Serving The Forest Hills Area

VOLUME NINE — THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1964 — NUMBER FORTY-THREE

Drop 2-in-a-row ....

Eagles Run Past Forest Hills Rangers

Displaying championship form, the high-flying Hudsonville Eages dashed by Forest Hills 89-66 in an O-K League contest Friday night. Hudsonville ran the full 48 minutes, and fairly beat the Rangers at their own game. Both teams came into the game after a two-week vacation layoff, and the rest seemed to dull the improving Rangers.

Forest Hills was seeking to extend its home winning streak to 6 games, but found the Eagles too much to handle. Hudsonville pushed its season record to 5-0, 4-0 in league play, while Forest Hills rests at 3-2, with an even 2-2 slate in league play.

The Eagles set the tempo of the game early as they jumped off to a quick 13-4 lead, Rog Nyenhuis poured through the first seven Eagle markers, and they were never to be headed through the rest of the game. Forest Hills started slowly, picking up only 21 points in the first half, and trailed 42-21 at the half.

Control Boards

Hudsonville used a blinding fast-break and controlled both boards for important second and third shots. Larry Waite, Jim Nyhuis, and Nyenhuis were the prime thorns in the Ranger side during the first half. But at the outset of the second half the Rangers launched a devastating attack featuring stout defense and revitalized offense. The Forest Hills front line began to rebound on both boards, and with 2:00 left in the third quarter they pulled to within 11 points of the league leading Eagles.

Hudsonville reloaded it's guns in the fourth quarter, though, and continued to fast-break the Rangers into submission. The game ended with reserve strings from both teams in the game. Hudsonville, in picking up it's fourth league win without a loss, showed that it is ready for the showdown battle with defending co-champ Rogers, who stopped the Rangers 68-57 on December 20.

Rog Nyenhuis led all scorers with 26 points, and Jim Nyhuis had 20 for Hudsonville. Jim Jones and Steve Johnson had 16 each for Forest Hills, while Kent Fisher contributed 15 points.

Play Kelloggsville

Forest Hills takes on arch-rival Kelloggsville in a home contest Friday. The Rockets were blasted by Godwin 95-70, and edged by Rogers 58-47 in their last two outings. Kelloggsville features the league-leading scoring of Jeff Schlak, fine broadwork by big Russ Palmitier, and steady playmaking by junior Jim Harris. Kellogsville is hampered at this stage of the season by the loss of high-scoring forward Dick Witvoet, out with a broken wrist.

The Rangers will counter with tough defense, while Coach Jerry Dangl is looking for more offensive punch from his frontliners.

JV Squad Undefeated

The Ranger JV squad, yet to taste defeat, did it again Friday as they downed the Little Eagles preceding the Varsity contest. Tim Williams was high scorer with 23 points. Coach Paul Northuis' charges hope to extend their streak to six straight wins in Friday's contest with the Rocket JV. Game time is 7 for the JV game, while the Varsity will get underway around 8:15 p. m.

Window Decorators Get Cash Prize For Scene

The traditional Christmas scene painted on the window of Slater's Mobil Service Station was named the winner this week in the annual contest sponsored by the Cascade Businessmen's Association.

Students of the art department at Forest Hills High School worked together and helped the businessmen decorate Cascade, by painting scenes on the business windows, for the holidays.

A $10 cash prize was given to the students of the art department. Placing second in the contest was the drawing on the window at Ma and Pa's Coffee Cup on 28th Street.

Traffic Toll Record 1,859

Suffering its worst traffic toll in eight years, Michigan recorded 1,859 deaths in 1963, 288 or 18 per cent more than 1,571 in 1962, according to State Police provisional figures reported by Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

It was the highest annual count since 2,013 were killed in 1955. In addition, delayed death reports are expected to raise the toll from one to two per cent.

Related to this worsened fatality picture are new all-time highs in the number of injured and accidents which earlier projections indicate will reach respective totals of about 123,750 and 255,500 when all reports are in.

