She was taken to Blodgett Hospital on Friday suffering from what appeared to be a mild concussion. Sunday afternoon aid was summoned when she stopped breathing. She was kept alive in a respirator at the hospital, until she died at noon on Tuesday.

Forest Hills High Back-To-Class Nite

After the tardy bell, then what? On gray misty morning a parent can watch his child hastily leave the house, run to catch the bus and disappear. He will soon arrive at school; he will soon arrive in a separate world—then what?

From eight a. m. to 3 p. m. perhaps a high school student enters an ineffable world that he cannot recreate for those ears that listen for the answer to "What did you do in school today?" It might be difficult to remember and relate all that has occurred as a student in Forest Hills High School. But what is it like?

With the tardy bell, education begins and that education is different than it used to be—the student is different as is the teacher. Many changes have taken place in the high school and in its curriculum. What are these changes? Why have they come? What is education like in 1963?

The answers to these questions and other will be discussed by your child's teachers on Nov. 21 at 7:30 p. m. The teachers of Forest Hills High School would like to recreate this separate world with you as the students. We would like to show you what we teach and why we teach it. We would like to discuss with you some of the new techniques that help design the education for 1963-64. It would be our pleasure to talk with you after the tardy bell rings.

Widening 28th Street Started, Complete 1965

Work has started on widening 28th Street, west of Cascade.

In Kent County, The Hertel-Devo Construction Company of Grand Rapids began work on a $1,793,091 contract to modernize 28th St. (M-11, M-21 and M-37) in Wyoming and Grand Rapids between the US-131 and I-96 freeways.

The present two-lane highway will be widened to five lanes, with the center lane designed for left turn movements. The bridge carrying the highway over Plaster Creek also will be widened to carry five traffic lanes.

The project is scheduled to be completed by August 31, 1965.

Hootenanny At Forest Hills High

It is a little early—but be sure and circle the date of Saturday, December 7, and plan to take the whole family to the Hootenanny being held in the Forest Hills High School gymnasium at 8 p. m.

Gerrit Lamain, Forest Hills High School choir director and originator of the idea, will act as chairman, and the event will be sponsored by the Forest Hills Music Association with Mr. Wardrop acting as master of ceremonies.

Two vocal groups of the High School, the Folk Singers and the Girls Glee Club, will participate. However, the majority of the program will consist of professional talent.

Due to the tremendous interest in folk music, a large turn-out is expected. So, be sure and buy your tickets early from any band and choir member. Tickets may also be ordered by mail by sending your name, address, number of tickets needed for adults and children, and a check or money order covering the amount of the tickets to Gerrit Lamain, Forest Hills High School, Grand Rapids, Michigan, 49506. The price of the tickets is $1.00 for adults and 75 cents for students. Get your tickets early and avoid the rush. Don't take a chance on missing this event! Tickets will be sold at the door, also.

All Church School teachers of the lower levels, and parents interested in keeping Christmas more Christian in the home, are invited to attend. May we suggest that each church pay the registration fee for the teachers? It will be a good investment for a successful Christmas program.

The plans this year were made to specifically help the total Church School in the lower grade levels and to help individual families find more meaningful Christmas worship.

Some of the features of this workshop are drama, activities, audio-visuals, music, worship, toys, songs and displays of worship centers. Special treats are in store for those attending the workshop: Children's worship in drama will be presented by Mrs. Mal Schlegel; the J. Douglas MacGregor family will present a Family Christmas Eve worship. (The MacGregors have eight children.)

Miss Doris James, Music Consultant in the public Schools, will present Christmas in songs; a panel will answer any questions or help in any way with nursery, kindergarten, primary and junior children and family Christmas time.

Mrs. L. G. Wedgewood, East Congregational Church, will be the pianist for nursery; Mrs. Carolyn J. Reid, Westminster Presbyterian Church, kindergarten; Mrs. James Gunn, Trinity Methodist, primary. Mrs. Zetha Schalk, Cascade Christian, junior.

The traditional, as well as the helpful and lovely Christmas Bulletin will be given to those who register. The bulletin contains songs, stories, worship ideas, and other helpful information, including a list of recordings. The book display is in charge of Mrs. A. C. Hoven.

