

Zoning OK Clears Way for Major Home Development in Area

A major residential development, one of the largest in the history of Eastern Kent County, moved off the drawing boards and into the first phase of construction in Lowell Township today.

Approval for rezoning of 150 acres off Cumberland between M-21 and Fulton by the Lowell Township Zoning Board of Appeals opened the way for Ladd Development Company to start construction of homes in the company's new Eastgate-In-The-Woods subdivision.

Company president Everett Ladd appeared before the board and a turnout of about 30 residents Monday night to explain the scope of the project, located along a ridge in scenic woods.

Ladd indicated plans call for construction of approximately 300 homes in the $18,000-$21,000 range at a rate of approximately 75 units per year.

Most will be of Colonial design in one-story and one-and-a-half story architecture. Several residents expressed concern over future operation of a private water system which Ladd will develop from wells, but Ladd informed them that all such systems are supervised by the state Department of Health, which has the final word on this type of operation.

He explained that similar systems developed in Alpine and Plainfield Townships are now operated by the township. "But there is no law that requires a township to assume this responsibility," he noted.

In addition to the Northgate and Westgate developments, Ladd presently is developing Adcroft Commons on Ada Drive in Ada Township.

Roads in the subdivision will be constructed of 2-inch deep bituminous with gutters, Ladd indicated. This caused several residents to question how storm water would be handled.

"We have received approval from the county drain office to install a drain to handle much of this water," he said.

The new drain will intercept a creek near the new Cumberland Leisure Estates Mobile Home Park, located about a quarter-mile away.

Much storm water, Ladd said, would drain to the west as the subdivision is further developed.

Ladd indicated that three homesites have been sold already and that additional sales were imminent despite the lack of publicity and advertising.

"I'd say we're off to a good start," he declared.

William Ericson, who will serve as manager of sales for Westdale Company, said that all homes will be built under FHA and VA specifications and approval, which permits minimum financing for prospective home buyers.

Harry Weimer, who acted as chairman for the zoning board in the absence of Gilbert VanWeldren, expressed the opinion that Lowell Township welcomes residential growth and congratulated Ladd on his selection. Other members present were George Weiland and Delmar Stuessy.

In other action, the board approved rezoning of 121 acres at Platt Lake Road and Cascade Road (Old 16) to accommodate a new 18-hole golf course. Owned by Dave Potter, the course will be called Deer Run and is scheduled for opening in 1971.

Potter assured the board and John Timpson, who owns adjacent property, that a fence would be erected to keep golfers from trespassing in Timpson's orchards.

The board refused a request for rezoning to commercial several parcels owned by Clark and Fry Ready Mix Concrete when no representative for the company appeared. Many residents were there to object to the rezoning request.

A request for rezoning of property under consideration as a shooting range site for members of the Grand Valley Sportsman's Club was turned over to the township board for further study.

"I don't think there is anything that we can do about rezoning this property," declared Stuessy. "Besides, what would we do ... call it a war zone?"

Volunteers Aid in War on Dystrophy

Volunteer workers will canvass the Ada and Cascade area this Thursday, November 13, on behalf of the Kent County chapter for Muscular Dystrophy in an attempt to meet a county goal for raising $40,000 in contributions.

In addition, Boy Scouts in Lowell are completing a week-long fund-raising drive under the direction of Scoutmaster William Nowack.

Funds collected from the march are to be distributed in Kent County. At present the county chapter is caring for approximately one hundred patients. Funds have been used to purchase body jackets, shoes, braces, wheel chairs and clinic services.

Marching in the Ada Cascade area under the chairmanship of Mrs. George McClellan are: Mrs. Gene Logue, Mrs. Harold Buttrick, Mrs. Wallace Letterman, Mrs. Burleigh Schroeder, Mrs. Lloyd Bertrou, Mrs. Ruth TerBeek, Mrs. Paul Gabriz, Mrs. Dean Van Velsen, Mrs. Kay Rust, Mrs. Dane Basch, Mrs. George Grochowalski, Mrs. Fred Dygert, Mrs. William Bos, Mrs. Joseph Blanton, Mrs. Robert Van Strien, Mrs. Marion Mitchell, and Mrs. Dan Plane.

In an area north of Ada from Boynton Avenue to Grand River Drive, the marchers under the chairmanship of Mrs. Phillip Wood are: Mrs. Jon Forslund, Mrs. Richard Cortwright, Mrs. Grace McNaughton, Mrs. Edna Martin, Mrs. W. D. Dawson, Mrs. Joseph Mooney, Mrs. Randall Litton, Mrs. Richard Debruyne, Mrs. Tony Hamminga, Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, Mrs. Caroline Harper, Mrs. Lester Morse, Mrs. R. J. Schlosser, Mrs. Peter Gell, and Mrs. David Vander-Veen.

