Fire destroys home; sustain $50,000 loss

A roaring fire destroyed a Cascade home Saturday night. Fire Chief Grover Buttrick of the Cascade Volunteer Fire Department reported.

Fire fighting units from Ada and Cascade had the fire temporarily under control, but due to the steep driveway which was iced over, additional water trucks could not reach the scene. It was a very heart-breaking circumstance to the owners and the volunteer firemen, who fought the blaze in sub-zero weather.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Grotenhuis, which fronts on Thornapple River at 6755 Burger Drive, SE, was completely destroyed with no hope of salvaging anything. Initial estimates set the loss to the building, a split-level brick and wood structure and its contents, in the range of $50,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Grotenhuis were out for the evening when the fire broke out. Their two children, Frank 7, and Judy 10, were at home with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vander-Weide of Wyoming. The grandparents and children fled into the zero weather, to a neighbor to sound the alarm. There were no injuries.

The cause of the blaze was not immediately known, but at this time Mr. Buttrick believes a faulty furnace was the cause.

Information night on Lutheran Home, Jan. 24

The Committee on Social Ministry of Trinity Lutheran Church has arranged for a "Lutheran Home Information Night" Monday, January 24, at 7:30 p. m. in Fellowship Hall.

The Grand Rapids Lutheran Home for the aged at 1706 S. Division is one of the social ministry institutions of Trinity Lutheran Church. Prior to 1962, when the Lutheran Church in America was formed, the home was an institution of the Augustana Synod. It is presently under the control of Lutheran Social Services of Michigan, the social ministry arm of the Synod.

Trinity Lutheran has been associated with this home in various ways. Two of its members are now living there. At one time during the past two years four of its members resided there. Various groups from Trinity have visited the home on several occasions.

Many questions have been asked regarding this home. What is its history? How many residents are there? What are entrance requirements?

What is envisioned for the home, and is the building adequate?

Dr. Harry Wolff, executive director of Lutheran Social Services of Detroit will present the informative program. Interested persons from other congregations in the area are also invited.

Come, listen ask questions. Who knows? Perhaps someday you will be a resident at this home. Please phone the church office, 949-2510, if you plan to attend.

Veterans are sure to bring your December disability check.

Experiences big year of growth

Union Bank and Trust experienced its greatest year of growth in history during 1965, according to President Edward J. Frey. Record high levels were set in total resources, net operating earnings, loans, deposits and capital funds.

In a letter to stockholders, Frey reported total resources up over $26 million, or 16.97 percent, to a new high of $183.5 million at year end. Net operating earnings soared 17.51 percent or $134 thousand more than in 1964 to a record $902 thousand. With 150 thousand shares outstanding, earnings were $6.02 per share compared to $5.12 a year ago. Frey said the Bank is reporting on an accrual rather than a cash accounting basis this year, and that approximately 22 cents of the increased earnings per share may be attributed to the change in accounting procedure.

"Still," said Frey, "This leaves us with increased earnings of 68 cents per share... despite the fact that operating expenses in 1965 moved up over $1 million to $7.3 million. Over 3.5 million of total expenses represented interest paid to the savings account depositors of our bank!"

The gross operating income amounted to $8.5 million, exceeding last year's total by $1.2 million.

Total loans were $98.7 million, up 20.6 percent or $16.8 million over 1964. Deposits increased $20.6 million or 14.5 percent to a new high of over $162 million.

Capital funds, including capital notes and General Reserves, stood at $13 million at year end, an increase of $4.9 million over 1964.

Said Frey: "We've had another great year in a great community. It was our good fortune to break ground for a new main office home last year; open new offices in Jenison and Ada which met with excellent success; and declare our plans to convert to a National Bank. It's been quite a year."

A special stockholders' meeting has been called for January 31, 1966 so stockholders may approve the change from a State to a National Bank.

Notice to Cascade Township taxpayers

All taxpayers eligible for Soldier's exemption or Senior Citizens exemption should make application for these exemptions at the office of Township Supervisor, before March 1966.

Those eligible for soldiers or veterans exemption must show a V.A. check on or before March 1, 1966. Any new applicant must also produce discharge papers, proof of ownership of land deed, or Land Contract.

The new Senior Citizens exemption applies to any taxpayer owning or purchasing a home where one of the owners is at least 65 years, with an income of less than $5,000 per year. The husband and wife income must be combined and must include social security income. Your total assessed valuation must not exceed $10,000 per year.

You must present your social security number, birth certificate and evidence of ownership or purchase of homestead.

