The Judicial Question.

FACTS PROVED BY THE RECORDS! Which Concern the Interests of Every Tax-Payer and Voter in Kent County. Concerning the fictitious statement in the Times recently, as to Judge Hoyt's record, the Grand Rapids Post after a careful examination of the official reports says: The Times, of last Tuesday, appealed to the records to show that Hon. Birney Hoyt stands above the average of the Judges of the state in the matter of appeals affirmed by the Supreme Court.

Table with columns: HOLT, ARNOLD. Rows: Cases Affirmed, Reversed. Totals.

This table shows that Judge Hoyt had 52 per cent. of his cases reversed and 48 per cent. affirmed, while Judge Arnold, a new judge during the first term on the Bench, had only 35 per cent. reversed and 65 per cent. affirmed. Another deduction to be drawn from the above table is that while 125 cases were taken up from Judge Hoyt's Court, only 40 cases or less than one-third were taken up from Judge Arnold's—thus showing the lack of confidence in Judge Hoyt's decisions by the lawyers and their clients—a lack of confidence which seems to be fully justified by results in the Supreme Court.

News and Notes.

A silver dollar of 1856 is worth about sixty cents. New York has built 15,000 new buildings in the last nine years. The Rev. Adirondack Murray is prospecting, cattle-wise, in Texas. A boy of 15 years and a girl of 13 were married at Roseville, Ga., on Sunday, March 14. "A Fool's Errand" is being dramatized by a North Carolina man named Louis Haywood. Tom Scott has given $150,000 to local institutions in Philadelphia, principally to hospitals or medical colleges. Edison has emerged from his Menlo Park chrysalis and is now a full-blown noble habitue of Fifth avenue. The Cincinnati Enquirer wants Secretary Blaine to tell the French government that we vaccinate our hogs. It is claimed now, that Jeff Davis' truthful story of the rebellion is completed, and will be out in a month. A Madison county, Virginia, man made the dying request that $40 and a pack of cards be placed in his coffin. Venner threatens Chicago with a flood in April; but nobody there will be entitled to an ark. They'll all have to go under. A committee of the common council Buffalo has recommended that $40,000 be appropriated to build a soldiers' monument. Butter is said to be the best medicine for a class of nerve diseases, being almost chemically identical with healthy nerve tissue. A New York editor says that if Anna Dickinson played "Hamlet," there he would go to see her if the reserved seats were $150 apiece. Now that strict prohibition is in force in Kansas, it is reported that a brewery at Leavenworth will be made over into a starch factory. Altogether there were 741 young doctors, dentists, and druggists thrown upon the world by the Pennsylvania medical college last week. An Ohio ex-sheriff died a few days ago in an insane asylum, where he had been sent because of a mania for begging or borrowing ten-cent pieces. A daughter of George Harris, of Mrs. Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin, is teaching school in Davies county, Ind. Her name is Mattie A. Clark. Mr. Goldwin Smith has offered $500 toward the establishment of a "refuge" for tramps in Toronto, Canada, where the labor test shall be tried. There were 5,461 males and 13,950 females examined for teachers' certificates in Iowa during 1880, and of this number 758 males and 1,998 females were rejected. A celery garden of 46 acres, believed to be the largest in the world, is cultivated in the suburbs of London, and produces annually about half a million plants. Roughly computed, about 100,000,000 of the world's inhabitants speak English; about 60,000,000 German; about 50,000,000 French; and about 45,000,000 Spanish. The war between Persia and the Kurds is simply a massacre of the weak and helpless. A Persian officer who kills three women per day is sure to receive a favorable notice. Samuel J. Tilden's niece, Miss Simmons, a nice $200,000 girl has made herself famous by composing the request gallop to which the giddy youth of the United States and Europe are all dancing. Mr. Thomas M. Nichol, the new commissioner of Indian affairs, is well and favorably known through this state through the efficient work he did on the honest money side of the campaign three years ago. The Arkansas legislature last week passed a bill making it a misdemeanor to sell in that state a dirk, bowie-knife, sword-cane, or brass knuckles, or pistol of any kind, except such as are used in the army or navy. John Sherman was out of office for a few hours between his resignation of the Secretaryship of the Treasury, March 3d, and his assuming the office of Senator March 4th. This was his first moment as a private citizen for 26 years. The city of Columbia, S. C., where there are over 2,000 legal voters, rejected on the 15th inst., by the small vote 35 yeas and 66 nays a proposition to levy a tax of 1 mill for the purpose of keeping the public schools open a greater length of time. While lying is pronounced generally sinful by the Methodist, it adds: "The puzzle of moralists has been to either justify or entirely condemn a class of such mendacities. For example, what