No Winners --Only Losers!

To make a bed is one thing; to lie in it still another. Last week, 1,123 voters in the Lowell Area School District went to the polls and voted "no" to a proposal by the Board of Education that sufficient operating millage be raised to onsor an educational program that, at best, would be av-

Every attempt was made, as in few other elections, to educate the public as to the issues at hand.

Yet, 1,123 refused to accept, at face value, the decision of men who had spent countless hours of study...not to mention soul-searching... before making their second plea in three months for assistance to get the district out of its financial morass.

If it is Christian to turn the cheek once, these men should be eligible for sainthood for doing so a second time. This is once more than average and more, we suspect, than any one of their constituents would bear.

Lesser men than these would have resigned at once!

These men had determined, at an early date, that no attempt would be made to use "scare" tactics. Their message was presented as fairly and as honestly as possible

Perhaps the tactics were wrong. Perhaps the only method of getting a message across is to call a spade a spade. At some future date, residents of the district will pay for their lack of foresight. The penalties could be extreme ... both financially and educationally.

The former can be overcome; the latter cannot, Each lost moment of good, sound education strips from this community the knowledge that must be invested in its future leaders if it is to survive in a world that cries out for well-

Few things will attract new people, new ideas and new money to a community more than a sound school system. Nothing will drive people away... or throw up a barrier, as the case may be ... more than an inadequate educational

While the Board of Education may have declined, in good conscience, to use "scare" tactics, others were not so

The result was a "spite" vote. There can be no winners

We wonder if these same 1,123 people would intentionally maim or cripple a child. The answer to that obviously is no. Yet this is exactly what has happened, though not in a physical sense, Each child in this district, within the foreseeable future, will suffer mentally for lack of adequate ed-

Doors of our great universities are opened only to those with superior qualifications. We wonder how many of our young people will qualify five, ten or fifteen years from now.

If a good educational program produces only a few such qualified, how many will an inadequate system produce?

The Board of Education has indicated that any attempt to head off a potentially-dangerous condition such as outlined above must be initiated by the people.

In addition, Chief Block said, a personal survey conducted last week showed little cause for undue alarm.

Council ordered installation of street markings several weeks ago, which has since been accomplished. The city fathers also favor installation of specially-painted school zone signs and placing a policeman in the area during peak traffic hours.

Al Andrews, a member of BPC, admonished council members for not agreeing to hire crossing guards for key crossover spots on Lincoln Lake

"You can teach kids at home and in the schools to use caution in crossing streets, but you have to remember that they are just kids and can't remember," he declared. "I say we must have crossing

Several attempts to have members of the Parents Club serve in this capacity have failed for lack of volunteers, Andrews said.

Several councilmen pointed out that the city could not, without seeking additional tax revenues, support a city-wide complement of crossing guards.

Olson told council that one solution would be for the BPC to assist the city in paying for crossing guards.

Until the recent addition of two new patrolmen, the city has been hard-pressed to put an officer in the vicinity dur-ing peak hours, Chief Block noted, adding that every effort would be made to place a pa-trol car in the area now that the force is again at full

Olson also noted that possible state approval for a new limited-use traffic signal at Main and Monroe might also help in freeing police personnel for school area patrols.

Dr. Reagan said that his re-action, and that of several board members, was to resign following the millage election.

"This, of course, would not solve our problems," he stated, "The board put forth all its efforts to inform the public of our needs and we felt we had succeeded if we could have judged solely by the large number that voted."

Preliminary studies to de-termine the feasibility of creating an independent water supply in Ada Township are nderway today.

The township board, meeting Monday in a special in-formative session, decided that a further study or survey is needed to ascertain the poten-tial of the project.

Lowell High plunges into the Tri-River Conference basket-ball wars this Friday night when it meets Greenville on the local floor.

ie Arrows will be seeking ir second straight win of infant season against the Ye ow Jackets, who are new to the conference this year. Game time is 8 p. m.

Coach Jack Kempker's squad powered by the scoring of Guard Denny DeWitt and the rebounding of Forward Curt Fonger, belted Ionia in the season-opener last week, 76-

DeWitt, one of the few cagers in school history to become varsity starter as a freshman, showed no signs of sophomore jitters as he banged in 27 points despite the fact he missed practically the entire fourth quarter.

The 6'1" sharp-shooter went to the bench with five personal fouls with 7:20 left in the game and Lowell holding a 10-

Fonger and Bill Bennett took up the scoring slack created by DeWitt's departure by col-lecting 13 of the Arrows' final 18 points. Fonger finished with 20 points and Bennett counted 13 for the night.

