THE ARMY MULE.

"An army mule, 45 years in the regular service has been placed on the retired list of the army, by order of the secretary of war."—Herald.

The Army mule has an honored place in history. He may have never pointed with pride at his ancestry; he certainly has never had occasion to be ashamed of his posterity.

Fellow countrymen, little do we realize how much we owe, how much the nation owes, the army mule. Born in obscurity, of a despised and disesteemed race, the butt of ridicule and cruel jest of all around him; ostracized and isolated from all society except his own—look at him. Meekly he bore and grazed his lot. Patiently he waited for the bugle call and when it was sounded he went to the front—and woe to him who brought up the rear. He went to the front. He hauled our camp equipment over leagues of weary march; he hauled our artillery through miles of mud, over mountains and through valleys; and he murmured not. The husks we read of he would have fed upon with thanksgiving and praise but he had them not. While our soldiers were waxing fat on animated hominy and hydra-lic cement—called hard-tack, for short—he, the army mule, lived on faith and stubble. Oft in the still night when the boys were dreaming of home and loved ones, or were poring over precious letters received from wives and sweethearts, he stood alone, gazing at the starry heavens above, (the starry heavens in those days were generally above) filling the rebellious air with loud and prolonged protestations. When a victory was won he got no credit. When a bullet pierced him through none wept for him. And yet who shall say that without the army mule our proud victory might not have been a crushing defeat? Who shall say that without his presence our lines might not have been more frequently broken and scattered? Who shall say that without his aid, comrades, your children might not have been fatherless or your fathers childless? Hereafter when you meet him think of this. He may perhaps know you—don't pass him by unnoticed. Think of him as he appeared in his uniform and the service of his country. Let him go on the retired list full of oats and gratitude.

We have said he holds an honored place in history. He does, but not so honored in the written as in the unwritten history of his country. Selfish historians have not accorded him that recognition he deserves. We have seen him abused and ridiculed beyond mule endurance. We have seen him prodded and persecuted without mercy, and at the same time we have seen scores of his fathers elected to office and fawned upon by large constituencies. How brutal sometimes is human nature; how ungrateful is selfish man. The army mule was an important factor in putting down the rebellion. He was loyal to the old flag to the last and when hostilities ceased what became of him? He was remanded to obscurity, a living evidence of the ingratitude of a saved republic. This country would be better off if it had more meek and faithful mules and fewer unscrupulous, place seeking asses. We may not live to speak a greater, more massive truth than this, therefore salt it down. True, the army mule possesses traits of character we do not admire, but his paternal parent whom we so frequently lift into positions of trust and honor is sometimes less capable and not half so honest. We have sometimes thought the mule's lack of pride and ambition was owing to his inability to shake off his sense of shame for his parentage. If so let us breathe into his ear—by telephone—that beautiful couplet from Pope:

"Honor and shame from no condition rise, Act well your part, there all the honor lies."

The army mule acted well his part and we are glad to see our humane Secretary of War come to him at last with a reward that has so long been due.

O, Army Mule, of thee, True friend of Liberty, Of thee we sing.

Land where you long have brayed, Land where your heels have played,— From every hill and glade You made it ring.

When'er thy voice was heard, The patriot blood was stirred, Long years ago, Shall we forget thee now, While laurels deck the brow Of asses at the mow?

Nay, nay, we swear!

—We have had a revelation and it says Butler will be beaten.

—The New York World says "Tilden and Hoardly." "Rah fr Hilden an' Toadly."

—The Hon. W. M. Everts would make a cruel judge—he always gives such long sentences.

—Gen. Hancock applied for membership to a high-toned club in New York and was black-balled. It was only a "local affair," however,—same as the tariff question.

—A Florida paper, upon learning that Ben. Butler has declared that a woman is not a person, says "his next step will be to declare her contraband of war."

—Secretary Lincoln thinks soldiers should not be required to laborers' duties at military posts without extra pay. It does look that way. The princely sum of $13, per month isn't enough to pay both soldier and day laborer.

—The prohibitionists in Ohio who voted the Democratic ticket in consideration of the promise of democratic votes for the prohibitory amendment, are not so happy as the democrats are, over the result. They now accuse the democrats of bad faith and it's awful to think of it.

—The Lowell Journal looks over the political situation and finds encouragement for the Republican party therein. Will the Kent county Senator kindly lend us his microscope?—Lansing Journal (Dem.)

