Ada Township's fire loss in 1966 hits $17,025; down from 1965

Fire damage in Ada Township during 1966 reached $17,025 according to Fire Chief Howard Butts.

The township's fire loss was down $9,375 over 1965's loss of $26,400, and far below 1964's staggering total of $60,000.

Firemen answered 58 alarms this year, up from 1965's total of 47. Firemen were called on 67 occasions in 1964.

Damage was estimated at $11,975 to building and property in 1966, with loss to contents totaling $5,050; grand total $17,025.

Most numerous of the fires again were of the grass variety as firemen answered 18 alarms. The next numerous fire was to automobiles and trucks with 15.

Other calls answered were: eleven dwelling fires; three, other than dwellings; one false alarm; nine assistant runs; and one resuscitation run.

According to Butts, the Township unit saved $102,500 in property and contents in 1966.

The Army's Quartermaster School is located at Fort Lee, Virginia, one of the most historic spots in the country.

Damage to mailboxes by pranksters, vandals

Mailboxes are protected by Federal law, and pranksters or vandals who damage or destroy the boxes and their contents may be in for a heavy fine or imprisonment, Ada Postmaster Milton Hein warned today.

The Postmaster noted that some 25,000 mail receptacles were damaged or destroyed in the past year. It was also noted that 2,641 persons were arrested the year up to June 30 for damaging or destroying mail receptacles.

The Postmaster quoted from the law: "Whoever wilfully or maliciously injures, tears down or destroys any letterbox or other receptacle intended or used for the receipt or delivery of mail on any mail route, or breaks open the same or wilfully or maliciously injures, defaces or destroys any mail deposited therein, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than three years."

This applies to all mail receptacles and the mail in them, even though the boxes are bought by citizens and are their personal property.

"Pranksters — and especially children who do not know any better — should be made to realize the seriousness of their actions," the Postmaster said. "A $1,000 fine or a term in jail is enough to take the humor out of any prank."

Often the mailbox damage is the work of youths, who do it for "kicks". And the courts have shown little sympathy for this youthful means of expression. In Michigan, a justice sentenced two 18-year olds to 10 days in jail, including two on a diet of baby food. The diet specification, explained the judge, was because the youths "acted like babies." They were also fined $25 each plus $15 costs.

In New York state, five youths were fined $25 each plus restitution or restoration, plus no driving for an indefinite period, plus an 8 p. m. curfew, plus a written analysis by each of a magazine article entitled "A Judge Gets Tough on Hoodlums."

Two Iowa youths who damaged 39 mailboxes were required to personally apologize to each boxholder in addition to making repairs or providing a new box.

In Missouri, three 17-year-olds lost their driving privileges, were given a 9 p. m. curfew, and had to report twice weekly to juvenile authorities. They had damaged 63 mailboxes.

And in Arkansas, four juveniles faced the following:
 No driving until further notice; a 10 p. m. curfew; return to court in a month with letters from their school principals reporting on grades and attitudes; full restitution of all damages; and wear a sign for 30 days stating "I have not learned to respect the property of others."

To attend State Youth Commission

Gary Crum and David VanHeyningen, West-Central Districts of Christ district youth president and vice president, respectively, will be in Lansing Thursday evening, all day Friday and Saturday morning attending the state youth commission meeting of that religious communion.

They will meet with adult youth leaders and other youth representing the different areas of the state of Michigan.

Mr. Robert Cueni, assistant pastor of Cascade Christian Church will also attend the commission meeting, in the capacity of adult youth advisor in the West-Central district.

Remedial reading instructors needed by Juvenile Court

Kent County Juvenile Court, Citizen's Council, Cedar & Ball Avenues, is recruiting volunteers to train for remedial reading. The course will begin February 6 and run for two weeks Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 to 11 a.m.

After completion of the training period a probation officer will assign a child to each volunteer, who is on probation under the court, but attending his own school. The tutor will meet with the child three times a week at the instructor's convenience, and will stay with the child for the remainder of the school year. This is a most rewarding project.

For more information please contact Mrs. H. E. Brunhoff, 676-1769 or Kent County Juvenile Court, 451-2011.

The Cracker Barrel

The flea market

Fanciful goings-on in Ada. The Flea Market is there. Just like its European counterpart, it has a variety of objects for your perusal.