shall we do with the hopeful word of a physician who has no hope?" One of the oldest churches on the American continent is the Tumacaco church, near Tubac, Arizona. It was built by the Franciscans in 1554, and has consequently reached the age of 327 years. Fifty-six years ago Indians murdered seven priests within its walls, and 25 years ago several priests came from Rome and dug from a sepulcher on the right side of altar $80,000 in coin and jewels. Bishop Cox is reported as saying that he would rather have written Watt's hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," than Gray's "Elegy," Milton's "Comus" or "Lycidas," or Dante's "Paradise." There was a novel sight in Virginia City, Nev., lately. It was a big Indian carrying a poppoo in his arms. The spectators were beginning to express their surprise, when his squaw came wearily around the corner, bending under the weight of two sacks of flour. Little cliques of beer soaked, filthy men and corrupt women exist in New York, St. Louis and some of the other big cities who call themselves nihilists and applaud the assassination of the czar. They have neither the excuse nor courage of the nihilists of Russia, and are mere scum of the earth.—(Buffalo Express.) The silk industry of the United States last year gave employment to 34,440 operatives, who were paid an aggregate of $9,107,735 in wages. Census office returns show that the total value of finished silk goods produced in this country during the year was nearly $35,000,000, and the capital invested was nearly $19,000,000. The men employed at Krupp's manufactory are working night and day in supplying orders for large guns from abroad. Roumania has ordered 100; Greece, 700; Sweden, 50; Holland, 120; and Italy 400. In the presence of facts like these it is difficult to perceive from which direction the millennium is approaching. Michigan Matters. The postoffice at East Golden, Oceana county, has been discontinued, and its mail will go to Means. John Gibson, near Trufant, Saturday, was struck on the head by a falling limb. He has since died. Wednesday, Robert Haley, of Henrietta, while sawing wood with a machine saved off his right forearm. The Democratic judicial convention at Jackson, Thursday, endorsed the bar nominee, Eugene Pringle, for circuit judge. Eli Bodette, of Deerfield, Lenawee county, 100 years old last October, recently walked to Adrian, nine miles, and back the same day. G. S. Tupper of Flint, has a fig tree heavily laden with fruit. It blossomed in February, and the fruit is now as large as hickory nuts. Mrs. Mary E. Holtan, of Grand Rapids was found dead in her bed, not long after she had retired to lay down for awhile, Thursday afternoon. A Kalamazoo man who doesn't propose to be swindled with nursery men who sell grafts of ounce cars for pound pippins, has sent to Danville, N. Y., and bought four and a half bushels of apple seeds at a cost of $38. General Manager Ledyard has issued an order taking formal possession of the Detroit & Bay City railroad as a division of the Michigan Central. It is to be called the Bay City division, and S. R. Callaway is division superintendent, with headquarters at Detroit. The Republican judicial convention which met at Coldwater last week without being able to make a nomination, reassembled Friday and after balloting till they reached the 330th ballot, they resorted to casting lots which resulted in the choice of R. R. Peeler, of Three Rivers. Bay City Press: Luke Tanney, from near Almont, left Roscommon Tuesday morning for St. Helen. Two miles south he laid down and went to sleep with his feet across the rails. The up train ran over him, and he died as the train came into Roscommon. He had a bottle of whisky in his pocket. Some of the Grand Rapids papers charge that the jury in a case for keeping a saloon open Sunday, Wednesday, let down a string from a window and hauled up beer and cards, and were earnestly discussing the legal aspect of high, low, jack, and the game, when the officer of the court dropped on their amusement, and hauled them before the court, when an entry of jury disagreed was made, and a new trial before a new jury ordered. Mr. J. F. Wilcox, of Montrose, while hunting in the woods of Maple Grove township, on Tuesday last, came in sight of a large wild cat which he was fortunate enough to kill. The animal was a handsome specimen of its kind, weighing 27 pounds, and measured three feet and three inches from the tip of its nose to the root of tail. It had just killed a spike horn deer, and was eating the flesh and sucking the blood of its victim, when shot by Mr. W., clinging to the body after death.—Saginaw Herald. Jonesville Independent: Mr. Fred Harvey, employed by the woolen mill company in the packing room, last Friday, had been mending a belt and was about to put it on the pulley which makes some 400 revolutions a minute, when in some way his leg was caught in the belt, drawing him up feet first to the shaft. His knee was brought against the floor above so as to form a brace, causing the 10-inch belt to break and slip on the shaft. His cry for help was heard, the mill promptly shut down, and he was taken from his perilous position uninjured.