Open New M-44 Section to Traffic

The traffic detour on M-44 between Ramsdell Road and Lincoln Lake Avenue was lifted Monday by the Department of State Highways.

The new three-mile strip, which passes through Grattan, and a part of a five-mile route, is a million-dollar modernization project which is scheduled for completion in December, according to state highway officials.

What's This... More Dam Taxes!

BY SHIRLEY DYGERT

Ada Township officials who just a few short months ago disclaimed any future interest in township management of the Ada Dam may have to do an about-face on the matter.

This became evident following an appeal from Dan Wallace, president of the Thornapple Association, Inc., that something be done soon to relieve property owners behind the dam of a possible $1,200 annual tax liability.

Wallace said this was the amount the association would be assessed in taxes under the present ownership. TA, Inc., purchased the dam and flowage rights from Consumers Power and, under court order, assigned operation and maintenance of the facility to the Kent County Drain Commissioner's office.

Property owners along the backwaters are being assessed at 30¢ per front foot under a special assessment district established by the court.

Cascade Township officials are working on a similar project for the Cascade Dam located upriver, but the township itself would become owner of that facility under present plans.

Supervisor Al Hoemstra of Cascade has indicated that he and his board favor a river management authority to control both dams.

Supervisor Fred Clancy of Ada told Wallace at Monday night's bi-monthly meeting that he had attempted to gain relief from the tax at the county level, but his efforts were unsuccessful, he said.

Three attorneys have been asked to study this problem, Dale Rhodes for the association, George Cook for the County of Kent, and Gene Alkema for Ada Township.

A fifty percent reduction in new housing starts in Ada Township since a year ago reflects a national downward trend in building. However, because of two large permits being issued in the last month, Building Inspector Herm Stuuik was able to report a total valuation of $446,500 as compared to $208,600 last year at the same time.

Two permits requested by Amway Corporation totaling $305,000 kept valuation up even though only three new housing starts were shown on the books. Last year, six new dwellings were reported.

Fire Chief Stanley Osmolenski told the board that there had been six fire runs since his last report for a total of 67 runs for the year. Three of the October runs were presumably caused by Halloween pranks.

The board approved a new lighting assessment district on Paradise Road where the residents had petitioned for lights at the corners of Paradise Lake Road and Ada Drive and that road and Hall Street. Consumers Power Company placed the cost at $65.00 per light. The assessed residents will pay $1.20 per lot per year.

A letter was received and read by Clerk, Ken Anderson, from Jay Van Andel accepting the position offered him on the Township Planning Commission.

A letter from Kent County Drain Commission regarding the blacktopping of large areas was read and given to the building inspector. It was suggested that before he issues a building permit for any structure incorporating large blacktop areas, he receive approval from the drain commissioner's office.

Copies of the resolution regarding transfer of $20,000 from the DPW to Ada Township for a sewer on Thornapple River Dr. were placed on record.

Approval was granted to continue investigation into insurance coverage for the Ada firemen.

Mrs. Neal VanderPearl was sworn in by the clerk as a deputy treasurer in Ada Township.

Beginning Friday, December 5, the treasurer will be in the township offices every Friday for the purpose of collecting taxes. This policy will continue through the month of January, 1970.

VOL. 76 NO. 32

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1969

NEWSSTAND PRICE 10 cents

VOL. 15 NO. 33

Sometime ago, we expressed the view that when there was too much news for this particular bit of nonsense to appear in a given week, The Smyth would have to step aside.

Such was the case last week ... which wasn't our original idea since we had planned welcome to the 300 new subscribers who have joined the Ledger-Suburban Life family as the result of the recent Boosters Club drive put on by Forest Hills Junior High students.

So, quite belatedly, we will indeed say "welcome" and may your association with us prove to be a long and happy one.

Two years ago when we first came to this area to look over the possibility of becoming an editor and publisher, it was evident that residential and commercial growth was headed this way ... perhaps faster than many people desired.

Nothing has happened in the meantime to cause us to reconsider that initial analysis ... despite a brief setback recently in residential growth as the result of higher costs and interest rates.

In perusing a nationally-distributed magazine the other day, we came across an item that indicated small towns are growing faster than the national average for all other communities.

In a 10-year period, for example, three-fourths of towns between 2,500 and 25,000 population grew at a rate of 21 percent ... which was three percent higher than the national average.

Surprisingly enough, towns of 500 or less were the biggest losers over the 10-year span ... with some 60 percent of them showing losses.

Now that we have enlightened one and all with that bit of trivia, let us get on with things more pleasurable.

One of the more humorous things to happen in the past few weeks came during the Lowell city council meeting last week.

Seems that members of the police department and police reserves wanted to be heard on a particular matter and showed up en masse at the meeting.

Midway through the session, a hot-rodder stopped on the street outside the council chambers and began racing the motor of his car.

