Charlie Ross has been found at Three Rivers, but we didn't start the lie this time.

That chimney-sweep is here again, scaring women and children most to death.

Mrs. Lottie Parrish left Conneaut, Ohio, last week and came to Lowell to reside.

The little town of Pierson in Montcalm county has two Hayes and Wheeler clubs.

The fall term of the Lowell Union School opened on Monday most auspiciously.

Let every Republican vote straight and not be deceived by much loud talk about Reform.

They have "Oysters" at a Canal street shop in Grand Rapids. But no spelling book.

Many Democrats in this district denigrate their preference for Judge Stone for Congress.

E. R. Johnson is president and Chas. Holt secretary of the Cascade Hayes and Wheeler Club.

Yesterday's mail brought us 32 more subscriptions, making nearly 100 new names within a week.

H. N. Taylor of this village has accepted a position as clerk of the Webster House at Greenville.

They hurray for Hayes in Ionia county. N. B. Hayes of North Plains for State Representative.

The convicts at Sing Sing are for Tilden. Probably because he is their kind of a representative man.

It looked like old times Saturday. The streets and stores of our village were crowded with people.

Mrs. R. E. Burroughs started yesterday for Auburn, N. Y., and intends to remain there several months.

The September term of Circuit Court opened on Monday. The trial of John Walsh will come off this term.

We know lots of people who would go to the Centennial if they would sell their railroad tickets at cost.

M. B. Hine of Cannon, E. A. Sunderland and Willie Clark of this village returned from the Centennial last week.

One of Capt. Tate's fine teams drove home without a driver the other day and the buggy was somewhat crippled.

The Detroit News is unkind enough to remark that the Greenback tick is unfilled out with an average lot of unfortunates.

A man who was there informs us that a greenback meeting recently held at the Snow school house was a perfect fizzle.

REPUBLICAN RALLY

At Train's Hall, Lowell, Monday Eve'g, Sept. 11th, 1876.

Hon. J. W. Stone, Hon. M. S. Crosby, The Speakers.

Everybody turn out!

On Monday evening Sept. 11. Hon. John W. Stone, the Republican candidate for Congress, of this district, and Hon. M. S. Crosby of Grand Rapids will address the electors of Lowell and vicinity on the political issues of the day.

Remember that the contest is between the two great political parties.

Remember that our next President will be a Republican or a Democrat.

Remember, whatever your views may be on the money question, that every Republican vote cast for Cooper and Cary counts for Tilden and Hendricks.

REPUBLICAN MEETING IN BOWNE.—There will be a Republican meeting at Bowne Center on Wednesday evening Sept. 13. Hon. W. P. Andrus, Judge Harlan and others will be present.

THE FIREMEN.—The Lowell Fire Department made an excellent display last Friday.

THE BERNERS.—The Berger family performed at Train's Hall, Monday night to a large and appreciative audience.

GRAN'PA WOODS GONE.—Mr. Thomas Woods, of this village, better known as "Gran'pa Woods," died on the morning of the 3d inst.

THE COUNTY JAIL.—The annual abstract of the reports of Sheriff, relating to county jails in Michigan, has just been published and furnished by the Secretary of State.

WHOLE NUMBER OF PRISONERS RECEIVED.—Sentenced to the State Prison, 507; sent to the House of Correction, 30; sent to the State Reform School, 45; 2. Seventy-four persons, or 14.60 per cent of the whole number arrested.

THE LAST MEETING of the Ladies Literary Club was a very enjoyable one, and quite a large number were present.

A select poetical reading by Mrs. Blain; an essay, "Our Childhood's Home," by Miss Jennings; recitation by Mrs. Barber, Mrs. Craw, Mrs. Owen and Mrs. M. N. Hine, each presented a scientific fact.

It may not be interesting to Democrats to learn that President Grant has invited Governor Hayes to make him a visit at Long Branch.

ADMITTED FACT.—A private letter from a friend in Grand Rapids concludes as follows: "Your article in the JOURNAL of the 30th, in which you say that every Republican vote cast for Cooper and Cary counts for Tilden and Hendricks' etc., hits the nail on the head exactly."

