Ledger-Suburban Life

The Lowell Area School Board of Education, sticking to its campaign pledge to hold the line on new operating millage approved last spring, endorsed a proposed school budget calling for an outlay of $1,623,385 during fiscal 1969-70.

Included in the expenditures is retirement of a lingering deficit that was peg-ged at $90,000 as of July 1.

VOL. 76 NO. 21

Under new auditing procedures, howev-er, the deficit will appear as a $129,000 item . . . but this will also include an estimated $47,600 in delinquent taxes.

The board set operating millage at 12.4, which includes seven mills voted in 1967 and 5.5 of the seven mills approved by voters last March in the third special election in an eight-month period.

It was the second time in recent years that the board has voted to assess less millage than approved by local voters.

Total millage for the year is 28.6. This . will include 10.1 allocated by Kent County and six mills for debt retirement . . . the latter down from 7.5.

In sum and substance, this means that Lowell Area School taxpayers will only pay four mills more for schools than they did in 1968-69.

One reason is a substantial increase in state equalized valuation through re-assessment, new construction and other factors. Superintendent Carl Hagen told board members that the SEV of the district now stands at $28,569,572 . . . an increase of more than $3,500,000 in one year.

Board members were warm in their praise of negotiators for the Lowell Educa-

SOME TOMATO! - Fred Althaus is dwarfed by a huge tomato plant grown this summer in his garden at Cumberland and Foreman near Lowell. The "mon-ster" was nearly 8 feet tall and measured 12 feet in girth at last reading.

Huge Tomato Plant Nears

VOL. 15 NO. 22

When I was a kid (there was a time, too, in case some of the more faithful doubt it!), this was the week that I dreaded most.

It was the time of the Great Countdown . . . when only a matter of hours separated you and the reunion of teachers as another school year approached.

Mind you, I had nothing in particular against school. But it was a mighty poor substitute for swimming . . . or playing baseball . . . or tennis . . . and sitting in the shade over at the neighborhood store swigging on a great big bottle of Pepsi Cola.

I mention the latter because those were the days when Pepsi was first introduced. I can still hear that radio jingle . . . the first of the real swinging commercials:

"Pepsi Cola hits the spot . . . 12 full ounces, that's a lot . . . twice as much for a nickle, too . . . Pepsi Cola is the drink for you.'

Then there was this guy and he followed with "trickle, trickle, trickle, trickle .... nickel, nickel, nickel, nickel" as the commercial slowly died out.

Later, when I was in high school, this week marked the end of another summer of things like going down to the ball park to see the Tigers play . . . or spending the afternoon at Jefferson Beach on the roller coaster . . . or evenings at Eastwood Gardens listaning to the big band sounds of Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller, Harry James, Woody Herman . . . you name 'em, we saw 'em.

Yep, this was a week I sure hated to see come around.

Things really haven't changed too much, come to think of it. I don't like the thought especially of shorter and cooler days . . . and yet this is the best time of the year to play golf, a game with which I have a passng acquaintance.

It's also the time of year when football takes over from baseball as a principal topic of sports conversation . . . and that isn't all bad, even though there appears to be another disastrous season for the Lions.

Best of all, though, is that two to three vecks of what we call "Indian su I could use about three months of that kind of weather, believe me.

Naturally, we'd skip winter, then, and go right into an early, warm spring!

Hah, that sure would raise hobs with our friends the skilers.

The future of a small building under construction at the Kentree Stables may be referred to the township zoning board. A double violation of the township zoning code was revealed during a discussion at the board meeting.

Variously described as a garage, a com-pact house and a bunk house, construction on the building was halted recently when Herman Stukkie, building inspector, placed a "stop construction" order on the door of the project.

Stukkie said he issued a permit to construct a garage on the site to the Supreme Lumber Company on behalf of the Kentree Stables. Work was halted as the building took on the appearance of a small dwell-

Lou Withey and Gene Gilmore, who represented the Kentree Stables at the meeting, said that the building was to have been a bunkhouse for itinerant labor and that the lumber company knew its use when it agreed to erect the structure. Withey added, "The first time I knew that we were in violation was when I saw the stopwork order."

Carl Fleetwood, Ada township's attorney, indicated that the double violation occurred when the builder failed to secure a proper permit and to conform to the minimum over-all square footage as indicated in the township zoning code.

Grand Rapids Township officials have called a special hearing for next Tuesday night at 8 p.m. in the township hall following receipt of petitions from property owners seeking an extension of water and sewer lines along Cascade Road between East Beltline and I-96.