Only in five previous years since record keeping began in 1933 have Michigan's annual fatalities exceeded 1,800. These were 1936 with 1,924, 1937 with 2,175 (the all-time high), 1941 with 2,133, 1953 with 1,905 and 1955.

The state's annual average for the 30-year period of 1933-62 was 1,581. For the seven years of 1956-62 it was 1,556.

Michigan's tolls dropped for three consecutive years after 1955 when the state launched an intensive accident prevention program. The counts then rose somewhat in 1959 and 1960, dropped again in 1961 and climbed slightly in 1962.

Contributing to the state's sixth worst traffic year were:

The provisional December count of 165 deaths, an increase of 53 or 46 per cent over 112 in the same month in 1962. It was the highest December mark since 190 in 1955. The month's average for the five years of 1958-62 was 143.

Significant estimated increases in accident exposure factors showed mileage traveled gaining seven per cent to 35.5 billions, motor vehicle registrations rising four per cent to 3,646,080, and licensed drivers up two per cent to 4,285,495.

Traffic deaths were up in 10 of the 12 months in 1963 compared with the same months of 1962. Through December, injuries had increased for 25 successive months over the same months a year earlier while accidents were up for 24 of the last 25 on the same comparative basis.

Kent Co. Program For Handicapped Model For Nation

The Kent Occupational Educational Education and Training Center is a centralized high school program for the educable mentally handicapped. It is specifically designed to habilitate the educable mentally handicapped adolescent both socially and vocationally through the combination of education and work experience.

The program has been in operation since September 1961, and has been partially supported by a research and demonstration grant from the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration since July 1962. It is unique in the United State, and has drawn national attention.

The Center, located at 4022 Eastern, S. E., is sponsored by the Kent Intermediate School District through the Wyoming Public Schools.

To be eligible for the program, a student must: 1—be a resident of Kent County, but live outside the city limits of Grand Rapids, 2—be sixteen years of age by October 1 of the year the program is initiated for him, and 3—be deemed eligible (educable mentally handicapped) by the diagnostic staff of the Kent Intermediate School District.

The program is three years in duration, the first two years of which are spent in the Center. During this period, the student spends one-half of each day in the classroom, and the other half-day in the shop.

In the classroom, the student receives a functional school program with emphasis on personal, social, and occupational adequacy. That is, he receives language arts, arithmetic, and social studies, according to his individual needs, in order to achieve the goal of independent living—not the attainment of academic skills, per se.

In the shop, the student receives supervised work experiences and social and vocational guidance. The activities in the shop revolve around production of sub-contracts that have been secured from local business and industry and involve light assembly, packaging, sorting, deburring, etc. Students work on the sub-contracts as they would in industry—receiving pay for their performances and general work attitudes.

This program should not be confused with a traditional vocational training program emphasizing the acquisition of specific trade skills that are applicable to only one or two jobs. The program offers time and facility to develop work habits and social skills that are essential for any type of employment. It has been shown the basic work habits and social skills must necessarily precede more skilled training, and that for the mentally handicapped, the former is not gained through incidental learning.

The student also spends approximately two hours per month in an evaluation area in an attempt to determine more objectively his strengths and weaknesses.

The third year of the program involves on-the-job training. The student is placed on jobs, throughout the County, such as those found in restaurants, service stations, hospital, greenhouses, furniture factories, and light industries. The purpose of this phase is to give the student additional job experiences and to continue to evaluate his abilities.

After completion of the third year, the student graduates and is assisted in securing a permanent job placement. His progress is followed for a period of time to insure his success.

Board Votes March 3rd
School Building Plans Revealed

At a recent meeting of the Forest Hills School Board, a building program totaling $1,685,000.00 was approved.

Recent studies by the University of Michigan and local school staff indicate a need for more school rooms to house the growth in student population now living in the district.

Conservative estimates based on population growth during the last five years indicate a serious over crowded condition this next year. The following year there will not be enough room for students in the Forest Hills area.

Elementary additions planned: the Cascade, Orchard View, and Collins Schools will have more classrooms added. In addition to class rooms, these schools will receive all purpose rooms, elementary libraries, and not lunch serving kitchens. The total estimated cost of building and equipping these additions is $580,000.00.