Well, we will add that we don't see how any thinking man, especially a Republican, can do it. So far as the Democrats are concerned, they are well enough pleased with the new party movement, and will rather encourage it than otherwise, but when they come to vote you will find "precious few of them" voting the greenback ticket.

section of the country, the warm espousal of Governor Hayes from the first by General Grant, among them, the enthusiastic devotion of the intelligent masses to the cause of universal liberty, progress and equity, as they march forward in solid column to its overthrowing assault upon a common enemy, is a welcome assurance that all their dark lantern platings with their shot gun policy will bring them an ignominious defeat, and that all the fears and anxieties of patriots, since the partial restoration of the rebel Democracy in 1874 will be swallowed up in a Union victory that will stand in point of importance, beside that of Appomattox in April 1865.

Another assurance, quite startling and discouraging to abolition of the "reformer," may be as positively given, to the effect that any assistance to a free, fair election that can be given by the War Department, will not be withheld. No acceptance of the $500 forfeit for every Democrat deterred from depositing his ballot by the presence of U. S. Soldiers at the polls, has been received up to date, notwithstanding the doleful howls provoked by the late order of Secretary Cameron to General Sherman.

The revolutions of the past three months in connection with the every day utterances of the Southern Democratic press, so significant and unmistakable that "all who ran may have" deprived the cry of "bloody shirt" and "outrage mill" of all their terrors and have convinced many of the most timid and halting Republicans of the absolute need of the interposition of the government to preserve a semblance of a republican form of government in many of the late insurrectionary States.

It is the old, old contest between light and darkness; good and evil, superstition on the one hand, and the emancipation of mind from the malignant effects of witchcraft and priestcraft upon the other; in short it is the life and death struggle that has come down through this centennial year of American independence through all the ages since the Lord of Hosts laid the foundations of the universe, and is to go on with gradually decreasing violence from the exhaustion of the one and the triumph of the other at the drawing of the millennial era. REPUBLICAN TICKET
For President, RUTHERFORD B. HAYES, of Ohio.

STATE OFFICERS
For Governor, CHARLES W. ROBERTS.

Republican County Nominations
For State Senator, W. P. ANDRUS.

Where Commenced
The attacks upon Mr. Tilden were not begun by Republicans.

Canvass.
We urge upon the Republicans of the state the necessity of immediately organizing in every ward, township and election precinct in the state, and making a thorough and complete canvass of the voters in each district.

Campaign Notes.
"Live within your means," says Uncle Sammie. "Don't waste your money in paying taxes."

Thus the Buffalo Express promises: "If the rest of the State will do as well as Erie county this fall, Morgan and Rogers will have 50,000 majority."

Now here's a crumb of comfort in the midst of the hard times. The Atlantic Mills, at Lawrence, Mass., will put 1,400 men to work on the 14th, inst. Next?

If Tilden ever gave any money for the Union cause, will some of his admirers tell when and where? If he ever spoke in favor of war a minute the rebellion will tell when and where?

The St. Joseph Herald asks: "Can the Democratic party be trusted?" And the St. Louis Journal, with both eyes shut, and one hand behind its back, says promptly: "It cannot! Give us a harder one!"

When every patriotic heart was stirred by the rebel assault upon the Union flag in '61, Tilden made no sign of sympathy with the grand uprising of the people.

A belated Democrat, from whom a policeman was endeavoring to rescue a lamp-post a few mornings ago, violently resisted the endeavor, exclaiming: "Lemme loose, I'm (hie) holdin' in the fort!"

Col. Nicholas Smith, having of forced an ox from the Chappaqua farm for a Tilden and Hendricks barbecue, the Albany Journal says that if he had offered a calf the tender would have been a "highly creditable illustration of self-immolation."

A Chicago Democrat was starting out to a Tilden club meeting the other evening, when his wife anxiously said: "Promise me, Jim that you won't drink any to-night." "No," said the would-be politician, "I can't make any such promise—I go to this meeting unpledged."

Among the transparencies at the Republican rally at St. Albans, Vt., on Tuesday night was the following: "Tammany sachems in 1870—William M. Tweed, Samuel J. Tilden, Peter B. Sweeney, Richard B. Connolly, Thomas J. Fields. A man is best known by the company he keeps."