But instead of being out of doors and exposed to the elements, you can browse in cosy comfort at Donny's on Ada Dr. You'll be welcomed to a delightful array that includes items from crowbars to calligraphs to candleholders, from whippetrees to wastebaskets to what-nots.

Just about anything and everything is grist for the flea market. Any material from gaily painted rocks to delicately etched glassware can be found. Often people arrive with an article to sell and walk out with a purchase for home.

If you like to buy unusual pieces for yourself or for special gifts to special people, here is an opportunity to poke among many items not usually offered under one roof. Remember Valentine's Day will soon be here, then Spring brides and graduates galore. You'll find modern oils for the swingers, and cross-stitch mottoes for the reminiscencers.

Have you been looking for a steel-plated fish? Or perhaps you'd like a twelve inch carved handpointing left. Great in a sophisticated office or to let your guests know how to find the powder room. Perhaps a big Stauffer couch is just what will strike your fancy or a dog house from which Snoopy can fight the Red Baron.

Special calligraphs take up one wall and are the original work of artist Leonard Kik. These are exclusive in this area at Donny's. He told Mrs. Johnson, one of the partners, that he did one recently that read, "Do Not Blow Thy Cool." Any teenager would get the message.

One man was intrigued by the various bells on the shelves and mentioned to Mrs. Johnson that he really shouldn't be looking at them. "My basement is already full of bells, he said, "but then you should see the upstairs, it's full of African Violets."

Another artist-craftsman, Josef, displays his works at Donny's. These are wood carvings and include pieces that could well hang as motif signs on any homes or shops. Margurite Benson shows her stoneware and Gerald Mast's oils and line drawings are on view. Authentic antiques and primitives as well as reproductions and contemporaries can be discovered. Contrasts abound. One can buy a large metal handpainted tray or filmy notepaper.

Almost all of these articles are at Donny's on consignment. One resident brought in a complete set of Lennox for four and priced it for less than what you would have to pay if you drove into Grand Rapids for it. There was a folding botton hook. Its gone now. Someone didn't want it and someone else did. It's as simple as that.

You may take your items to Mrs. Johnson and let her see if she thinks it would be saleable. If so, you can leave it for as long as three months. In the meantime, it will be attractively display for you.

There is plenty of parking space at the back of the shop and a door on the north side of the building that also houses Doody's.

Have fun, stop and look over the articles that others are letting go... perhaps you will find just that perfect surprise for yourself or someone special. At least for one hour you can indulge in a winter vacation at the Flea Market.

Amway sets up new operation; hires Carrick

Rapidly expanding Amway Corporation has advanced yet another step forward with the opening of a Folding Carton Department in their plant at Ada.

All cartons used by the company, except corrugated shipping containers, are now manufactured in this department, providing Amway with a more economical and reliable flow of containers to production and packaging.

Die-cut cartons are produced by a three machine process—first, stock is printed on a two color press, then stamped and cut before it is fed into a machine which glues and folds.

W. James Carrick, 34, has been named to head this department and will coordinate from raw stock to finished product. Carrick has 18 years experience in the folding carton field.

He was Production Manager of Rapid Packaging in Grand Rapids, Michigan for 5 years and prior to that was General Foreman in the folding carton department of America in Grand Rapids for 12 years.

"Our Business Is People"

A local firm, whose products are well-known, has included in its advertising these sentences: "Our business is people. Our aim is comfort with a purpose."
If ever the content of advertising can be applied to the spiritual work of the church of Jesus Christ, these sentences constitute a case in point. The business of the church is people in the highest sense of the term. The church is interested in people—each one of you—because Jesus Christ is so interested in people that He came from heaven to earth to seek and to save the lost. And before He ascended into heaven He charged His church to go into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. (Mark 16:15). Our business is people because Jesus told us to be deeply concerned about the greatest and deepest need of all men everywhere. As we try to fulfill our Lord's command, we too say: "Our aim is comfort with a purpose." It is the comfort which Christ gives that we wish to share with others. It is the comfort that we belong not to ourselves but to our faithful Savior Jesus Christ. To be saved by Christ and to belong to Him gives purpose to human life.
We invite you to our church services, where we will show you the concern of Christ—and ours—for people!
—John Guichelaar

Nurserymen to hold convention

It will be "Tulip Time in Grand Rapids" at least in the lobby of the Pantlind Hotel where the Michigan Association of Nurserymen will hold its 45th annual convention, Feb. 7-9.

