JOURNAL JOTTINGS.

Time for church societies to begin their socials.

WHAT is the name of the new block? Name it.

The coming season promises to be a dull one for lumbering.

An exchange speaks of "current literature." Such literature is always red.

ROMIO, the barber, has vacated Graham's block and opened a shop on the bridge.

The Democratic Congressional Convention will be held at Grand Rapids, on Wednesday, Oct. 22d.

MANY strangers have visited our village this fall. They invariably speak in high terms of Lowell.

The Lowell National Bank continues to gather in deposits and pay demands as usual—and there are no panicky men among us.

The Clam Lake News says that D. E. McVean, County Surveyor of Kalkaska, is about to open a store in Kalkaska village. McV. is one of our old neighbors.

HISS, PARISH and BRICH will occupy Booth's new store on or about Nov. 10th. We understand this store is to have a plate-glass front similar to that of Hunt & Hunter's.

WILLIE HOWE brought a big egg into our office last Friday, and said, "don't that beat 'em?" It measured 6 1/2 by 8 inches, and speaks well for the hen—but, Willie, a great many eggs are beaten.

The Republican County Convention will be held to-morrow, (Thursday), at 10 o'clock A. M., and the Congressional Convention on Friday, at 2 o'clock P. M., at the Circuit Court rooms, in the city of Grand Rapids.

A FARMER bought five pounds of eight-penny nails the other day, and threw them into his lumber wagon. He was mad enough to bite their heads off when he found them scattered the whole length of Water street.

A REPUBLICAN caucus will be held at the office of Perry & Look, at three o'clock this (Wednesday) afternoon, for the purpose of choosing three delegates for the County Convention, to be held at Grand Rapids to-morrow.

THE JOURNAL office was never so well prepared to do good job work as at present. Our foreman has had fourteen years' experience in first-class print shops, and his work cannot be excelled. Job work of all kinds done and satisfaction warranted.

It has finally been discovered. Short "you reky" and shako no more. It is said that Dr. Sanderlin's ague cure is the best remedy in use, and never fails. It is manufactured at Ft. Scott, Kansas, by Dr. Sanderlin & Co.

THE Marshal requests us to give notice that no more shooting will be permitted within the limits of the corporation, and the first person guilty of violating this commandment will be arrested and punished. Take heed, ye men of sin.

A SUBSCRIBER in Utah sends us some of the "root of all evil," and writes: "The JOURNAL is eagerly looked for every week by my neighbors. They think Lowell must be a lively old town." We insert the above just to show that we have subscribers out in Utah. It comes in just right.

Brown speaks of several contemplated business changes on the west side of Flat river.

Put your stove pipes in order, and be careful what you say when attending to this important duty.

The Sunday hunt for squirrels took place in the woods west of Lowell, last Sabbath afternoon, as usual.

Must we struggle through another cold winter without having a lecture in Lowell? If too true, 'tis too bad.

"TOWN TALK," a contributor to the Saturday Evening Post of Grand Rapids, is touching up the shady places of that city with a red-hot pen.

The Synod of Michigan (Presbyterian) will convene, at Grand Rapids, to-morrow (Thursday) evening, and continue in session during the remainder of the week.

Four best hunters of this village went after squirrels in South Boston, last Saturday. You speak to them about it now, and they will tell you that they never saw a better farming country than they saw over that way.

We have spoken of that sidewalk on West Water street before. We speak of it now to inform our citizens that it ought to be removed. When this is done it will be safe to walk up that way after dark.

We understand that a valuable addition has been made to the Lowell Musical Union. Miss Chesbro, daughter of Mr. Chesbro, of this village, is said to be a very fine soprano singer, and has consented to take part in the L. M. U. concert.

The Grand River Conference of Congregational Ministers and Churches is in session, this week, at Eastmanville; commencing Tuesday evening and closing Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Lucy E. Waldo and Deacon J. S. Wilson accompany the pastor as delegates from the Lowell church.

A student who failed to receive the JOURNAL last week, called, Saturday, and wanted to know where it was his paper; said he'd called for it three times, and it wasn't there. We don't think that was a very pretty question to ask. He knew well enough that we never sent it there.

A YOUNG man in this village has been quite ill and considerably depressed in spirits for a few days. He paid seven dollars for a meerschaum pipe just before he was taken sick, and the thought that he might be taken away without knowing whether it was going to color or not, grieved him bitterly. He is better now, and his gratitude seems unbounded.

THE following are among the real estate transfers, for the week ending Oct. 10th, as taken from the records in the Register's office: Campbell H. Young et al to S. L. Fuller, a s. 1/4 of sec 15, Lowell, $2,700; Solomon Lee and wife to J. Edwin Lee, piece of land on sec 3, Lowell, $1,500; Deborah L. Patrick to John Eagle, land on sec 9, Lowell, $825; John Eagle to John S. Bergin, land on secs 4 and 9, Lowell, $900.

ONE night last week, at the witching hour of twelve, we were aroused from sweet slumber by sweet music. Upon looking out of the window we discovered several young men sitting upon the front-steps of our domicile, armed with violins and guitars, which they handled most skillfully. After playing several charming pieces they departed, leaving grateful hearts behind them.