I will be in my office every Saturday from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. to assist with these applications. I urge every eligible taxpayer to take advantage of these exemptions. It could mean a reduction of $60 to $75 per year in your tax bill.

Al Houseman's new neighbors

Mr. and Mrs. Al Houseman, have just recently opened the Citgo Service Station on Fulton Road, formerly known as Rix Robinson's Trading Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Houseman moved here from Petoskey. They have two children, Mary Ann 18, and Michael 15, who attend Forest Hills high school.

Mrs. Houseman is kept busy as she works at Amway Corporation and as Mr. Houseman has only one day a week free from the service station, he doesn't have much time left for hobbies.

The station will render the high standard service that modern cars require, auto repairs, motor tune-ups and welding. The small store inside will carry the usual pick-up items of bread, milk, and the usual things that one runs out of on Sunday.

Stop in and get acquainted with Al and his fine service.

Appalachia choir will give concert January 26

Much interest has been aroused in the Suburban Life area by the Voices of Appalachia Choir from The Alice Lloyd College located at Pippa Passes, Kentucky, which has scheduled a concert on January 26 at the Cascade Christian Church.

The 53 member choir gives a one hour concert of true mountain folk music. They have performed in many Eastern cities, and last summer sang at the World's Fair. There is no charge for the concert.

A free will offering will be taken and given to the group to help defray their expenses. The tours are conducted to interested people in the school and its work.

The Alice Lloyd College's primary program is educating talented mountain youth, without cost, as leaders to help their own people. In 48 years it has educated most of the teachers, doctors, engineers and lawyers of the area.

Alice Lloyd came in 1916 to Caney Creek at Pippa Passes where there was almost no school opportunity. She enticed volunteer teachers and established 100 one-room grade schools and 15 high schools in the years 1916-1923. In 1923 the College was established. Alice Lloyd was determined that the mountain's youth should have a chance for education.

Alice Lloyd College is educating disadvantaged young people as leaders in the professions so that there can be a self-determination of the people of Appalachia in relationship to the programs that are brought in, and so there can be pride in the area at having furnished a significant leadership of its own for the self-reliance of the mountain people.

In September of 1965, 800 young people applied for admittance to the school. Only 199 could be accepted, because of limited facilities, bringing the total enrollment to 287 students in the College.

The College received its name because of Miss Lloyd's love of Browning's poem "Pippa Passes." This brief but delightful drama was conceived when the poet was walking in a woods near Dulwich. There came to his mind the image of someone, unimportant in himself and unconscious of his influence upon others, walking along thru life and yet influencing permanently the lives of those whom he met. Alice Lloyd passed away in 1963, leaving a dedicated staff carrying on her work on a level of increasing opportunity for the education of the Appalachian area's future leaders.

This is a private non-tax-supported institution which reaches across the mountains of Appalachia to the American people, looking for friends to help educate the mountain children.

The Cascade Christian Church invites the community at large to come listen to the Voice of Appalachia at 8 p. m. on January 26. Enjoy their ballads telling stories of their land and people, the hymns, legends and folk songs typical of Appalachia.

A reception will follow the concert in Fellowship Hall, where you can greet the choir.

Anyone wishing the opportunity of having a choir member as an overnight guest may contact Mrs. M. Vekasi at 676-1884 or Mrs. R. Masten at 949-3908.

enjoyed the 15 degree weather by sliding, skiing and ice skating, these hardy youths took part in a grueling exhibition of organization and know-how.

In preparation for the event, the team of Flying Eagles had met last week at the home of Vern Boynton on Cascade Rd., and had gotten the dog sled in good running order and had received a list of equipment needed from James Banta. Each boy was assigned a certain portion of equipment, items such as ropes, pots, first-aid materials and blankets. It was up to each Scout to fulfill his list so that the team would be in readiness on Saturday.

At the same time the Black Widows were meeting at the home of Charles Burlingham on Dorset Drive. This team was comprised of Scouts John Barker, John Price, Al Heneveld, Greg Van Strein, Scott Butterworth, and Wayne VanArtesen.

Then on Saturday at 11 a. m. at the starting point all of the competing teams gathered. It was a great sight to see the gay flags rising above the sleds of the 60 teams which participated. The boys, bundled against the cold, were full of energy and excitement. Sleds were judged and each team was given sealed orders which contained directions for the various stations or "Cities to be visited."

Each sled was pulled by seven boys who acted as sled dogs and pushed and directed by one member of the team behind it. This is a race so time is of the essence and understanding and fulfilling the orders most important. In order to get off to a good start, team work is immediately required.