Clerk Marsha Bouwkamp said the petitioners, who are seeking acceptance of the proposal to establish a special assessment district to pay for the installations, own more than 51 percent of the affected property.

Among them are Cascade Hills Country Club, the proposed new Hospitality Motor Inn, property owners on Glenn Drive and Golf Drive and parts of Cascadia No. 2

Informal hearings will be held at a later date and all property owners will be able to see their file cards and discuss the appraisal with the appraisers.

According to police reports, an unidentified mailman had stopped to deliver mail at a roadside mailbox. On the opposite side of the highway was a car driven by Fred Hall of Wayland, who said he was about to make a right turn.

There was barely enough room for one car to pass between two vehicles.

At this point, a car driven by Mrs. Violet Murray, 52, of 12327 Four Mile, was going south. According to the officers, she drove between the two parked cars.

Meanwhile, another car with William Wagner, 44, of 7008 Windcrest, Cascade, at the wheel, was headed north on Lincoln Lake, and Wagner stopped at the rear of Hall's car to let Mrs. Murray go through.

Apparently Mrs. Murray failed to straighten out her car in the narrow passage, and plowed into the Wagner car, police said.

Mrs. Murray was taken by ambulance to Butterworth Hospital suffering from neck injuries and shock. Wagner's left foot was slightly injured.

8-Foot Mark ... and Growing!

There's a huge tomato plant out Foreman and Cumberland way, and the chances are that it is the biggest vine of its kind in this part of Michigan . . . if not the Midwest!

This out-sized tomato plant is fast pushing up to eight feet high and is about 13 feet in circumference.

The grower of this "giant" who administers to its daily needs is Fred Althaus, 61, who owns a bit of acreage in Lowell Iown-Althaus is a welder by trade, who works in a plant in Grand Rapids, but it's plain to be seen that his heart truly is in vegetable growing. He spends all of his sparetime in his garden plot. "It's my hobby," he says.

Now the big-question here is: "How come this one tomato plant is so big, while all the others tomato plants are of normal size?"

There is one possible answer as to why this particular tomato vine grows and grows and grows.

Just a few steps away from where this plant is rooted is a water pump. Now each time Fred waters his garden a certain amount of seepage oozes toward the roots of the big plant.

Then, too, the drops of water which trickle down the pump form a tiny rill which heads straight for the roots of the big vine.

In short, this giant tomato plant is being watered just about every hour of the day.

And, of course, this is more water than the companion tomato plants get.

Therein may lie the reason for the unusual growth of this one particular plant. Anyway, this giant keep growing, with no signs of any let-up. Meantime Fred is giving his giant plant the watchful eye. Fred, a longtime resident of the Lowell area, resides with his wife, Lulubelle, at

You got to sort of feel sorry for that little old lady over in England who has been turned down something close to 500 times in her bid for a driver's license.

She kind of reminds me of the gal who, just about two months ago, showed up over at the Ionia County Sheriff's Department to fill out the written test.

After much head scratching, foot shuffling and star (or ceiling) gazing, she finish-ed filling out the form. There are 50 parts to the test and, if memory serves, it requires 38 correct answers to pass.

The test inspector . . . a lady policeman ... glanced over the test and began checking off wrong answers. About the time she got to 20, it was apparent to the lady that she wasn't going to make it.

"When can I try again?" she asked. "After you have read this book, which has all the test answers in it," explained the lady copy.

"Isn't that funny," said the lady. "I've been taking a driver's course and there isn't a thing I can't do with that car. But these questions . . . well, they're something else again!

Sure hope she won't have to wait as long as that gal over in England.

The code, set down by the students themselves, and with an assist from both parents and faculty, has won whole-hearted approval of school authorities, including the Board of Education.

NOTES AND NONSENSE FROM "WINDY NOB"

Once upon a time, long, long ago, (about 22 years ago to be exact) I had visions of being an old maid farmer. At the time a girl friend and I had decided we would in time own a large dairy farm.

A year later, we were both married.

Now, a husband, 5 children, and 21 years later, 1'm a slightly nervous, graying, nagging, but very happy woman. Friend husband and I took the kids to the Freeport Homecoming the other night. Been going every year, wouldn't miss the balloon ascension for anything. And the kids love the ferris wheel. Of course that's the only thing I'll get on anymore. The big interest for me is the ox-roast. I like to eat! So

Friday night we went early enough to eat before the balloon ascension. Got to ride the wheel later, to the accompaniment of Rem Wall.

