches were big and sweet and the melons simply delicious. The little grapes from Izmir (Smyrna) were a treat and

She is also an officer in some of her other activities. At church, Sandy is also very active. She is the treasurer of Christian Endeavor, and President of Girls League.

Sandy has many regrets at being a Senior this year. She stated, 'It's too bad I'm a senior because I'll be missing out on a lot of things." Because of this she feels that she might return here to teach.

Rick Simpkins

Forest Hills seems to be full of athletes. This week another one has been chosen as a "Senior of the Week." Rick Simpkins is the person so chosen.

Rick is not only a basketball player, but also is the Senior Class Treasurer and a member of the Varsity Club. He is also carrying six solids in his schedule. They are Government, Physics, College English, Literature, Speech, and Sociology. He has about a B- average.

Enjoys Water Skiing

The Simpkins live at 7261 Driftwood Drive, which provides a wonderful opportunity for Rick's favorite summer sport, water skiing. He also enjoys many other sports. After high school Rick is thinking of attending Albion College. He will be taking a Liberal Arts schedule from which he hopes to gain experience with which to go into the business world.

Biblical Star Still Puzzles Astronomers

The mystery of the Biblical Star of Bethlehem has for centuries intrigued scholars and astronomers. Some scholars believe it may have been a supernova, or explod-ing star. Others think it might have been a comet or perhaps a conjunction of the bright planets Jupiter and Saturn.

If it was a supernova in the Milky Way, astronomers say, it would have unquestionably filled ancient stargazers with awe and the feeling that a great event might be taking place. A "nova" implies a new star, but actually is not. It is rather ing and spatter painting are fun an old star that suddenly flares up ord stimulate creativity. Designs

Bowling Strikes FHHS Students

Strike! That's what the students of Forest Hills were hoping to get, as new members of the bowling league. Tuesday, December 6th, was the first meeting of the league at Chase Bowling Lanes.

Sixteen members of the league from Forest Hills were there and played three games.

Most of the members had never played before, but did surprisingly well. They can't wait until next Tuesday for their second attempt at bowling.

The staff for our Suburban Life page isn't extremely large, but everyone does his part and we do manage pretty well. We have, though, in this issue a special story given to us by two German students. We sincerely thank them for this contribution.

German Banquet

Shirley De Muth and the German Class were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt, Lutz Storbeck, Klaus Froumberger, Mrs. Nowak, Miss Scholten, and Hans Lucks, at Shirley's home December 3.

The program was a German banquet consisting of Gemuse Suppe, Salat, Sauerkraut und wieners, Kuchen, eis mit kartoffel, kaffee, und wurzel beer. (Any German student knows what this means and would be glad to help you translate it.)

After dinner everyone joined in singing some German songs, and a waltzing demonstration was given by Sue Baker and Klaus Froumberger.

Give Children Creative Toys

Dolls and trucks will probably head the lists of many a Christmas shopper. But toys for the preschool child should also include some materials that will stimulate creative effort. However, this type of play usually demands some effort on the part of an adult but it is well worthwhile according to Eleanor Densmore, County Extension Agent in Home Economics. Materials and time and space need to be provided. The materials might include paints and brushes, paper and a large easel. Paints should be washable and in bright colors. Brushes should be large with long handles. Paper can be unprinted newsprint or absorbent paper but in a large size. (I can just see your horror as you vision the living room paint be-spattered and your wall to wall carpeting a gory mess.) I'd take the whole affair to the basement or recreation room or wherever there is space and the furnishings less perishable. Newspapers on the floor and apron on the child and washable clothes are a must.

Finger paint, clay, chalk and of course cravons are good art materials for the pre-schoolers. Choose large crayons-they are easier for small fingers to grasp. Block print-

Mighty Mistletoe

Perhaps the reason that most young ladies do not object too strongly to paying the penalty for standing beneath the mistletoe stems from an ancient superstition-that the maiden who was not kissed at least one time beneath the mistletoe at Christmas would not be married in the following year. In olden times, a berry was plucked from the mistletoe with each kiss.

For some reason, most of us have come to look upon the first day of the year as the ideal time for examination of conscience and for the setting up of a new set of ideals. ### Study Depicts Typical Legislator

State legislators in general are devoted to public service and willingly put in long hours at a thankless job.

That's one of the conclusions of Dr. LeRoy C. Ferguson, Michigan State University professor of political science. He and colleagues from three other universities interviewed nearly every member of the New Jersey, Ohio, Tennessee and California legislatures gathering data that will be used in a forthcoming book.

The typical legislator, they found is likely to be a lawyer. He follows informal "rules of the game" in the legislature and expects his fellow members to do likewise. He is probably favorable to education, especially if he did not go to college himself. Word from persons or groups in his home district strongly influence him. Whether he regards his proper role as doing what he thinks best or acting strictly as a representative of his constituents' wishes, he thinks most of the people in his district agree with his views.

All over America, boys and girls are eagerly awaiting the coming of Christmas . . . looking forward to the toys for which they've asked in their letter to Santa. It's a big job for Santa-keeping all these boys and girls happy-but he has a big helper in the trucking industry. The hundreds of thousands of trucks and trailers that all year long bring Americans everything they eat, wear, or use are kept extra busy at Christmas-time. From factory to showcase to Santa's pack, the toys and other gifts that bring so many happy smiles on Christmas morning depend on trucks to get where they're going . . . Merry Christmas, everyone!

CHRISTMAS TREE INDUSTRY. The growing, cutting, and marketing of Christmas trees has grown, within the last 20 years, into an important industry. This year, for instance, approximately 45 million trees will be harvested. Forest areas no longer supply enough quality trees to meet growing demands. Many farmers, in all sections of the country, grow Christmas trees as a supplementary crop.

The demand has required that the industry become more mechanized, especially in the Northwest where millions of trees are harvested each year.