New Junior High School planned: a Jr. High School, to be built on the back of the present High School site adjacent to Ada Drive, will be the major portion of the building program.

This facility will relieve the crowded situation at the high school and at the same time provide a more satisfactory educational program for the seventh and eighth grade students.

This facility will provide twenty classrooms which will easily serve six hundred students. The maximum student capacity will be seven hundred. The special facilities and utilities will be large enough to serve additional rooms in the future.

The total cost of constructing this facility is estimated at $795,000.00 site development and equipment is estimated at $121,000.00.

The remainder of the fund is earmarked for small additions at the high school, and legal and planning fees for the total program.

It is planned to provide instruction in the areas of machine shop, auto shop, and electronics to better satisfy the educational needs of the student not planning a college education.

A small addition to the multi-purpose building, to accommodate more students in the area of vocal and instrumental music is also included in this building program. More equipment in the kitchen will be needed to serve the elementary students

School officials are now preparing materials to adequately inform the public as to the cost of building and operating the school as it pertains to the local tax situation.

The election date has been set for March 3, 1964.

HISTORY OF APPROVAL

Forest Hills voters have a history of approval of bond issues with the last vote for a bonding being held on June 13, 1960, when approval was given by a vote of 736 yes to 396 no, on a $800,600 issue.

This was the 3rd time voters had approved funds needed for building for a total of $2,300,000 since September 1956, when the first building funds were voted.

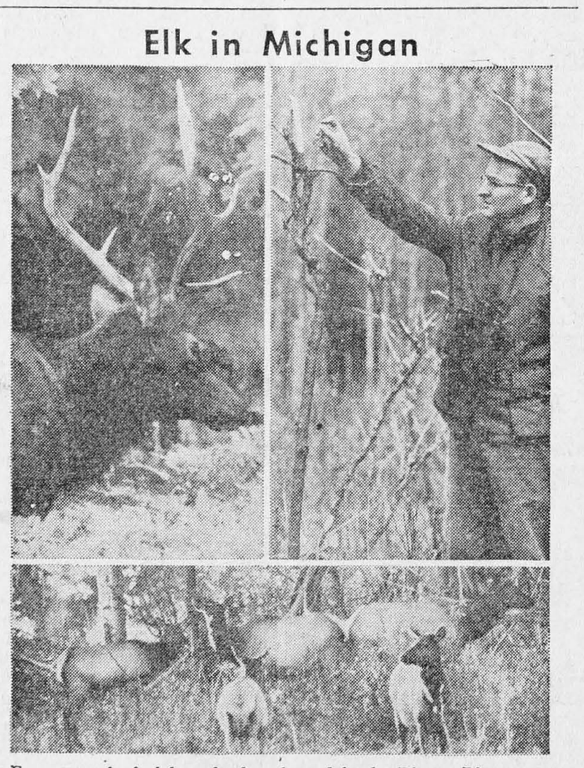
Elk in Michigan



From a total of eight animals released in the Pigeon River area during the 1918-19 period, Michigan's elk herd has grown to become one of the major tourist attractions in this neck of the state's northern woods. It also has expanded to create a problem of numbers; a problem marked by such storm warnings as overbrowsing and indications of elk starvation. Size of the herd is estimated between 2,000 and 3,500 animals. The Conservation Department has undertaken a long-range research program to refine this estimate and cross-check other information which has been collected since the herd was established 45 years ago. While this project has not been completed, one fact stands out clearly: Some small-scale, carefully controlled hunting is going to be needed soon, and carried on from year to year, to keep these animals from doing further damage to limited winter food supplies which are also used by deer. Main goal of the elk management program, of course, will be to maintain and promote the value of this herd as a public viewing attraction.

Religious Seminar To Be Conducted

On the first Sunday in February, at 11 a. m. the Rev. Robert Eggebeen, pastor of the Eastmont Reformed Church will begin conducting a Religious Seminar dealing with some of the facts of the traditional Christian Faith, and with some of the falacies and misconceptions that have tended to creep in down through the centuries. Such issue will be discussed and dealt with as—Is there any real relevance between the ancient faith of the Apostolic Church and the 20th century American? What actually is the nature and task of the Church as it exists today? Is the Church really very practical as it attempts to deal with, and exist in a modern and 'sophisticated society?' Where and why does the Church fail in its attempt to communicate its message to a world that considers the Church to be "Out of step with the times?"

