Two lose licenses with unsafe driving records

The drivers' licenses of 566 Michigan motorists were suspended and those of 26 were revoked during the past week by the Michigan Department of State.

For the reasons listed, the following area drivers lost their licenses:

Christian Bernard Homrich, 20, 6173 Kraft Avenue, SE, unsafe driving record.

Dwight Gene Nishiyama, 20, 3047 Cascade Road, SE, unsafe driving record.

Farmers are big milk drinkers

If the farmers' "City cousins" drank as much milk as is consumed on the farm, there wouldn't be any milk surplus problems.

Don Murray, Michigan State University dairy specialist, has pointed out that on-the-farm per capita milk consumption is 87 pounds more than that consumed by urban and suburban folks. Yet, the difference is declining. Just 10 years ago farm per capita milk consumption was 126 pounds higher than for non-farm consumers.

"If we have the non-farm consumer up to the farm per capita consumption, our surplus problem in the dairy industry would disappear," says the MSU dairy specialist. "In fact, about 60 pounds of this 87 pound difference would eliminate our surplus."

Murray adds that the 60-lb. difference on a per capita basis would amount to about 2½ ounces of milk per meal—about one extra swallow.

School vote on June 14

Voters of the Forest Hills School District will select two members of the Board of Education at the annual school election on Monday, June 14.

James Banta and William Colvin, incumbents, are being opposed by David Gray and G. Ray Knool, for a four year term on the board.

Suburban Life is presenting information on each of the candidates that has been made available, to inform the readers to the best of our ability.

William G. Colvin

William G. Colvin is 37 years old, and has served the Forest Hills School District on the Board of Education for two years. Mr. Colvin is married and the father of two girls, both in Forest Hills Junior High.

The family's residence is at 3685 Leonard, NE.

Mr. Colvin served in the Navy in World War II. He is a graduate of Central High School and attended Grand Rapids Junior College. He is a member of Aldersgate Methodist Church and has been employed at Consumers Power Company for the past 18 years.

Mr. Colvin served as President of The Citizens' Committee for one year before serving on the Board. He would like to continue to serve the parents and youth of the district toward the growth and betterment of our school system.

For the past two years he has worked with the Board of Education and Administration as a group toward the enlargement of the whole school system through new construction and academic growth.

James S. Banta

James S. Banta was born and raised in Grand Rapids. He is 42 years old and was educated at South High School, Grand Rapids Junior College, and graduated from the University of Michigan with a BBA.

Mr. Banta has resided in the Forest Hills area for 18 years and has been involved in school activities the last 10 years, since before consolidation.

Residing at 1885 Spaulding Avenue, SE, his family includes his wife, Janet, and children, John, 17, Mary 16, Steven, 13, David, 10, and Ted, 8.

He served in World War II and the Korean Conflict in the United States Marine Corps, and left the service with the rank of Captain. He is employed as a purchasing agent with the Wolverine Brass Works.

Mr. Banta has been active in the Cascade Christian Church for 13 years as a Sunday School teacher, youth leader, deacon, and is currently an elder and vice-chairman of the board. He has been a sponsor of the Christian Youth Fellowship this past year, and has worked with Boy Scout Troop 334 for several years.

During the past four years, while I have had the privilege of serving on the Forest Hills Schools Board of Education, a number of changes have come about in our school system. We have had a complete survey of our district made by the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services with recommendations for both short and long range planning of our schools. On the basis of this survey we have established a program of balanced growth.

This has resulted in elementary construction, including libraries and all-purpose rooms. With this expansion we will also have full time elementary principals. At the Junior High level our new building will provide facilities for home economics, industrial arts, crafts, science, music, and their own gymnasium. In the high school there will be a more complete industrial arts program and expanded space for the music program.

Along with the physical expansion we have been developing our staff and coordinating our curriculum to best utilize this space for our children's benefit. These goals are being accomplished with a keen awareness of the financial limitations of our district. This is the type of progress I feel is necessary to give our youngsters a sound education. It is my hope to continue to serve the Forest Hills School District in this pursuit for the next four years.

