There have been occasions in the past few weeks to talk with a number of people... young and old... who aspire to the art of creative writing.

Some have a bent for poetry, others are inclined toward biographical or historical subject material and still others invention fictional works in final form.

To them, I say "more power."

This is a dream that I once knew. One of my earliest recollections of journalistic endeavor was at about age eight when the family moved and took me from the first teacher I ever really liked.

I sent her a poem, scrawled on a tiny scrap of paper, in which I poured out words of lament for the cruel fate that had separated us.

My first day of high school is fondly remembered... for I had no sooner enrolled in the journalism class than I was named sports editor. No doubt because all the rest of the school paper staff was made up of girls!

Sets Out to Join Select Group

My heroes were the likes of Damon Runyon, Bob Considine, Henry McLeomere, Paul Gallico and Grantland Rice... men who wrote with distinguished flair and who had "arrived" in their chosen profession via the world of sports.

Thus I set out to become a member of this select group.

One of my favorite magazines then, even as now, was Reader's Digest, which solicited manuscripts. Liberty and American, both since departed from the publishing world, were others who received my material.

I wrote of many things and in many forms. Short stories, poetry, humorous items... some factual and most fictional.

The stream of words on paper was never-ending. And the rejection slips that followed flowed just as evenly.

The bubble had burst.

Good Time to Write... And Reflect

That's when I made up my mind that I was not destined to world-wide fame. So I determined to do the best possible job with what talents I possessed.

These reflections come to me on a Sunday afternoon, which is the best time of the week to write a column. No phones ringing, no urgent plea from the composing room for more copy, no merchants in their places of business to call upon to determine advertising needs.

A good time, too, to reflect on the six days just passed and the six in the immediate future.

And it is nice to know that these words will see the light of day come Thursday. After all, I could hardly give myself a rejection slip!

It is a time also to consider the plight of our many friends and former colleagues of the Detroit daily newspapers.

I was with the old Detroit Times when the first strike in the city's newspaper history took place in 1955. That one lasted 117 days.

There have been others since. The present unpleasantness might lead to the demise of one or both Detroit Dailies unless it is settled soon.

'Doc' Authored Unforgettable Phrase

A community without a newspaper is as a dry river. The flow of words upon newsprint are as vital to its public as the waters of a stream are to its benefactors.

The most unforgettable words I have ever read came from the talented mind of Edgar C. Greene, better known as "Doc," who then authored the daily sports column of the Detroit News.

They were written at the conclusion of one of the stoppages. This is how Doc started his first post-strike column:

"As I was saying before I was so rudely interrupted..."

Doc is too ingenious to repeat that phrase when, and if, his next column appears in print. But I would be happy to see them again, tomorrow if possible.

And to hear again, even at this long distance, the mighty presses to which my ears were attuned for so many years.

Seeks Stolen Coat; Arrested on Dope Charge

17-year-old area girl is scheduled to appear in court to answer charges of having narcotics in her possession.

Louise Wygmans of 1186 Forest Hills Drive, SE, was arrested by Grand Rapids police last week when she sought to recover a stolen coat.

A warrant had been issued against her earlier and was served when she appeared at the police station.

She demanded examination in Circuit Court. Bond was set at $1,500.

Officials said that Miss Wygmans may be tried as an adult. Maximum penalty could be three years imprisonment for the offense.

Warns Motorists to Secure New License Plates

Secretary of State James M. Hare warned automobile owners to secure 1968 state license plates within the next few days... or run the risk of waiting in long lines.

The deadline for use of '67 plates expires at midnight Thursday, February 29.

Most owners received special application forms in the mail last fall and these should be presented along with title and proof of insurance.

Plates are available at any Secretary of State office. In this area, the office is located at Western Auto in Lowell.

Forest Hills Schools Millage Request Explained

Forest Hills School District property owners will be asked to approve a 13-mill operating levy for the next two years in an election scheduled for Tuesday, March 12.

Six mills of the requested levy would replace operating millage approved in 1964 and renewed two years ago.