The course is scheduled to last for 7 weeks, however, we will be flexible so as to cover all the material and at the same time deal with all questions and problems that present themselves.

This seminar will not be composed of a series of sermons or lectures but will be a time for probing, asking and answering questions and sharing with one another views, opinions and personal feelings.

A cordial invitation is extended to anyone and everyone who is interested to join us and meet with us as we sort through the things of the faith, do a little digging in new places and maybe explore some new ideas about some old facts.

You may enroll by calling 949-1372 any morning between the hours of 8 and 12 or writing to the Eastmont Reformed Church 4637 Ada Drive, S. E. Grand Rapids 6, Michigan.

Move To Texas

Bid Farewell To Boeskool Family

Moving day! It may be exciting for the children, but it's work for Mom and Dad. If you happen to drive up Cascade Road, just north of Cascade, on Monday, January 13, you may chance to see a moving van beside the Cascade Christian Reformed parsonage. The Boeskools are moving.

We are sorry that they must leave us. They have been with us since May, 1958, when they came from Highland, Michigan. During the more than five and a half years that they have been with us, we have learned to know them and love them. The Rev. Boeskool has served our church—his church while he was here—faithfully and with zeal, expounding the Word of God for us twice each Sunday and giving leadership in many meetings of adults and young people, helping us with our problems, cheering us in our discouragements, and rejoicing with us in our joys.

When the Boeskools came, our congregation numbered about 60 families. We have grown to more than 85. Two major events took place meanwhile, we celebrated our 10th anniversary as an organized congregation, and built a new place of worship, an unpretentious but beautiful and adequate brick structure.

But Rev. Boeskool's interest was not limited to our congregation. He made friends throughout the neighborhood. He was concerned about community affairs, and particularly about the people of the community. He was always willing to call on anyone who needed comfort or help. Neighborhood children who attended our Vacation Bible School in summer could not help feeling welcome when he greeted them with his warm smile and cheery laugh.

Perhaps it is this ability and eagerness to make friends all around that is responsible for our losing him. Our pastor has been called to El Paso, Texas—a city of some 300,000—where his "church" will consist of only a very few families but his field of work will be almost without limits. He will be a missionary—you might call him an embassador of good will—to proclaim the gospel of Jesus Christ to all and to gather believers from all walks of life into the church of God. There will also be opportunity to help the boys at Fort Bliss and Biggs Airforce Base. All in all, we can well understand that this broadening of his field of influence, from the rather narrow confines of a little established church and a small village to a broad expanse of possible service has a strong appeal to a young and vigorous man. And we wish him and his family God-speed, even while we are sorry to see them go.

The Boeskools are not entirely happy about leaving us—and we are glad of that! Moving means tearing out roots that are firmly set, and breaking friendship ties that are precious. The farewell sermons, on January 5, will not be happy occasions. Nor will the congregational farewell meeting planned for January 10 be a gala event. But we thank God that He sent the Boeskools to us, and our prayers for their welfare will follow them. We would ask all of you who have come to know our Pastor to join us in wishing him and his family God-speed, and in praying for God's blessing upon his work.

Income Tax
Do I File?

Read these instructions and you can determine if you have to file an income tax return:

Every citizen of the United States, and every alien resident of the United States who is under 65 years of age and who had gross income of $600.00 or more must file a tax return. If you are 65 or over on December 31, you must file an income tax return if your gross income was $1,200.00 or more during the taxable year.

Minor children are subject to the same filing requirements as all other Federal taxpayers. A person under 21 years of age must file an income tax return if his gross income for the year amounted to $600.00 or more.

If you had less than $600.00 of gross income, and income tax was withheld from your wages, you should file a return to get a refund of the tax withheld.

