Will you remember this July 4th when it's over?

Will it be a fun-filled day of parades and fireworks? The beach or a picnic with the kids. The river? The lawn? Fun at a reunion with the grandchildren?

Does another youngster really have to lose a hand to some "harmless" fireworks? Do we really need another drowning? Is it really necessary for another family to be wiped out this weekend on the highway?

An Editorial

Policemen and people who work in hospital emergency rooms have come to regard July 4th as "a very busy weekend in the middle of a very warm summer." Does it really have to be that way?

INDEPENDENCE DAY has got to be something more than a relaxing break in a routine workweek.

And this year, you can make it more than just another holiday by trying two things.

You can ponder your country as it goes into its 196th year. Its beginnings. Its problems. Its promises.

And you can live. A lot of people who don't make a definite effort to this weekend, won't.

Those two things will make this July 4th worth remembering.

I don't know about the rest of you, but it's my opinion that the time has come to let our peers in Washington and Lansing know that things had better change for the better-and fast.

What gets me is that our people in the legislative halls are inclined to point the finger of blame at "the other guy" when certain pieces of legislature fail to win approval.

The other guy, of course, refers to the opposition party.

It's a shame to see so much wasted effort that goes with the stop-and-go-tactics of the legislators.

I WONDER how many "tentative budgets" have been written by school administrators over the past eight months while they awaited (and still await) the outcome of the school aid bill for 1970-71.

The taxpayers are entitled to fulltime use of their school administrators' time and talents . . . yet they wind up with less than that because so little can be done until Lansing gives the final school aid figure.

The school situation in Michigan is just one example of such wastefulness. The bureaucracy that is Washington is loaded with similar situations . . . and the encroach-ment on the tax dollar by bureaucrats in Lansing is only slightly less repugnant to The Smithy.

You're probably saying to yourself. "Boy, that guy sure got out of the wrong side of bed this morning." And you may be right.

WHAT BRINGS ABOUT a lot of this resentment is the fact that Richard The Lion Hearted pledged, before taking over the top seat in Washington, that he and his administration would bring about a halt to inflation and its attendant difficulties.

So what happens? Things are getting progressively tougher . . . while his economic advisers simply throw up their hands and mutter something to the effect that times will get worse before they get better. The Smithy doesn't need somebody in Washington to tell him that! All I have to do is look at the grocery bill the electric bill . . . the milk bill . . . the clothing bill . . . and a few assorted other bills.

What is sorely-needed right now is leadership capable of facing up to the most pressing issues. These leaders should forget all the penny-ante nonsense that has dominated their thinking of late and get down to the basics.

In this election year, it's something to think about long and seriously.

Never Been Stung by a Bee Imagine!

BY JOHN JOLY

I could understand if the area's foremost beekeeper, Lawrence Precious, was a bit shy about being too close to a Kluge in motion. After all, his business is bees, not printing presses.

Now, I'm not afraid of a Kluge. Oh, I've gotten my baby finger caught in one once or twice but I've come to learn that, with the proper wrist action and a steady nerve, a Kluge is no more dangerous than, say an electric toothbrush . . . well, a giant electric toothbrush.

Back to the apiary. I am, always have been, and probably always will be, afraid of bees. No particular reason except that they sting

In less than two minutes, I was half way to Grand Rabbits and I didn't return until well after wash up time when I was sure everyone-especially the bee-was long gone.

I had another close call last summer that still keeps me awake occasionally.

I had taken the family to Ann Arbor to visit some friends and when we came back to the car, there was a brown and yellow bee flying around inside.

When I found I couldn't shoo him out by yelling and stamping my feet, it took all the raw nerve I could muster to smother him with a Flush-a-Bye.

I'll make a deal with any bee in Kent County. You stay off 28th Street, Main Street, N. Monroe, Ada Drive and Cascade Road. Those are the streets I travel most often. And I'll lay off the Flush-a-Byes. I'll also keep your friend Mr. Precious, away from my Kluge.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor

I would like to make a comment about a matter that should be brought to the attention of the proper offices regarding the "trap" that has been made on Alden Nash N.E. just a few hundred feet south of Lally Road.

At this area the road is narrowed by the drain ditches which were recently cut at each side and it is on the north side of a hill. Before the dirt had settled and while still muddy from a rain that came about the time grading was being done, I was on my way to Lowell and approaching the hill from the north. As I neared the bottom of the small hill a compact car came over the hill toward me, going at a fast speed. The driver saw me and began laying over to his side of the road but he hit the loose, muddy dirt and began swerving and came straight at me for a short way, then righted his car and passed all right.