The additional seven mills would be required to offset anticipated greater expenditures as the district continues to handle increasing numbers of students, according to Superintendent of Schools Robert G. Masten.

Much of the operating millage, says Masten, will go toward teacher's salaries, which constitute about 62 percent of a tentative $2,044,920 budget for 1968-69.

Income for operating this year will fall about $125,000 short of expected expenditures, Masten explains. The deficit will eat heavily into a reserve of $154,000 which had been carried over from '66-67.

Masten notes that adequate salaries for teachers is a "must" if Forest Hills hopes to maintain or improve upon its present educational standards.

"We not only are competing with other districts for qualified instructors," he explains, "but we also cannot afford to lose teachers to business and industry."

Masten said he is hopeful that year-round use of school facilities, with attendant 12-month contracts for most faculty members, will eventually help to resolve the problem.

"Most educators foresee the day in the not-too-distant future when classrooms will be used throughout the year," he says. "This will allow schools to pay their employees on a full-time basis and, at the same time, make more efficient use of all facilities."

A brochure prepared by the Board of Education shows that Forest Hills spent less state and local money per-child for education in 1967-68 than 17 other districts surveyed.

Godwin Heights topped the list at $638 per-child, compared to $417 for Forest Hills, the report shows. East Grand Rapids was second on the list with an outlay of $589.

Forest Hills also was low on the list of 18 districts in 1967-68 with a total operating millage of 14.85 (of which 8.85 was allocated) while East Grand Rapids was high at 25.71 and Kelloggville second high at 23.10.

"Renewal of the six mills and approval of the additional seven mills would mean an extra $60 to $70 per year on property assessed at $20,000," Masten says.

Projections for 1968-69 indicate an increase of approximately 200 students, from 3,564 to about 3,750.

District valuation also will increase by about $2½-million to approximately $47,000,000. Masten notes, which means that the debt tax for recent construction will be reduced.

Advisory Vote in G. R. Twp. Set for Mar. 19

Grand Rapids Township officials will ask voters to endorse a plan calling for a 30-year contract with the City of Grand Rapids to supply water and sewers on March 19.

Supervisor Marshall Douthett said the advisory vote will be placed before township residents in an effort to determine feasibility of formalizing the contract.

"The city wants to enter into a long-range program to service this area," explains Douthett, "and the township board and its consulting engineers feel that this is a good, workable arrangement to answer future needs of the township."

Douthett said that approximately 300 homes in the township are now serviced by Grand Rapids.

"We have been working on details of the contract for about a year and a half," Douthett explains.

If approved, the contract would permit Grand Rapids to build trunkage facilities large enough to handle future needs, Douthett says. Eventual development of water and sewer lines within the township would be handled on a special assessment basis to property owners as installations are made.

A simple majority is required on the advisory vote.

Nation Pauses to Honor Its First President

On this date, we take time out to honor George Washington, the Father of our Country.

Thomas Jefferson wrote of Washington after his death in 1797:

"His mind was great and powerful... as far as he saw, no judgment was ever sounder. It was slow in operation, being little aided by invention or imagination, but sure in conclusion."

For nearly 20 years, Washington guided his country much as a father cares for a growing child.

In three important ways, Washington helped shape the beginning of the United States.

First, he commanded the Continental Army that won American independence from Great Britain in the Revolutionary War.

Second, Washington served as president of the convention that wrote the United States Constitution.

Third, he was the first man elected President of the United States.

His birthday has been celebrated each year from the end of the Revolutionary War.

There were only 11 states in the Union when Washington became President and 16 when he left office.

One of Washington's officers, Henry "Light Horse Harry" Lee, summed up the way Americans felt and still feel about Washington:

"First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

MRS. JANE BRIEDENFIELD CONDUCTS INTERVIEW

Determining Public Tastes Unique Job

Have you ever been stopped in a store and asked to give an opinion about a food product?

Or perhaps you've filled out a questionnaire to express feelings about a particular subject. If so, you have been participating in market research.

