EDITORIAL COMMENT.

—President elect Cleveland has written a letter in answer to one received from Geo. William Curtis's "reform league," giving his views of civil service. It is a smooth endorsement of the civil service law and policy with, however, a saving clause sufficiently comprehensive to permit a general grand bounce of all Republican office holders who have interested themselves in the success of their party. The letter is a sop to the "reform league" with a sugar "teat" for democrats who want office more than "civil service reform." "To the victors belong the spoils," said A. Jackson and so will Greater Cleveland say.

—Our greater men are also subject to little ills. Gen. Sheridan's stomach is out of order and his physician has ordered him to remain quiet a few days. Just think of it—Gen. Sheridan, the Winchester hero who was first 20, then 15, then 10, then only 5 miles away—now down with a measly bad stomach and all out of sorts generally just because of it. He probably feels just as much like kicking the cat and yelling to the young-ones—"shut the door" as any common man does when he is troubled with a bad stomach.

—The Mormon church organ of Salt Lake City advises the Mormons to shoot the United States Officers who attempt to arrest polygamists. Uncle Sam ought to send troops enough to Utah to bury polygamy and mormonism forty feet under the turf before breakfast. Every root and branch of the accursed institution ought to be destroyed at once. It will never be done peacefully. Then let it be done forcibly before it requires too much force. There has been enough talk. It is now time to do something.

—Gov. Bagole has commuted the sentences of several more murderers sent up for life. It begins to dawn upon the unwilling minds of his own party supporters that he is an unmitigated fraud. Some of his own party organs now call him either "a fool or a knave," and yet this is the man they wanted for Governor another term. A fraud, is he? Well, we told you so two years ago and so will we tell you now. Now fight it out with Bagole. We didn't help to elect him, thank heaven!

—Wade Hampton says he thinks the negro will be protected. He says the democratic party is now on trial and will do its prettiest. We are getting a heap of good promises before the performance begins, but wouldn't it be well to wait until the show is partly or entirely over before tendering a vote of thanks?

—It is currently reported that Tennyson got $1,000 for his late little poem entitled "Freedom." Very likely. Mr. Tennyson has been getting a good many donations lately. If that poem is worth $1,000 then we have stowed away several fortunes in our waste basket.

—Bet you four dollars the weather clerk is a democrat and his office is closed. How long have we got to endure this thing, anyway? Mercury 25° below zero Friday and a break-up rain-storm Saturday and Sunday. Very shiftless.

—It is sometimes amusing and sometimes quite disgusting to see a so-called "independent" paper try to carry favor with all political parties. An "independent" paper that doesn't possess or dare express any settled views on any question of public policy is a weak vessel.

—That was a very happy hit by Judge Noah Davis who said: "It is folly, just as the enemy have captured our baggage train, and are sure to hold it four years, to cast about for men who are only superior in the management of baggage trains."

—The cold snap Friday morning undoubtedly nipped a portion of next season's peach crop in the bud. Mercury at Sangatusck, Holland, St. Joseph, and other points in the fruit belt, registered from 22° to 30° below zero.

—If the New York legislature should elect Wm. M. Everts to the United States Senate, the Empire State would be most ably and creditably represented.

Every democrat in the Senate voted against admitting Dakota as a State. Dakota will be admitted some day and then see "how sweet it is to be remembered."

—Ben Butler didn't hang up his stocking. He had just hung up his fiddle and was tired.

Rev. D. O. Bell was in Lowell last week.
Winter term of school here opens next Monday.
Michigan legislature convenes one week from to-day.

The Christmas party at the Rink was a success.

The first newspaper advertisement appeared in 1852. It pays to advertise.

The Lowell National Bank yesterday declared a semi-annual dividend of five per cent.

Communion services at the Congregational Church next Sabbath morning. Preparatory sermon Friday evening, J. T. Husted, pastor.

The I. O. G. T. will hold a necktie social at their Hall Friday evening, Jan. 16. Each lady is expected to furnish lunch for two and two neckties. Price for lunch and necktie 25c.

The Common Council have decided to purchase a Mansfield Steam Engine. It is highly recommended by fire departments that have given it a thorough trial.

The house owned by John Maynard and occupied by Will Burnett took fire Saturday and would have been speedily consumed had not prompt assistance rushed to the rescue. The damage was about $75.

On Sunday, Jan. 4, the funeral services of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Godfrey's two children, who recently died of diphtheria, will be held at the Altan church, to be conducted by Rev. C. Oldfield. Friends of the family to meet at residence at 1 o'clock; services at the church at 2 p. m.