I had a very bad moment and realized that the hill should have further work done to widen it before someone gets killed there. Even when dry it is a hazard. Shall we save a life? C. Trainer

To The Editor:

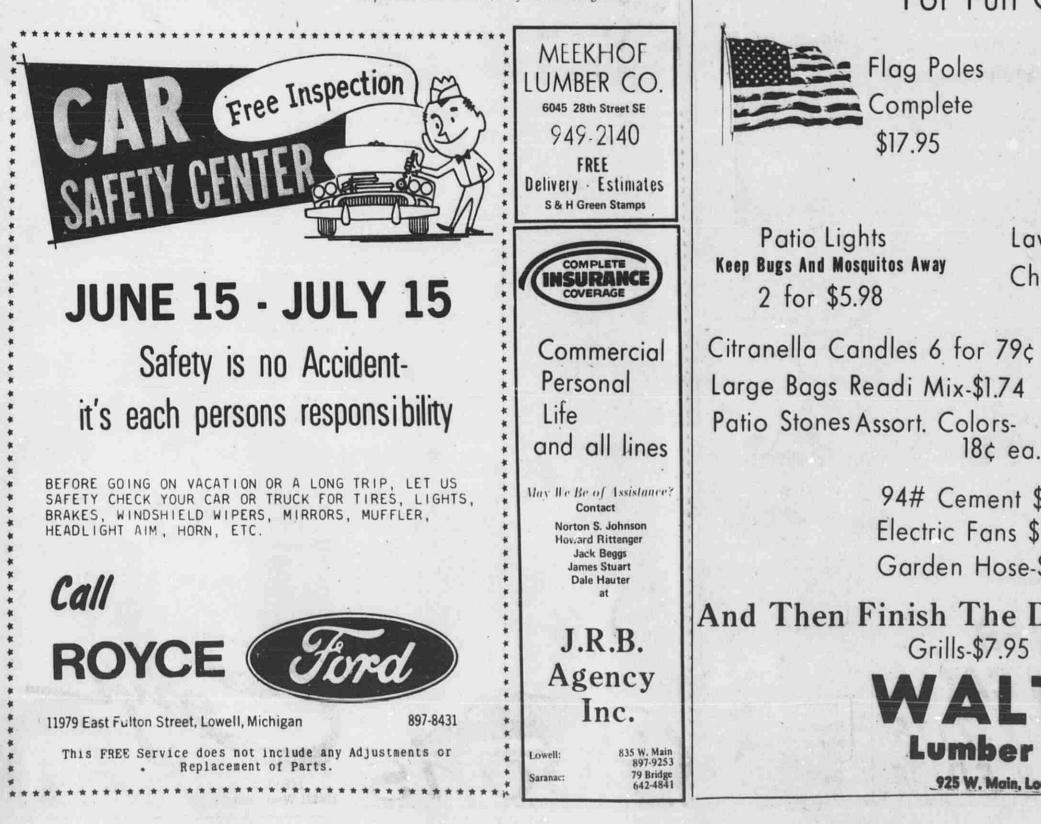

The Kent County Board of Commissioners passed a resolution to use jail labor in the county parks and has put the program into effect.

The main purpose is to save $20,000. This amounts to less than 5 cents per resident. Let's consider what we're getting for a nickel: men who have been convicted of non-support, drunkenness, narcotic offenses, and various "disorderly" charges which, by Sherrif Parsons' own definition, is a "catch-all." Crews of 10 men, identified in no way as jail inmates and accompanied by an unarmed "supervisor," are being allowed to wander in groups of two and three through the parks where women are relaxing and children are playing. Is it worth saving a nickel to have your wife or daughter leered at? Is it worth saving a nickel to have your son encounter two of these men in a public restroom? When Sheriff Parsons was first approached with the idea he was against it (and still is) and has said publicly he could not vouch for any one of these men.

Has the 21 commissioners' nickels bought so much wisdom that they can contradict Sheriff Parsons, the judges, and the courts, and decide among themselves that these men are fit to be in open society? There are daily newspaper accounts of crimes committed by people known in their own communities as quiet and well-mannered, and yet we are being forced to

I am sure Kent County's citizens are intelligent enough to realize that we have been taken in - at 5 cents a head - and if you don't like it, as the hundreds who have already signed ignored petitions, contact your district commissioner. You are the people who put him in office to serve your best interests. Carol Wright

To The Editor:

The things I wonder about: Well it's people. They never have time to donate for athletics.

