SANTA ARRIVES IN LOWELL SATURDAY Lowell Light & Power

VOL. 77 NO. 33

Santa will be dropping out of the sky to officially open the Christmas season for Lowell on Saturday, Nov. 28. The Santa Claus pa-rade will start from the Eberhard Parking Lot on West Main Street and wind up at the Riverfront parking lot. The parade is sponsored by the Lowell Chamber of Commerce which has lots of plans for every member of the family during the Christmas season. See advertisement on another page for complete details.

Audit Report Reveals Problems In City Utilities

The annual audit of the City of Lowell and the Lowell Light and Power for the period ending June 30, 1970, revealed that the general operation of the city is in good condition; the electric, water and sewer utilities are operating at a marginal level.

Solution of the problem, said John Geerlings of Alexander Grant Co., auditors for the city and light plant, was to bring rates in line with costs.

The Light and Power had net earnings after depreciation of $58,746 on nearly $400,000 gross sales; while this appears to be a good return, the utility is in a half-million dollar modernization program which requires a greater return to finance on a year to year basis.

The water department had a $3,000 net return over expenditures but this, too, does not allow for needed improvements. The sewer utility was in the red $22,636 for the year ending June 30 and steps will have to be taken soon to adjust the rate

To Increase Rates

The Lowell Light and Power Board has submitted to the Low-ell City Council a new rate schedule which will increase the cost of electricity in Lowell for the first time since 1955. The increase will amount to about 6% across the board with the average bill going up about 60c a month. The new rates will go into effect for the bills being sent out on January 1st for electric service metered to December 21.

Under the charter, the Light and Power Board is charged with operating the electric system in the black, and in living up to its responsibility has stated the new rates are necessary. Primary cause of the rate increase, the Board reported, was the inflation over the past 15 years. Costs of labor and materials have been increasing while the electric utility has absorbed the increases with increased efficiency. Now the costs have been so rapid that the rate increase was the only way to keep the plant operating in the black.

The Light and Power Board reported that the new rates are some 5% under those charged by the private utility serving the neighboring area. This private utility has a request for a further increase in rates before the Public Utility Commission at this Bernard Olson, former Lowell City Manager, has been named administrative assistant to the Mayor of Milan, Michigan. He will take over his duties at Milan, a city of 4,000 with 28 employees at once.

The third business place on the Main Street to use the wrough iron effect to join other Lowell business places is the Drake Station on East Main Street. Congratulations!

Santa Claus, at the annual parade sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce on Saturday afternoon at 1:30. will be George Dey, who spends all year keeping in 'shape' for the job.

Officers and directors of the Lowell Chamber of Commerce take their duties seriously, all being so busy with their own business affairs that they meet at 7 o'clock in the morning to work the meetings into their busy schedules.

New advertising manager of the Ledger, George W. Rout-saw, discovered Thelma's pie the first day in town. He came back to the office raving about just having had the best piece of pie! Thelma (Cookie for short) has something of a reputation for her pie.

Lowell's share of the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections for the third quarter of 1970 will come to $9,160, up from $8,449 for the same period last year. Saranac is to get $3,879, up from receipts of $3,636 for the third quarter of 1969.

The highway fund is made up of the seven-cent-a-gallon state tax on gasoline and diesel fuel and of motor vehicle license

BILL WOOD STARES IN PUZZLEMENT AT NEW CASCADE SIGN

Citizen Asks, Is Cascade Taking Over Ada?

Is Cascade Township trying to annex Ada Township? This was the question Bill Wood of Thornapple River Drive, asked one morning recently when he awoke to discover a new sign extolling the wonders of Cascade next to his home. The sturdy, wooden billing was well within the boundary line on the Ada side, nearly a quarter of a mile, according to Wood.

"I knew I paid my taxes in Ada," Wood said. "I just wondered what was taking place since I live between the sign and the demarcation line." Wood attended the bi-monthly meeting of the Ada Township Board.

