Forest Hills to Seek Approval on May 4 of Rejected 15 Mills

BY SHIRLEY DYGERT

Forest Hills School officials have called for a second special millage election on May 4 in an effort to get voter approval of a three-year levy calling for a maximum of 15 mills for operating expenses.

"We do not believe the voters fully understood the urgency and need for this millage in Monday's election," said Board of Education President Neal Weathers at Tuesday night's monthly meeting.

The proposal was turned down by 113 votes Monday as 994 "no" ballots were recorded and 881 affirmative votes were cast.

A group of district residents, headed by Jack Landman, Jim Crosby, Dan Coopman and Charles Anderson, formed a special citizens committee to assist the board in the next millage election. The plan was given board approval at Tuesday's meeting.

Superintendent Robert Masten said it was apparent that many voters believed that Monday's millage request was for additional operating tax money.

"Forest Hills is now without a source of any operating funds," he said. "This makes our district the worst off, financially, in Kent County."

In setting the May 4 date, the board picked the earliest possible time to bring the request before voters again. The deadline for district residents not now registered is at 4 p.m. on Friday, April 3, with the township clerk of residency.

Masten said that one of the critical problems confronting school officials is the possible cutoff of all state aid.

"We will not be eligible for state aid in the coming year unless the district has voted millage for operating expenses," he declared.

Another problem that has an immediate effect is that Forest Hills cannot consider new faculty personnel until such time as the financial picture is stabilized.

"It is not possible to consider hiring new teachers or replacing those who will leave," he said.

Masten said Forest Hills schools have been operated at a cost lower than the average for Kent County districts and that the district had made much better progress than most.

Monday's turnout of 1,889 voters was termed as moderate by school officials.

The greatest plurality of "no" votes were registered in Precinct 2, encompassing Cascade and Ada, where the differential was 103 votes against the millage. The count was 488 in favor and 591 opposed with 10 ballots spoiled.

Voting in Precinct 1 showed 403 "no" votes, 393 "yes" returns and four spoiled ballots.

Lowell Voters Back Issue for 12.5 Mills

Voters in the Lowell Area School District, by a 3-2 margin, gave the board of Education a resounding vote of confidence Monday in approving a request for operating millage for two years.

The margin of victory was 337 votes as 948 electors gave the board authority to levy up to 12.5 mills for the years 1970 and 1971.

The vote in Precinct No. 1 was 787 for the millage request and 481 opposed with four spoiled ballots while Precinct No. 2 recorded a 161-130 favorable vote with two ballots spoiled.

The turnout of 1,565 was considered excellent in view of limited issue involved.

A year ago, with the district burdened by a $120,000 deficit, 2,791 voters turned out to approve a one-year request for seven mills in a heated campaign.

Speaking for the board, Dr. Robert Reagan, president, declared: "We are most appreciative of the support given the millage request because it reflects confidence by the voters of the policies and programs of the board, administration and faculty.

"The board intends to maintain its philosophy of levying only that portion of the millage required to conduct a sound educational program in the Lowell Area Schools."

Superintendent Carl Hagen, nearing the completion of his first full year in office, was equally pleased with the outcome.

"On behalf of the administration and faculty, I wish to add my thanks for the support of the community in this millage request and to reiterate our position of providing a sound educational program to all residents of the district.

"This now offers us the opportunity to move ahead with our planning for the type of program that residents of the district desire."

Hagen said he had been busy early this week conferring with area legislators regarding the present status of the school aid bill in Lansing.

The superintendent said work on the proposed budget for 1970-71 will continue on the basis of an anticipated state aid increase of about $20 per student.

"It appears there may be no decision on

Note Increase in Lowell Township Value

A quarter-million dollar increase has pushed Lowell Township over the $4,000,000 mark in assessed valuations, Supervisor Elmer Smith reported today.

Smith said the township valuation during the past year gained substantially from installation of the Cumberland Leisure Estates Mobile Home Park and 10 new homes.

The supervisor, who also serves as the township assessor, said there were few complaints registered with the board of review at meetings that ended this week.

Smith pegged the township assessed valuation at $4,089,400 compared to $3,830,000 for 1969... a gain of $259,400.

Ford's Aide in Cascade

Congressman Gerald R. Ford announces that special assistant Gordon Vander Till will hold office hours on his behalf this Friday (March 20) in the Cascade Township Hall from 2:30-5 p.m.

Ford urged that all Cascade-area residents needing help with a problem or simply wishing to express their views on national and international issues talk with his special assistant. No appointments are necessary.