At colorfully named "cities" Skagway, Kodiak, Yukon, Pass, Polar Cove, Attu, Fairbanks, Frost Corners, one or more problems were to be solved. At the starting point, Juneau, parents and Scout leaders cheered their teams off on the great adventure.

If you had been able to follow the Flying Eagles, you could have found that at one stop Mike Martin was declared a victim who had to be saved. This enigma was solved when Tom Dygert first coiled a rope and then threw it to him over a long distance. Mike was then dragged by the team back to safety. Judges at each city determined the success or failure of the Scouts to work out each problem.

Points were awarded in the form of Golden Nuggets which were put carefully in a pouch for totaling at the end of the race.

At one city a dam was about to break. In order to save the community, Steve Banta had to measure a 200 foot height with the judgement of his eye, the correct distance for the placement of the repair materials. Another kind of measurement was taken by Doug Boynton, when he was required to follow several compass headings and bring his team out at the correct location.

The orders read like this; go 20 degrees for fifty feet, then 130 degrees for seventy feet, and 240 degrees for twelve feet. Doug had to know the length of his own stride in order to land his team on the right spot.

Morse code messages sent by signal flag and correctly received by Bill Vekasi added points for the Flying Eagles.

Then at one city Jim Dygert was told that he been in a burning building and a floor had collapsed. Jim had fallen through and was badly injured. He had a 50-50 chance of survival. It was up to the team to save him. Ted Zeiderveen and Craig Chandler did all that they could with their first aid knowledge and Jim was wrapped carefully in blankets and placed in the sled to be hurried to the next city where a doctor was waiting. Upon arrival there, boiling water was required so that the doctor could sterilize his instruments. This meant building a fire... without kindling... in order for his operation to be a success. After saving his life, the team could take a brief respite and eat, but even outdoor cookery had to be "just right" under the watchful eye of a judge.

The clock was still ticking away so soon as the hamburgers were gratefully devoured, the team took off to reach the finish line.

The Flying Eagles received 46 out of a possible 50 points. A race well run. The final results will not be known immediately, the Scout office has to tabulate the figures, but this team was among the first ones in.

If these boys should be in 1 of the first three places, they will go on to the state races in a new locale. Whether or not, their knowledge, ingenuity and determination were rewarded after 4 cold hours with a satisfaction not soon to be forgotten.

Review vacations

Recent concern over school vacation periods has been shown by parents, students and teachers. Forest Hills limits its vacation period in order to dismiss school earlier in the summer.

Early dismissal gives students and teachers a better opportunity to obtain good summer positions or to prepare for summer school.

However, a spring recess of only two days certainly does conflict with plans for a family spring vacation away from home.

The school calendar for next year will be considered by the board of education early this spring. Short vacations vs an extended year will again be discussed. Your parent organization may want to make recommendations at this time. Remember that Michigan law requires that public schools be in session 180 days a year. If you have any recommendations for vacation schedules get in touch with the school and voice your opinion.

Claim funds in effect as of first of year

The new Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund is now in effect and claims for accidents which have occurred since the first day of 1966 may be filed by innocent victims of uninsured motorists.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, chief administering official of the Fund, said he did not expect any claims to be coming in for a while yet until possibly the end of the month at the earliest.

"Persons have one year from the date of the accident to file against the Fund," Hare said. "In any event, our Lansing central Fund office is getting geared up for business." The Fund's director is Robert E. Hall, Lansing attorney and insurance executive.

Hare said persons who have not contributed into the Fund since they have until February 28 to buy plates and make their contributions are eligible for making claims against the Fund.

Hold alumni assn. meeting

The Shaw-Beaumont Group of the Michigan State University Alumni Association had their meeting Wednesday, January 12. Mrs. Julian W. Fowler of 141 Auburn, SE, was the hostess with Mrs. Lee Roy Schiefeler acting as co-hostess.

For the evening's program Mrs. Martin D. Butch gave an informal talk entitled "Legislative Comments in a Walnut Shell".

Other members attending were: Miss Jane Albee, Mrs. Eugene R. Bouwkamp, Mrs. Robert D. Cooper, Mrs. Wayne L. Corey, Mrs. Wayne Eldred, Mrs. Marvin L. Germain, Mrs. Gordon C. Lake, Mrs. Marlin F. Munk, Mrs. Benjamin R. Parker, Mrs. J. Laird Wotring, Mrs. Walker E. Smith, and Miss Mary Talbot.

The younger generation today is no sillier than you were at that age.