G. Ray Knoll

G. Ray Knoll has been a resident of the Forest Hills area for the past year, when he moved to 2757 MacIntosh, NE, from Grand Rapids.

Mr. Knoll was born in Holland, Michigan, and graduated from high school there. He graduated from Tri-State College in Angola, Indiana, with a degree in engineering. He is presently employed at Guardsman Chemical Coatings, Inc., in Grand Rapids.

Mr. Knoll and his wife, Carmen, have a girl who will attend second grade next fall.

When asked about his reason for wanting to be on the Forest Hills School board, Mr. Knoll revealed that he felt a change of membership on the board was good to keep the views of the board more representative of all the citizens of the district.

David F. Gray

David Gray, 33-year-old father of two young children, is seeking his first term on the Forest Hills School Board.

Dave was born and raised in Grand Rapids. He is a graduate of Ottawa Hills High School and Albion College. The Army used Mr. Gray as a recorder in the Intelligence Department for two years, one of which was spent in Germany.

Mr. Gray is employed in the Sales Division at American Seating Company, and resides at 144 Forest Hill Avenue, SE.

The Gray family moved to Forest Hill Road three years ago and Lynne, the oldest child, has attended Collins Kindergarten this year.

Shopping spree

Mrs. Richard Denkema, 7567 Leonard Street, NE, Route 2, Ada, was a winner in the statewide Pesi-Cola Shopping Spree contest.

Mrs. Denkema will get a chance to keep all the groceries and meats she can carry to the check-out counter, in five minutes.

Mrs. Denkema said Saturday, that she has chosen the Lake Drive Eberhardt Store. One point to her advantage is the meat counter is close to the check-out counter.

The contestant can have no help and cannot use a shopping basket or any other aid in carrying. Good luck!

Announces revival of radio drama with premiere

A new sound, that of radio drama, 1965 dtyle, comes to Western Michigan with the premiere of Theatre 5 on WXTO-FM radio.

In announcing this new program, Fred Beahan, WXTO-FM executive, said that Theatre 5's quality production and contemporary theme will fill the need of today's radio audience for fresh, imaginative radio programming. For those who remember the old days of good radio drama, Theatre 5 represents a re-introduction to a type of radio program not heard for many a year.

The only similarity, however, between the old and Theatre 5 is that both are drama. Theatre 5 is completely up-to-date, right down to the roar of an engine—a 1965 engine.

"We also believe that Theatre 5 will have broad appeal among another segment of our listening audience—those who are too young to have listened to radio drama. For them Theatre 5 represents a completely new listening experience; one that they can relate to and find very entertaining."

The programs to be aired on Theatre 5 run the gamut of the drama spectrum. Listeners will be treated to tales of science fiction, of the strange and unknown, of murder and intrigue, and many with a surprise twist ending.

Sponsored by Union Bank & Trust Company, Theatre 5 is 25 minutes in length and will premiere on June 15 at 10:30 p. m. The programs are produced and distributed by the ABC Radio Network.

Cascade plans safe, fun-filled July 4th program

Preparations are being made for Cascade's annual fourth of July celebration. Plan to stay off the ever dangerous highways this fourth and join in this old-fashioned celebration with the carnival-aire. Your friends are invited.

Booths will open at 11:30 a. m. Whereas the parade has been held in the morning, during past years, it will lead off at 12:30 this year. The change has been arranged to that festivities may continue from the time of the big parade through the beautiful evening fireworks without a single flaw.

The fun will include the main parade, booths, and kiddie rides, river races, a river parade, water fights, ball games, a church supper, and a special Cascade Businessmen's Association free fireworks program.

The CBA program will feature presentation of prizes to winners of the day's special events and competition, drawing of the raffle tickets and introduction of the Ada queen. The tickets are on sale at most all of the Cascade places of business and all contributions to the drawing will be used to help pay for the evening fire works. Prizes are donated by local merchants and individuals.