She has questioned people on subjects and products as varied as plastic fishing worms, automobile fuels and the war in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Jane Breidenfeld, of 2180 Spaulding Avenue, SE, is among a select number of people whose business it is to determine what is good for business.

Mrs. Breidenfeld just completed a "doctor study" for the St. Louis Research Center. She interviewed doctors in this area for three months regarding preventive medicine.

Sometimes a company requires an interviewer to find out about a product before it is introduced to the general market. This company has previously spent several thousands of dollars on the product, but needs to know of public acceptance or changes that should still be made before more money is poured into marketing and advertising.

A "pre-test" is made in a few cities by one or two interviewers with a small number of persons. This is done to develop the general questionnaire that will later be used in large numbers in the testing cities. If the questions appear difficult to understand or are worded inadequately, they can be changed before the actual testing begins.

After the pre-test, the opinions of hundreds of cooperative citizens are enlisted. Generally many cities are tested at the same time in order to give an overall picture of the complete market. Grand Rapids has long been a test city because of its balance of ethnic, political, and occupational groups.

It takes a specially trained interviewer to handle the questions properly. The beginner is likely to want to interject his own personality. A proper interview gets the reaction of the subject only.

Interviewers are briefed anywhere from two hours to two days before going out into the field. On occasion, Mrs. Breidenfeld has flown to Chicago for intensive study before beginning the survey.

Presently, she is working on a research project for a publishing company that sends out more than a hundred trade journals. Her job is to seek the people who receive these copies and find out through questioning whether the readers are being helped by the service.

A printed questionnaire would never be able to take the place of a trained interviewer. If the

'Romance' Blooms For Mechanics of FHS Bus Corps

The men who keep 'em running for the Forest Hills School District's transportation division have more than their fair share of admirers.

Twenty of them, in fact! Head mechanic John Gurney and his assistant Earl Lewitt gazed last Wednesday when they were handed a large heart-shaped Valentine card.

On it was inscribed the following poem:

In rain and snow and gloom of night,
You two are such a welcome sight.
You never blow your stacks at us,
You simply tell us, "Now, don't fuss

There's nothing wrong that can't be righted,
Calm down, relax, don't get excited."

Five years ago when I was new,
I would have quit but for you two.

The bus got stuck in piles of snow,
I tried and tried to make it go.

Then you two came in the army truck
And quick as that I was unstuck.

If we've got it coming, you chew us out,
But you never rant and rave and shout,

You simply say what we're doing wrong,
You never stay mad for very long.

How do you stand we twenty-"odd" women?
I'd think you'd be sour as persimmon.

You're like shining knights to this old girl,
Be my Valentines, John and Earl!

The "poet laureate" is unknown, though Gurney and Lewitt believe it may have been the work of Mrs. Joan Lupton, a bus driver for the district for five years.

"No one would tell John and Earl who the author was," says Superintendent of Schools Robert G. Masten. "But any one of the 20 lady drivers could have written it... they all feel the same way about these guys."

'BE MY VALENTINES' is the way a poem on the huge heart-shaped card ends. The special token was presented by women bus drivers of the Forest Hills School District to head mechanic John Gurney (left) and his assistant, Earl Lewitt.

AN EDITORIAL

Voters: Look Ahead!

On March 12, property owners in the Forest Hills School District will vote on a request by the Board of Education for a 13-mill operating levy for the next two years.

And while the election is still two weeks away, the time for qualified electors to consider how to cast their votes is NOW.

All too often, and more particularly in political election years, school votes are overlooked. Yet the work of school administrators is equally important as that of the men who represent you at all levels of government.

The Forest Hills administration has prepared a brochure outlining the need for increased millage. We urge that you read. AND VOTE.

Nursery Finds 'Home' in Old School Building

After a year of searching for just the right building, the See Saw Nursery School has leased the old one-room Collins School on East Fulton.