The JOURNAL is informed that the lower branch of Grand Rapids will give Judge Hoyt a "home" in the city.
The "home" is a fine residence in the city.

Dr. D. D. Wood, Jr. has been elected to the position of Registrar of the University of Michigan.
He is a man of high character and high ability.

For the last four years of Judge Hoyt's administration the taxpayers of Kent county have paid out nearly $200,000 in jurors' fees alone; at least twice as much as they would have had to pay had the court business been properly attended to and disposed of.

We are offered the extraordinary sum of $1 to insert an advertisement one year in the JOURNAL for an eastern lawyer. The ad. anonymous "Dixie" says: "If it obtained with little expense, promptly see that ad. in the JOURNAL please speak it out. But don't hurt your eye looking for it."

PROTECTIVE TARIFFS.
Why they should be and are imposed.
The tariff question is one that interests us all. The following prepared article is taken from the Lansing Republican of March 22.
A well adjusted protective tariff is imposed for two purposes: 1st and mainly, for the purpose of protecting the industrial pursuits of the people adopting it; 2d and incidentally for the purpose of raising a revenue with which to pay the public burdens.
The United States undoubtedly contain more mineral wealth and greater agricultural resources than any other country on the face of the earth. This is a fact which no American will be likely to dispute. The problem then for us to solve is how these natural resources can best be developed with profit to all classes of our people.
If our entire laboring population should turn their attention to farming and attempt to live solely by that pursuit, farm products would be so plenty and so low in price that there would be no encouragement for enterprise in that branch of industry, and civilization in America would take a long step backward. If, on the other hand, our people should universally engage in mining and manufacturing, and allow our rich farming lands to return to a state of nature, that policy would be even more disastrous.
Neither of these extremes could well occur; but in order that the miner, the farmer, and the manufacturer may all prosper, a wise equilibrium must be maintained. If it be disturbed, disaster follows just in proportion to the extent of that disturbance. Matters should be so adjusted that the farmer may be able to sell his products at a fair price, and the miner and manufacturer may find a profitable market for their wares.
The wages paid to laboring men in Europe average only about half as much as in this country and as the manufactured goods (as we have shown in a former article) consists largely in the labor they represent, the rate of wages paid must necessarily to a large degree govern the price at which goods are sold.
Take iron again as an illustration. The value of all kinds of merchantable iron consists almost entirely of the labor expended upon it, as the crude ore in its bed is worth not to exceed 1¢ per ton. The greater natural advantages of mining and manufacturing in the United States, where in many cases the iron and coal beds are in close proximity and easily worked, will by no means offset the cheap labor of other countries; and without a proper tariff, American manufacturers could not compete with foreign nations and pay wages such as would enable our workmen to live as freemen should and do live.
It is a fact that for many years after the repeal of the protective tariff of 1842 most of the iron used in this country was imported, and English rails were frequently laid down across the surface of iron mines richer than those from which this foreign metal was made.
The census of 1870 shows that 5,922,471 workers were engaged in agriculture, 2,707,421 in mining and manufacturing, and 1,191,230 in transportation and trade while in the trades and at personal service there were 2,684,793. The census report of 1880 is not yet published and distributed, but the proportion engaged in the different occupations cannot be materially changed, for our general industrial and financial policy has continued.
With this division of labor, our country is in a prosperous condition. The farmers find a ready market for their products. The miners and the workingmen in various manufactures are ready purchasers of the food which they are not able to produce, and so both classes thrive together.
Suppose that protective duties should be removed, and goods be brought into our country duty free from countries where labor is cheaper. The result must be either that our manufacturers stop, as in 1847-89, that portion of our people now employed in them would have to get a living in some other way. The result would be that a very large proportion of them would of necessity become farmers, for, while all things else may fail, the earth will continue to yield her increase.
By subtracting this immense amount of labor from mining and manufacturing and adding it to our farming industry, it would follow that as these new consumers of farm products become producers of the same, the amount of farm products would be largely increased, and at the same time the number of consumers would be diminished, and prices would be correspondingly low.
If the other alternative of pauper wages, like those in Europe, were to be adopted by the manufacturers and submitted to by the operatives and laborers, the purpose of our foreign-born population in coming here, which was to obtain a better living and more privileges for themselves and their families, would be defeated, and they would be as badly off as they were at home, and our native-born citizens would be reduced to a similar deplorable condition. Capital can generally take care of itself, but labor must struggle and pinch, until it can enlist the cooperation of capital by holding out the prospect of profit. Under a protective tariff for almost 20 years the farmers of Michigan have realized paying prices for their produce, and manufacturers have thriven by their side; but under a tariff for revenue only, such as the democratic party inflicted on the nation in 1847, and threatens to again, our farmers had to sell wheat at 55 cents a bushel and pork at $2 per cwt., after hauling the same two days' journey to market, and there were few if any factories in operation. Which is the best system? No old pioneer is a free-trader, unless he has fallen into second childhood.
Carlyle once said to Charles Sumner that the strangest thing in the history of literature was the receipt of £50 from the United States on account of his "French Revolution," which had never yielded him a farthing in Europe.