Names

What's your name? is a question that is asked often and that ought to be asked much more often than it is. We should know each other, not only by facial appearance, but by name. It may be impossible for all of us to know each other by name, but the very least we can do is to try. This requires the concentration of a mind that is alert, and of a heart which is truly interested in the neighbor whom we are to love as ourselves, according to the commandment of Jesus Christ.

But no matter how many people you know there is one name which you must by all means know. It is the Name of GOD. And you must know God's Name, not merely as a name among many other names, nor simply as one in addition to other names in your vocabulary, but you must acknowledge God's Name as THE Name, as the SUPREME Name.

In the Lord's Prayer Jesus taught us to pray: "Hallowed by Thy Name," Matthew 6:9. This means: "Grant us, first, rightly to know Thee, and to sanctify, glorify and praise Thee in all Thy works... further also, that we may so order and direct our whole life, thoughts, words and actions, that Thy Name may not be blasphemed but honored and praised on our account." Heidelberg Catechism, Q. 122. Make this your prayer, and your life!

"Every man owes a part of his time and money to the business or industry in which he is engaged. No man has a moral right to withhold his support from an organization that is striving to improve conditions within his sphere."

Marathon game lasts 27 hours

Friday, January 14, at five p. m. fifteen junior class boys started a basketball game at full steam which lasted till Saturday night at 8:05 p. m. to break the record of Grand Rapids Christian.

This all started out when a Canadian team played for 24 hours straight, then they were over-shadowed by Grand Rapids Christian which played 24 hours and 50 minutes.

Later the Canadians came back and lasted 26 hours. The Forest Hills squad beat that by 27 hours.

The score was 2180-2126 points. Winners were Team 2, captained by John Prickett. Other members of the winning team were Joe Hill, Todd Johnson, Randy Bruwer, and Fred Rogg. The losing team, No. 1, captained by John Jensen ran up a score of 2126. Other members of the team were Bob Hofmeyer, Jack Moyer, Fred Merizon, Tim Moore, Jim Koert, Brett Tuttle and Pat Van Haren.

As the boys started out it looked as though they were only going to play a couple hours as the pace was pretty fast. They slowed down considerably about 1 a. m. They took turns sleeping for an hour at a time on mats and sleeping bags in the hall, where they had a little more quiet, however, very little sleep was found by most of the boys. The champion was Tim Moore, who didn't sleep for the full 27 hours, and he really looked quite fresh at the end, but said he didn't think he would need a sleeping pill that night.

The boys arrived with all kinds of pop, sandwiches, potatoe chips and candy. They were fortified at 6 a. m. when Carol Derogoe, Terrie Gietzen and Mary Comrie arrived with coffee and sweet rolls. Many of the boys were observed rubbing liniment on their aching legs.

Bill Weston had his shoes taken by some admirer. The boys started out in shorts, some changed to levis then back to shorts and sweatshirts.

One of the boys went out for breakfast which lasted from 8 a. m. to 5, but he returned to finish the game. One of the star players left early for a big date; but he was a bundle of fun.

All the boys expressed their great appreciation to the parents who chaperoned the event at 2 hour stretches. They especially want to thank William Tuttle, who stayed from 1 a. m. til 5 a. m. and Mr. and Mrs. John Jensen who were there from 9 til 1 a. m. Some of the chaperones didn't arrive as they were not notified, so these parents filled in for them.

Other parents chaperoning the event were Mrs. Martin Koert, Ray Moore, Fred M. Searle, Mrs. Herman Hofmeyer, Ed Bruwer, Mr. and Mrs. John Merizon, Joe Moyer and Carl Nowack.

The senior boys just can't let the juniors out do them, so after the regular basketball season ends, they plan to challenge the 27 hour record.

As the boys left the gym, they were moaning and groaning of their poor aching feet and legs, but at the end of the game one would never think they had played more than a regular game.

Most mothers had steak for the boys, a hot shower or bath, and a nice clean bed to fall into.

Grand Rapids Art Museum to show art exhibit from Smithsonian

A traveling exhibition of fifty works by American Artists is now on display at the Grand Rapids Art Museum, continuing through January 30. "Contemporary American Drawings II" is touring throughout the United States and Canada under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service. Drawings for the 1966 show were selected by Miss Agnes Mongan, Curator of Drawings at the Fogg Art Museum, Harvard University, from almost 2,000 entries submitted for the 21st American Drawing Annual held in Norfolk, Virginia.

Drawings employ techniques in a variety of media: pencil, lithographic crayon, charcoal, pastel, sumi ink, and combinations of all these. Every sort of style is represented, from those following honored traditions to those exploring the newest techniques and concepts. Figurative drawings are in the majority, indicating continuing respect for the discipline of draftsmanship. Many of the works in the exhibition are for sale. The hours for the Museum are daily 10 to 5 and Sunday 2 to 5. Admission free.