More than 1,000 tulips and hyacinths forced into bloom in Michigan State University greenhouses will be incorporated in a garden designed and constructed by MSU horticultural students.

"Where in '67?" is the theme of the convention. Speakers and panel discussions will seek to solve the problems of labor shortage and increasing costs to insure a profitable operation in 1967.

A 1967 Michigan Garden Queen will be selected and crowned from among area queens representing the five M.A.N. regional chapters covering Metropolitan Detroit, Saginaw Valley, Kalamazoo Valley, Central Michigan and Grand Rapids.

The annual Landscape Awards will be presented to members who have entered examples of their best landscaping projects in the contest.

Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley will be the annual banquet speaker. Toastmaster will be Conservation Commission Chairman Carl T. Johnson.

To produce a fully qualified jet pilot for the military requires about eighteen months' training.

Farmers attracted to crop land adjustment

Recently, over 3,000 Michigan farmers have filed applications with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service to retire 170,000 acres of cropland from production for a five to ten year period and convert it to conservation uses. Frank J. Light, Chairman of the Michigan ASCS State Committee, said there are not as many applications filed thus far in 1967 as in 1966, however, there have been more acres of land offered.

The basic purpose of this program is to retire land that is producing surplus crops. In Michigan our only surplus crops are corn & grain sorghums. The payment rates for retiring corn land is $30 and acre, grain sorghums is $16 an acre. If a producer retires his entire farm, he remaining acres are accepted at an average rate of $8 an acre. All land must be protected from wind and water erosion. Additional cost-shares are provided for establishing vegetative cover, tree planting, and wildlife food and habitat.

Producers may earn additional payments by offering their land or public hunting, fishing, and other recreational uses. In 1966 there were 125,000 acres available in the State for public use. Producers have offered thus far an additional 75,000 acres.

The final closing date for filing a request for the Cropland Adjustment Program is March 3, 1967. Land owners can obtain full details of this program from their ASCS county office.

College deferment tests announced

State Selective Service headquarters announced today that application forms are now available at all Michigan local board offices for the Selective Service college qualification tests which have been scheduled for March 11 and 31 and April 8, 1967.

Test scores are used by local boards in determining eligibility of registrants for student deferments. The test may be taken by any registrant who intends to request deferment as a student and who has not previously taken the test. Applications for the test must be post-marked no later than Friday, February 10.

The three hour test administered by Educational Testing Service, Princeton New Jersey, is intended to predict a student's ability to do college work. The test will be administered at 15 colleges in Michigan located at Ann Arbor, Berrian Springs, Dearborn, Detroit, East Lansing, Flint, Grand Rapids, Houghton, Kalamazoo, Marquette, Mt. Pleasant, Saginaw, Sault Ste. Marie, Traverse City and Ypsilanti.

About 42,000 Michigan students took the draft tests held during 1966. Test results are forwarded direct to the registrant's local board. About 50,000 Michigan registrants are deferred as college students compared with approximately 60,000 a year ago.

Solutions to brain teasers

Solutions to Mr. Pearce's brain teasers:

1. Divide the diamonds into three groups of three, weigh two of these groups to determine in which one the fake is located.

Then weigh two of the three diamonds in that group and voila! you have located the fake in just two weighings.

2. The houses should line up from left to right; yellow, blue, red, ivory and green. In the yellow house lives the Norwegian with water, Kools, and a horse. The blue house contains the Ukrainian, he drinks tea, smokes Chesterfields and has a fox. The red house has the Englishman, who drinks milk, smokes Old Golds and owns snails.

In the ivory house, you will find the Spaniard, drinks orange juice, smokes Lucky Strikes and has a dog. In the last house, which is green, there is a Japanese, drinks coffee, smokes Parliaments and has the zebra.

HEART RISKS & YOU

Ways to Be a Winner In the Game of Hearts

The name of the game is heart attack and/or stroke.

The stakes of the game are long life and good health.

The Michigan Heart Association says medical research is pointing the way to a winning ticket for this game — PREVENTION — through avoidance of the heart attack risk factors, cigarette smoking, lack of exercise, high blood pressure, high level of blood cholesterol and overweight.