J. M. R., of Grand Rapids, had a terrible vomiting spell one day last week, and threw up over a column of bilious matter on the rear page of Friday's Daily Democrat. His symptoms would seem alarming to a stranger, but his friends say he frequently has those spells, and always feels better when he gets the "nassy" stuff off his stomach. He must have been very troublesome to his parents when a child.

MR. E. LEE is fitting up the east store in Music Hall block, and will soon have a full line of groceries therein. He will deal largely in produce, and be ready at all times to supply heavy demands. Mr. Lee is most favorably known as a thorough and an upright business man. Will. Edie is also at home in the grocery trade, and will show his usefulness by selling salt, sugar, sundries and so-forth, for Mr. Lee.

THE Traverse Bay Eagle speaks of the meeting of the Pomological Society at that place as being one of unusual interest. Numerous speeches were made by prominent men, among whom we see mentioned our worthy State Senator, M. S. Crosby, "who," the Eagle says, "upon being called out made a short speech complimentary of this region, and declaring his faith in the future. He thought our leading men, and especially those connected with the State government, ought to become better acquainted with the affairs of this section, and to that we heartily respond."

When we want it distinctly understood that we are perfectly deaf to the earnest solicitation of our many friends who are urging us to go to Congress. We absolutely refuse to pack our duster, and when we say that, our friends may as well haul off and go for the next best man. There is just as much pure patriotism in the palpitating element of our bosom as perspires through the front of any other man's shirt that buttons up behind, but we're not going to Washington to squirm on the altar of our country, just now, if we can help it.

THE Detroit Tribune has told the voters of the Fifth Congressional District what to do at the coming convention, and if we don't govern ourselves accordingly we needn't expect that ben to gather us under her wings, Jerusalem-like, any longer. A few Republican journals of this district have utterly refused this time, however, to bow down to Haman, and have even gone so far as to express their own opinions, which unfortunately seem to differ from those laid down and repeated in the columns of the Tribune. But as this oracle journal of Detroit happens to be published in a locality over 100 miles distant from the eastern limit of the Fifth Congressional District, we trust that the journals published in the district will not be consigned to eternal punishment for taking the responsibility of speaking for themselves.

"THE SCIENCE OF A NEW LIFE" is the title of a new and valuable book by Dr. John Cowan. It is a plain but chaste book, dealing with the physical problems which most concern all human beings in the spirit of humanity and science. What we all need is a better understanding of physiology and the laws of health, so that men and women, knowing these laws and their own constitutions, can live properly, in such physical estate as shall produce the best mental condition. We consider this book a very valuable contribution to that end. It is a very handsome volume of nearly 500 pages, printed in clear, distinct type and on tinted paper. A chromo called the "Laughing Parson" will be given to each subscriber. The agent for this vicinity is Mr. J. P. Flanagan, who will be delighted to take down the names of our citizens as subscribers to this valuable work.

Editor Lowell Journal:
A letter from my son, Chas. E. Waldo, dated "Denver, Col., Oct. 6th, 1873," gives the following information concerning the movements of "Lo, the poor Indian":
Yours,
L. P. WALDO.

"The Cheyenne and Kiowa Indians, and some say the Comanches also, have started out on their depredations, and are killing stock and ranchmen around in the eastern and southern parts of the territory. Settlers are fleeing to the cities and large towns for protection. The noble red man has no use for cities and towns. A handful of soldiers are out after them, and, as usual, succeed in keeping well out of their way. One party of Indians was said to be within thirty-five miles of Denver, a day or two ago. The matter is very serious for the ranchmen and their families. Just imagine me out the country now. I mean to stick to the settlements. As a man once put it: 'I haven't lost any Indians, and I don't want to find any.'"

A YOUNG navigator rowed up Flat river, one day last week, and undertook to head in a most unfavorable spot on the bank, nearly opposite Fleet Doty's. He paddled up to the shore, and had no idea but that his boat was well anchored in the clay, when he proceeded to step out. It seemed all right when he put one foot on the side of the boat, but when he put the other foot on land, which he did with something of a jerk, he suddenly found his legs spreading out in opposite directions. He was wholly unprepared for this treacherous dodge, and consequently was at loss for a minute what to do. He couldn't lift either foot without falling into the water up to his suspenders, and so he hung on to the side of the boat with the heel of one foot, and with the other firmly planted in the clay, there he stood, wondering what the wild waves were saying, and which leg he had better immerse first. Now if he could only have stood there until somebody came along he would have been all right, but he couldn't wait, the position was difficult to maintain and he felt an earnest desire to gather himself together as soon as possible. Finally he concluded to make for the shore or parish in the attempt. He didn't perish, and, judging from what he said when crawling up out of the water, it will be a long time before he is fully prepared to do any such thing. And if you had heard his brief colloquy when he saw his boat and hat floating side by side down the stream of time, your sense of duty would have prompted you to take him by the hand and explain to him the dangers and hardships of a sailor's life, and the importance of attending Sunday School.