From eight in the morning until 5:30 p. m., children can benefit from nursery school at See Saw. There are toy blocks, play horses, paints, clay, tricks and all of the other delights that children enjoy. Fish swim, beans grow, tea parties teach manners and sharing has to become a way of life.

The three owners... Mrs. Maurice Fongers, Mrs. Donald Gerken and Mrs. Arthur Northrup... spent a long time finding a home for See Saw. They needed to locate a building that would meet state requirements in order to obtain a license. All of them liked youngsters and two had worked for years in other nursery schools. They have also hired Mrs. Pauline Sullivan as a teacher.

A regular daily program includes a pledge of allegiance, singing, story-telling, puppet shows, hot lunch, two snack periods and rest time.

It has changed little in its outward appearance, but now has one large room, one smaller playground and an office. It also has some modern facilities such as plumbing and heating... unlike the "old days."

The interior is now a pleasant light blue and is furnished with children's chairs and tables in contrast to the old brown walls and desks.

A number of working mothers have already found See Saw a haven for their youngsters where they learn valuable lessons while having fun.

We Know God
 In a time in which there is an increasing number of people who question and/or deny the knowability of God, we confess with the historic Christian Church, on the basis of the Bible, that we know God.
 We know Him "First, by the creation, preservation, and government of the universe; which is before our eyes as a most elegant book, wherein all creatures, great and small, are as so many characters leading us to 'see clearly the invisible things of God, even His everlasting power and divinity,' as the apostle Paul says (Romans 1:20). All which things are sufficient to convince men and leave them without excuse." Belgic Confession, Article II. Even though some people are not convinced of the existence of God, yet God's revelation in nature and history are sufficient to leave them without excuse.
 "Second, He makes Himself more clearly and fully known to us by His holy and divine Word, that is to say, as far as is necessary for us to know in this life, to His glory and our salvation." (See reference above). We need the Bible to know God in the way of salvation. We believe that the Bible is sufficient—it contains all we need to know in this life to God's glory and our salvation. Do you know God by means of His Word, the Bible?

'Inhuman Acts' in Africa Draw Strong Protest

An assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, meeting at Kentwood High School, passed a resolution last Saturday protesting members living in the new African nation of Malawi.

The motion was passed during the second day of a three-day convention attended by Witnesses from Michigan's fourth circuit.

Directed to the attention of Dr. H. Kamuzu Banda, president of Malawi (formerly Nyasaland) in southeast Africa, the resolution cites "grossly inhuman and appalling atrocities" committed upon members in a campaign of persecution.

L. E. Reusch, Watchtower district minister serving as chairman for the weekend program, reported that 44 of their ministers have been murdered in the tiny country, 1000 women had been raped and homes, businesses and meeting places destroyed, many members beaten, knifed and burned.

Mr. Reusch said the animalistic acts are being perpetrated by the Youth League of the Malawi Congress Party with the sanction of President Banda and letters of protest are being sent to Dr. Banda from Jehovah's Witnesses in 197 different countries.

Rangers Tackle Godwin

Pre-tournament fever is starting to catch on at Forest Hills High, which will play host to state district tournament action March 5-7-9.

However, the Rangers' basketball team has one major item of unfinished business left on the schedule.

Coach Don Kemp's cagers meet O-K Blue Division champion Godwin Heights this Friday night on the Forest Hills floor in hopes of handing the Wolverines their first setback in league play.

The Rangers belted Kelloggsville of the O-K Blue Division in a non-league game last Friday, 88-65, with a well-balanced effort.

John Stovall topped the scoring with 24 points that included a perfect 8-for-8 effort at the free throw line, while Dan Mosher chipped in 21, Steve Russ added 19 and Glenn Collins notched 10 tallies.

Russ also contributed 10 rebounds and was assisted ably in this vital department by Collins.

Rich Kruisenga topped Kelloggsville with 27 points, most of them on outside shots, and kept the opposition in the game in the first quarter.

Forest Hills broke away from a 19-19 deadlock with a 23-point outburst in the second quarter to make it 42-30 at the intermission and was never in trouble the rest of the way.