In addition, Fonger pulled down 17 rebounds . . . almost a third of his team's 55 for the game . . . as he dominated the action off the boards at both ends of the floor.

DeWitt and Ionia's Doug Brown staged a personal scoring duel in the first 13 minutes of play before Lowell fin-ally pulled into the lead to stay on two free throws by Fonger midway through the second quarter.

In one stretch, DeWitt sank 10 straight points for the Arrows on three field goals and four free throws while Brown countered with 13 of his teamleading 26 points to keep the Bulldogs in contention.

DeWitt finished the half with points as Lowell took a 38-lead into the locker room at the intermission the third quarter, Ionia rushed from 11 points behind to close the gap to 50-48 with less than a minute remaining in the stanza. However, Fonger sank one basket and Bennett cashed in a jumper at the horn to move the Arrows ahead by six points entering the final period.

against Ionia while Lowell teammate Bill Ben-

Ken Roth, who finished with 11 points, bagged six of them in the final quarter to assist Fonger and Bennett in the scoring department.

Lowell sank 27 of 66 shots from the floor for a 40 per-cent average and canned 22 of 32 free throws. DeWitt was the leading marksman from the floor with 12 for 22 while Bennett connected on seven of eight from the charity stripe and Fonger eight-for-10.

Coach Harry Peacock's reserve team was not so furtunate, dropping a 65-60 de-cision after leading by five points (58-53) with 2:30 remaining in the game.

Center John Klein's five baskets in the final quarter, three of which were scored in the final winning rally, proved the thorn in the side of the Arrows JVs. Klein finished with a game-high 25 points.

Lowell featured balanced scoring with Dennis Kissinger netting 13 points, Chuck Rit-tersdorf 11 and Pete Olson, Sid Haywood and Dale Marsh-

The JVs were on the short end of a 13-11 score at the first quarter, but pulled into a 31-26 lead at halftime and maintained the five-point gap at the end of three quarters,

Opening games in basketball, particularly for high school players just weeks removed from the football field, usually turn out to be rough 'tumble

Lowell High's lid-lifter at Ionia was no exception with a number of unnecessary fouls called, most of them against the Bulldogs.

Things got so hot and heavy for awhile, that Ken Roth of Lowell wound up losing one of his contact lenses . . . which prompted a five-minute search before the valuable little piece of glass could be located.

The refereeing left some thing to be desired, too, but having officiated basketball for a number of years, I can attest to the fact that the first game usually is the toughest of them all to handle for an

Congratulations are in order for Bill Hart, who was named several Class B All-State football teams at tackle.

We wonder, though, who the all-state selectors were and why the Grand Rapids area particularly Forest Hills High . . . was almost completely overlooked.

Having participated in selec-tion of all-state teams in the past, I fear that our fellow writers in Grand Rapids either didn't vote, or, at best, failed to forward sufficient documentary evidence to back claims for area candidates.

An upset victory by Randy Simon in the final match gave Forest Hills High a 30-21 triumph over Rockford in a nonconference wrestling match

Simon, a 180-pounder, pinned 250-pound Dan Pawlaski in 2:31 on the heavyweight match to produce the decision. A pin in Pawlaski's favor would have resulted in a Rockford victory.

"It was just a beautiful match all the way around," exclaimed Coach Chuck Matthews. "In fact, everyone performed exceptionally well.

Another surprise came when Jim Leyndyke of the Rangers battled state Class B runnerup Mike Selleck to a scoreless draw in the 103-pound division.

The Rangers, who have 81 aspirants out for the 1968-69 squad, opened the new season last week with a second-place finish behind Ottawa in a triangular meet at Central Christian, getting 61 points to Otta-wa's 62 while Central finished Leyndyke and Simon were double winners as were Tee Wietke at 95 pounds, Larry Cardinel at 127 and Craig Van-Sluyters at 145.

Forest Hills posted a mark of 10 wins and five losses last season en route to the Ottawa-Kent Conference championship.

Matthews points out that the large turnout, down 14 from the initial response of 95 aspirants, has set up stiff competition in six weight classifi-

The Arrows will open the new season at nome against Lakewood this Saturday night at 7 o'clock following junior varsity matches at 6 and will launch the Tri-River Conference season with a home match against Greenville next Wednesday.

Rivers and his squad were to stage an open house for parents and interested spectators in the community night (Wednesday) at the high school gym. An explanation of new rules, new starting positions and other finer points of the sport were to be explained

Heading up the matmen are a pair of standouts from the 1967-68 squad, co-captains Carl Rasch and Steve Foss. The former will compete at 103 pounds and the latter at 175.