As in the past years, there will be many fine prizes and much excitement and anticipation. Remember this year the drawing will be held before the fireworks, so buy your tickets early.

The schedule and location of all events, names of entries in the special events, prizes to winning participants and racing games and the drawing prizes available will be published in the Suburban Life, prior to the fourth.

There is plenty of time to ask your friends and relatives to visit you. You will want to stay off the highways and enjoy the fourth in Cascade.

Celebrate 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Minor G. Patterson of Kraft Avenue, SE, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Wednesday, June 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson have resided the full 50 years on the family farm in Cascade Township, the same farm where Mr. Patterson was born 79 years ago.

Mrs. Zetha Schalk and Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Patterson have planned a reception to be held June 20 from 3 to 7 in Fellowship Hall at the Cascade Christian Church.

The many friends and relatives of the Patterson family are cordially invited.

Flag

Next Monday, June 14, will be Flag Day. This day commemorates the adoption by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777 of the Stars and Stripes as the United States flag. It is a legal holiday only in Pennsylvania. But the day is marked on many calendars, and our flag is worthy of our contemplation.

A flag is "a light, flexible cloth usualy oblong, and bearing a device or devices to indicate nationality, party, etc." (Webster's Dictionary). The flag is a symbol of our country, and when we salute the flag we are saluting our country.

This plainly stated in "The Pledge to the Flag": "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation under God indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

May we have the same intense Christian patriotism as Francis Scott Key in 1814 who sang of our nation UNDER GOD:

"Praise the Pow'r that hath made and preserv'd us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto: 'In God is our trust!'
And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

—John Guichelaar

Produce more seed, potato growers told

Michigan potato seedsmen are being urged to produce the varieties that "satisfy the most discriminating consumer."

Norman R. Thompson, Michigan State University crop scientist, says new varieties and improved production practices can assure the quality potatoes needed to meet any specific needs. He has requested the Michigan Potato Industry Council and the Michigan Crop Improvement Association to reactivate their variety committee to "assist in the evaluation of the many potential varieties" now available.

"Insufficient production of this seed curtails the opportunity to capitalize on special markets," he asserts. "To supply quality potatoes, the seedsman must be thinking and producing several years ahead of demand."

Thompson points out that the Michigan Crop Improvement Association controls the tablestock and processing markets. They make variety recommendations and it is their responsibility to see that seedsmen grow potatoes appropriate to current demands.

Among those potatoes gaining in popularity, according to the MSU crop scientist, are Onaway, Arenac and Emmet.

"The Onaway is an outstanding early potato," says Thompson. "Its high yield of tubers with that 'new potato flavor' make it ideal for the July and August market.

"The Arenac has equalled or surpassed its rivals as a baking potato in market trials over the past two years. In addition to its superior texture, it has the added asset of good flavor.

"Emmet is a general purpose potato that cooks white and retains its color. Its high yield makes it a profitable variety to grow."

Thompson added that seed of these varieties is in short supply and that their production should be increased as rapidly as possible.

New diet to lose beer-belly without giving up the beer

Dieters need no longer refrain from drinking alcoholic beverages, declares an article on weight control in a current magazine.

"Alcohol is not fattening if taken as part of a calorically balanced diet," affirms Doctor Leon A. Greenberg, director of Yale University's Laboratory of Applied Biodynamics, in the article.

According to Dr. Greenberg, it is possible to be on a diet and not be required to give up alcoholic beverages, if they are taken in moderation. "After all, a jigger of scotch or an eight-ounce glass of beer comes to around 100 calories, less than a couple of slices of unenriched white bread," says the doctor.

In accordance with Dr. Greenberg's declaration, and after consultation with leading medical authorities, a medically approved diet has been developed, which includes regular serving of alcoholic beverages, that guarantees a weight loss of one pound per week.