The Rangers kept their hot shooting hands in the second half, cashing in on 15 of 31 floor shots and converting 16 free throws in 17 attempts.

The junior varsity also emerged victorious, 50-46, to record its fifth win of the season. Doug Griffith led the winners with 15 points while Rob McCormick and Dirk Van Westerson each added nine. Van Westerson also gathered in nine rebounds.

Hungry Intruders!

Kent County Sheriff's officers are puzzled today by the action of person or persons who broke into an area home last week.

The home, located at 503 North Street, was broken into Friday, but nothing of value was reported stolen.

However, a can of soup, a can of stew and a bottle of soft drink had been consumed by the intruders.

ter, Dave Mickel (No. 20), Randy Fosner, Joe Hoff (No. 14), Tim Weston, Lee Champion and Jim Wisniewski, manager; kneeling, Joe Cardinal, John Markward, Steve Leach and Bryan Bishop.

Notch 1st Perfect Mark in FHS Sports History

The honor of recording the first unbeaten season in Forest Hills school's athletic history belongs to the seventh grade basketball team for 1967-68.

Coach Jerry Southland's cagers posted a perfect mark in their 10-game schedule, two of the wins by two-point margins, but the remaining eight more handily.

This is quite a contrast to the 1966-67 season, which was Southland's first in coaching, when his club managed only two victories in 10 starts.

Southland credits the fifth and six grade programs, instituted last year, with much of the credit for his team's success.

"The boys already had learned many of the fundamentals," he explains, "I was able to introduce them to some of the more intricate points of the game, while continuing to work on fundamentals."

Southland taught his squad variations of the fast-break offense and stressed a pressing man-to-man defense.

"I was really surprised at how well all of them came along," he declares. "And when it comes to sportsmanship, I don't think you ask for a better group."

Two of the budding basketball players who developed most over the year, in Southland's opinion, were forward Randy Lanning and guard Bill Henneveld. Lanning was top scorer for the campaign, averaging about 15 points per game.

The most impressive win, Southland says, was a 36-34 "squeaker" against West Ottawa.

Week-Old Pin Mark Shattered

High school sophomore Dale Kropf erased the week-old season's high series of 547 held by Terry Raab, by rolling a 555 three-game total on games of 171, 234, and 150.

Dale's 234 game also established a new season high and is the highest single game score ever rolled in the YMCA sponsored youth leagues.

A new season's high game and series was also bowled in the Jr. & Sr. High Girls League last Wednesday, when Libby Callier posted a 193 game and 469 series to surpass her own previous marks.

Two young girls came through with fine individual performances in the Saturday morning Grade School League, Sheryl Hull, a first-year newcomer to bowling, had a 112 game. Teammate Gerry Smith rolled games of 105 and 100 to top the girls.

Kim Schwacha, pinspinner in this same league, bowled a 164 game and 274 series to top his male competitors.

The purpose of this visit was to kick-off the unit on automatic transmissions. This unit requires each student in the class to completely disassemble, study the components and their function, then re-assemble the transmission.

By the end of the unit each student should have a good basic understanding of automatic transmissions. Mr. O'Neil will be back several times to answer questions and assist in diagnosing transmission problems.

Forest Hills Schools are fortunate to have the services of Mr. O'Neil made available to them. The real benefit is to the automotive students of the school. It is definitely an enrichment to the curriculum.

A study will be conducted by the administration of Forest Hills to work out problems of discipline, attendance and personal grooming.

The study will pinpoint the greatest problems, then will be reported to the Board of Education in an effort to establish policy governing these three areas.

The Forest Hills Board of Education has purchased land just east of the high school. Twenty-six acres were purchased at a cost of $1,000 per acre. The acquisition will be considered for a future school site.

New Use Discovered for Old Newspapers

Agricultural researchers at Penn State are working on cow feed that is both "cheap and nutritious." It will be made from ground-up newspapers and molasses. Tests also found that cows showed no media preference and liked ground-up magazines just as well as newspapers.