The first real enjoyment of the evening came when I "passed the buck" to friend husband. After all these years, the kids wanted to know all about the balloon ascension. Until now, it had been taken for granted. The balloon got bigger, went up in the air, and then a man came down in a parachute. Well, thanks to the encyclopedia, I can now say that in 1783 the Montgolfier brothers constructed their first balloons in France, the first man-carrying flight being on October 15, 1783, with de Rozier the passenger. It became a fad and the first American ascent was made in Philadelphia in 1793.

Man's dream of flight goes back beyond the earliest days of history, and of the several ideas conceived to attain this goal the ornithopter, or flapping wing mechanism, is the oldest. Under U. S. War Department contract, a Mr. Langley worked from 1886 to 1903 to build a gas powered airplane. In the late fall of 1903 he gave up his work, a broken man. In 1896 Wilbur and Orville Wright began their experiments. Early in 1903 they decided to attemp the "real thing." They designed and built their own plane and engine and on Dec. 17, 1903, made history.

CONSERVATION LAW TIPS - DO YOU KNOW That 90 days after adjournment of the Legislature this fall, a new amendment to the Horton Trespass Act will go into effect? The Act required written permission to hunt on farm land, adjacent woodlots or club property only if fenced. All other trespass was a civil offense only. The new amendment makes hunters liable to arrest on all private lands that are fenced or posted "adequately" (not just a lone sign on a far cor-ner) unless he has obtained permission from the owner or lessee to fish or hunt.

grouse hunting from Sept. 15-Sept. 31 throughout the Lower Peninsula instead of South of M-20 only. It authorizes bear hunting in the L.P. under permits and Department of Natural Resources control and sets a statewide squirrel season Sept. 15-Nov. 10.

ODDS AND ENDS FOR FISHERMEN: General fishing conditions; lakes and streams are low and clear. Port lakes and Lake Michigan still high. Weather, hot and dry and fishing pressure low. A few lake trout still being caught from Lake Michigan, but very little action yet on salmon. Stream fishing poor. Worms and crickets used in early morning and late evening, in deep water, produce the best bluegills. For specks, try min-nows. Best waters: Back waters of Thornapple, Kent County; White and Muskegon Lakes and channel walls, Muskegon County; and Dickerson, Clifford, Bass, and Crystal Lakes in Montcalm County. Evenings, with crawlers best for bass. No hot spots this week. For pike and walleyes, the only activity was the Muskegon River, but very few fishermen were trying.

Fishing last week was poor. We probably will have little action now until more rain and cool weather returns. NEW ARRIVAL Congratulations are in order for Dan and Marcy Wingeier who are announcing the birth of a 7 lb., 5 oz. son. Richard

Herbert was born at Blodgett Hospital on Friday, August 22. ALTO GARDEN CLUB

The Alto Garden Club met at the home of Rhena Damouth on August 20. As each of the 32 members and their three guests arrived, they were seated at a table beautifully decorated with flowers.

Rub a dub dub, the man in the tub made it to Manitowoc. I've motored and sailed, been down in a sub, but a tub trip would see me balk.

Many local sailors took advantage of the clear skies and brisk breezes over the weekend. Out on My Tie, their new 24 footer, were John and Marilyn Roe. Skimming over Lake Macatawa as their guests were Mickey and Fran Juno, Craig and Betsy Larride, and Joe and Mary Seastromb. Diane and Mark Veneklasen helped skipper the S22 to second place in Sunday races at Spring Lake. Barb Caufield and daughter, Candy, were thoughtful guests who arrived with Chip and dip and thick, thick steaks

Carol Neubecker was the guest of honor at a huge miscellaneous shower given by her aunts, Bernice Loziki and Ethelyn Grochowalski.

Punch was served on the lawn while guests arrived. The forty-three well-wishers included both of the bride-to-be's grandmothers, assorted aunts, great-aunts, cousins, and second cousins. There were also friends and neighbors making dents in the homemade rolls, ham, and potato salad. As if this was-n't enough, luncheon was followed by fruit cake and brownies. Coffee and three tables of bingo gave everyone a chance to discuss Carol's forthcoming marriage to Josh Sears on September 6. Not to be outdone by Carol's relatives, her co-workers at Steelcase attended a luncheon shower at Tiki's Lounge. The hostess was Linda Dykema

Another big gathering took place at Janel Beldings. Have you ever heard of a slide party? Not to be confused with tobaggons or playground equipment, this refers to all of the pictures taken by over thirty young people who traveled to Europe this summer.