That Stanton Murder.
In last week's JOURNAL was an item stating that Frank C. Upright of Stanton had, on the previous Saturday, shot his wife. Later details show it to have been one of the most heinous crimes on record. He fired several shots at her with a revolver most of them taking effect but not killing her. Death, however, is pronounced inevitable and the woman's dying statement as given in the Stanton Clipper is as follows:
THE DYING WOMAN'S STATEMENT.
Her name is Mabel Upright. She lacks two months of being eighteen years old. Her father, Jacob C. Moore, mother, brother and sister, the last she knew of them, lived in Williamston in Ingham Co. Her father is a blacksmith and laborer. She was married to Frank C. Upright about three years ago contrary to the wishes of her parents. Her husband proved to be a bad man and insisted upon her selling her virtue to obtain money for him and often threatened to kill her if she refused to accede to his heinous propositions, declaring that SHE HAD RATHER DIE, until about eight months ago when for the first time in her life she yielded to his threats and was A RUINED WOMAN.
Since that time she has given him over two hundred dollars, the proceeds of her shame. Sometime last week he had seen her, and, under penalty of death, gave her until Saturday night to raise twenty five dollars for him. On Saturday p. m. he came to the Stanton House to get the money and found her without it and drew a revolver and threatened to shoot her. She begged of him to wait until the next day and she would have the money for him. Some circumstance prevented him from entering her, she escaped through a side door and started to the house of an acquaintance thinking to elude him until the next day when she would have the money for him and he would be satisfied. But he followed her and in her hurry she went up the wrong pair of stairs and could not get in—she did not go into any of the stores for she did not think he would shoot her for he had threatened her so many times before and she did not wish to create such a disturbance as she would if she went into a store; if she only could elude him until she got the money it would be all right—he was so close upon her that she ran down the back stairs to get away. He caught hold of and fired at her descending the stairs she broke loose from him but he caught her again near the side door of Gillet & Urtley's bakery and held her with one hand and fired with the other.
When she fell he fell over her. She has been comatose about four months.
The prisoner made a statement claiming he shot her because she was unfaithful to him. His statement is generally believed to be false. He is in jail and if the dying woman's statement is true, hell is a paradise compared to the place he deserves to be sent to.
Ingersoll's Creed.
(Burlington Hawkeye)
With this little one sends us a little tract, containing epigrammatic expressions from Col. Robert G. Ingersoll's latest lecture, "What must we do to be saved?" We have read the tract and we have read the entire lecture. If this is truly Ingersoll's creed, the colonel isn't so far out of the way. He is coming around, maybe. He manages to get considerable scripture into his creed, as he sets it forth. There is lots of hope, in fact there is a great deal of certainty for the colonel. We subjoin a few articles of this great man's creed, just to show from what book he got his declaration of faith.
"Honest industry is as good as pious illness," says the colonel.
Well, that's all right. That's orthodox. The Bible says the same thing and said it long before the colonel thought of it—"Faith without works is dead."
"Christ believed the temple of God to be the heart of man."—Ingersoll.
Yes, that's orthodox, too. We "must worship him in spirit." "Know ye not that ye are the temple of the Holy Ghost?"
"If I go to heaven I want to take my reason with me."—Ingersoll.
Of course, and so you will, "for now we see through a glass, darkly; but there face to face; now I know in part; but then I shall know even as I am known."—I Corinthians XIII, 12.
"Fear is a dagger with which hypocrisy assassinates the soul."—Ingersoll.
That is good gospel, and "perfect love casteth out fear."
"If I owe Smith ten dollars and God forgives me, that doesn't pay Smith."—Ingersoll.
Correct you are; the prayer of Christianity is "forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors." Owe no man anything.
"Reason is the light of the soul, and if you haven't the right to follow it, what have you the right to follow?"—Ingersoll.
"Yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding, than by my voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue. Brethren, be not children in understanding; howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding, be men."—I Corinthians, XIV, 19, 20.
"If you go to hell, it will be for not practicing the virtues which the Sermon on the Mount proclaims."—Ingersoll.
That is all orthodox. "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them."
"The men who saw the miracles all died long ago. I wasn't acquainted with any of 'em."—Ingersoll.
Same way with the men who saw Servetus burned. But the colonel firmly believes that Servetus was burned.
"A little miracle now, right here—just a little one—would do more toward the advancement of Christianity than all the preaching of the last thirty years."—Ingersoll.
"If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded though one rose from the dead."—[Luke XVII, 31.
"If there is a God in the universe he will not damn an honest man."—Ingersoll.
"A false balance is an abomination unto the Lord; but a just weight is his delight."—[Proverbs XI, 1.
"There is only one true worship, and that is the practice of justice."—[Ingersoll.

"Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's and unto God the things which be God's."—[Luke XX, 25.
God will not damn a good citizen, a good father, or a good friend."—[Ingersoll.
Certainly not; nor any good man.
"A good man showeth favour, and leniency; he will guide his affairs with discretion. Surely, he shall not be moved forever; the righteous shall be held in everlasting remembrance."—[Psalms XXII, 5, 6.
"Study the religion of the body in preference to the religion of the soul. A healthy body will give a healthy mind, and a healthy mind will destroy superstition."—[Ingersoll.
That explains why the Indians have no superstition.
"People who have the smallest souls make the most fuss about saving them."—[Ingersoll.
Of course, Colonel; they are the hardest kind to save.
"I will never ask God to treat me any fairer than I treat my fellow men."—[Ingersoll.
Well, that's perfectly orthodox. "For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly father will also forgive you; but if ye forgive men not their trespasses, neither will your heavenly Father forgive your trespasses." "For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged; and with what measure ye mete it shall be measured to you."
"Upon the shadowy shore of death, the sea of trouble casts no wave."—[Ingersoll.
The colonel must have been singing that good old hymn "When I can read my title clear," in which occur the lines:
"And not a wave of trouble roll Across my peaceful breast."
Maids and Mothers.
There are 28,000 feminine farmers in Great Britain.
Dozens of high-toned ladies of Buffalo make extra pin money by doing embroidery for New York houses.
Forepunch has received 1,200 photographs from women who think they are the handsomest in America.
A Pennsylvania woman has invented a "wrist and finger strengthener" for the use of piano and organ players.
Anna Dickinson says she has been in love many times, but "fell out again" before she had time to get married.
Olive Logan wants American women to learn that the very apex of vulgarity is reached when they dress splendidly for the hotel dining room.
Secretary and Mrs. Kirkwood are assisted in their hospitable duties by an adopted daughter, Miss Rachel Kirkwood, Miss Abigail Dodge and Miss Alice Blaine aid Mrs. Blaine in receiving her guests.
A servant girl left Minneapolis the other day for Denver, under contract that she would do housework in a family at $50 a month, on condition that she would not marry and would remain in the same place six months.
In the French revolution women have exhibited a remarkable thirst for blood, and now the cable accounts of the horrible mangling and death of the czar of Russia say "the fatal bombs were loaded by women."
Mrs. Langtry is credited with making "the high-heeled, low-cut patent-leather shoes, short skirts and amber colored silk stockings with bright silk clocks," "acceptable and fashionable," even to those of good taste and quiet dress.
To the young lady whose intricate overskirt is held in innumerable folds by many pins, it may seem a hardship that her yearly allowance of pins is only about 150. Such, however, is the case with each individual in the United States on an equitable division of the pins yearly sold in this country.
The portrait of Mrs. Hayes, now in the White House, is said to be idealized into radiant beauty. The velvet dress of pale maroon is quaintly cut in square necked fashion. The right hand holds loosely, not a bouquet, but two or three Marshal Niel roses half blown, and the left hand lifts the sweeping train of velvet.
Mrs. Polk, who was a puritanical lady did away with the ancient custom of dancing at the White House, and it never has been revived. An effort was made to have a ball at the White House for the entertainment of the Prince of Wales, but President Buchanan said: "No, the matter has once been settled, let it remain so."
Provincial papers of Germany tell of a hearty bride in the village of Necker-munde, who has been literally danced to death. Each of the young men at wedding wished to dance with her. They took turns, and so wearied her that she soon afterward became ill, had to take to her bed, and, after lingering for a short time, died.
Lucy Stone on Garfield's inaugural: "Eloquent for the rights of 3,000,000 colored men. Dumb for the rights of 20,000,000 women. God forgive him! That great woman, with a hundred years of national growth, closed a century of dishonor toward women."
Miss Genevieve Ward, the actress, says that a crusade ought to be made against palace car companies for not having special cars for ladies. The present heading together, she says, is shocking to a modest woman, and is a violation of decency and self-respect.
The ladies will be interested in the news that a glass dress is being made for Fanny Davenport in Pittsburg. It will be a full toilet evening suit, and the process of making is such as to give the work the appearance of fine French satin, only that it is much more brilliant. It will have a long train of woven glass, and elaborately trimmed with