The basis of this unusual diet is the same as virtually all other moderate dieting programs, an intake of 1,500 calories per day.

However, included among the tastier solid delicacies in this program are bacon, ham, pork chops, shrimps, steaks and veal in meats; ice cream, apple pie, angel food cake and sherbet among the desserts.

And for that extra zesty end to a perfect evening, nightcaps of beer, scotch, bourbon, rye, cognac and vodka are recommended, along with such mixed drinks as martinis, Tom Collins', and whisky sours.

So for you lager-loving, bourban-belting, scotch-snorting, rye-raising, cognac-craving imbibers of good cheer with beer-bellies and restrictive diets, will help you to enjoy dieting and even "Drink Yourself Thin."

The "Low Down" From the Congressional Record

By Joe Crump

UNION AIDS AUTOMATION

Senator J. C. Boggs (Del.) "... At the Phoenix Steel Corp plant at Claymont, Del. ... the onset of automation has produced cooperation instead of trouble.

"I ask ... that a news article from the Wilmington Morning News ... be inserted in the Record." (The condensed article by Martin Frost, follows):

Union members at Phoenix Steel Corp's Claymont plant have agreed to tighten their belts temporarily so the firm may purchase modern machinery, a step that is expected to increase the labor force by more than one-third in the long run.

The plant was obsolete, "William G. Toner, international representative for the United Steelworkers of America (USW), points out.

The Phoenix board chairman Stanley Kirk, expresses what the company was facing a little more strongly: "A dead company would be no good to anyone."

Essentially the situation was that Phoenix saw a need to undertake a massive modernization campaign to speed up production and make operation more efficient.

However, there was one main obstacle in the path of modernization: Article 19, section 1 of the company's contract with Local 3182 of the United Steelworkers. This clause provided that the company could not reduce the size of existing work crews without the consent of the union.

Modern machinery would not increase efficiency if work crews had to be kept at the same size, the company contended.

After consultation with national union officials, the local agreed late last month to waive the clause for two years, the time needed by the plant to install the new equipment.

The short-range effect of the local's agreement to waive article 19, section 1, will be a reduction of employees at the plant.

Toner and Local President Edgar M. Gibson see this as a short-range sacrifice. They predict the plant will be employing at least 2,000 production workers once the modernization is completed. Present employment is 1,450 production workers. Kirk agrees that in the long run employment will be up, probably to 2,000 in two years.

Kirk is high in praise of the union for its cooperation. "They are to be commended," he said. "They have been realistic."

A GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Labor disputes and picketing gets the headlines. Little publicity attends the efforts of management and the unions to amicably solve their automation problems.

Progressive unions are aware that helping to keep business competitive and profitable is the best assurance of job security.—J. C.

Michigan is vacation land for Americans

With four times as much fresh water than any other state, an abundance of snow for winter sports and great natural beauty in autumn, Michigan's position as a four-season vacation state is reflected in the continuing increase of year-around visitors.

Some 12 million fun-loving Americans fished, swam, hunted, boated, camped and otherwise enjoyed themselves in Michigan during 1964. They spent more than $814 million and pushed tourism into the number two position in the state's economy.

Michigan is endowed with 36,000 miles of rivers and streams, 11,000 inland lakes and more than 3,000 miles of Great Lakes shoreline.

With the recent record winter season now a matter of statistics, all indicators point to a summer tourist business unequalled in Michigan history.

Americans are enjoying more leisure time than ever before and they have more discretionary income. Coupled with this is a rapidly increasing interest in outdoor recreation.

The future of Michigan as a playground for American is bright. Economic forecasters predict that by 1975 the average annual family income will be more than $7,500 and the nation's population will be 230 million persons who will enjoy 15 percent working days and 50 percent more paid holidays.

The state's two peninsulas provide seven million acres of public hunting land, nearly 15,000 sites for campers, lakes and streams which are a fisherman's delight and thousands of miles of clean, sandy beaches for vacationing families.