Check Fraud Suspect Held in Ill.

Police officials of Lowell and Kent County are expected to seek extradition of a Peoria, Ill. man arrested earlier this week on a charge of issuing fraudulent checks in the city amounting to $5,185.

Held in Peoria is Glenn Arthur Neal, 46, who was arrested Monday in connection with the shooting death of a Peoria woman. Neal was not charged in the shooting.

Sgt. James Hutson of the Lowell force and Detective Richard Williams of the Kent County Sheriff's Department has just returned from Illinois where they had sought Neal's arrest on a warrant issued by Kent County Prosecutor James Miller.

Sgt. Hutson said that Neal and another man, who is being sought, purchased a number of antiques in Lowell and issued two checks to cover the purchase. According to the report, Neal had previously done business with the local antique firm.

Pieces of checks from the same account have been recovered in Iowa, according to Sgt. Hutson, leading police to speculate that Neal may have disposed of his purchases in that state.

"We are checking with authorities in an effort to recover the merchandise," said Hutson.

Lowell police reported a number of arrests for various driving offenses.

Charged in separate instances with driving while under the influence of liquor were Dwight L. Hughes, Jr., 25, of 252 Jane Ellen Drive, Lowell, and Barbara Mary Heather, 49, of 10391 Five Mile Road, Ada. Both were scheduled to appear in District Court this week.

An 18-year-old Lowell youth, Orin A. Comdure of 11761 Downs, was charged with being a minor in possession of alcohol.

Earl L. Fowler, 33, of Route No. 1, Gowen, was arrested and charged with careless driving, drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty before Judge Joseph White of 63rd District Court and was fined, according to the report.

Careless driving citations were issued to four Lowell drivers. They included Michael J. Stewart of 526 1/2 North Monroe; William D. Bennett, 20, of 421 North Monroe; Kerroll E. Hayes, 19, of 345 Donna Drive; and Roland L. Chesebro, 19, of 11324 Dorothy Street.

Both Favors More Local Aid

State Representative Martin D. Butth of Comstock Park today proposed to give Michigan's local governments an additional $60 million revenue boost.

Butth said he will attempt to amend the income tax bill (SB 1084) now before the House to provide the added support for local government.

The tax proposal being considered would increase state revenue by nearly $350 million. It is intended mainly to finance the recently passed House version of the 1970-71 school aid bill, but would also provide about $100 million for other expanded state programs.

The plan would hike the state income

Pet Saved in Barn Fire

It's a good thing for Jenny that spring is at hand.

Jenny, the pet donkey of Margaret Milanowski, 18-year-old Lowell High senior, is only alive and kicking today because of quick-thinking Cascade Township firemen.

The donkey was saved from a blaze that destroyed a barn last week at the Milanowski residence at 3897 Buttrick SE. Damage, including contents of spray equipment, apples and orchard supplies, was set at about $10,000.

According to assistant fire chief Jack Buys, the fire was out of control by the time Cascade units arrived at the scene. Firemen kicked open a door and found Jenny inside the barn.

Revise Figure on City Value

Final adjustments have reduced assessed valuation of the City of Lowell to $12,244,100, according to City Manager Blaine Bacon.

The manager said the revised figure still reflected a gain of $728,500 over 1969. Real property was assessed at $8,632,400 and personal property at $3,611,700.

Charter Study Plans Draw Little Support

Consideration of appointment of a special committee to study possible revision of Lowell's 10-year-old city charter failed to draw immediate support from council members at Monday night's meeting.

In fact, Councilman Carlen Anderson said later that he felt the entire matter was ill-timed.

"If there is a need to change some parts of the charter, then these should be defined," he said during the meeting.

Following the meeting, Anderson said he felt it would be unwise "to have a special study committee appointed by a lame duck mayor" in deference to out-going Mayor Arnold Wittenbach.

Wittenbach, who chose not to seek reelection in the April 6 city vote, said he would make up a list of tentative committee members and submit it at the April 7 meeting, which will be his last official session with the council.

Both City Manager Blaine Bacon and City Clerk Laura Shepard indicated they felt a revision of the charter to eliminate primary elections was needed.

"Many cities don't hold primaries," said Bacon, "because most elective city offices are non-partisan. Primary elections are made for political parties."

How sweet it is . . . or could be! Here we have passed the Ides of March and are fast moving toward that moment known as the "vernal equinox."