The Grand Rapids Eagle was 40 years old last Thursday—Christmas day. It was established by Hon. Aaron B. Turner, who still retains a controlling interest in the paper. Albert Baxter has been on the Eagle's editorial staff 29 years; E. F. Harrington its business manager 26 years, and E. B. Fisher is city editor 13 years. The Eagle has been and still is one of the best paying newspapers in Western Michigan.

The second trial of Matthew Millard, charged with poisoning his wife, resulted in his acquittal. There was testimony showing arsenic in the body of the deceased after death but the proof that it was administered before death was lacking. On the contrary, evidence was abundant showing that arsenic was used in embalming the remains. The verdict of "not guilty" seems to be favorably received generally, and yet there are some persons who will probably always believe that Millard poisoned his wife.

In January last Lowell shipped 583 tons of freight stuff and St. Johns shipped 430 the same month. St. Johns is a much larger village than Lowell, and a very nice, good looking town it is, but Lowell gets away with all its own of its size—and many larger towns, too—in the matter of shipments. The St. Johns Republican wants to know why Lowell gets lower freight rates than St. Johns? Lowell secures easy rates because of its heavy shipments of flour, grain and other products.

The finest display of meats ever seen in Lowell was at the market of Forman & Aldrich Christmas Eve. The meats, poultry, etc. were of the very best that money could buy and the decorations were very attractive. The market was gorgeously illuminated with candles Christmas Eve, and hundreds of people went to feast their eyes and buy good things with which to feast their stomachs. A spring chicken weighing 7 lbs., as sweet and tender as a school girl's first love letter, was kindly saved out for the JOURNAL. We will give a reward of $5 to anybody who will find that chicken now.

Remember the party Thursday eve.

To one and all a Happy New Year.

The Millard jurors received $39 each. Grand masquerade at the Rink to-night.

When business is dull is the best time to advertise.

The Wolverine Cyclone, Farmer Reynolds' new paper, is a very breezy sheet. It is also the unique of the unique.

Fred Hogan and wife of So. Boardman have been visiting Lowell friends. His sister Effie is in town.

Friday morning mercury registered in Lowell 20° to 25° below zero. This was the coldest snap of the season—so far.

Visiting at A. Bancroft's are Mr. & Mrs. Chas. Lee of Monroe county, N. Y., and Augustus Lee of Lewis county, N. Y.

Mrs. Brewster of Manchester, N. Y., is with her daughter, Mrs. C. O. Sunderland, who has been ill for the past few weeks.

Rink open this week Thursday and Saturday, afternoon and evening. Special attraction Thursday evening—a barrel race—contestants to skate inside of barrels.

Christmas Eve was delightfully celebrated at the Baptist, Congregational and M. E. Churches in Lowell. Santa Claus unloaded a big pack of presents at each of the above places.

One of the three children of J. W. Murphy, who have been ill with diphtheria, died Monday night. The other two are reported as improving. No new cases are reported in town.

It rained Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The snow is all gone except here and there a patch about the size of a tree shadow. Unless colder weather sets in very soon the rivers will run high.

The lecture delivered last Sunday evening by Rev. J. T. Husted will be repeated next Sunday evening, by special request of many of his congregation. Subject: "Reasons for belief in a God,"—giving the result of scientific research as evidence.

Sunday's Grand Rapids Democrat contains the following unexpected announcement regarding the financial condition of a man well known in Lowell and vicinity: "Intelligence has reached the city that Mr. Rier N. Goodsell, formerly a resident here, now a resident of New Buffalo, Dak., has made a general assignment for the benefit of his creditors. The assignee is Mr. P. A. Johnston of Fargo, Dak. Mr. Goodsell is at the present time a member of the firm of McIntyre & Goodsell, pianoforte manufacturers of this city. He owns near New Buffalo a wheat farm comprising two whole sections of land, and his residence for some time has been on the farm. He has some creditors in this city, but the only one known is the Old National bank, which has a claim of $5,185 and for security has attached Mr. Goodsell's farm of 207 acres in Vergennes valued at $12,000. The assets and liabilities could not be definitely ascertained."

Married.

Cannon's Bear.

A pop corn social will be held at the residence of John Hoag, Wednesday evening, January 7, 1885.

Two cases of mumps are reported near the village.

With mercury ranging from 30° below zero to 40° or 50° above, people should take good care of their health.

H. N. Bush will give you a nice clean shave or cut and comb your hair after the most approved fashion and may be found nightly at the store of Hoag & Judson.

So. Boston Breezes.

No sleighing at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Stannard.