In planning for Christmas, we'd like you to come—Both mothers and fathers to see what we've done. We've planned for your Christmas at church and at home. With many ideas, in books and in song!

Robert Perrin Named to Organize Radio Operators

Robert B. Perrin, W8PCZ 1415 Grand River Dr., Ada, Michigan has been selected to set up an organization of Kent County amateur radio operators prepared to furnish organized emergency communications in time of disasters, it was announced today by Communications Manager F. E. Handy of the American Radio Relay League, U. S. and Canadian association of radio amateurs.

Mr. Perrin's assignment, which carries the title of Emergency Coordinator of the Amateur Radio Emergency Corps, is to band together members of the amateur radio service in his community to perfect arrangements for emergency radio communication by means in the event of natural disasters or other emergencies. In addition to use of fixed radio station equipment working from commercial power, amateur stations use self-powered radio transmitting and receiving equipment as needed and can often deploy portable and mobile units to accommodate a particular emergency requirement. Mr. Perrin, as ARRL Emergency Coordinator, will call local meetings of amateurs, establish common operating procedures, and arrange regular drill periods when the hams' personal stations may be mobilized under simulated emergency conditions. His duties also include liaison planning with relief and public welfare agencies, as suggested in working understandings the ARRL Amateur Radio Emergency Corps has with the Red Cross, Civil Defense, and other agencies. Liaison will be established also with local protective services, such as fire and police departments.

In announcing the appointment, Handy pointed out that radio amateurs have traditionally had the responsibility of being in constant readiness to offer assistance in time of need with ham-acquired skill, emergency-powered transmitters and a wealth of community spirit. "When sleet storms disrupt telephone and telegraph service, or floods isolate whole communities," the League's Communications Manager said, "It is amateur radio that comes to the rescue with operators and self-powered equipment, often as the sole agency able to transmit messages calling on the outside world for aid for the stricken community."

"To be prepared for this function required not only a highly organized program of preparedness locally," Handy continued, "but hangs outside the disaster area must be prepared to act as outlets and relay points for emergency traffic. Planning and organization are necessary in either eventuality and that is the job Mr. Perrin is doing for this area."

Nature Notes

Insect eating birds will appreciate a handout in the suet feeder. This could be a commercial feeder designed to take flat cakes of suet and seed. One which is filled with small cups of suet that may be replaced when they are empty or a ball or cake of suet and seed which has its' own hanger.

A good home-made suet feeder is a log of sassafras, or other soft grained wood, 1 1/2 to 3 inches in diameter, 10 to 15 inches long with the bark left on. Several holes, as large in diameter as the log will accommodate, bored deeply into the wood can be packed with raw suet, melted suet or bird pudding.

For raw suet a net bag hung from a tree branch or clothes-line post serves best. Be sure that suet is high enough so that dogs cannot reach it. The bag may be crocheted especially for the suet or a mesh onion or potato sack may be used. The plastic onion bags work well if they are carefully opened.

Plain beef suet, raw—is relished by many birds. It seems to be the only food taken by the Hairy Woodpeckers. Beef suet or any fat from cooking which will solidify can be put in small cans and used to feed birds. Peanut butter pressed into the holes in a suet feeder is eagerly eaten by many kinds of birds. The fat from lamb, melted and mixed with peanut butter keeps the peanut butter from dripping from the holder in warm weather.

A bird pudding made of melted suet, or other meat fat, ground dried bread, peanut butter, raisins, chopped prunes or other dried fruit, mixed, is poured into the smallest size tin cans or 5 ounce paper cups and allowed to harden. If the bottoms are then cut out the whole container can be tied with string and hung out in your feeding area. The same mixture can be made into cakes to fit your commercial feeder. A simple bird pudding is made from just melted fat and crumbs. Any kind may be used including dried cake, coffee cake and pie crust. Do not include frosting. Suet seed cake can also be made at home from melted suet or a mixture of meat fats mixed with commercial mixed seed.

As with the grain feeders, suet feeders should be kept clean. When many birds are using one feeder, disease germs can be deposited, grow and be spread to many other birds.