But then again, there are a few who do the job-but instead of thanks, they get phone calls and called names. The Coach I'm talking about has 20 boys. If one more father would come and help-there could be more teams and more boys would get a chance to play. Also, the Coach I'm talking about doesn't even have a son old enough to play yet, his son is only two years old, but at least he's out there trying to help other boys. You know, if you don't like the way things are being done, you can always do the job yourself. They'd be glad to have the help. Then if you didn't like the way it's going, guess what you can change The Mother-in-law of one of the Coaches. Ruth Sisson

Too often they are used and stored improperly and they can then became a potentially dangerous breathing hazard. Your TB, Health & Emphysema Society would like you to remember these tips. Before using the handy, timesaving spray can, read the directions. Use them only in well ventilated areas. Hold the can away from you and pointed in a direction away from people. When you are finished spraying, replace the top and store the spray can in a cool place, well out of the reach of children

Mr. Kenneth Duncan, Assistant Director of the Society said, "Parents should be reminded that children who play with aerosol spray cans may be only a breath away from serious damage to their health."

"Children are bound to be curious," Mr. Duncan said. "Parents should be extra careful to remove items which are potentially dangerous breathing hazards." "In addition to aerosol spray cans," Mr. Duncan went on, "Other dangerous items include plastic bags and plastic wrap that can suffocate an unsuspecting child in an instant

"We feel compelled," Mr. Duncan said, "to warn the Kent County citizens about the possible respiratory damage that can be caused by careless use and storage of aerosol spray cans and plastic bags and wrap.

TV Tidbits

Checking for errors and oddities on TV is one of my favorite pastimes. A recent ad showed two old-fashioned buggy-wheeled cars at the end of a so-called race in which a speed of 6 mph had been attained. My father bought his first Ford in 1913. Soon after, he took the family on a Sunday drive to Holland. After plowing through sand all the way there, he pulled the throttle down a bit when he reached Main Street, and was promptly stopped by a policeman for getting above the 15 mile speed limit, and was fined accordingly.

Cigarette Ads

"Winston tastes good, like a cigarette should." I believe that to be correct grammer, but "Us" in the Tarryton ad is definitely incorrect.

Nearly everyone says or sings, "You can't take the country out of Sa-lum." And what is a "Fancy Frilly" in the Camel ad? And who ever heard of a Camel trying to be anything? But no matter how it's said, all ads are made to sell cigarettes in spite of the campaigns to reduce the hazards of smoking. And one ad might be doing more than all the rest-"Mark your cigarette halfway and smoke only that far." If addicts observe the warning mark, they'll need another pack to get their full quota of pleasure.

I'm afraid this job will terminate like all other selling jobs I've tried if The Readers don't contribute more for the column.

Unique Display at FHHS

If you were a student at Forest Hills Senior High School last year, or are the parent of a student, there is at the present time a display there that might be of interest to you.

It contains a blending of the old and the new, the mod and the not so mod. Guessed what it is? It's all the clothing, shoes and myriad of miscellaneous that perhaps were assumed lost or stolen during the school year.

The school offices will be open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. for anyone who feels they may have contributed to the display.

Notice

The City of Lowell Office will be open on FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1970 for the convenience of persons desiring to register for the August 4, 1970 Primary. No personnel will be on hand for the transaction of other busines.

Some homeowners in Cascade will have an opportunity to hook up to a new sewer system nearing completion in the town-

Supervisor Al Heemstra said the township was "ready to serve homeowners whose property abuts the system on Thornapple River Drive between Cascade Road and Shagbard Drivebut only if they want to connect." No other areas of the town-ship are being considered at this time.

Heemstra said he was drawing up procedures and cost infor-mation and was to meet with Grand Rapids officials soon. The city and the township share the system.

The $200,000 project, jointly financed by the federal govern-ment, Cascade township and the City of Grand Rapids includes a force main, gravity sewer and a lift station and is designed to serve a broad area of the township if the need arises.

Red Cross Plans Water Safety Classes

Water safety workshops, sponsored by the Kent County Chapter of the American Red Cross and the East Grand Rapids Recreation Department, are being held each Saturday through Aug. 1 from 9 a.m. until noon at the East Grand Rapids High School pool.

The sessions are free to all Red Cross Water Safety Instruc-tors and anyone else who is involved in water safety or swimming program management.

The first program, held June 20, concerned pool care and lifeguarding. The schedule for the remaining workshops is as follows: June 27 – coaching age group and teaching diving; July 11 – teaching strokes and techniques of strokes; July 18 – synchronized swimming and water pageantry; July 25 - handicapped swimming; and Aug. 1 - teaching pre-schoolers.

