Last week the tables were turned, as man (or in this case, boy) proved to be dog's best friend.

It seems that Bill Brenk, 11, of 414 Monroe, and his dachsund, Schatzie, were passing time near the Lowell Junior High building, when Schatzie's attention was captured by an unknown object on the other side of the Flat River. tlines Problems of Determining School Millage

BY FRAN SMITH

Trying to establish a school operating budget these days is something akin to hoping that the paycheck you started working for on Monday will cover the cost of groceries come Friday.

"These are extremely uncertain times," explained Superintendent Carl Hagen in outlining some of the difficulties encountered by educators throughout the state

"I don't think our problems are any worse than most other school districts," he declared. "However, it is sometimes difficult to explain all facets of the problems to the public at large."

Hagen stressed that it is important for the public to keep faith with the board of education in the forthcoming special millage election on March 16.

'The board is asking 12.5 mills for operating purposes for a two-year period," he said. "This is 1.5 less than voted millage for operating during the present school fiscal year . . . but actually is the same amount as levied by the board.

"In other words, the board told district voters it would keep expense in line and, at the same time retire a holdover deficit," he added. "Barring unforeseen circumstances, our books will be just about balanced by June 30 at a cost less than had been anti-

Hagen points out that several important factors contributed to a savings for taxpay-

"For one thing, valuation in the district went up approximately $3,560,000 during 1969," he said. "Then, we received an interest-free advance of $101,250 in state aid. This, plus early repayment of $136,750 in tax anticipation notes have netted the . district a savings of more than $4,000."

The superintendent said it was unlikely the district would come even close to matching the huge valuation increase of last year during 1970. A blanket increase in assessments on property in the City of Lowell and similar increases in most townships was primarily responsible.

This year, city taxes will, for the most part, be based on a re-appraisal of property by an independent appraisal company. Hagen also noted that the board set the rate of 12.5 mills in line with most recent estimates of state aid for 1970-71.

"We expect a small increase," he said.

Lowell's millage request also is smaller than that asked by most neighboring districts, Hagen noted. At 12.5 voted operating millage, Lowell ranks below average among 21 districts in Kent County. In recent elections in neighboring districts, voters approved 18.51 mills in Hastings . . . an increase of 6.91 mills . . . and 13 mills in

OLD BUSINESS

1. Consideration of request of Cumberland Leisure Estates for hook-on to the City's wastewater system. Mr. Ramjeet, representing Cumberland Estates, stated they would be willing to pay whatever the City decided would be necessary to keep the City from paying part of it. He would be willing that the sewage be metered, they would pay for the meters and have them installed, if the City desired. They would be willing to pay a minimum charge, if that was demanded. Manager Bacon stated that at a previous meeting it had been the consensus of Council members that the City should go along with the project, if it did not cost the City any money and would be reasonably profitable to the City. He added that: 1. The City needs the revenue 2. It would be beneficial to the nature of the operation, rather than harmful, as attested to by our Wastewater Treatment Operator and by Thomas Wasbotten, Sanitary Engineer with the Michigan Department of Health. It was the consensus that the City would allow Cumberland Leisure Estates to connect to the City Sewage system. The rates would be stipulated after a report is made to the Council by the Manager. The study will be made as soon as possible, allowing time for election schools and preparation of the assessment roll. Manager Bacon added that he plans, later in the year, to recommend a rate increases in both water and sewer.

qualified electors on February 24, 1959, is no longer in effect inasmuch as these bonds have been retired and paid in full. 2. The Secretary is hereby directed to furnish the Municipal Finance Commission an affidavit or affidavits of cancellation

3. The Secretary is hereby directed to file a certified copy of this resolution with the Municipal Finance Commission in order that the Commission may complete its records and certify to the County Treasurer that there is no longer any need for the extra voted tax. 6. Site Committee chairman Rivette gave a detailed report of their second meeting, stating that fourteen property sites had been investigated and considered as possible future school sites. He presented a rating chart of all sites considered, indicating the five most suitable.

Mr. Rivette requested discharge of the site committee at this time unless the board had further leg work to be done. 7. Superintendent Hagen stated that the Honey Creek Christian Home had made inquiries regarding a special education class being held on their site. The general feeling was that the Lowell Area Schools should not be involved in the operation of a special education room away from existing facilities.

8. Superintendent Hagen asked for expression of the feeling of the board regarding attendance by students who may change residence after attending Lowell Area Schools for a major part of the school year.

With the prime concern being children and their education, and having collected state aid, the general feeling was that students who desired could complete the school year at Lowell. 9. Mr. John Troy expressed concern regarding the inade-quacy of the lighting in the area where the school buses are

The board instructed Superintendent Hagen to make a survey of the area and take action necessary to have proper lighting. 10. There were nine visitors present at the meeting. Motion by Shade and second by Siegle to adjourn at 9 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Matmen Miss Mark in Conference Championship Tourneys

Lowell High School's wrestling team, plagued by illness and injury in the 1970 conference tourney, was seeking to close out a perfect season in dual competition when the Arrows hosted non-league rival Ionia this past Wednesday.

Coach Gary Rivers' squad finished second to Belding in the Tri-River Conference tournament at Comstock Park last Saturday to reverse the positions of the two schools in dual stand-

Belding scored 89 points to 81 for Lowell with Sparta a distant third at 70. All three produced three individual champions. Cedar Springs wound up fourth with 61 points followed by Comstock Park with 37; Greenville with 31 and Rockford with

Rivers said the absence of heavyweight Bob Bailey with flu and 115-pound Kurt Inman with a bad knee may have had a slight bearing on the final outcome, but praised the work of their replacements. "We got a second from sophomore Dave Wisner in the heavyweight division and Craig Haybarker gave us a fourth at 115 pounds, "said Rivers. "Both were on our undefeated JV team and did real well."