Mr. and Mrs. Marius Broekhuizen, sr., purchased the home of Mrs. H. Duthler at 6454 Wendell Street, S. E., in Cascade. They originally lived in Midland Park, New Jersey, which is situated in the metropolitan area of New York City.

Mr. Broekhuizen, now retired, formerly worked on Ellis Island in the Immigration Service. He also worked for the Bendix Aviation Corporation in New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Broekhuizen have five children and eleven grandchildren.

Their daughter, Marie (Mrs. Alfred Siepert), is a chemist, as is her husband, and they live in Midland Park, New Jersey.

There are four sons, James B. is a teacher in Grand Rapids, Michigan; Theodore B. is Dean of Students at Olivet College in Olivet, Michigan; Marius, Jr., is also a teacher in Grand Rapids; and Rensselaer is a Christian Reformed minister in St. Petersburg, Florida. He studied and graduated from Westminster in Philadelphia, and then graduated from Calvin Seminary.

All of the sons have graduated from Calvin College, and two of the sons received their Master degrees from the University of Michigan. One son graduated from the University of Indiana.

Even though they have retired, they are very busy and very interested in their church (Cascade Christian Reformed), missions and community affairs. They are also now doing things they never had time for before retiring.

Cultural Heritage Is Topic Used By Extension Class

The Extension Class of the Thornapple group met at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Richard Timmer on Monday, November 4. Miss Gladys Mulder was appointed Safety Chairman of the group.

After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and all business was discussed a lesson was given on "Our Cultural Heritage," by Mrs. Laurence Scott and Mrs. Marius DeGood.

The interesting lesson informed the members present of the early settlers in the surrounding areas, their reasons for coming to settle here and the different nationalities involved.

After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and all business was discussed a lesson was given on "Our Cultural Heritage," by Mrs. Laurence Scott and Mrs. Marius DeGood.

The interesting lesson informed the members present of the early settlers in the surrounding areas, their reasons for coming to settle here and the different nationalities involved.

After a good discussion a luncheon was served by the hostess.

We spared the rod and got a beat generation anyway.

Back in 1952, Michigan had its first large-scale special deer season; more than 100,000 antlerless whitetails were killed in the northern lower peninsula. Even before the final shot was fired that year, many people were talking about the herd being "exterminated." Some are still voicing scepticism. Say what they will, this state has reached a new milestone in deer management under the Conservation Department's program of regular and special seasons. Sometime last November, a Michigan hunter killed the one-millionth deer to be legally taken since the start of the 1952 season. Over the last 11 years in which antlerless deer hunting has been extended to most of the upper peninsula, sportsmen have harvested an average of almost 93,000 whitetails annually—from a herd that critics said was being "shot off" by special seasons. Looking ahead, hunters can take even more deer each fall without hurting the future of their sport. During the 1963 firearm season, for example, they can safely harvest 125,000 bucks, does, and fawns.

