Board Hits Back at Millage Foe

embers of the Lowell Area School Board of Education and recently-rasigned Superin-tendent James C. Pace struck out at opponents of school mill-age at Monday night's month-ly meeting.

Referring several times to an article carried in the Feb-ruary 6 edition of the Ledgerburban Life, Pace said that certain inaccuracies need clarification."

The article contained mater-ial offered by William Doyle, who spoke against the need for seven additional mills for operating expenses in a meet-ing in Lowell on February 2.

District voters will go to the polls for the third time since August to vote on the board's appeal for extra millage on Monday, March 17.

"It is rather easy to make figures work to your advan-tage," Pace told the board and a turnout of 20 interested resi-dents. "But certain points that were brought out by Mr. Doyle are not accurate."

Pace noted that Doyle had indicated Lowell was fifth highest in the Kent County in the rate of taxes.

"I presume he meant the city...not the school district ...was fifth highest," said Pace. "The school tax in this district is 24.6 mills compared to the 24.58 average for all districts in the nine counties that make up Region 9 of the Michigan Education Associa-

Pace also noted that the student-teacher ratio in Low-ell was 25.1 to 1 in 1967-68,

CBE Opens Bid to Woo 'Yes' Vote

An all-out campaign to woo Lowell Area School District voters to approve special op-erating millage on March 17 is underway.

David Miller, chairman for the Citizens for Better Education, announced that campaign headquarters have been set up on Main Street adjacent to Christiansen's Drug Store, not 21.2 to 1 as noted by Doyle.

"Mr. Doyle said that Rock-ford's ratio was 25.7 to 1 and that Lowell could have realized a surplus of $54,000 instead of a deficit of $114,000 if we had operated in a like manner." said Pace. "If we had elimin-ated all high school teachers, this probably would have been true."

The outgoing superintendent, whose resignation takes ef-fect June 30, also said that Lowell's per-pupil expense for 1968-60 is $505, almost identical with Cedar Springs' $5.02. High in the county is East Grand Rapids at $711 and low is Caledonia at $430.

Board President Dr. Robert Reagan also took exception to the article, declaring:

"I don't believe you can compare school districts any-more than you can compare skowboats."

The latter was in obvious reference to Doyle's position as president of Showboat, inc.

Dr. Reagan noted that the 1968 production of Lowell Shows boat showed a net profit of $5,835 on a gross of $54,000 while Chesaning's showboat production netted $12,075 in 1968 on a gross of $39,998.

"I've recited these figures," he added, "but that doesn't mean that our showboat was any better or any worse than Chesaning's."

The board also received a letter from the University of Michigan indicating that accre-ditation for Lowell was in jeo-pardy unless library and counselling personnel were brought up to standard.

"These are just examples of what an austerity budget has meant to our district," de-clared Dr. Reagan. "We have jeopardized our standing throughout the state."

The board approved motions o setire burde issued in 1959 to petire house issued in 1950, and 1961 for schoor construc-tion. Pace noted that the dis-trict's debt millage will be re-duced by almost one mill aft-er the bonds are retired and several rural areas begin pay ing debt taxes.

Ah! Spring

In spite of the snow flurries and cold winds still abound and cold winds still abounding in our section of the world there are a few, as yet feeble, but definite signs of spring around

For instance, the first northward bound flight of ducks was observed last week. Stores are putting up their gaily col-ored racks of flower and vegetable seeds and if you hit the discount houses it's easier to find garden equipment than a snow shovel.

It seems the ladies are beginning to think of spring cleaning for the basement and garage sales are beginning to sprout on the want ad page.

Driver Blames Weather in

Auto Accident Poor visibility and slippery roads were cited by State Po-lice from the Ionia County post as the causes of a two-car collision involving two Lowell residents Friday morning.

The accident occurred when Donna J. Potter, 26, of Route 2, Lowell, was unable to stop at the intersection of Whites Bridge and Centerline Roads due to slippery road conditions. Poor visibility prevented her from seeing the car driven by Floyd A. Halley, 47, also of Lowell, in time to avoid hitting his car.

No personal injuries were sustained but the left front section of Miss Potter's car was damaged as was the front end of Halley's auto.

At commencement exercises heid in December, 2,100 de-grees were awarded to stu-dents being graduated from the University of Michigan's 17 colleges and schools. Other area students on the list of graduates were Chris-tine Doele of 216 Pleasant Ave-nue, Caledonia, BA in English; Terry M. Conway of 2310 Oak-wood Drive SE, BSE in In-Cub Scouts Den 6 does a lot of fun things. Den 6 does achieve-ments and electives, paints & a lot of other things too. Den 6 wants you to join the pack 3364 Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Our Den Chief is Bill Linak. our Den Mother is Mrs. Dunk, and our Den Father is Mr. Dunk. Den 4 wants you to join the Cub Scouts.

The Cub Scouts of Den 6 met at the home of Mrs. Dunk on January 30th at 4 p. m. When all the boys in our Den ar rived we assembled alphabe acaroni to spell out the Cub scout promise. Each boy made his own and glued them on a shield of panelling cut out by Mr. Dunk. We had a treat of homemade cupcakes brought and made by Daniel Dole. They were very good. We then cut out napkin rings for our Blue and Gold Banquet. We also cut out pictures of bears Wolves for the nutcups for the Banquet.

Mrs. Dunk invited all of us to attend church services at e Cascade Christian Church. We then played darts. Our closing ceremony was the livig circle led by our Den Chief Linak.

The elk and goat this year was furnished by Lyle Covert as Bob couldn't go, and stayed home and hunted squirrel instead

After dinner, Lyle showed his motion pictures of his two month hunt in Idaho and Montana last fall, and Bob showed his slides of his squirrel hunt and trip to Niagara Falls,

The postal employees and guests are hoping that Bob and Lyle will again pursue the big game out west this fall, so this event can be held again next year. Oh! Refreshments were also served. * * *

When Mrs. Carl Gustafson of 631 Greenbrier SE, begins to bake cookies almost every child in the neighborhood seems to show up. They come in droves for she is famous for the goodies particularly her decorated delights.

Using a basic sugar cookie recipe, she turns out magic designs to entice adults as well as children.

Recently, Mrs. Gustafson baked twelve dozen ginger-bread men and decorated them in detail for a seminar of Grand Rapids kindergarten teachers. The subject of the discussions was "Put a Little Spice in Your Teaching" and she helped put a little spice into the meeting.

Halloween is a great time or ghosts and goblins and for ghosts and goblins and tricks and treats, Mrs. Gustafson's cookies reflect the spirit with clowns and owls. ### Late Winter Wedding Celebrated Sheryl L. Wooster of Greenville became Mrs. Richard C. Miller, Jr., in an evening cer-cmony Friday at the Oakfield Baptist Church in Rockford.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wooster of Greenville and Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Miller, Sr., of Cra-hen Road NE.

The bride entered the sanctuary wearing a floor-length gown of lace featuring a panel of bridal satin down the front. A crown held her shoulderlength veil in place. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white roses.

The bride's attendants were her sister Elaine, maid of honor, the bridegroom's sister Sue Miller, bridesmaid, and Tammy Wooster, flower girl. They wore empire gowns of pink brocade and velvet and carried nosegay bouquets of pink and white carnations, Best man was Daniel Kozak. Don Taylor and Paul Miller seated the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Davis of Greenville were master and, mistress of ceremonies at the reception which followed the wedding.

The young couple will reside at 514 Glenwood SE in Grand Rapids following a honeymoon trip in northern Michigan. Both are students at Grand Rapids Junior College.