The Cincinnati Enquirer is inexpressibly funny. It calls the speech-making going on in Ohio in favor of Tilden the 'Reform-canvass,' and yet that absurd paper no longer ago than the 6th of last June said editorially: "Tilden is a hypocrite, a politician, a swindler, has long been a public plunderer, and really is the only respectable candidate named on the Democratic side."

In New Gloucester, the other day, a member of the Democratic Town Committee called the attention of a passing Republican to a call for a caucus which he was posting up, and invited him to come and read his "death warrant." A discussion ensued, in which the Democratic official asserted with malicious satisfaction: "You Republicans have got to pay the rebel war debt, slaves and all, and you can't help it!"—Portland, Me., Press.

The support of Mr. Everts made the success of ex-Gov. Morgan possible, and next to the choice of Mr. Everts himself, we count that of Gov. Morgan the best that could have been made. . . . He will command the support of all the disaffected elements, and will make a stirring canvass. We do not think he will draw so many doubtful voters as Mr. Everts would have secured, but we believe he can get enough to be elected, and to carry the State for Hayes and Wheeler.—New York Tribune.

On hearing the news from Saratoga, Samuel Tilden buried his face in William Dorsheimer's bosom and sobbed like a little child. "O William," he cried brokenly, "I'm a lone lorn man, and everything goes contrary with me. Why, why do these heathen Republicans never make blunders—except on off years when they don't count?" Mr. Dorsheimer's bosom heaved like a coal-heaver, but though looking as if he wanted to say something, he remained silent.—Buffalo Express.

The case of perjury which Mr. Tilden has made against himself, is creating a sensation in New York. People who were unable or unwilling to trace his crookedness through an intricate railroad suit can see in this transaction his true character, revealed without any severe mental labor. There was a rumor in New York city, yesterday, of his withdrawal from the ticket, but his friends may rest perfectly secure on that point. After all that he has risked for the Democratic nomination, he will not part company with it without a severe pressure from behind.—Cincinnati Gazette.

President Secelye is confident that Hayes and Wheeler will be elected, even if the Southern States, excepting South Carolina, all go for Tilden and Hendricks. He said to a correspondent of the Springfield Union that while he freely criticizes many practices of the Republican party, he yet affirms that its spirit and tendencies are toward reform, while the spirit and tendencies of the Democratic party are, and always have been, in an exactly opposite direction. This is unquestionably shown by the history and present attitude of the two parties.

The Richmond, Va. Enquirer, whether it is under pecuniary obligations to Gov. Tilden and his allies or not, is a headlong supporter of Tilden and Hendricks. And in its issue of the 25th ult. it says: "It is a consolation to know that a little truth is oozing into the ears of New England voters. A Mr. Underwood who spoke at Burlington the other night, told the Green Mountain boys on the course of an attack on the Democracy, that Tilden once told him, during the war, that 'every soldier sent by Lincoln into Virginia was constitutionally guilty of trespass and justly liable to punishment under the common law.'"

The Albany Evening Journal, speaking of the disclosures relative to Tilden's income tax, says: "These amazing facts carry their own significance. They go to the very life of Mr. Tilden's moral character. They prove an utter lack of integrity in his moral being. It isn't possible that a man of conscience and rectitude could be guilty of these acts. They establish the essential dishonesty of his character and sink him to the level of the swindler and the perjurer. That a man thus destitute of the very elements of honesty should set himself up as the 'great reformer' is simply a grotesque and hideous mockery."

The Albany Journal devotes the whole of its first page of a recent issue, to the list of the signers of calls to organize a Hayes and Wheeler club in every ward of that city. It prints nearly 4,000 signatures, and avers that not a name is appended to the calls which was not signed by the individual himself. This number is much larger than that which was signed to similar calls four years ago. In the circulation of the calls no Republican was found opposed to Hayes and Wheeler, while in every ward there are democrats openly for our ticket and the names of many appear among the signatures. These facts are very encouraging, and we have no doubt that the circulation of similar calls in other cities of the State would produce the same good results.