Janel invited the whole troop for a reunion. They just returned home four weeks ago, but to each one, it was like seeing a lifelong friend again. After all, they had spent a lot of time and energy storing up new sights and sounds together Swimming, food, and viewing the slides took up a day that started at 3 p.m. and lasted until 11. There were guests from as far as Saginaw and many from Cedar Springs, Rockford, and Sparta. ***

With the weather as fabulous as it has gotten to be later this summer ... and the only thing to mar it has been the hoards of mosquitoes ... Gary Gromer decided that there was just time enough left for a canoe trip. Bob VandenBos, Curt Thon, and Tom Teft helped make the plans come true. The quartet invaded the wilds of Canada for a week's sojourn on the clear

Trick Water Skiing Ada Youth's Favorite

In the last few weeks, Skip Storm has been winning honors in the AWSA water ski tournaments. Building points for ratings in three kinds of water skiing. Skip has already achieved his first class in jumping and become an expert in both trick and slalom skiing classifications. He is about to become a master in the trick class. Skip, who is 16 and son of the Clinton Storms, Ada Drive, works out on the Thornapple River for several hours each day. On weekends he travels to various cities in this region where the American Water Ski Association meets are held. He took a third place in the Michigan Open at Jackson, third in the Spartan Open at Flint, and a first place last weekend at Mischawauka, Indiana.

These honors were all in the trick skiing divisions. Skip now has built enough points in that catagory so that he expects to become a master at Piqua, Ohio this coming weekend.

It was a magazine that gave Skip the desire to try for honors. He had been skiing on the river for some time when he first subscribed to the journal of the national association. Articles that he read regarding the tournaments encouraged him to practice until he felt he was ready to try for his ratings. Skip usually enters all three catagories at the meets, but trick skiing is his favorite form of competition.

Win Road Rallye

Lowell drivers and navigators took three of the first five places in the first rallye held last Sunday following organization of the Royce Mustang Club.

Winner of the 35-mile event was Jelaine Gillis, who had Marge Saganski as navigator. They are from Grand Rapids. Ed Mast and Tim Jones of Lowell were second, followed by Wayne and Gail Richardson of Grand Rapids; Juan Saldivar and Blair Armstrong of Lowell and Doug Covertson and John Haggai of Lowell.

Club members convened at Fallasburg Park to presentation of trophies following the rallye. A meeting of the club and persons interested in joining is see eduled this Thursday night, August 28, at Royce Ford at 7:30.

Three Run Homer Wins for Pewamo'9'

The opening game of the Tri-County Baseball League cham-pionship playoff between Pewamo and Belding ended in dramatic fashion when Jim Bengel, Pewamo's catcher, blasted a three-run homer in the bottom of the 12th inning to give Pewamo a 10-9 win.