Home Economics Digest
 By E. Eleanor Densmore, County Extension Agent

We may be 100 per cent American—but many other countries had a lot to do with making us what we are.
 Answering roll call right here in Kent County would be people of Dutch, Polish, Canadian, German, English, Swedish, Lithuanian, Italian, Russian, Latvian and Irish ancestry (plus a sprinkling of other nationalities). It's quite a hodge-podge, yet each of these national groups brought something special and distinctive to our budding American culture.
 Don't you sometimes wonder why these folks came here in the first place and why they settled where they did?
 If you are of Dutch ancestry, probably your forbears came around the middle of the 19th century and were seeking religious freedom or better economic conditions. They must have been bitterly disappointed in the wilderness they had to conquer before the latter could be realized. But they were made of stern stuff, and they had good leadership.
 Today you only have to look about you to see that they made good, and you can rightly be proud of the continuing contribution the Dutch are making to our culture.
 Perhaps your forbears were Polish. Chances are they settled on the West Side of Grand Rapids and maybe got jobs in the developing plaster mines or West Side mills. Lumber and a growing furniture business lured many to this area.
 They also may have come around the middle of the 19th century, because their country had ceased to exist. In the Tri-Partition of Poland, it was divided up between Russia, Prussia and Austria.
 Through the years they have added much to our culture and are making fine American citizens.
 The Irish came during the last half of the 19th century too. Triggered by the Irish potato famine, they swarmed to America, many stopping off in the East (to become New York policemen, no doubt). The ones who got this far were hired to work on the canal being constructed around the rapids on the Grand River. They stayed and many families took roots in the Parnell area or in Cascade Township. You will find many of the old Irish names on mailboxes in these areas.
 These are only examples of things we might find out about our forbears if we would take the trouble to do a little digging. And as you dig, you begin to swell with pride in your heritage, and you say to yourself, "You really have to hand it to those old pioneers."
A HUNTING WE WILL GO
 And it's deer hunting for many a Nimrod these days. If your husband is taking off for the woods, you're probably busy helping assemble packable foods for his adventure.
 Lucky are we today to have so many convenience foods. They are a natural for those who want to travel light. Not only do they take up less space, but they need no refrigeration. Best of all, they are tasty and filling and need little in the way of preparation.
 Instant ones are favorites—instant coffee, tea, mashed potatoes, onions and rice. Freeze-dried foods need only the addition of water. These include individual packages of fruits, vegetables and meats as well as whole meals packaged for serving. The latter are usually available only through sporting goods stores. Some, such as freeze-dried soup mixes, are available in almost every retail grocery store.
 Advantages are: A greater variety in meals, better-fed hunters and less time spent in preparing meals. Happy hunting!

Water
 While flying over the western desert a few weeks ago, we could not help but be impressed with how desolate such country is. What could cause so large an area to be so desolate? There is only one reason: lack of water. The ground is fertile, and when irrigated, it produces abundantly. Is not this a picture of the lives of many of us Christians. God has wondrously made us with many talents and abilities. To us in America He has given freedom of worship and the message of salvation revealed in the Bible. Yet many of our lives are waste and desolate, not really producing anything for our Saviour. What we need is Christ, the Living Water. He can take us and make our life meaningful, fruitful, useful, a blessing to others. Yield your life to Him and see what He will do. It will be the greatest experience of your life.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard DeGreen, who were married October 11, were honored Saturday, November 2, at a reception in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brian of Buttrick Avenue, Ada.

Guests arrived during the late afternoon for cocktails, dispensing later to the Ada Congregational Church for a buffet supper, including a beautiful wedding cake made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Claude Brian of Hartland, Michigan.

Out-of-town guests were from Detroit, Niles, Hartland, Beulah, South Lyon, and Grand Rapids.

Mr. DeGreen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeGreen of Ada.

State Police Point Out Winter Hazards Beginning This Month

Emphasizing that winter hazards make November and December two of the worst months for traffic deaths, the State Police caution motorists to be extra careful during this period.

Together the two months account for about a fifth of Michigan's annual road fatalities and in the last five years of 1958-62 totaled 1,441, an average of 144 a month.

Contributing to the increased hazards are the extended periods of reduced visibility due to more hours of darkness and the frequently unfavorable and sudden changes in weather which bring rain, snow and ice to the roadways.

To offset the added dangers the State Police point out that motorists should:

Be sure the car is properly winterized. Ignition, cooling and exhaust systems, brakes, lights, steering gear, defrosters and windshield wipers should be in good operating condition. Tires should have good tread for reliable traction in snow and ice.

Always drive at rates reasonable for conditions, being mindful that safe stopping distances increase from three to 12 times when roads are snowy or icy. Don't follow other cars too closely.

See that car windows are clear for good driver vision, since you must be able to see dangers if you are to avoid them.

The State Police also remind pedestrians that they too must be extra alert because of the season's reduced visibility and bad weather factors.