Councilman Herb Reynolds, raising his voice above the roar, suggested that someone go out and do something about the noise.

The men in blue started to rise ... as if one ... and it was almost as though the hot-rodder had received a signal, for he was off in a screech of tires at that precise instant!

That's what we call ACTION!!

Last week's sunshine sure made things look a lot brighter to many of us and we got to thinking that weather really does effect all of us in one way or another.

We were reflecting on this when we chanced upon Harold Englehardt, who holds forth in the president's chair at State Savings Bank in Lowell.

"You know, that's true," he said. "But I'll bet you don't know that sunny days have a decided effect on one business in particular."

We allowed as how he probably meant the automobile business. Not so, he said. Well, maybe the banking business then? Wrong again. In that case, what business? we asked.

"Cemetery monuments," he said. So there you have it ... another gem from the pen of the Smyth. And don't forget that you heard it here first!!

Man Sought After Fall into River

A search for 83-year-old Ed Minard, missing since Saturday, continues today along the Grand River south of Lowell.

He was last seen by neighbors at noon Saturday fishing on the banks of the river.

One resident, John Ford, of 227 S. Division, noticed that the man had apparently fallen into the river and called police.

On arriving at the scene, Lowell officers and Kent County Sheriff's Deputies immediately began dragging operations until nightfall.

On Sunday, Sgt. Dave Price of the Sheriff's marine rescue squad flew over the river in a Civil Air Patrol plane, but heavy fog hampered the search.

Meantime, several men from a special emergency rescue team of Grand Rapids, joined in the recovery effort.

At noon Tuesday, Sgt. Price put in a call for two Scuba experts, and the divers went under water for some 10 ft. among old logs and shoreline cave-ins.

Also on Tuesday Leonard Jackson, local pilot, in company of Police Chief Barry Emmons and Patrolman Al Eckman made several flights up and down the river, but no trace of Minard was to be seen.

A retired longtime employee of the Lowell Light & Power Co., Minard resided at 516 King St.

65-Member Safety Patrol Assigned to Three Schools

There are thousands of safety patrol squads in the schools of Michigan, but most of them operate out of only one school building.

In Lowell, however, 65 safety patrol boys and girls have the unique distinction of protecting students who pour out of three school buildings three times every school day.

The local patrolers are posted at six intersections surrounding the Runciman Elementary, the Intermediate School and Junior High School, at Monroe and Washington Streets.

Clad in flaming orange belts, which have been supplied by the Auto Club of Michigan, the safety squads generally operate in pairs.

They stand at the corner and order all approaching students to halt at the curb, then look up and down the street for cars. Only if the street is clear are the students allowed to cross.

The faculty sponsor of the Lowell patrol squad is Arnold Kimball, a junior high social studies teacher.

Captain of the safety group is Albert Kline, and his three lieutenants are Laurie Briggs, Jack VanPutten and Margaret Reynolds.

The captain and the lieutenants make a daily check of all posts to make sure all are manned. They also keep records of the work of the patrolers.

In addition, four safety boys are appointed each day to act as playground supervisors.

The protective work of the Lowell safety patrolers have won commendation from officials of the AAA and traffic experts of the area.

In appreciation of their efforts, the American Legion Skating Rink donates free tickets once a month to all members of the safety patrol squad, which holds a roller skating party each year and a picnic at the end of school.

According to Fire Chief Frank Baker, the fire may have been touched off by an electrical short. He estimated damage at $5,000 to the house and $4,000 to the contents.

See Early Vote for Millage

Plans to hold a special election for operating millage are being developed today by the Lowell Area School Board of Education.

Two millage measures terminate at the end of this year... seven mills voted in three years ago and seven mills approved last March.

The board is using only 5.5 mills of the latter issue, however.

Superintendent Carl Hagen told board members Monday night at the monthly meeting that school officials all over the state are watching developments of various educational bills now before the State Legislature.

"The amount of millage to be requested for future operation of the school system will be determined in large part by the new legislation," Hagen says.

Hagen said that it appeared that many school districts in Kent County would hold millage elections in February.

In other business before the board Monday, an outline of the new girls athletic program indicated that neighboring schools are interested in competing with Lowell and that gymnastics would be the first competitive sport under any such arrangement.

Bids are to be asked in time for the December meeting for two buses that, because of age limitations, cannot be used in the school fleet; and

A report from the library department was followed by board approval for an increase in library expenditures to maintain "local effort" as required for Federal assistance and the board approved acceptance of a policy statement for selection of library materials required by the North Central Association.

Await Appearance in District Court

Two Lowell-area youths have been ordered by police to appear in 63rd District Court next Wednesday to answer to charges of minors in possession of intoxicating beverages.

A 16-year-old juvenile, who was in the party, was referred to Probate Court officials on the charge.