The latter refers to the passage of the sun across the equator and is the moment when spring officially arrives in the northern hemisphere.

Just so you can't say you don't learn something new by reading this bit of nonsense each week, this year's passage into spring is scheduled at precisely 7:57 Friday night.

Even the weatherman appears ready to cooperate, calling for moderating weather in the next few days.

I don't ever recall a time in my life when I wanted Old Man Winter to take a powder as much as this year. In a word or so, I've had it with him!

Take last weekend as an example. No matter where I was . . . Lowell, Grand Rapids, Detroit and Mount Clemens, in that particular order . . . there was snow, more snow and still more snow.

This may be just fine and dandy for those addicted to skiing or snowmobiling and such. But certainly not for folks who appreciate some of the finer things in life like golfing, boating, swimming or even (perish the thought) mowing the lawn!

Even Good Friend Wife is inclined to agree, which is something else again in view of the fact she so seldom concurs with my opinions.

"It's been a long winter," she said. Naturally, I realized from this statement that a special observation was about to be noted for posterity.

"So what else is new?" I asked. "Seriously, it HAS been a long winter," retorted GFW. "I know because all of the kids' winter clothing is ready for the trash barrel."

Now I don't know if you have looked at prices of recent date, but I do know that this is no time of the year for the Smyth to be investing in winter clothing.

So hurry, spring. Hurry . . . hurry . . . hurry!!!

Within the week we celebrate two anniversaries . . . the second year of printing the paper off-set and the end of one year of abstinence from the "weed."

I always figured that if I could get past the one-year mark there would be no turning back to cigarettes and I have lived with this ambition for lo, these 52 weeks.

There are times when the urge to light up is strong, but I grit my teeth and remember the trials of giving up my two-packs-a-day habit. After that, it's easier. The new state tax helps, too!

Would you say this is a sign of the times? According to a most reliable report, one of the biggest real estate "booms" in recent years is underway. And guess what's being sold? If you said offices of real estate businesses that have folded, you'd be 100 percent correct.

Read Instructions, Taxpayers Urged

Early Federal income tax returns indicate that many taxpayers are making errors in claiming adjustments to their income which may delay their refunds, the Internal Revenue Service said today.
The term "adjustments," as used on the tax form, refers only to sick pay, moving expenses, employee business expenses, and payments to self-employment retirement plans. The total of these items is entered on line 15B of the Form 1040.
Some taxpayers are incorrectly reporting on line 15B, the total of their itemized deductions such as interest expense, state and local taxes, contributions, medical or miscellaneous expense. These deductions should be computed and entered on the appropriate schedules as provided in the instructions.
The IRS also said that taxpayers are making mistakes by including as adjustments the exception allowances for themselves, husbands or wives, children, or other dependents. For taxpayers who use the tax table to compute their tax, the exception allowance is already figured into the table. Taxpayers who use the tax rate schedules should make their computation on Schedule T, which is included in the regular tax packet.
To avoid errors in claiming adjustments, the IRS suggested that taxpayers read the instructions carefully and make sure they have attached the proper supporting documents.

Road Toll Decreases

February traffic deaths in Michigan numbered 132, a reduction of 26 (or 16 percent) compared with 158 in the same month last year, according to State Police provisional figures.
The toll also was four less than the February average of 136 for the five years 1965-69. This is in sharp contrast to February's all-time high of 159 set in 1964 and the low of 51 in wartime 1943.
The February deaths brought the accumulated toll for the first two months this year to 294 which was one less than the total of 295 for the same period in 1969.

Weather is Primary Influence on People

Everyone agrees that some days are good and others are bad... and at the root of the success or failure of a particular day is the weather. It has a much more important place in our lives than most of us would guess and it works in mysterious ways on sexual vigor, health, emotions, intelligence and ambitions.
Weather's influence on intelligence is strong. Studies show the pages of "Who's Who" and found it largely filled with the names of people conceived during winter or spring months in the temperate zones. This leads to the conclusion that those conceived in midsummer heat. Moreover, they tend to live longer.
A British scientist came up with similar findings. Studying the IQs and birth dates of numerous English subjects, he found summer and autumn births most closely associated with higher intellectual performance. Research by another renowned expert on weather influence, the late Professor Ellsworth Huntington of Yale, showed that in summer people do most poorly on mental work. Only 58% of civil service applicants in Massachusetts passed exams given one August, contrasted with 75% of those who took the test in the month of April.
If the climate can have such a profound effect on the mind, what about the body?