By weight, the best looking candidates so far include sophmores Steve Newell at 112; Kurt Inman at 120 and Tom Rasch at 133; junior Ray Smith at 138; senior Jerry Huver at 145; senior Ernie Kennedy at 154 and senior Ben Hall in heavyweight.

Inman was the lone member of the team to qualify for a spot in the state finals last year and Rivers has high hopes that the talented sopho-

Coach Don Kemp's Rangers managed to stay with Grand Rapids Union for the first half, then got plowed under in the third period as Union exploded for 33 points en route to an easy 84-60 non league triumph.

"They were just too good for us," Kemp explained after the game. "Against players who ordinarily would have been on their first team this year we seemed to do all

Kemp was referring to the fact that Union's two leading scorers-Charles Hickman and Jerry Edwards-transferred into the school system last fall. Hickman, along with Mike Brent, is a product of old South High and Edwards was a star at Wyoming Park.

The ease with which Unio romped to the victory is bes illustrated in the shooting sta tistics. The Red Hawks con nected on 39 field goals in 1 tries for a fine 45 percent a erage while Forest Hills co lected 22-for-73 for a 30 per cent mark.

"The surprising thing w that we did fairly well again them with our pressure fense," says Kemp, "but just couldn't seem to do mu with the ball once we cause a turnover in our favor.'

Dan Mosher and Dave She wood provided most of Fore Hills' firepower, each collec-ing 17 points. This represent a career high for Mosher an was about one-third of She wood's total output in 1967when he was a little-used r serve until late in the season

Mosher also chipped in with eight rebounds, one less than teammate Scott Wingeier

The Rangers met neighboring Kentwood at home Tues-day night in the opener of the Ottawa-Kent Red Division camnaign and have a road date this Friday night at West Ottawa in another league clash

Coach Ed VanDam's reserve team also went down to defeat by a score of 72-47 with Ron Vander Baan collecting 1 points to take scoring honors for the Rangers.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

1. Public Hearing on special assessment roll for proposed water main installation in Riverside Drive, All interested and affected property owners were heard. Philip Johnson agreed the installation was a necessity but he stated he thought the costs were prohibitive. Mrs. Tapley, who instigated the improvement, was present and offered similar comments. Johnson stated he had talked with other affected property owners; all admit the need for the improvement. No others were present to object and the Hearing was declared closed. (See MOTIONS).

2. Parents of Bushnell school children were again present to state that no action had been taken by anyone in the way of traffic and safety precau-tions. They suggested that yel-low lines be painted from the school to the corner of the service road and Elizabeth Street. They also requested that the City furnish and pay for two crossing guards to be on duty during peak school traffic. They expressed dissat-isfaction with the fact that nothing had been done so far in the way of street marking. They also urged sidewalk installation.

Police Chief Block, who was not present at the meeting, left word that stencils are now ready for street marking and that he had been working on all phases of the safety problem. Reports have not yet been received, the Clerk stated, from the Automobile Club whom the Manager contacted for suggestions on phases of traffic and safety measures.

Council members expressed reluctance to install one block of sidewalk in the area until grading and drainage plans are complete for the whole area, in conjunction with proposed storm sewer project and curbing. Such a block might have to be replaced in the near future because of

The suggestion of making Amity one-way going north was made, with a divider to make the west half for school pedestrian traffic, Councilman Jefferies estimated that if two crossing guards were hired for two hours per day the cost would be $1,200 for the year. He stated that if the parents wanted this expenditure they should add one mill to the school tax for this cost. Jef-feries also added that the Police Department had planned to have a man to assist in traffic directing at both the east and west schools but that the Department has during some of this time been reduc-ed to a three-man department. He did add that we have had good drying weather and that the yellow lines should have

3. John Troy again request-ed that Council publish in the local newspaper at least part of any agenda that might be coming up for each meeting, together with the number of people attending previous meet-ings. Ask Rural Patrons to Aid P.O.

Area postmasters asked cooperation today of postal pa-trons on rural and mounted routes in keeping approaches to mail boxes cleared during the winter months.

Patrons are responsible for keeping approaches to boxes clear of snow, and all other obstructions, which may make delivery of mail difficult or at times impossible, they point out. Failure to open approaches to boxes promptly after heavy snows may prevent car-riers from making deliveries temporarily.

If a road is blocked entirely, patrons should call their local post office and make suitable arrangements for handling of their mail, such as temporarily relocating the box on a new line of travel, receiving their mail through another patron's box, calling at the post office for their mail, or some other appropriate temporary arrangement.