Arrested early Monday near the Lowell City Airport were Steven Charles Balcom, 19, of Osbely Drive, and Stephen Lee Bihler, 18, of Beckwith Drive. Both were ticketed by the officers for the court appearance.

In other police action, Jack R. Clark, 32, of 13788 Beckwith N.E., was taken to Kent County jail after he was issued a ticket for driving under the influence of liquor.

Clark was arrested last Friday on South Hudson, near Bowes Road.

'Tight-Money' Market Crimps Construction

The nation's "tight-money" market is threatening to seriously impede plans by Forest Hills School officials to expand classroom facilities.

Superintendent Robert Masten advised Board of Education members at last week's meeting that no bids were received for sale of Series I bonds representing funds required for the first part of an overall construction program approved by the voters last June.

The legal ceiling for interest on such bonds in Michigan is six percent and Masten notes that the national average is still above this mark.

Masten said plans are to continue to advertise sale of Series I bonds in hopes that the market will eventually open up.

Smith reminds all auto owners that it is necessary to have their titles in hand when purchasing plates. This is in addition to a signed prepared or filled-out application, proof of liability insurance, and cash enough to purchase the plates.

Complete New Towns

One of the many ways in which industry is helping solve the housing crisis is by the construction of complete new towns on vacant land, using the latest concepts in city planning.

The twelve biggest new towns will eventually house over 1,250,000 people, and will occupy 140 square miles of land when completed. They are being planned, built and financed by private enterprise.

One example of complete town planning is Litchfield Park, Arizona, being constructed by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company on a 12,000 acre farm near Phoenix. It is planned for between 75,000 and 100,000 people, when completed in 1990.

The company took the neighborhood as its basic building block, and put an elementary school in the center of each neighborhood. Four to six neighborhoods are clustered into a village, with a recreational center and a small shopping area. There are 12 villages clustered around a central core or downtown area with a college, hospital, department stores, and other facilities that serve the entire town. No home is more than a mile from the central core, and everyone can walk to school, a recreation area, or stores. It gives city convenience with suburban privacy.

STUDENT BOOK FAIR COMING

The book fair display includes attractive new books from many publishers. All reading areas of interest to students will be represented, including classics, fiction, biography, adventure, science, nature, crafts, mystery and reference books. Wonderful books to read or to give as gifts.

At one place I had to cross a fence near an old elm tree. Part of the tree had fallen across the fence. The first morning I saw a chipmunk sitting there eating something. As I approached, it ran. I had part of a peanut butter sandwich in my pocket, so I broke off a little and put it where he had been sitting. I went on to my trap. When I came back, the sandwich was gone.

This went on for four days. The fifth day the hungry little begger didn't move when I got there. I put the bit of sandwich down and he grabbed it, then ran. The next day, I made him take it from my hand. He stretched himself six inches it seemed, to get the sandwich without getting too close to my hand. The following day, I held my hand out without the food. Boy, did I get told off in a hurry. That little begger sat right there every stop I made had a special meaning.

This went on for four days. The fifth day the hungry little begger didn't move when I got there. I put the bit of sandwich down and he grabbed it, then ran. The next day, I made him take it from my hand. He stretched himself six inches it seemed, to get the sandwich without getting too close to my hand. The following day, I held my hand out without the food. Boy, did I get told off in a hurry. That little begger sat right there every stop I made had a special meaning.

At one place I had to cross a fence near an old elm tree. Part of the tree had fallen across the fence. The first morning I saw a chipmunk sitting there eating something. As I approached, it ran. I had part of a peanut butter sandwich in my pocket, so I broke off a little and put it where he had been sitting. I went on to my trap. When I came back, the sandwich was gone.

SEEK THEATRE ROLES - This was the scene as casting for the production of "Pinocchio" proceeded with the Thornapple Community Theatre. An all-woman cast is featured.

Finish Casting for Pinocchio by Theatre Group

Final casting for parts in the Thornapple Community Theatre's production of "Pinocchio" was made Monday by Mrs. Robert Stoppes, director, following readings that were open to the public.

The play, which is to feature an all-woman cast, will tour outlying cities and schools in order to take "live" theatre directly to children.

Alternating in the part of Pinocchio will be Betty LaBlanc and Mae Preston. The Blue Fairy will be played by DeDe Zimmerman and the Red Fox will be portrayed by Jane Breidenfeld.

In the play, the Black Cat will be acted by Elyane VanStuyt, and taking the part of Geppetto will be Amy Afendoulis. Candlewick and Cricket will both be played by Pat Roy.

A large number of bookings have been made to date, beginning with Beethoven Festival at Grand Valley State College on December 7.

While I got the sandwich out of my pocket, scolding me the whole time. This time there was no stretching. He just sat there and ate it, then wanted more.