It is reported that E. W. English starts this (Monday) morning for Tenn. to deliver a Red Polled Norfolk, and that the consideration is $200.

The following are the officers elected by So. Boston Grange at its last meeting: M., J. C. English; O. P., C. Freeman; L., Mrs. S. K. Remington; S., S. W. Towl; Asst. S., C. S. English, Chap.; Mrs. B. A. Aldrich; Treas., S. K. Remington; Sec., Jas. A. Aldrich; G. K., D. H. English; Ceres, Mrs. P. C. Freeman; Pomona, Mrs. A. S. Stannard; Flora, Mrs. J. C. English; L. A. S., Miss Mary Acker.

Mrs. Charles B. Francisco is still very low, but more comfortable Sunday. Her parents, Mr. & Mrs. Youngs of Kalamazoo are with her.

Benjamin Mason, a former resident and old settler here, died (from congestive chills in New York State last week. He was nearly 80 years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lessor start for a visit in Oakland Co. to-day, Monday.

The Christmas Aroh, and all exercises at Ashley were much enjoyed, also the fine presents from loved ones. There were some nice presents too at Grattan Church on the Christmas tree.

Miss Olive Miller, teaching at Gwenn, is home during the holiday vacation.

The next social of the Ashley church society is with Mrs. J. Cranmore Friday Jan. 2, 11 o'clock a. m. The Social of the Second Oakland Church, was greatly enjoyed at Rev. E. H. Teal's last Friday.

Miss Priscilla Donovan, while, on a visit to Grand Rapids, was taken sick and departed this life the night of Dec. 21st, without previous alarming symptoms. The remains were brought to Grattan Center, and we hear the burial was at Alton on the 26th instant.

In two days—Friday and Saturday—there was a change of over fifty degrees in the weather. Another big rain storm and still raining.

THE LOWELL STAR.
News Nearly a Century Old.
Mr. F. A. Hoag, of Big Rapids, kindly sends us a copy of the first issue of the "Lowell Star," dated Sept. 12, 1860; Geo. S. Spafford, editor and publisher. The Star was the same in size and form as the JOURNAL, independent politically, and its subscription price was $1.50 a year. The copy before us contains nearly four columns of the early history of Lowell, one column of local news, about twelve columns of stories, sketches and general news items, and eleven columns of advertisements. Among the advertisers we notice the following: Chapin & Booth, U. B. Williams, Hooker, Hunt & Co., R. Hunter, Jr., A. C. Vanderburgh, John Taylor, J. A. Taylor, J. B. Balcom, Charles Krauss, I. N. White, J. Houseman & Co., Cyrus Clark, N. P. Husted, J. D. Carpenter. Of these now living here are Messrs. E. J. Booth, R. Hunter, Jr., and N. P. Husted. Three hotels had cards in the Star; viz: Franklin House kept by A. King; Lowell House, by J. B. Chadwick; Garrison House, by Garrison and Gilman.

The village of Lowell then had less than half its present population. The Star says: "The township of Lowell in 1851 contained 62 voters only and has since increased to 360." At present the town contains over 800 voters.

The Republican and Democratic National, state and county tickets appear in this number of the Star; it was the celebrated Lincoln-Douglas campaign, so soon to be followed by a bloody war. Austin Blair headed the Republican state ticket for Governor, and John S. Barry was the Democratic nominee.

It may interest our readers to see the names of the men composing the county tickets. The Republican county ticket read as follows: For Senator, Solomon L. Withey; representative 2d Dist., S. S. Fallins; sheriff, S. S. Bailey; clerk, P. R. L. Pierce; treasurer, T. I. Daniels; register, John A. Stewart; probate judge, Wm. A. Robinson; pros. att'y., Thaddeus Whittier; coroners, D. W. Bliss, Solomon Whittier.

Democratic county ticket: For Senator, John T. Holmes; sheriff, Henry C. Smith; clerk, E. M. Doubleday; treasurer, J. H. Withey; register, John M. Mathewson; probate judge, R. P. Sinclair; pros. att'y., S. G. Champlin; circuit Com., H. A. Buck; coroners, W. Blumrick, John Davis.

Masonic resolutions on the death of Orlando J. Odell (who died Sept. 7, 1860) appeared in this number of the Star.

John B. Shear was president and M. N. Hine secretary of the "Young Men's Democratic Club of Lowell."

The "Lowell Wake Awaakes" were asked to rally for business and drill Friday eve.