Making The Most of Deer Hides

Many Michigan hunters are missing a bet by throwing their deer hides away each year, according to Lansing taxidermist Robert Robbins pictured here. He points out that it takes little time and effort to save a hide. In skinning a deer, a not-too-sharp knife should be used to avoid cutting the hide. Once started, the hide can usually be stripped off by peeling downward with strong tugs. After it's removed, the biggest globs of fat and flesh should be cut away. Next, spread a couple of pounds of table salt or coarse salt over the flesh side to draw juice out of the skin. With the salt still inside, roll the hide loosely and tie it. It's then ready to take to a taxidermist and the sooner, the better. Robbins shows (lower right) what can happen to a deer hide if you wait too long. One hide will make about three pairs of gloves. A jacket requires three to five hides.

Soil & Water Conservation Several New Cooperators In This Area

At home safely from our annual vacation trip to Pennsylvania. The serious drought there is of great concern to everyone. Of special interest was our visit to the "Roaring Creek" 12,000 acre, privately owned watershed. This unusual watershed, in that it is privately owned and controlled, is in the mountains near Shamokin. A series of dams and one large dam supplies water to several towns and nearby areas. Outside of this watershed, even though much soil and water conservation has been done, water is in short supply.

Here is the data for Kent's Soil Conservation Districts' annual meeting. Robert Brouwer will present "Of Thee I Sing", his new slides with stereophonic sound, February 18, 8 p. m. at the American Legion Club, North Park Street, Grand Rapids. More details on the annual meeting will appear in later issues. You and your neighbors are invited.

New district cooperators approved by your District directors are: Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Coale, Ada twp., Wendell Berman, Lowell twp., Robert Wilson, Caledonia twp., Al-an Algee, Nelson twp., and R. John and David Schaefer, Sparta twp.

New conservation plans have been made with the following cooperators: Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Coale, Ada twp. and William Lake, Lowell twp.

Soil and water conservation farm plan revisions have been made with Robert Joyce, Lowell twp., Richard Krum, Vergennes twp. and with George Wieland, Lowell twp.

Know YOUR MICHIGAN LAW

by Attorney General FRANK J. KELLEY

(This is one of a series of public articles explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

Thousands of civic and social-minded citizens have either by will or other legal action established "trusts" for charitable purposes in Michigan.

The income and sometimes some portion of the principal of the trust property is dedicated for the relief of the aged and poor people; needy, crippled or handicapped children; scholarships; medical and scientific research; schools; libraries; religious purposes; to erect hospitals and homes for the aged; and as it has been stated for any purpose "beneficial to mankind and the community."

A learned English judge once ruled, "There is no justification for any charitable trust to operate in a cloak of secrecy because that cloak can become a shroud, and the property vanish like the snows under the warming rays of the sun."

In a charitable trust, a private individual may not step forward and endeavor to force a trustee to carry out the trust provisions. In 1961 the legislature enacted a law by which it became the duty of the trustees of charitable purposes trusts to register the trust with the Attorney General, and the Attorney General was authorized to supervise and take appropriate action to enforce the provisions of the trust. Since the effective date of the act, the Attorney General has registered 1,781 charitable purposes trusts, having a combined asset and property value of upwards of 6 million dollars. A complete registration and file record of all these trusts are maintained in his office.

Some of the investigations and action of this office to the present time has resulted in increased amounts of funds being used and distributed for use of libraries; scholarships; needy, crippled or handicapped children; hospitals; aged persons; to build a home for the aged; medical care for needy persons; as well as many other benevolent purposes.

New oil furnace

Iron Fireman CUSTOM Mark II oil furnace with instant clean flame. Unequaled for clean comfort, low fuel bills and trouble-free performance

Comfort
With the Iron Fireman CUSTOM Mark II furnace you use a super-sensitive thermostat which operates the furnace with the slightest variation of room temperature. This gives you remarkably uniform indoor temperature. No matter how often the furnace starts there is no smoke, no soot, no fouled combustion chamber, no wasted oil.

Cleanliness
With the instant clean flame there are no flecks of soot blowing from your chimney or escaping into your home. Hundreds of tests made with smoke-detecting instruments show a flame that's absolutely clean from the very moment it's turned on.

Operates without chimney draft
The CUSTOM Mark II furnace provides its own positive induced draft with precision control. No natural chimney draft required.

Down go fuel bills
Owners report remarkable fuel savings. There is no smoky warm-up period to foul the furnace and waste oil. Service calls are cut to the vanishing point.