If in doubt about the filing requirement, telephone your local Internal Revenue Service Office.

...The first attempt to carry U.S. mail by air pouch containing 123 letters was placed aboard a balloon at Lafayette, Ind., for carriage of New York. Unfortunately, the balloon was forced down near Crawfordsville, Ind., and the mail had to be forwarded by train.

Good Bye

The time has come to say good bye. This is never a pleasant task. We have come to feel Cascade is our home. We have enjoyed talking to you each week in this article. We have enjoyed meeting you in the stores, in your homes, at Little League games, at church, etc. We wish it could remain this way. But God has called us elsewhere to seek to establish a new church in a new community in El Paso, Texas. We will miss all of you and think of you often. If you are in the Southwest, please look us up. Meanwhile Cascade will continue to go ahead. It is up to you to make it a friendly place to live.

The Cascade Christian Reformed Church will remain also. Its members will continue to be interested in you and this community. They stand ever ready to help you in your need. They welcome you to worship with them. Why don't you accept their offer and get better acquainted.

This article will continue also. May I introduce you to the new author. She is Marian Schoolland, a member of our church and of our community. She is an author by profession, having written many books and a host of material for our denomination. I am sure that her warm friendliness will be enjoyed by all of you.

Progressive Artists, 7 Course Dinner, Is Grand Success

The Thornapple Valley Artists present a recipe for a successful Christmas party. The ingredients: seven gaily decorated homes, a seven course dinner and seventeen hospitable people.

We begin with appetizers at the Lozano home, homemade vegetable soup at the Jarvi home, mint pear salad at the Laird home, then send Mr. and Mrs. Gutzel on to warm the rolls to be served with the main dish of shrimp and Swedish meatballs at the Cheney home; then on to the Lundberg home for vegetable dishes; the Woodrick home for desert and terminate the evening at the Robert Smith home for punch and cookies.

The recipe is guaranteed successful—but for best results supply your own homes and the company.

Thornapple Valley artist Don Vandenberg was presented with the $5.00 award for his winning painting. His "Old Ada" was judged the best of show by those of you who came and viewed the show during the Christmas holidays.

Loss Of Control Main Cause of Ski Injuries, Doctors Say

Skiing is rapidly becoming one of America's most popular winter sports. In northern climes skiing always has drawn its quota of fans. In recent years interest has spread over virtually the entire nation.

There are ski clubs in cities in east Texas. The members annually make a pilgrimage or two to the ski runs of the Rocky Mountains by chartered plane.

With the widespread increase in skiing there has come a consequent increase in ski injuries. Exact figures on skiers injured each day are hard to come by, but studies at individual resorts have shown that about three of each 1,000 skiers on the slopes each day likely will get hurt. On days when skiing conditions are poor the ratio sometimes mounts to as high as 13 injuries for each 1,000 participants.

Medical men who have studied ski injuries report that most accidents involve beginners who attempt ski runs that are too daring for their ability. Loss of control, which usually means going too fast to be able to stop in an emergency, is the single leading cause of accident.

Loss of control stems from poor physical conditioning, lack of experience, faulty technique, fatique and excessive speed. Most accidents occur at noon and late in the afternoon, at the end of long periods of activity.

The better run ski resorts keep up a constant campaign for prevention of injuries. The instructors and the ski patrol remind participants of the elements of ski safety and urge avoidance of fatigue. Trails must be well marked and slopes closed when conditions become dangerous.

The individual skier can help to prevent injury to himself by being physically fit, having good equipment and learning how to ski under control. Pre-season exercises to strengthen legs, particularly knees and ankles, are important. Good equipment includes release bindings, goggles and safety straps on skis. Most important is to remember that an early sign of fatigue is loss of control. Learn to ski under the guidance of a good instructor.

Individuals are strongly advised to learn about the safety precautions of the resort before taking the lift up for their first run. Information on condition of the slope and danger areas is readily available.

Skiing is an excellent sport and is encouraged as a part of the nation's physical fitness program. Most ski injuries could be avoided.

TRIPLE LIFT

The world's first triple-chair lift, located at a western Michigan ski resort, is just one of 81 lifts serving Michigan winter sports centers.