The last day I was there, I left my friend a half a sandwich. It was an awfully rainy day, so I made a lean-to out of bark and put the sandwich under that. On my way back to the car, I stopped long enough to see how he was doing with so much. There he sat, in his private dining room, stuffing himself.

At another place, a fat old fox squirrel finally decided after two weeks, that I could be trusted and the last three days I walked under his tree, he didn't hide from me.

I saw a lot of deer tracks and quite a few deer. More pheasants than usual. Even saw some rabbits running around. (Maybe our trapping had helped the small game.)

Rangers Bow to Late Surge by Northview

If members of the Forest Hills High football team have one consolation from their final appearance of the season, it would be that they contained one of the state's best teams for more than three quarters before being outplayed.

The final score of 44-20 would appear to indicate the Rangers were all but checked out of the field against fourth-ranked Northview, but such was not the case.

If anything, the final statistics show that Northview was no better than an even-up match against the aroused Rangers.

It might also be of some consolation to Forest Hills Coach Frank Rosengen that Northview and its fine junior quarterback, Steve Moerdyk, will continue to perform in the Ottawa-Kent Blue Division ... not in the Red Division.

Moerdyk turned in one of the best efforts of the season among western Michigan schoolboy griders as he sparked a fourth-quarter rally that netted the Wildcats four touchdowns in the 12-minute span.

Another banner turnout at Forest Hills, including honored guests at the annual Dad's Night festivities, saw Moerdyk lead his team to a 22-20 lead with 10:55 remaining in the game ... and then blitz the Rangers with three more touchdowns, the last with just 12 seconds remaining as Coach Gene VanDongen's club shot for a high ranking in the final prep grid polls.

Forest Hills tried valiantly to pull the game out of the fire at the midway point of the final quarter ... but lost by inches on a fourth-and-one situation at the Northview 42.

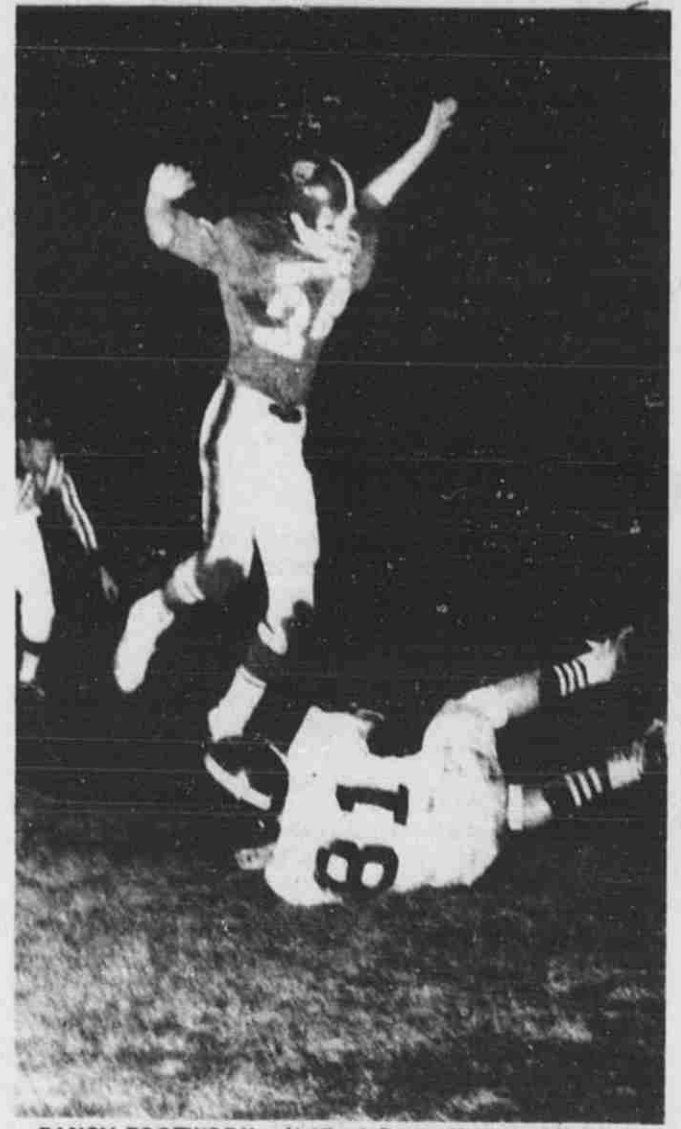

The Wildcats cashed in on the next play at Moerdyk went 58 yards on a keeper to boost the margin to 28-20 and open the scoring floodgates.

On the Rangers' next series, a fourth down play at midfield again missed by a proverbial hair and Moerdyk ran three straight keepers for a total of 42 yards to push across six more with 12 seconds left on the scoreboard.

Surprisingly enough, the teams battled to a 6-6 tie in the first half with Fullback Craig Wynant scoring for Forest Hills on a 30-yard jaunt off tackle after Moerdyk had connected with End Jim Patterson for a Northview tally.