This is just a reminder of the coming Flower Show by the Lowell Showboat Garden Club on July 31 and August 1. We would like many arrangements and specimens. Schedules and entries can be attained at the Doris Myer's Beauty Salon or from Garden Club members.

Lowell won its fourth straight game and moved into a tie with Portland for first place in the Southern Division as they downed Sheridan 10 to 4. Jim Malcom struck out 10 hitters in picking up the win. Mel Byrnes collected three hits for the winners. George Hubbard, Sheridan catcher boosted his league leading batting average over the .500 mark as he pounded out two singles and triple in a losing cause.

In last Thursday's game Belding and Portland played to a 4-4 tie with the game being called because of darkness. Sidney continued its winning ways as they downed Vermontville 10-4. Although he gave up 15 hits, Herb Loveless went the route. striking out 14 batters in picking up the win.

In Saturday's action Perrinton picked up their first win as they downed Sheridan 9-1 with Mike Losee picking up the win. George Hubbard led the Sheridan hitters with two hits. Elsewhere, Lowell downed Hubbardston 7-4 as Rick Taylor home on leave from the Army not only was the winning pitcher er but led both teams in the hitting department with 3 hits.

In Sunday's action, Sidney remained undefeated as they knocked off Portland 7-3. Chris Williams with relief help from Herb Loveless picked up the win for Sidney. Carl Bauer was the loser. Hank King belted out three hits for the winners.

Elsewhere Hubbardston defeated a skidding Vermontville team 8-6 and Pewamo downed Perrinton 8-5.

Forest Hills, Lowell Meet in Traditional Swim Rivalry

The Lowell and Forest Hills swim teams resumed a four-year rivalry last Thursday when they met for an exhibition meet at the Forest Hills pool.

Forest Hills proved a strong team racking up an eventual win of 341 to 256. Boasting a team 115 members strong, they outnumbered the Lowell aquarians by almost two to one. Many pool records were broken by both teams, with Lowell setting six new records, bolstering hopes for a successful competitive season.

Although their competitive seasons are spent in different leagues . . . Forest Hills in the West Michigan Swim League and Lowell in the Mid-Michigan Swim League ... the two teams have been friendly pre-season rivals since the formation of the Forest Hills team in 1967. At that time it was decided to have a trophy engraved with the date and score of each meet between the teams. Forest Hills has been the victor each time.

Both teams will open their league season on July 9, with Lowell traveling to Grand Haven and Forest Hills hosting the Rockford team.

Anyone interested in joining the teams may contact coach Gary VanderLynde of Forest Hills and Mike Clark of Lowell. Clark can be reached by calling the YMCA pool at 897-7375.

Area Gals Place in Golf Tourney

In a special one day golf tournament held last week for the fifteen member clubs of the Womens Western Michigan Nine Hole Golf Association, several area women took honors in various categories.

Representing local leagues from Lincoln Hills (formerly Hickory Hills), Forest Hills Country Club, and Saskatoon Golf. Course, fourteen women finished the day with prizes offered in ten flites.

In the Championship Flite for Low Net both Doris Campbell and Marcia Tiesenga were winners with 41 scores. Marlene Drenth, Corky Almerigi, Ginny Abenannti, and June Van Strein were also winners in other flites.

With a score card reading thirteen putts, the Championship Flite leader was Aleda Lee in the Low Putts category. Sylvia King and June Strouse also received prizes for their low putt totals of fifteen each.

Lowest Gross score for the day was recorded by Annette DeMinck with a forty-five. Others who took low gross honors were Jean Houlding, Marie Cline, Dottie Elwell, and Pam Schildroth.

Two other one-day tournaments and a three-day are scheduled for association members during the balance of the summer

July 4 Activities to Include Thornapple Boat Parade

Scheduled for 11:30 a.m. on the Fourth of July, the annual boat parade sponsored by the Thornapple Association, Inc. promises to be another colorful event.

Each year the organization, whose membership is made up of residents between the Ada and Cascade Dams, has held the large parade of decorated water vehicles as a part of the festivities of the Fourth. Themes and motifs are kept secret by boat owners until all meet at "Winwood," the traditional starting point.

The parade marshalls, who will head the bright array over the water leaving from the first upper island, are to be Ellie and Joe Blanton. The convoy will proceed to the Ada Dain backwater.

Prizes will be awarded this year in each of six categories: best patriotic; most unusual; most original; best runabout; best pontoon and best boat.

Each year a parade pennant for each participating boat is issued