Yes, if you want to look over the record of your party in search of anything good in it. Steady employment is what you need, my boy—take it.

Testimony vs. Talk.

Shanley's Death, The Inquest, Verdict, &c.

The chief topic of conversation here for the last few days has been the death of Wm. Shanley, the probable cause of his death, the inquest and the verdict.

Last Thursday morning as Chas. Hodges, clerk in Train's hotel, was passing McGee's saloon on his way to the post-office, Wm. Shanley stepped in front of him and began abusing him with language unfit for publication. A few words were exchanged and Hodges stepped by Shanley and passed on.

When a few feet distant Shanley called Hodges a very hard name which Hodges resented by retreating and striking Shanley in the mouth with his fist. Shanley fell and Hodges immediately passed on to the post-office. Shanley had been in a state of intoxication for some time. He was drunk the day and night before and had not been home since the morning of the previous day. When Hodges struck him he fell and lay there apparently helpless and unconscious. Blood came from his mouth and some thought from the right ear but the doctors afterward found this a mistake. Shanley was soon placed in the alley or closed stairway east of McGee's saloon. Several witnesses saw him on the sidewalk that morning not far from nine o'clock with a man named Warwick. Shanley was seen to stagger around and fall twice very heavily on some wood close to the sidewalk. More of this further on. At noon or soon thereafter Shanley was taken home in Oberly's delivery wagon. He was in a comatose state. His wife thought he was drunk and tried to give him vinegar, but found his jaws set. She sent for a doctor. Dr. Peck arrived between 4 and 5 o'clock that afternoon and Dr. Clark came between 6 and 7.

Not far from midnight Shanley died. Next morning a jury was impaneled consisting of the following business men of this village: J. C. Scott, H. Nash, A. P. Hunter, N. B. Blain, J. Q. Look, John Wingler, Justice Hunter conducted the inquest. A post mortem examination was made by Drs. Peck and McDannell and a ruptured blood vessel was found at or near the base of the brain. Several witnesses were called. Gilbert Worden testified that he heard the conversation and saw the altercation, that Shanley called H. a "dirty son of a b—h," that Hodges who had started away ran back and hit Shanley, that Shanley fell on head and shoulders and bled from mouth and ear; that Ed. Johnson and another man sat him up against the saloon and he fell over; that S. was afterward put in the alley, that S. did not get up while he was there; that he did not see him get up and fall over the wood pile.

Dr. B. M. Clark was next sworn. Saw Shanley about seven o'clock p. m. found him in comatose state, unconscious, breathing hard as though had been taking opium in heavy doses. Concluded the injury was at the base of brain. Found jaws set and pried them open and gave medicine. Jaws relaxed some. Considered it a severe case of concussion of the brain. A shock of the nerve centers might cause jaws to set. Did not bleed from his ear. Thought his fall was the cause of his suffering. Did not discover any bruises on back of head. He might have some symptoms from excessive drinking. At the close of Dr. Clark's testimony Drs. Peck & McDannell made the post mortem examination, as above stated, removing the skull and finding a ruptured blood vessel. Adjourned then till afternoon at Hunter's office.

Ed. Johnson was next sworn. Testified saw Shanley fall but did not know the cause of his fall. Saw him bleeding and said "I guess he's dead." Stood there about five minutes before saw signs of life. Pulled him up by McGee's saloon; he could not stand. Took him into the alley and he said "Johnson I wish you would take me home." Think it was between 10 & 11 o'clock but not sure. Was bleeding from mouth and right ear. Fell on back of head. Skin was broken on his lip. Knew he was conscious because he said "Ed. I wish you would take me home."

Dr. A. Peck sworn. Testified that he made a post mortem examination of deceased. Found contusion of scalp on back of head. Removed the skull at base of brain and found a small blood vessel broken; found some blood in the brain; found no fracture of the skull. Breaking of the blood vessel might be sufficient to cause death; difficult to tell how much pressure it would take to cause death or how much there was. It was between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday. I think he was very much intoxicated; his breath smelled of liquor. He was in a comatose condition; could not rouse him; his mouth was full of blood. I saw nothing at that time but what might have been the result of intoxication. He had a good pulse. Breaking of blood vessel might not affect pulse very much, would more in other part of brain. Did not find blood oozing from ear. Thought he would rally when whisky wore off. I don't know that his death was from any other cause than a drunken spree. The leakage of the blood vessel might have caused death; the breaking of the blood vessel might have been from the same cause as the contusion on the scalp. A blood vessel might break when there was no concussion: A drunken spree would have a tendency to send more blood to the brain and might cause the breaking of a blood vessel.