Autumn beckons the visitors who thrill to the noiseless drama of the chamging forest as well as an army of hunters.

Winter visitors find nearly 90 organized winter sports areas throughout the state and every community is within short driving distance of at least one winter sports facility. Some 250,000 snow fans visited the ski hills during the past season and there is no reason to doubt that next year will be even better.

With its excellent freeway system, getting to Michigan's recreation areas is a pleasure. Hundreds of miles of toll free divided highways speed the vacationer to his destination safely.

Michigan is beautiful, and there's plenty of room for everyone.

Summer arrives here on June 21

Summer will arrive in Michigan officially at 9:56 a. m. on Monday, June 21.

University of Michigan astronomer Dr. Hazel M. Losh reminds us that the Sun has been steadily climbing northward, and on June 21 will reach the summer solstice, 23.5 degrees from the equator, the most northerly point reached by the Sun in its apparent yearly journey.

On that day the northern hemishere will receive the most heat from the Sun in any 24-hour period of the year, but the chances are very good that this day of the summer solstice, the longest day of the year, will not be the hottest of the summer.

There will be more than fifteen hours of daylight of that day, Professor Losh says, but the peak of the season usually comes from four to six weeks later, because the Earth receives more heat from the Sun than is lost each day. The Earth will be storing up more heat than it is losing, because the atmosphere acts like a blanket holding back some of the heat falling on the surface. Consequently temperatures are likely to keep climbing until around the first of August, when the Earth will begin to lose more heat than it is taking in. This is known as the "lag of the seasons."

Fortunately we are farthest from the Sun during our summer and nearest it during the winter, so that our seasons in the north tend to be a little milder than those of the southern half of the globe, she explains.

Also since the Earth is moving a little slower on its orbit around the Sun during our summer, this season is slightly longer than our winter. This is known as the "inequality of the seasons," and is said to have been detected by Thales as early as the 6th century B. C. Since we have a longer day, we have a shorter night, which of course is not so good for astronomers, especially for amateurs with the warmer evenings conductive to observation.

U-M spring term adds educational resource

The University of Michigan's new spring term is the equivalent of adding a new small college to the state's educational resources, a University official has commented.

This year the U-M has started a three-term, year-round operation. A spring-summer term includes a spring session of seven and one-half weeks and a similar summer session. The spring half began May 4; the summer session will begin on June 28.

Nearly 8,000 students are enrolled for the spring term, vice-president Roger W. Heyns has reported. University officers estimate that over 5,000 of these full-time students who are thus gaining an extra seven and one-half weeks during the academic year.

"This is about the same as adding a small college of about 1,300 students for an entire year," Dr. Heyns says.

Insect bites

Insect bites and stings may be but slight annoyances to some. To others, they give rise to severe reactions says Dr. W. B. Prothro, City-County Health officer.

Or they cause local infections, usually as the result of scratching. To some highly susceptible persons, insect stings are fatal. In an analysis of fatalities (460) caused in a ten-year period by venomous animals in the United States, bees were responsible for more deaths, 124, than any other animal, including rattlesnakes, 94.

Wasps were third on the list, causing 69 deaths and poisonous spiders fourth, causing 65.

Although bees are not inclined to sting unless molested, it is hard to avoid flailing at them. Bees are not active at low temperatures or on dull damp days. White or light clothing is less provocative than dark colors.

Bees are attracted by certain odors as those of sweat, perfume and pomades. Moving objects are attacked by insects more often than still objects. It is known that mosquitoes and fleas will attack some persons and ignore others.

For the more susceptible, insect repellents, especially those that contain N,N-diethyl-m-toluamide, are helpful. Spraying or dusting with insecticides on patios or lawns may be effective for a day or more.

It is best to use only insecticides that disintegrate rapidly and are of minimum toxicity.

Michigan holds the record for milk produced by a single cow. In a 365 day period during 1951-52, a seven year old Holstein of Green Meadow Farms at Elsie in Clinton County, produced more than 21 tons of milk.