Kendall's Spavin Cure,
ON HUMAN FLESH.
Bakersfield, VT. Dec. 25, 1879.
B. J. Kendall & Co. Gentls: Reading your advertisement in Turf, Field & Farm, of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and having a valuable and speedy horse, which had been lame from spavin eighteen months, I sent you for a bottle by express, which in six weeks restored lameness and enlargement and a large splint from another horse, and both horses are to-day as sound as colts. The one bottle was worth to me one hundred dollars.
Respectfully yours, H. A. BERTOLLETT, M. D.
Kendall's Spavin Cure,
ON HUMAN FLESH.
Bakersfield, VT. Dec. 25, 1879.
I slipped on the ice and sprained my right limb at the knee joint. I was very lame and at times suffered the most excruciating pain. I wore a bandage on it for I over a year, and tried everything in my reach, but could find nothing that would give me permanent relief. I then overworked it and now know, very much, in April, 1878 I began to think I should be a cripple for life, but having some of "Kendall's Spavin Cure" thought I would try it. I used one third of a bottle, and experienced relief at once. The pain in my hand had not troubled me since I feel very grateful to you and would recommend "Kendall's Spavin Cure" to all who suffer with sprains or rheumatism. Mrs. J. BOUTELL.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, chills, manna, yellow dock, with the juice of potato and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alternative medicine shown or available to the public. The science of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Zoster, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Sores, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Itch, Scabies, and all eruptions of the skin. It cures Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Dropsy of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Constipation, and General Debility.
By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions, promotes energy and strength, restores and preserves health, and induces new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.
It is only to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures of cheap and adulterated without medicinal virtues, offered as purifiers, while disease becomes more and more seated. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.