Dr. O. C. McDannell testified that he assisted at the post mortem examination; found principal abnormal condition at the base of the brain; found there an effusion of blood, due to a rupture of one of the blood vessels. Think the blood from the rupture might cause death. Found discoloration of scalp not large in extent. Did not see Shanley before death. Excessive dissipation or muscular exertion, passion or undue excitement are predisposing causes to rupture of blood vessels in the brain. The rupture of that blood vessel would not cause blood to flow from the ear. Did not find any evidence that blood had flowed from the ear.

Frank T. King testified that about nine o'clock that morning he saw a man help Shanley up in front of McGee's saloon. Shanley stood on his feet, took a step or two and then fell over on some wood. The man helped Shanley up again and he fell again. "I made the remark that such a fall would kill a man if he was not drunk." Saw him again in the hall way and he was dead drunk as I thought. Saw blood on his moustache when I first went over the river.

Charles Roe testified he saw Shanley pass west about 8:20. Was pretty full but seemed to navigate all right. Hodges either struck or shoved him and he fell over. Saw Shanley later in alley and asked him if he was hurt. He said he thought he was. His hands and face were bloody. Did not see blood on his face until I saw him fall. Couldn't say as Hodges touched him at all; saw H. make a motion and saw Shanley fall. Shanley came to our place about 11 o'clock the night before and shook the door. He was intoxicated.

Cornick McGee was in his saloon; heard Shanley and Hodges talking loud and thought they were quarreling; went out and saw Hodges run towards Shanley and saw S. fall; struck on back of his head. He lay for awhile on side walk and Ed. Johnson sat him up and he tumbled over. They took him in the alley and shut the screen door. I opened the screen door once and saw him leaning on the steps. Saw blood run out of his mouth. Could not say whether he was intoxicated or not.

Mrs. Helen Shanley testified that she was the wife of the deceased. About 11 o'clock yesterday Davis boy came and told her Shanley was drunk. About noon Oberly's team took Shanley home. Tried to give him vinegar and found his jaws set. She sent for a doctor by two persons and finally went herself about 4 o'clock, Dr. Peck came. There was blood on Shanley's face and ears. Will Wright spoke of his affray with Hodges; up to that time I thought he was merely drunk. The night before Shanley did not come home at all. He has been in the habit lately of getting drunk.

Dwight Henry saw Shanley when he fell; afterward saw him through the screen. He said "take me home." I asked him if he knew me. He said "yes it is Dike." He knew me up three steps and fell over. Said he knew who hit him and it would be all right when he got sober. Also saw Shanley fall over on to the wood pile.

Amos White testified that he saw Warwick helping Shanley. Warwick stepped away a few feet and Shanley then got up and fell over on a pile of wood. I thought he was pretty drunk.

Reuben Quick testified he saw Shanley in front of McGee's and thought Warwick was with him. When first saw Shanley he was sitting down on the edge of the walk. Warwick got Shanley up and soon Shanley fell off the walk on to a pile of wood that was there. Warwick got him up again and he fell over on to the wood pile again. He fell his whole left.

The above are the material points found in the testimony of the witnesses sworn, as recorded in the minutes taken by Justice Hunter. The jury after due consideration of the evidence in the case returned the following verdict:

"That in their opinion the deceased came to his death from the rupture of a blood vessel at or near the base of the brain. Cause of rupture to them unknown."

Neither the doctors nor the jurors could tell whether the rupture of the blood vessel was caused by Shanley's first fall, his second fall, his third fall, or whether it came from some other exciting cause. They could not upon their oaths return a verdict showing that his death was the result of any one of his falls or of excessive dissipation. And yet there are some who pool at and find fault with the verdict. The jury was composed of six prominent and clear headed business men of our village. Does any one believe they would return a verdict not warranted by the facts brought out in the testimony? We guess not. Drs. Peck and McDannell found a ruptured blood vessel but whether that rupture was caused by the fall from Hodges' blow or by Shanley's second or third fall or from any other of the causes enumerated, they were unable to say. Can you tell? Can the man who didn't hear a word of the testimony judge better from street talk than those jurors could from the sworn statements of witnesses? Does any one believe Drs. Peck and McDannell or those jurors would be guilty of false statement, or of covering facts, or of violating their