Information concerning all Michigan winter sports center may be obtained by contacting the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing.

Nature Notes

by Edith Jarvi

In January the seed and berry-eating birds which spend the summer in the northern forests and plains begin to wander into our neighborhood. Birds like the Grosbecks, the Waxwings, Redpolls. Snow-buntings and Crossbills do not truly migrate but instead wander from one area to another looking for good food supplies.

Because the frosts last spring ruined the blossom-buds on many trees and shrubs, berries and fruits are in short supply here so so the Waxwings have gone to other areas looking for them. They return in late February for the fruits of the Multi-flora Rose and the Red Cedar which seem plentiful. Cedar Waxwings are a local resident, but sometimes the Bohemian Waxwing of the northern forests is seen in this area.

Evening Grosbeaks are beginning to be seen at feeders and in seed-bearing trees like the ash and Box-Elder. These large birds with brown and yellow bodies and black and white wings and black tail, are very fond of sunflower seed.

Redpolls, a small finch much like a Goldfinch except gray in tone instead of olive-yellow and with a red cap, feed in weedy fields or on the seeds of birch trees and alder shrubs.

Pine Siskins, a smaller streaked finch with yellow in the wings and tail, are sometimes seen here feeding in White Ceder, alder, birch and similar trees.

Red Crossbills and White-winged Crossbills, birds with curious bills adapted to opening pine and spruce cones, sometimes come into our area. They may appear quite tame as they are not accustomed to people in their northern homeland.

The Horned Lark, a bird of the open prairie, is seen on plowed or manured fields in winter and early spring. These tan and white birds with distinctive black markings on forehead, cheeks and throat, never hop. They walk or run over the barren fields they prefer.

The winter wanderer that occurs in perhaps the largest flocks is the common Snow Bunting or Snowflake. They like the same sort of field as the Horned Lark but may also be found in any sort of weed-covered field. Snow Buntings are handsome buff and white birds with extensive white markings in dark wings which show plainly wh they fly. A flock of feeding birds is constantly in motion as the birds in the rear fly up to the front of the flock and settle down to feed again.

Some times these northern birds come early, other years later, but some are seen most every January, February, or early March. They make an otherwise monotonous necessary trip through the bleak winter country, exciting.

Know YOUR MICHIGAN LAW

by Attorney General FRANK J. KELLEY

(This is one of a series of public articles explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

Frequently an unemployed person, who files a claim for unemployment compensation, is denied unemployment compensation benefits because his employer is not subject to the Michigan Employment Security Act.

The question which many ask is, "Under what circumstances does an employer become subject to the Act?"

An employer is subject to the Act when it has 4 or more individuals in its employ in each of 20 different weeks in a calendar year. It is not necessary that the weeks be consecutive, nor that they work full time.

An uncovered employer becomes subject to the Act if he purchases one or more of the following from a covered employer:

1. The organization.
2. Trade or business.
3. Seventy-five percent or more of the assets of the covered employer.

Finally, an employer not otherwise covered by the Act may become subject to it on its own initiative by filing an application for elective coverage if such application is approved by the Commission.

Many types of services are specifically exempted from coverage under the Michigan Employment Security Act, and therefore an employee cannot acquire rights to unemployment compensation for performing such services.

Some of the common exempted services are those in agricultural labor, domestic service in private homes, college clubs not operating for profit, service performed by one in the employ of his son, daughter, or spouse.

Others are services performed by a child under the age of 21 in the employ of his father or mother; service rendered in purely professional capacity, not in the nature of permanent employment; and service performed by real estate salesmen, sales representatives of investment companies and agents or solicitors of insurance companies who are compensated principally or wholly on a commission basis.

Drivers who use seat belts now can avail themselves of a new device that warns when the belt hasn't been fully fastened. It's connected with the ignition system, which does not function until the belt is taut.

Also of interest are thousands of tropical plants, many of which are beautifully colored, huge Royal Palms bordering dense jungle trails, and brilliantly colored macaws and cockatoos which pose with visitors for pictures.
