But history marched on. Human nature did not change overnight. Now November 11th is Veterans' Day in order to honor all service men and women who have served and are serving the United States. Are we observing it enough?

The old Armistice Day served another special function. It taught children the emotions & the meanings of patriotism. In the schools at 11 a. m. children would stand, close their eyes and say a prayer. They were allowed to say prayers, they were encouraged to say prayers, and even though the youngest did not fully understand, they were made aware that they were part of a team, a country of which they should be proud. Witness the anti-war demonstrations which are occurring around the country. Witness the wholesale burning of draft cards Witness the efforts to block induction centers. Witness the contempt for law and order, and, for that matter common decency. Witness the attitude of complete irresponsibility on the part of some. Witness the strange non-involvement policy which some assume; they take from this country, but are not willing to give. Witness those who race impatiently sweating down all of the nameless corridors of unspent life, opening rusty doors on dusty riddles, eager to wring the first and last drops of patrimony in one twist. They run unceasingly from one job to another, one experience to others, reaching desperately for a way of life not yet earned but deemed a right, ignoring the ancient truth that man must fight and win his privileges, in any society, in any age.

The sickness is neither natural experience consists of being the nor feigned. It stems from the cleverly planted idea of rebellion, and there now seems to be little doubt as to the beginning of that idea. Safest area of M-21 shows 100% increase in traffic injuries

Complaints by citizens of Lowell, Ada and Grand Rapids Township concerning the neglect of M-21 between Lowell and Grand Rapids were justified re-ently in a report from the Kent County Sheriff's Department, which showed a marked increase in the number of personal injury accidents that have occurred along this route during the first nine months of 1967 as compared to the same period of 1966. According to official figures, on a 2 mile section of M-21, the number of accidents increased nearly 20 percent during this nine-month period. This distressing accident increase was accompanied by a terrifying 100 percent increase in the number of personal injuries resulting from these accidents. These accidents occurred on a section of M-21 that has been cent sufficient to meet existing requirements and safety standards. On highway department maps, it is designated as the safest area on the 13 mile route from Grand Rapids to Lowell. Studies conducted by highway engineers, show that with the exception of this "safe area," officially termed 90 to 100 per-

M-21 is at best 55 percent capable of carrying the loads imposed by the dangerously high traffic volume. This figure drops to 19 percent in areas where the visibility is reduced to less than one-half the distance considered adequate for safety. In 30 months the death rate along this 13 mile section of M-21 has increased 25 percent the accident rate 70 percent and the personal injury rate nearly 100 percent. The traffic load on this state road, that was constructed over 40 years ago, exceeds that borne by many sections of the I-96 expressway.

Citizens who have dubbed M-21 "accident alley," believe that the statistics coupled with the recommendations of highway experts call for immediate improvement of this route. They urge that, instead of reconstructing roads in thinly settled areas north of Grand Rapids where the accident rate is many times lower, the highway de-partment turn their attention to M-21 in an effort to avert continued death, personal injury, loss of wages and vehicle dam-

Rejoice

In I Thessalonians 5:16 Paul commands Christians to "rejoice always." This appears to be impossible. All of us have times of rejoicing, when we have special reasons for joy. But to rejoice always is a most difficult command.

In issuing this command Paul informed the Christians at Thessalonica that "this is the will of God in Christ Jesus to youward." I Thessalonians 5:18. This is a command to Christians. It is coupled with two other commands: "Pray without ceasing; in everything give thanks." These injunctions are not any easier to bring into practice, for they too are without restriction or limitation. But they do indicate how it is possible for the Christian to rejoice always. He can do so only when his prayer life is uninterrupted and when he gives thanks not only for some things but for everything.

Too often we allow the circumstances of our lives to blot out or, at least, to dim the real joy which must characterize our Christian life. We need this command to urge us on to constant rejoicing. It is only in Christ that we can rejoice always, for our sins are washed away in His precious blood, and there is no condemnation for those who are in Christ. Are you a rejoicing Christian? Always? -John Guichelaar

Safety Sabbath weekend observed Nov. 17-19

Michigan's annual state wide appeal for moral responsibility on the highway, Safety Sabbath Weekend, will be observed November 17-19.

Responding to the Michigan State Safety Commission's sponsorship, major faiths, the National Safety Council and private organizations will help promote the pre-holiday observance Since 1955, Safety Sabbath Weekend campaigns have sought to carry the moral issue of traffic safety to Michigan's 41/2 million drivers as congregations of all faiths worship the weekend before Thanksgiving. Governor George Romney, in issuing a Safety Sabbath pro-clamation, said, "Last year we experienced the highest traffic toll in our state's history. This but unnecessary. There is evidence that most of our tragic accidents could be avoided by conscientious and responsible driving and correspondingly helpful attitudes by passengers and pedestrians." The Governor stressed citizen responsibility saying, "If we, as individuals, respect life and our fellow man, we must have regard for personal safety and practice moral responsibility on the highway."

The State Safety Commission plans to distribute Safety Sabbath materials, making them available to the clergy, lay leaders and safety organizations.