Moerdyk's 16-yard haul to Hallback Rich Miller gave the Wildcats a 14-6 lead early in the fourth quarter, but Joe Page galloped 73 yards on the ensuing kickoff to close the gap to 14-12.

FANCY FOOTWORK — Hallback Danny Henson of Northview High appears to be a dancing dandy as he leaps to avoid Forest Hills and Jim Gallagher after the latter slipped while trying to catch a pass. Gallagher missed and so did Rogers, 44-20.

Wrestling Demonstration at FHHS November 25

How to win at wrestling is a subject much discussed in homes where high school wrestlers reside, but it is also a subject that comes to the fore whenever strangers to the sport take a first look at this form of competition.

For this reason, Coach Charles Matthews of Forest Hills High School holds an annual Demonstration Night. Anyone curious about scoring, holds, and timing will receive an explanation on Tuesday, November 25, at 7 p.m. in the multi-purpose room when members of the team will demonstrate the sport.

This includes a talk by the coach especially for the benefit of first-year wrestlers who will suddenly find that diet has become of prime importance.

Since the schedule of basketball games and wrestling matches allows residents to take in both sports, the demonstration will be of interest to many students and adults who follow the athletic program.

Griffith, Roy Win O-K Red Honors

Three members of the Forest Hills High School team were honored with positions on the all-conference squad selected by Ottawa-Kent Red Division coaches this week.

Halfback Doug Griffith, who was switched from fullback in mid-season, received a first-place berth as did teammate Bob Roy at center. Roy was a repeater from the 1968 all-league first team.

Guard Jim Meier of the Rangers was named a second-team berth.

Champion Wyoming Park took down four first-place spots, led by running back Doug Pokey and end Bill Buchanan. Tackle Dan Stevens and Guard Jim McElheny were other top-rated selections for the Vikings.

West Ottawa placed three men on the honor squad ... End Tom Kruitboff, quarterback Les Zimmerman and back J. Craig VanWieren. Guard Dennis Swanson from Godwin Heights and tackle Tom Holkover from Kentwood rounded out the No. 1 team.

All but Stevens, who has another year of eligibility remaining, are seniors.

Roth, Oberlin Top LHS Honorees

Fullback Ken Roth of Lowell High School's football team and cross country ace Mike Oberlin have been selected as recipients of annual Lions Club awards honoring the top athletes in the fall sports programs.

They were recognized before a capacity audience of parents and fellow students last Thursday night in the high school auditorium following a potluck supper.

Bernard Pankowski of the Lions Club made the presentation.

Roth also was honored by his selection as co-captain of the 1969 team, which he shared with Tackle Bob Bailey.

Coach Al Rowe and assistant coach Gary Rivers also announced their picks for Most Improved Players of the year ... Halfback Denny DeWitt and Tackle Bob Rottler.

Both coaches were high in their praise of the team, which lost several heart-breakers in a record of two wins, five losses and a tie ... the latter against champion Rockford.

Members of the junior varsity were introduced by Coach Charles Bowstrom and assistant Richard Brennan and the freshmen were introduced by Coach Michael Clark and assistant Zoltan Kocsondy.

Coach Tom Stahr cross country team, which posted a 7-2 record, named Blake Johnson to serve as captain in 1970 with Mark Murphy selected as most improved.

Rotary Interesting Speakers at Rotary

Programs which have been presented to members of the Lowell Rotary Club in recent meetings included speakers whose topics represented two interesting subjects.

On November 5, Attorney Joseph Neath gave a talk on "Student Unrest, Its Causes and Cures."

On November 12, John Adams spoke on "Trans-Michigan Waterway." He was introduced by Orville Jackson.

Spare That Tree... Or Have Bill of Sale

There's a special delight in cutting down your own Christmas tree and hauling it home to your firetree. Many Michigan residents traveling to the north country before the holidays, such as deer hunters, continue this nostalgic tradition.

However, transportation of Christmas trees and evergreen boughs is illegal in Michigan without a bill of sale or proof of property ownership. Provisions of the law are spelled out by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

During December, an exception to the law permits transportation of not more than two trees without a bill of sale, if they were legally obtained. Necessary legal forms are available from the Lansing and Grand Rapids offices of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, State Police Posts, county extension offices and county sheriffs.

Cub Scouts

Cub Scout, Den No. 2 held their meeting on Tuesday, November 11, at the Estes home. The theme this month is Folk Lore. We talked about characters like Paul Bunyan and Johnny Appleseed. Dennis Haver brought the treat this week.

VISIT "HAUNTED HOUSE"

The Christian Inland young people and some of the oldersters enjoyed a Halloween Party Saturday night.