"They claim that Cascade is a breezy place," Wood explain-ed. "I thought maybe their billboard had blown right over the township limit. Pretty soon they'll put their signs in downtown Ada," he declared.

Actually Bill Wood was amused by the incident and took the real explanation with - laugh.

The Cascade Businessmen's Association had just erected seven signs at entrances to the township and the village of Cascade to promote goodwill and an awareness of the opportunities for residential and commercial growth.

The program was suggested over a year ago. Several suggestions for slogans were filtered for the most promising and the work on the project was begun. The delay in placement of the signs has been from a lack of land available. When locations were established, the membership fulfilled the project by let-

Housing costs may drop in the near future and prices of some consumer goods may taper off temporarily, but the long range forecast in the battle against inflation is not a bright one, according to a Michigan State University economist.

Dr. David I. Verway, a member of MSU's Bureau of Business and Economic Research, predicts an offsetting rise in the cost of utilities, durable goods and consumer services will continue to favor an inflation rate of about four percent annually.

Although lower interest rates and an expanding residential construction industry should allow more people to buy homes, Dr. Verway says they'll pay more for appliances, automobiles, clothes, education, entertainment and medical care.

He blames underemployment for a large part of the inflationary trend. Manufacturers are not producing at optimum capacity because of low demand and will continue to raise prices to maintain profits on the low volume.

Dr. Verway says the best way to restore balance in the economy is "a moderate reduction in personal income taxes, or better still, passage of a guaranteed income plan for the poor."

One anti-inflation weapon currently suggested is selective wage and price control. But, says, Dr. Verway, "in the long run, they probably impede economic balance by creating fundamental distortions in the structure of the economy."

LOWELL SCHOOLS TO RECEIVE CHECK FROM STATE FOR $201,444

According to figures furnished by State Representative Stanley M. Powell of the 89th Legislative District, the Lowell Area Schools will receive, as one of six payments which are sent to the local districts from Lansing in the course of a year, a total of $210,444 on December 1st.

State aid totals $198,040, and the total remitted to Lowell since the last report under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 is $3,404.00.

plate fees. Collections in July, August and September totaled $77.7 million. This was an increase of 6.8 percent, or $5.2 million, over the same period last year.

We see by the November issue of "Grand Rapids '70," the magazine of the Greater Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce, that the chamber's Good Roads Committee is urging the State Highway Department to improve arteries in the areas. Among other things, the chamber wants US-131 to become a four-lane, divided highway all the way north to the Straits of Mackinac. It wants M-44 (the East Beltline) converted to four lanes from 28th Street to Interstate 96.

And it wants M-21-which is Lowell's Main Street, in case you never noticed-to become a four-lane road every inch of the way from Grand Rapids to Flint.

One of the more fascinating news releases to come across our desk this week was this gem from the MSU Information Services, printed here in full:

EAST LANSING - Dr. Bradley Greenberg, a Michigan State University communications specialist, believes soap operas should be broadcast in classrooms to give school children a more realistic look at life than they get from the violence-ridden shows they watch at night."

Hmmmm. Wonder what that Dr. Greenberg's salary is.

The members of the present board of directors of the Cascade Businessmen's Association who have seen the project through are President Mike Koenes, Vice President, Robert Martin, Secretary, Jim Pringle, Treasurer, Russ Brown, and members, Dr. Robert Paine, Dr. Dan Ellinger, and Jake Postema. A new board is to be elected at the next meeting on December 2, 1970.

CASCADE, CALEDONIA & LOWELL CITY OFFERED COMPUTER TAX BILLING

The Kent County government units of Cascade Township, Caledonia Township and Village, and the City of Lowell have been named as the areas to be used in a pilot study of computer tax billing

The pilot program being offered would program all the tax descriptions by code; the assessor would merely indicate the increase or decrease in assessment. The computer would notify all taxpayers with a change in assessment, compute the tax, make out the bill which would be stuffed in envelopes and mailed. The whole operation would save the treasurer and staff hours of work.