No issue is ever settled correctly upon the basis of force, regardless of what measure of compulsion is used.

Sales Execs plan 'success' panel

The January meeting of Sales & Marketing Executives of Grand Rapids was held at the Morton House on Monday evening, January 17.

What is that special "something" that sets one company apart from another... that raises one salesman from failure to success? Is there a sure-fire plan that guarantees success in sales and marketing?

Their own "Amazing Success Stories" were reviewed by a panel of four of Grand Rapids' most successful businessmen. The panel, consisting of Rich DeVos, Amway Corporation; Jim Lloyd, Bissell, Inc.; Fred Meijer, Meijer's Super Markets; and Len Westdale, Westdale Realty, discussed the pros and cons of achieving success in the world of business and industry today.

Each told his own story... of the efforts and tactics involved... and of the rewards to be gained.

Million Mothers in 'Protest March' To Support March of Dimes Drive

A million American mothers will stage a "protest march" during January. They are protesting that birth defects have been too long neglected. Even more, they are demonstrating their hope of assuring a Happy Birth Day for 11,000 American babies born each day, 700 of whom come into this world with birth defects that disfigure, disable or kill.

During the traditional Mothers' March for the March of Dimes, the women will enlist their neighbors' support and contributions for the 1966 March of Dimes fight against birth defects which strike 250,000 American babies each year.

On their house calls, the Mothers' Marchers will distribute a new leaflet, entitled "Happy Birth Day," telling members of their communities what they can do in this important battle. The leaflet explains what to do "If you are about to be married, if you are expecting a baby, if a birth defect occurs in your family, if you have friends with a defective child."

For the third consecutive year, actress Jane Wyatt is serving as national chairman of the Mothers' March for the March of Dimes. Speaking to groups of volunteers about the informative aspects of their duties, she says:

"Most of your neighbors don't know very much about birth defects. If they did, there would be twice as many March of Dimes Birth Defects Centers right now. If they did, every parent in America, every young person who hopes someday to be a parent, would react to the facts just as you and I do. And they would want to do something about it, get out and march, ring doorbells, make a contribution.

"All March of Dimes programs," Miss Wyatt points out, "are important approaches to the ultimate goal of giving every baby the chance to be-

Drive safely

The automobile accidents in the county and in the immediate area are steadily on the rise, each day on radio and television and the papers we read of someone being killed in our neighborhood or community.

Nearly every driver is very conscious of the heavy traffic on the highways in the larger cities, but we all tend to become careless in our own little villages, due to familiarity. We are very apt to slow down for a familiar stop street instead of coming to a full stop, and if more of us would get tickets as your's truly did for slowing down at a familiar stop street, we would soon remember to come to a full stop at these too familiar places.

The hue and cry is to raise the driving age, but that is not the solution, as the average 16 year old driver is much more careful about coming to a stop at all stop streets, and as parents of new drivers, I am sure that you have been told the wrong things you do yourself, not intentionally, but simply from habit after driving many years. Most parents of teen-age drivers didn't take Driver's Training and at time have wondered how we have ever gotten along so many years without it. But maybe we should all listen to our new Driver Training Drivers, they can refresh us on those little things we are doing that shouldn't be done.

Occasionally we hear of a serious traffic accident by a 16 year old driver, but the majority of them are by drivers from 18 on up. The new driver is much more careful, and it is those who have been driving 2 years and more that become over-confident and careless.

The big rush to get some place is the determining factor in our speed, but it is better to be 5 minutes late than to become a statistic.

Let's all slow down on that gas peddle—come to a full stop at all stop streets and practice a little common courtesy.

gin life with a strong, healthy body."

March of Dimes contributions fight birth defects by supporting:

—A nationwide network of 69 Birth Defects Centers to make available the most comprehensive diagnosis and treatment for birth defects victims,

—A nationwide scientific research program aimed at finding the causes of birth defects and methods of prevention,

—A nationwide professional education program which channels latest scientific findings to researchers, practicing physicians and other professional personnel involved in the care of children with birth defects, and —A nationwide public education program to inform the public of the magnitude of the problem of birth defects and what can be done about it through prenatal care, treatment and research

Medical authorities recognize that birth defects, in hundreds of different forms, overshadow all other child health problems. They are this country's second greatest killer, claiming the lives of 60,000 children and adults each year plus destroying an estimated 500,000 babies before they are born.