White wheat was quoted 95c @ 1.01; red wheat 87 @ 90c; potatoes 15c per bu.; oats, 18c per bu.; corn 38c per bu.; hay $5 @ $6 per ton; flour $5 @ $6 per barrel; dressed pork $5 per cwt; dressed beef $3 @ $3.50.

The above are a few items from the first number of the Lowell Star—Sept. 12, 1860—more than 24 years ago. What has become of the editor, Mr. Spafford, we are unable to say. If any of our readers know will please inform us: The Star did not long survive. In 1865 the JOURNAL was established and will be twenty years old next July.

Note is the time to select your reading matter for 1885. We are prepared to offer such inducements to the public as will be appreciated. By special arrangement with the publisher of the "AMERICAN FARMER" we are enabled to furnish that excellent magazine and the JOURNAL both one year for $1.25, to all subscribers to the JOURNAL who pay in advance. This is a special offer for limited time only. Both papers for a trifle more than the price of one.

Old Masons.

Uncle Ira Nash of this village writes to the Grand Rapids Democrat as follows: Lowell, Mich., Dec. 27.—Dear Sir:—I notice in your issue of today, a claim that Uncle Harry Cean, 53 years a Mason, is the oldest Mason in this state. I was 80 years old last August. Was made a Mason in the spring of 1826, at the age of 21 years, at the village of Gilbertsville Otsego Co., N. Y., and in the fall of the same year was exalted in Unadilla Chapter, R. A. M., at Unadilla village, said county. Having been a Mason 58 years, I claim to be Uncle Harry 5 years, and think it possible I may have been a Mason about as long as any man living in the United States. Tell Uncle Harry as we have traveled the rough and rugged road for many years, have led the blind by the way they knew not, and made the crooked paths straight, so we shall soon be called hence to meet in that lodge above where all is peace.

From Kansas.

ED. JOURNAL.—Find enclosed one dollar to pay for the JOURNAL for 1885. Thanks for punctuality; I do not think we have missed a number the last year. It comes to our fireside as a welcome visitor from a far off country.

We are not tired of Kansas yet; after trying it two years we like it better the longer we stay. The country is settling up fast; farm property has nearly doubled in value since we came here. A farm of four hundred acres six miles from us was sold lately for fifteen thousand dollars. Kansas has a very large crop of wheat this year and the corn crop is simply immense. Shelled corn is only fifteen cents per bush; wheat forty cents; potatoes forty cents; butter and eggs twenty cents; hogs $3.50 per hundred, live weight, which is about equal to $5 per hundred dressed. So if we cannot get a fair price for corn we can feed it to cattle and hogs and they always bring a pretty good price.

Wishing you and all your numerous readers a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

I remain yours truly,
WM. R. BARBER.

Deaths.

DIED.—At the residence of her son-in-law, M. S. Richmond, in Vergennes, Kent Co., Mich., December 19, 1884, ELIZABETH LOBBS, widow of the late Elijah Bedford, having nearly completed her 94th year. The subject of this notice was born in Manchester, Nova Scotia, March 4, 1793, the day of Washington's second inauguration. She was united in marriage to Elijah Bedford, July 15, 1811, nearly three-quarters of a century ago. In 1827 she came with her husband to make a home in the U. S., settling in Whitehall, N. Y., where they were both converted and united with the Methodist Church. Nearly sixty-eight years they traveled life's journey together, then the faithful companion was called from her side to the promised land of rest. Six lonely, weary years she patiently waited the summons to join him. Life's work all done she was:

"Only waiting till the angels
Opened wide the pearly gate,
At whose portals long she lingered
Weary, worn and desolate."
As death drew near she recognized His presence and confidently saying "I am going to heaven now" passed to the beyond where "age and sorrow come no more."

DIED.—In Lowell, Sunday morning, Dec. 28, of heart disease, DR. ARVISE PECK, aged 65 years.

In the death of Dr. Peck Lowell loses one of its most prominent citizens, whose life has been an active and useful one. Coming to Lowell from Wayne County, N. Y., in 1854 he at once resumed the practice of his profession here, continuing in active and successful service as a physician in Lowell about 30 years. He enjoyed the confidence and respect of a wide circle of friends and will be greatly missed in this community. The funeral services occurred at the residence of Mrs. Peck on Monday afternoon; Rev. J. T. Husted officiating in the presence of many friends of the family.

DIED.—At his home in Vergennes, Sunday morning, Dec. 28, 1884, MR. MYRON J. KING, in his 71st year.

Mr. King was one of the early settlers here and was widely known as a man of energy, public spirit and generous impulses. The funeral services were held yesterday. Thus has passed away another pioneer to join the many who have gone before.