The cost of the pilot program would be paid for by the units benefiting with a beginning charge to program the area and an annual fee for the actual billing and mailing. If the program works satisfactorily for Cascade, Caledonia and the City of Lowell, it would be extended to other government units of the county during the next few years.

Phillip H. Schneider Community Benefactor

Phillip H. Schneider, who amassed a tire fortune and left a million dollars to help Lowell area's needy, has the first memorial to his generosity in the form of a senior citizen housing development. The City of Lowell and Lowell Township inherited over a million dollars from the estate of Phillip H. Schneider, whose will directed that income from the money be used for "human welfare and human suffering in time of need."

Schneider was a poor farm boy who failed in his attempt to work his way through Lowell High School; Schneider later went into retailing, real estate and the fast-growing tire industry in Akron, Ohio, where he amassed a fortune of at least $2 million.

Schneider died in 1933 at the age of 68 but the $1 million left to Lowell was not released until the death of his wife in 1965 at the age of 96. They had no children.

A three-man advisory board has been set up to decide on how the money, approximately $25,000 per year from the earn-ings, is to be used. Members of the board Donald Johnson from Old Kent Bank, Phillip Schneider, City of Lowell, and Elmer E. Smith, Lowell Township, control the funds under the terms of the will.

The first use of the earnings of the Schneider Fund was in 1966 when a family of 11 living in a Lowell Township condemned house was given a large comfortable home in Grand Rapids.

SCHNEIDER MANOR HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

Lowell's first community development, aided by funds from the Phillip H. Schneider Trust Fund, will hold open house on Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m., S.D. Wingeier, manager of the senior citizen apartments, announced.

Construction on the 24 units, costing $270,000 including 12 acres of land, started in mid March 1970. Kellog and Kiefer of Kalamazoo were the architects and Quality Builders of Grand Rapids the prime contractors.

This is only the first three of many more units expected to be built in the area; also under consideration on the same site are nursing home facilities. The first units are all one bedroom or single room etticency units; they are planned for older residents with special safety features.

The housing development was built with $150,000 of the Schneider Fund money and a loan from the State Savings Bank of Lowell of $120,000. No federal or state money was used in the funding of this project.

There are presently 36 applications for occupancy of the 24 units, but some are from outside the City of Lowell or Lowell Township and residents of this area have priority. Applications are still being taken, S. D. Wingeier stated, and local residents can still use their priority to be among the first to move in.

The only restrictions are that at least one of the occupants in each apartment must be over 62 and their income from gainful employment shall not exceed $5,000 a year. They may have other income in excess of this amount. The apartments start with the efficency at $70 per month with the larger one bedroom units up to $100 per month, all utilities furnished.

Units of the new Schneider Manor senior citizens housing will be open Saturday and Sunday, November 28 and 29 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. for public inspection. The new units are located just off Bowes Road; the entrance is just west of South Hudson Street. Sixteen of the twenty-four units will be open; units rent for $70 to $100 a month with all utilities furnished. The first occupants are expected to start moving in after the first of December.

LETTER FROM LAN SING

The House last week concluded its November session, and made plans to return on Dec. 9 for what may be the final meeting of the 75th Legislature

Sessions were held on Nov. 5 and 6 and again on Nov. 11, and a number of important pieces of legislation were passed as the House moved toward concluding its business for the year. Here is a summary of some of the more significant actions taken during the last two weeks.

Attempts to conserve our environment have resulted in the passage of two bills: Senate Bill 1574, better known as the Great Lakes Shoreline bill and House Bill 4270, referred to as the Scenic and Wild Rivers bill both received final approval last

The Shoreline bill provides for the protection and management of Great Lakes shorelands and will hopefully result in elimination of erosion and development blight along our great

The Scenic and Wild Rivers bill had been in a conference committee, but was given final approval on Nov. 11. This bill provides the Natural Resources Department with the authority to designate certain river areas as wild, scenic and recreational, and to protect and limit the uses of these areas and their natural resources.