Prevention is not a guarantee; it is a means of giving oneself the best chance possible of avoiding or delaying heart attack or stroke, diseases which cause more than 54 percent — about a million a year — of all deaths in America.

It is a fact, corroborated by research in various parts of the United States including Tecumseh, Mich., that more people with more risk factors than people with fewer risk factors, artery blockage is the basic cause of most heart attacks and strokes.

While there is no direct laboratory proof that risk factors cause artery blockage, living with these risk factors is an unnatural way of living, according to Dr. Ross V. Taylor, Jackson, president of the association.

The human body, which can withstand much in illness, hardship and intense exertion, has not developed enough tolerance to overeating, physical indolence, obesity and smoking, he said.

Tolerance, of course, varies with every individual. This is why a few people can have a number of risk factors and keep well for some years, while a few people with few risk factors suffer artery blockage.

There are other risk factors: the immutable ones, age, sex — men under 45 get six to 10 times as many attacks as women under 45—and heredity.

Recently, there have been many questions about heredity. Is a predisposition to artery blockage inherited? Or are many bad risk habits, such as overeating, adopted by children from their parents?

There is also diabetes, a disease risk factor that can be checked by medicine. High blood pressure is also controllable, Dr. Taylor added.

In the main, research involving the heart itself — one of the most efficient, one-way pumps ever evolved and subject to few ailments — has been comparatively successful. Many of the congenital defects—misplaced holes, etc.—can be repaired by surgery. Valve damage (rheumatic heart disease), which also is repairable by surgery, can be averted adequately by treatment of the strep infections that cause rheumatic fever.

But research into the causes, treatments and factors involved in artery blockages is a different story. It is a story of enigmas.

The complexity of blood chemistry has been generally known, but most people think arteries are just tubes. However, they are marvelous tubes, which can get larger or smaller because many have controlling nerves and a muscular layer.

A few of the questions which face researchers are: Why do the two heart arteries block up much more often than the many arteries in the brain and the rest of the body?

Why do female sex hormones reduce artery blockage so completely? If it were not for the feminizing side effects, female hormones would be an excellent treatment for artery blockage.

Why do diabetics — people with increased sugar in their blood — develop so much hardening of the arteries and have more heart attacks?

Meanwhile, there is PREVENTION. Until medical research comes up with final answers, the logical course is the avoidance of known risk factors. The avoidance of risk factors can only help. It can even make a man look and feel better. It cannot hurt him.

(This is the last of a series of articles dealing with hearts and heart disease presented by the Michigan Heart Association as part of a nationwide campaign to induce Americans to reduce their heart attack risk factors. The association, a Michigan United Fund agency, at 13100 Puritan, Detroit 48227 and its regional offices and informational centers have free literature available on risk factors and many facets of heart disease.)

Youth traffic safety meet

Michigan youth will be given an opportunity to tackle one of this state's most pressing problems at Grand Rapids January 28.

A Michigan Youth Traffic Safety Conference, the first in held at Grand Rapids' Creston High School, is programmed to include a broad range of safety topics and problems requested by the young people. Regional in concept, the conference is expected to attract students from Kent, Muskegon and Otawa Counties.

Sponsored cooperatively by the Michigan State Safety Commission, the Youth Safety Council of Greater Grand Rapids and the Michigan Youth Commission, the day-long program has been developed by youth groups with the needs and problems of young people in mind.

According to Gerald W. Shipman, Executive Secretary of the State Safety Commission, state departments and agencies will provide resource personnel who will act as advisors in workshop discussions scheduled throughout the day. Current, and sometimes controversial, topics such as the Motorcycle Problem and Teen Driving Attitudes will be given a hard look by the young conferees. Other subjects chosen for discussion include Motor Vehicle Inspection, the Drinking Driver and Courts.

The Safety Commission announced also that the keynote speaker for the conference opening will be Thomas G. Ford, Member State House of Rep-representatives from the 91st District. Ford will deliver a "Challenge to Youth" address.

A luncheon program will feature the presentation of an Award of Merit from the State Safety Commission to the Grand Rapids Youth Safety Council. The Award will recount the Council's past decade of service and mark its tenth anniversary.