Ray Smith continued his unbeaten ways at 145 pounds, scoring his 16th and 17th pins of the year in preliminary action before scoring Win No. 22 in a row with an 8-0 decision over Dale Ruche of Comstock Park in the finals.

Bob Graham won at 123 pounds with a 6-5 decision over Dale Holford of Sparta in the finals and Bob Rottier emerged as league champion at 185 pounds with a 4-3 decision over Belding's Dave Punches in their title match.

In addition to Wisner, Lowell had one other finalist. Tom Rasch took runner-up honors at 137 pounds when he battled Chris Rayburn of Cedar Springs to a 10-10 draw in regulation, only to lose in overtime by a 4-1 count.

John Gouw (98), Jim Richard (130) and Ken Huver (155) all took third-place finishes for the Arrows while Haybarker and John Lyons (175) scored points with fourth-place honors. This Saturday, Lowell will host six area teams in the Class

B district tournament with preliminaries starting at noon and the championship finals at 7 p.m. There will be an admission charge at the door. Belding and Lowell from the Tri-River and O-K Blue Division champion Northview appear to be the top contenders for team honors. Also entered are Greenville and Rockford from the Tri-River; Lakewood from the West-Central, Caledonia from the Expressway League and East Christian from the Grand Rapids City League.

The No. 1 and 2 finishers in district competition advance to the regionals. Four in each weight class emerge from the regionals to vie for state laurels.

Title Aspirants Hand Lowell Cage Thrashing

It will be no surprise to Jack Kempker if the Tri-River Conference basketball title race ends in a dead heat between frontrunning Greenville and red-hot Cedar Springs.

"They both have fine teams," says the Lowell High cage mentor, "but I think Cedar may have the edge at this stage

Which may bode ill for the Yellow Jackets as they prepare to face Cedar Springs this Friday night in the showdown battle at Greenville

Unbeaten Greenville is the lone league rival to have stopped Cedar Springs this season, but the Red Hawks have been coming on like proverbial gang-busters in the last few weeks. Cedar handed Kempker and Lowell one of the worst cage thrashings in their respective histories by galloping to a 102-58 victory last Friday. It marked the second straight 100-plus effort by Cedar Springs.

"It's possible that Lowell has been beaten by more than 44 points, but I doubt it," says Kempker. "And I can't ever remember a team of mine ever being beaten that bad." The defeat also ended any hopes Lowell may have had for finishing the regular season with a record above 500. The Arrows stood at 4-9 with three games remaining after a nonleaguer at Ionia this past Thesday night. Results were unavailable at press time.

This Friday, Lowell returns to league action with a home game against Belding and next Tuesday closes the home schedule with a non-leaguer against neighboring Forest Hills. A league game at Coopersville on February 24 closes out the regular campaign.

The Arrows were out of the Cedar Springs game almost before the ball left the referee's hand for the opening tipoff. Led by Rod Helsel and Lavern Jones, the Red Hawks streaked to a 24-6 first quarter bulge, were in front by a 49-22 advantage at halftime and continued to bomb the nets in the third quarter to gain an 80-37 margin with eight minutes

Lowell's shooting average in the opening stanza was a meager three baskets in 14 floor shots.

Denny DeWitt and Sid Haywood, a pair of juniors, con-nected for more than half of Lowell's total points as the former scored 23 and the latter 11 before fouling out. Jake Callier and Blake Johnson each had six as Kempker utilized all 14 players in uniform.

Lowell's freshman team slipped into thirdplace in Tri-River ninth-grade competition with a comeback 68-64 win. Kris Kropf (17), Dan Murphy (16), Bernie Harden (12), Joe Ellis (11) and Tom Wernet (10) all were in double figures in sparking the team from a 38-30 deficit at halfti

"He called me Saturday to compare notes," said Larry Wilson. "I'm sure glad things are going well for one of us." Though he is eight years younger, Larry said he and War-ren have had a close relationship over the years and credits basketball for much of it. "That's just about all we ever talk about," he declared.

The Forest Hills skipper remains optimistic despite the fortunes of the 1969-70 season. "We have just got to start winning sometime," he says. "Maybe we can do it in the last three games.

Two of these are scheduled within the week . . . at home against Wyoming Park in the O-K Red Division finale this Friday and at non-league rival Lowell next Tuesday. A February 27 home date with Kenowa Hills winds up the regular

While the varsity remains winless, Forest Hills has produced one of its best freshman teams in history and the JVs have begun to show signs of winning, too.

The junior varsity bagged a 74-52 win over Godwin as freshman Randy Lanning connected for 21 points and Ted Scott Vashaw, a sophomore, paced the varsity with 14 points before fouling out while his running mate at guard, Rob McCormick, collected 13 and Ron VanderBaan 12.

Mike Gorski paced Godwin with 23 points, including a remarkable 11-for-12 effort from the free throw line. Dave

"They just simply ran us into the ground in the second and third quarters," said Wilson. "In addition, they shot something like 50 percent . . . and you just can't afford to give up that many baskets."

Wilson said both Vashaw and McCormick turned in fine efforts, the former penetrating Godwin's man-to-man defense for most of his six baskets.