Another bill which received final passage was Senate Bill 1662, providing for a more efficient administration of the soil conservation districts. It made several "housekeeping" amendments to the law relative to local soil conservation districts and will provide assistance to land owners, local governments, land developers, contractors and planning commissions with soil and water problems.

Among the other bills passed were measures bringing more flexibility into adoption procedures (HB 4135), expanding the bonding provisions of the Metropolitan Transportation Act to give additional impetus to mass transit development (SB 1031), and my bill which gives townships a voice on county tax allocation boards (HB 3931).

LEADERSHIP DECISION SET FOR DECEMBER

The leadership of the newly elected House of Representatives will be determined early in December. The Republican House caucus decided last week that we will elect the GOP leadership team when the Legislature reconvenes Dec. 9. It is anticipated that House Democrats will also make their selections around that time.

Turn-over in Republican leadership is likely to be more extensive than for the Democrais, since we have more top positions becoming vacant due to retirements, etc. Spirited campaigning is going on within the caucus now. It seems possible that new faces will occupy all of the leadership jobs, with new people joining the leadership group and present leaders being chosen for new positions.

The make-up of the leadership always has a certain effect on the operation and style of the Legislature, so I'll report to you on these decisions later in the year.

BUDGET CUTS NECESSARY One result of the hopefully-ended General Motors strike is the necessity to cut the state budget by $50 to $65 million. Michigan's constitution demands a balanced budget and requires that expenditures be cut when revenues fall below expectations. The state had tried to allow for the effects of a onemonth strike. However, the UAW-GM dispute went on twice that long before a tentative settlement was announced.

The budget items to be cut to bring appropriations within the new revenue estimates had not been announced at the time this report was prepared. However, I am anticipating that cuts will be made in personnel expenditures, building costs and some new programs. Efforts will be made to continue existing programs as near full strength as possible.

The full Legislature will not make the final decisions in this matter. The Governor's office, after consultation with legislators, will propose cuts to the appropriations committees of the House and Senate. The committees have review and approval

It has been estimated that the UAW strike cost the state at least $25 million in lost revenue and $25 million in accelerated welfare payments. And, of course, there were also strike-related adverse effects on individuals and business in many areas of the state. The full impact of the strike, in human terms, can only be guessed at. But the monetary impact to the state can be measured, and will be reflected in the budget cuts.

It was a fun night at the Roy Witteman's last Saturday when they invited several couples for dinner. Every place card turned out to be an appropriate cartoon. It took the host and hostess a great many hours to ferret out just the right ones for their guests. As usual in life, some people had a hard time recogniz-ing themselves, the Wittemans said, but everyone fortunately had a sense of humor that matched the host's.

The centerpiece on the table was a "sandwich board" type of display that held another cartoon on each side. These represented people looking at home movies. The joker was that in the end no one really did have to suffer through home movies as the guests were led to believe all through the repast.

Last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Lowell High School students presented their version of "Teahouse of the August Moon," directed by Ivan Haney, to an appreciative audience. The story embraces a cast of about 42 people, 35 of whom were made up as Orientals. According to Mr. Haney, "Teahouse" has a universal appeal to all ages, in that it takes very serious matters and presents them in a humorous way.