Fifty-one persons traveled cross country after meeting at the home of Larry and Kathy Wait on Nash Highway. They loaded up and journeyed to a "haunted house" south of Clarksville, where all the scary things like ghosts, goblins, bats and black cats were staring at them, but they met the butler who showed them around and also the old witch had her steaming kettle of brew as they went in.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stahl were hosts to this party. Also, John Letson was with them on Charlotte to see them.

By all reports everyone had a real good time.

Book Fair Scheduled at Ada Elementary

A special book fair will be held next Monday and Tuesday, November 17 and 18 for adults as well as for children in the Ada Elementary School.

Sixty Club books, professional and hobby books, paperbacks, and American Heritage calendars will be on display and for sale.

The Ada PTO has planned to make available a large variety of fine reading so that customers may find gift-giving a little easier.

Proceeds of the sale will go toward purchase of additional books for the school library, especially the easy readers series. There are ninety children in the very early elementary whose needs have not been fulfilled.

The library committee has been able to purchase a complete set of editions of this magazine for the past ten years and has had this set bound and boxed.

An Ada PTO meeting on Tuesday, November 18, at 7:30 p.m., will feature a library report by Mrs. Neal Weathers, committee chairman.

Begin 'Operation Santa'

Operation Santa Claus, a combined effort of several area churches to see that needy families are provided for at Christmas time, is once again underway.
This year workers hope to make it a more personalized Christmas by going to the family what they need most to keep them warm and dry, keep them from going hungry, and to put a smile on the children's faces.
Mrs. Foster Bishop of Eastmont will head up this year's efforts as chairman. A planning meeting is scheduled for Monday, (November 17) 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Richard Laird, 7119 Oran Dr., Cascade.
Invitations have been sent to all churches in the area. Any area resident is most welcome to participate.

Cascade Christian Joins In FISH Movement

The fish was an early Christian symbol; today it is a mark of Christian service.
All across the country, people are banding themselves together in groups, known as Fish, to render service and help to their fellowmen.

Such a Fish group has been formed in the Cascade Christian Church, working through its Second Mile House.

A 2-4 hour answering service is being provided in this area, with designated church members on call around the clock and seven-days-a-week. People in need or trouble are urged to call the Fish phone (949-1261).

Babysitting, transportation, food supplies on an emergency basis as well as clothing, bedding, household items, friendship and counseling, assistance for alcoholics, hospital equipment and a referral service will be provided.

A person does not need to be a church member to seek these services; nor will any pressure be brought upon the person to attend lectures or to participate in church activities. Fish have but one objective—service. No charge is made and will be accepted from people seeking the services of Fish.

Fish at Cascade Christian Church will work in a close relationship with the public nursing service in Kent County and will provide referral services, if and when needed. All requests for assistance will be kept in strict confidence.

Mostly, the Fish at Cascade are untrained, but sincere in their efforts. They meet every other Sunday evening for training sessions, with different professional people invited to share their respective skills and technical know-how.

Forest Hills Hi-Lites

BY SHIRLEY DYGERT

Coming up . . . Thanksgiving and Christmas, as if you hadn't noticed. The holiday workshop at the Cascade Christian Church is not a bazaar or a money making gimmick of any sort. It is a day for the youngest child and the oldest citizen to view and make their own decorations. Materials are sold at cost. This year December 6 is the date set, from 10:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Covorting to the music of Lyle Stovall was a large group of members of the Forest Hills Country Club . . . most of them decked out in Roaring 20's garb.

Beginning with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres, guests eyed one another as they arrived. Prizes went to the Tom Darlings and the Marvin Germaines. It must have been hard deciding as there were some great costumes, including authentic clothes from Mrs. James Hainer's collection from that period. Jean Hainer wore a beige chiffon with overlay stripes of more chiffon that hung from shoulder to hem and were studded with rhinestones. The little eyecatchers swung back and forth as she walked.

Pat Vander Maas wore another from the collection, a green satin mid-calf length gown with maribou around the neckline. Jim Hainer arrived as a gangster with a huge shoulder strap and black gun. He was greeted by Eric DeWall in striped shirt, blazer, and skimmer hat. Betty DeWall was in a short white dress with flounce and rhinestones and a colorful headache band.

And so the evening went, fun and more fun as people relaxed and devoured the fried chicken and barbecued ribs. Included in the Bulla-Bulla snake dance were Jerry and Lynn Greenwood, Janis and Carroll Keller, Annette and Chuck De Minck, and Ann and Virgil Karns.

Listening to Tom Darling sing "Shanty in Old Shanty Town" accompanied by himself with his uke were Marv and Carol Butler, Don and Barb Braendle, and Hoover and Franny Gotchell.

Speaking of parties, the Club 24 is expecting a Lunar Landing on November 22 at the Embers Crater (Beltime Motel). Invitations in the shape of a moon map were sent to all club astronauts advising them that lift off will be at 8:30 p.m. The word from NASA was that each passenger would be expected to wear his space suit for a lunar walk (costume) and he should bring his own moonshine.