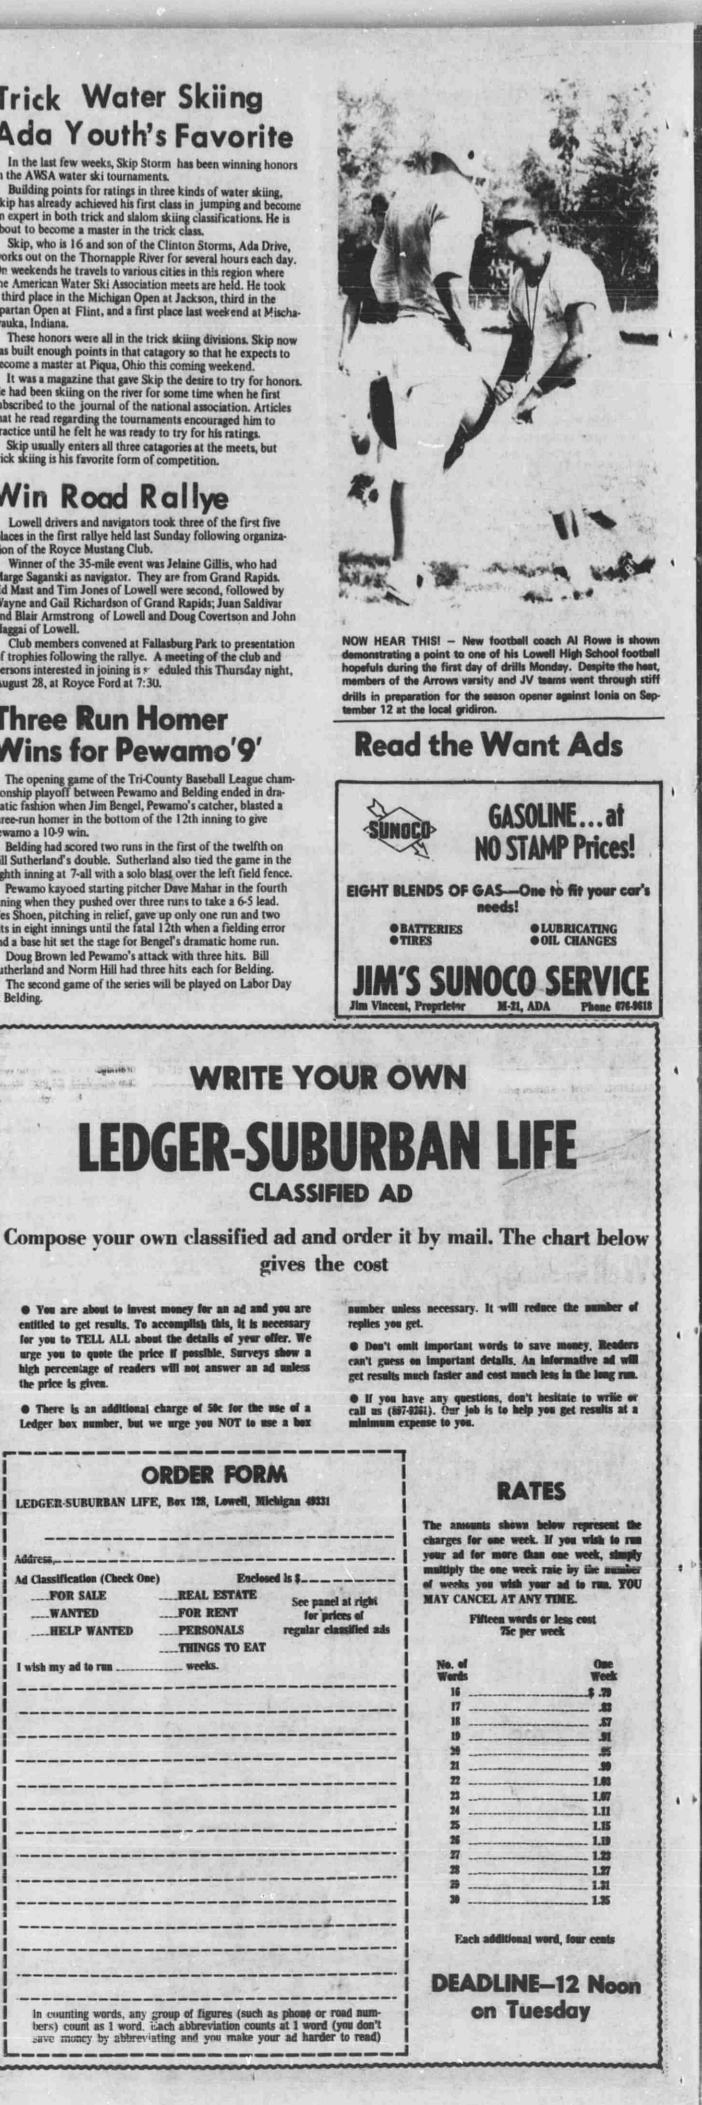

Belding had scored two runs in the first of the twelfth on Bill Sutherland's double. Sutherland also tied the game in the eighth inning at 7-all with a solo blast over the left field fence. Pewamo kayoed starting pitcher Dave Mahar in the fourth inning when they pushed over three runs to take a 6-5 lead. Wes Shoen, pitching in relief, gave up only one run and two hits in eight innings until the fatal 12th when a fielding error and a base hit set the stage for Bengel's dramatic home run. Doug Brown led Pewamo's attack with three hits. Bill Sutherland and Norm Hill had three hits each for Belding The second game of the series will be played on Labor Day

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

'Junk Cars' Cause Townships Problem

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE RESIDENTS OF ADA AND CAS-CADE TOWNSHIPS:

The low salvage value of old automobiles, together with the absence of suitable disposal sites which can lawfully receive them, has created a serious problem for those township residents who are the owners of "junk cars". By definition any automobile not currently licensed and/or inoperable fits this description.

As township supervisors, we are sworn to enforce the provisions of the ordinances which bear on this matter; violations brought to our attention must be processed; conviction of a misdemeanor usually results in a fine which may be as high as $100.00.

In an effort to alleviate the problem - particularly for those presently cited in complaints - we call attention to the fact that "junk cars" can be hauled to Earl Jourdan Auto Parts, 3933 Clay Avenue, S.W., Telephone 534-0501. This firm has informed us it will accept vehicles without charge if both radiator and engine are included. Withouth radiator the charge is $5.00, without engine the charge is $7.50. The firm will pick up in our Townships wherever possible for a fee ranging from $15 to $25.

Fred Clancy

Supervisor Ada Township

Al Heemstra Supervisor Cascade Township

P.S. We will appreciate any further information as to additional auto parts firms or wrecking yard operators in this connection.