The story is about the American Capt. Fisby, played by Dave Wisner, who is brought to Okinawa to teach the natives democracy. But things get all mixed up and it becomes a big mess, according to previewer Derby Harpo, who said, and I quote: "There is a nutty Col. Purdy, played by Pete Olson, who is always complaining about something. Capt. Mclean, played by Mary Manigold, is a psychiatrist who helps Capt. Fisby with his problems. Rotary met Wednesday, November 11, 1970 at the American Legion Hall. Phil Schneider was program chairman. His speaker was our exchange student, Carlos A, Ratti from Argentina. Carlos has been in Lowell for most of the past year living with Phil and Jean Schneider. He has attended most of our Rotary meetings. Pres. Rog gave him a plaque making him an Honorary Junior Member of Lowell Rotary Club. Carlos showed us pictures of Argentina and answered the uestions of several members. I think we have all profited from knowing Carlos and we trust that the reverse is likewise true. He seemed to be an exemplary young man and we wish him the field of education but in other aspects of community life. The Club extends its sympathy to his family. The elections are now over and I must say it was one of the strangest elections in history and undoubtedly one of the best since both sides claimed victory. But now that the elections are over, the State can get back to the really serious business at hand which will take place at Columbus next Saturday. By one o'clock throughout the State traffic will come to a stand still, the streets will be deserted, shops and stores will close, deer hunters will repair to the nearest tavern boasting a television set, as the scholars of the University of Michigan meet the mercenaries of Ohio State. After last year's game this has to shape up as one of the outstanding athletic events in the history of Michigan. Pres. Rog announced that on Friday, November 20, 1970 there will be a symposium on local government at Wege Center at Aquinas College. The registration fee is $12.00 and anyone interested in this is invited to attend. Orville Jackson won the Tickey bottle contest with Don Mc

Church Nov. 25th and the speakers will be Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Wolfe of Kalamazoo for the occasion. There will be a dinner served at the Parsonage Fellowship Hall at 1 o'clock and for all who would like to attend. The C. E. Roller Skating Party is at the Lowell Rink on November 30th.

Notice of Restrictions in the Sale of Natural Gas by Consumers Power Company

The Michigan Public Service Commission, because of a shortage in natural gas supply and to protect service to existing customers, has authorized Consumers Power Company to impose certain restrictions on the sale of natural gas to existing and prospective customers, and has directed the Company to publish the essential portions of the Commission's order. These are:

1. All commitments and applications for future residential service, including apartments and mobile homes, existing on the date of the Commission's order (November 9, 1970) are voided.

2. No new commercial or industrial customers shall be added to the Consumers Power Company system. However, commitments already made to existing commercial and industrial customers will continue to be honored. The base period to measure commercial and industrial loads shall be the 12 months ended June 30, 1970 or the amount of the commitment if a new

3. No new residential customers or additional residential space heating loads, including apartments and mobile homes, shall be added to the Company's system, except as follows:

A. Persons who had installed gas space heating equipment, or were in the process of installing gas space heating equipment on October 1, 1970, shall be given first priority on remaining gas supplies, provided that such persons otherwise qualify for gas service in accordance with the Company's standard rules and regulations. The right to obtain gas service in accordance with this provision shall lapse unless Consumers Power Company is notified in writing of a desire for gas service prior to December

B. All other persons desiring residential gas service, including service to existing residential units, and new construction, must make application in writing to the Company for such service.

- Applications for existing residential units may be made at any time. Applications for new residential construction shall be made after the footings and foundation walls are completed at the location desiring gas service or, in the case of mobile homes, after the concrete slab is poured.
- D. Consumers Power Company, as soon as practicable, will verify by field inspection that the residentiat units are in existence or that the required construction is completed, and upon such verification will issue a dated commitment. Thereafter, the Company is directed to make a second field inspection in not less than 80 nor more than 100 days. If construction has not proceeded to completion of the framing and roofing of the structure the Company will advise the applicant that he has 30 days in which to carry construction to that stage of completion, or the permit will be irrevocably canceled. In any case, gas service must commence within 12 months of the original date of issuance, or the commitment will be voided. Dated commitments are applicable only to the locations specified, and may not be transferred to any other site.
- Owners of buildings now receiving gas service in a building which is torn down because of public improvements, may transfer such gas service for the same uses to another location owned by such person, provided the transfer is completed within 12 months after discontinuance of service at the original location.

4. The procedures set forth in paragraph 3 hereof shall be followed by the Company until such time as its total confirmed estimated connected annual requirements are approximately 370 billion cubic feet.