Advanced reservations for the blast-off have been made by Art and Doris Barnes, Jack and Phyl Barnes, Taylor and Virginia Sonke, Nora and Barr Nylene, and Pat and Sally Arnold.

Also planning to get shot to the moon are Elaine and Ed Bo-vee, Betty and Clint Scoby, Muriel and Al Dilley, and Eleanor and Bill Schriver.

Don't bother to go downtown if you are looking for a good book. They make excellent gifts for someone at Christmas, for a birthday, or for yourself. Ada Elementary PTO is holding a Book Fair from Monday and Tuesday, November 17 and 18. Stop in and browse.

Did you know that the Forest Hills debate and forensic teams belong to school divisions just as the athletes do? Except that instead of the Red division, our team belongs to the Black division . . . the other one is Blue.

Don't forget "Barefoot in the Park" at the high school this Friday and Saturday evenings. Or the football team's potluck dinner next Monday.

Plan Cascade Community Party

It is just what its name implies; the Cascade Community Party.

It's like a big block party, only this is for residents of a whole township . . . and it's indoors because the weather is cold and, unfortunately, it is limited because of space.

For thirteen years there has been a Cascade Community party held sometime around the Christmas season. Started by a group of fun-loving souls who wanted to spark the community spirit, the idea was such a success that first year, it has continued through volunteer workers as an affair for friends to greet friends and strangers to become acquainted with new neighbors.

This year's party will take place on December 6 at The Guest House on Stocking Avenue. Music for dancing will be played by the Catzers and a buffet supper is planned for a late hour.

Invitations for the event are being sent out to all of those who attended the party last year. Acceptance or regrets should be in the return mail before November 22, at which time reservations will be opened to any Cascade residents who wish to attend.

Co-chairmen of the party this year are Mr. and Mrs. George Doherty and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Simons. The food chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Don Dui-ven. In charge of arrangements are the Ron DeGreens and the William Petersons.

Mr. and Mrs. William Serne are in charge of the invitations and reservations and can be reached at 949-5412.

Sewing Contest Offers Many Attractive Prizes

The National Make It Yourself With Wool Contest is drawing many talented teen-age contestants from Kent and Ionia counties.

According to Mrs. Carroll Wells, local District Director of the contest, interest among girls is running high in the try for some $30,000 in prizes to be awarded by the American Wool Council and some 40 National sponsors. Awards include two all-expense paid dream vacations in Europe, college scholarships, Government Bonds, sewing machines, luggage, cosmetics, and accessories.

To enter girls must make a garment of 100% wool fabric loomed or knitted in America and model it before a panel of judges. Local winners progress to state and then national judging with awards at each level.

The national finals will be in Denver, Colorado next January 22.

Girls interested in entering or wanting more information should contact Mrs. Carroll Wells at 1917 Shaytown Road, Route No. 2, Vermontville, Michigan 49096.

Invitations, napkins, cake plates and many extras for your wedding. Order early at the Ledger office. Complete selection of styles and types.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Danoski and children of Kalamazoo and the former's nephew, SFC1 Joseph L. Danoski recently stationed in Germany were weekend guests of Mrs. Danoski's mother, Mrs. Elmer E. Marshall and attended the O.E.S. Installation Saturday evening. SFC Danoski is spending a 30-day leave with his uncle and aunt prior to leaving in December for his second hitch in Vietnam.

Mrs. Alpha Reynolds of Flint was a houseguest this week of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vosburg of Grand River Drive. She also visited Mr. and Mrs. James Baird east of Lowell and Mrs. Alice Reynolds of Snow Avenue.

PLAN BIRTHDAY OPEN HOUSE

An open house honoring Melvin Court on his 90th birthday is being planned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Court of 703 North Washington Street, Lowell. The event will take place on Sunday, November 16, from 2 to 5 p.m. The family requests "no gifts please."

THANKSGIVING ISSUE DEADLINES

In order to insure publication of society news and pictures in the issue of November 27 (Thanksgiving Day), it is necessary to have pictures in our office by 5 p.m. on the previous Thursday, November 20, and stories in by 4 p.m. Friday, November 21.

Plan Year's Activities for Local Girls Club

A variety of projects designed to interest the 7th and 8th grade girls who make up the membership of the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y club are being planned for the club year. Included in the line-up will be physical recreation, excursions, social functions and public service projects.

The officers for this semester are: Nancy Gabrion, president; Jean Wernet, vice-president; Sheila Kennedy, secretary; Laurie Courser, treasurer; Jackie Johnson, Sergeant at Arms; Jill Svedas, chaplain and Laurie Dennick, Historian.

There are over 40 members of the club which is sponsored by the Lowell YMCA. Mrs. Harold Myers is the leader.
