LOWELL JOURNAL
BY JAS. W. HINE.

JOURNAL JOTTINGS.

N. B. Blain had a good time up north. Ionia is sadly afflicted with typhoid fever.

Miss Bessie West is resorting at Charlevoix.

Harvest money taken on subscription. Pay up.

Ort Hill arrived home last week. Will soon do Ohio.

J. S. Dougall and son have returned from the east.

Mrs. C. D. Pease is visiting friends at Grand Haven.

Miss Emma Cole has been visiting her numerous friends in Lowell.

Miss Nellie Bosworth is spending a brief season at Grand Ledge.

Dr. Malcolm and wife are expected home from the west this week.

Auction bills printed at this office in one hour after leaving the order.

The hail storm did damage to crops in Keene, Grattan, Vergennes and Ada.

One hundred exchange papers for 25 cts. at the JOURNAL office. Closing out.

Rev. J. W. Davids and wife are attending camp meeting at Ionia this week.

Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Sayles, of Evart, have been visiting friends in Lowell and vicinity.

R. C. Sessions of Grand Rapids will probably return to his farm in Gaines this fall.

Freepport wants a railroad and ought to have one. And will have one, too, some day.

Mr. Lewis Bolter has bought the John Coppens house and lot just north of Orton Hill's.

The Misses Tolford of Grand Rapids were guests of the Misses Booth of Lowell last week.

Harvest picnic at Morrison Lake Aug. 19. Good time guaranteed to the multitude present.

Mrs. J. H. Wood and Miss Maud Whitfield arrived here from the west last Saturday.

Miss Libbie C. Walsh, from New York City, is visiting with Miss Fannie Lane of this village.

Marks engages space this week for a new adv. which he will have ready for publication soon.

Mark Twain thinks the Grant family will realize $500,000 from the sale of the late General's book.

So much wet weather lately farmers complain that wheat in stack has been damaged somewhat.

Clyde Weatherwax has been visiting Lowell friends. His home now is in Washington Territory.

Col. Mesmore and Lloyd Brezee had a lively set-to Saturday in Grand Rapids. Nobody killed on both sides.

Mr. A. W. Slayton of Whitehall called on the JOURNAL Monday. He offers a valuable farm for sale. See notice.

No grander eulogy on Gen. Grant has been spoken than that pronounced by that grand statesman—James G. Blaine.

Our Otisco correspondent is welcome. The news from that vicinity we trust will hereafter be found in the JOURNAL.

T. E. Powell succeeds his father as editor and publisher of the Stanton Herald. The son sensibly salutes the public.

John Coppens will soon return to Kansas with the intention of remaining there. His wife will follow him as soon as he locates.

Thursday afternoon Miss Orinda Barkley gave a picnic supper at Cheetham's grove to a company of friends. A very pleasant affair.

The excellent memorial address by Rev. J. T. Husted appears in this number of the JOURNAL. Extra copies for sale at this office.

A. B. Cheney is writing a "continued story" for the Grand Rapids Post. As a fiction writer we see no reason why he should not succeed.

The JOURNAL has several subscribers in Canada who will please bear in mind that there is five per cent discount here on Canada currency.

The Agricultural College commencement week opens Aug. 16 and closes Aug. 20. A captivating program is offered—several banquets announced.

Breeze's Herald and the Grand Rapids Democrat have crossed pens. Happily, that which flows from the wounds is more ink than blood. Let us have peace.

The Nickel Society propose to give an entertainment at Music Hall one week from next Tuesday evening—Aug. 25th. See announcement in JOURNAL next week.

F. Homer Hosford, of the Detroit Free Press, is climbing the genealogical tree of the Hosford family and will put his findings in book form. Homer can do it well.

Chas. Buttrick of Cascade was called to Victor Mills, N. Y. Monday by a telegram announcing that his wife had been thrown from a buggy and seriously injured.

All men interested in fishing, and the protection of fish, are requested to meet with the Lowell Fishing Club at E. W. Dodge's office on Friday evening of this week.

After stopping about five weeks in Lowell with Mrs. J. T. Noyes and family, Miss Libbie Howland continued her visiting tour last Thursday by going to Inlay City.

Nathan Church of the Grand Rapids Times is in Gotham, writing sparkling letters for his paper and smoking cheroots with the literary cut-throats of that wicked city.

The remains of the great soldier were placed in his Riverside tomb last Saturday. It was the largest funeral that ever occurred in this country. "Peace to his ashes."

To-day at Orchard Lake the champions—Hanlan and Lee—row a two-mile boat race for $500. The D. G. H. & M. Railway give low rates, the round trip from Lowell being $2.75.

Fred Stone came down town Friday morning with a smile on his face weighing 34 lbs. The girl weighed 94 lbs. and her pa passed around straight ten-centers in honor of the event.

Many interesting items do not find their way into the public prints simply because the editor does not come into possession of them. Bear this in mind and leave your items with the editor.

An exchange hits the truant school boy as follows: "He hates his book and hates his book." Ah, but that isn't all. The teacher waltzes out and hooks his bait, and does not even spare the rod.

The Three Rivers Tribune has opened its eighth volume. The Tribune is ably edited. We never throw it aside without mentally observing that L. K. Evans is an editorial writer of marked ability.

The Harvest Party will occur at the Lowell Rink Thursday night, Aug. 29, instead of Aug. 14th, the date having been changed so as not to conflict with the parties to be given at Freepport and Ada.

John Tate, of Concordia, Kansas, formerly of Lowell, has been in Grand Rapids for some weeks, receiving medical treatment. He has a bad throat and it is feared the disease is a cancer, although the physicians do not say it is.

The G. R. Democrat has interviewed Mr. Comstock again. Mr. Comstock says he thinks the President is striving hard to do his duty and means to make only the best appointments. There is much humor in the situation, if not in Mr. Comstock's pathetic remarks.

The next meeting of the W. C. T. U. of Campbell will be held at the residence of Mrs. Shanks, Aug. 27. Literary exercises in the afternoon. All members are requested to be present and ladies wishing to visit the Union will be welcome. Sec'y.

When a dude gets married what does he become? Why, he, of course, becomes subdued. This vile conundrum was thrust into our face by a licensed man-slayer from the Michigan University. Take away his remains from the pavement below our office window.

The death of a brave and gallant officer of the regular army—Capt. O. B. Boyd—is announced. He died in New Mexico July 23. The New York Herald pays a glowing tribute to his memory, and the editor of the JOURNAL, who was his school mate in early boyhood, can testify to his brilliancy of mind and bravery of heart.

After a protracted illness, Dr. Amos Chase, of Ada, died Sunday night, Aug. 9. The deceased was widely known as a most estimable citizen and successful physician. The funeral takes place at one o'clock this afternoon from the family residence, Rev. D. L. Eaton of this village officiating. The deceased was a brother of Mr. L. F. Chase of Lowell.

Some folks find fault because Davey Waters of the G. R. Leader, after failing to get the Grand Haven custom house, made a bold push for the U. S. Marshalship, notwithstanding the fact that he had previously endorsed Major Kelsey's application for that position. A. Ward's Kangaroo didn't begin to furnish the amusement that is now offered by Waters' antics.

The Lowell Manufacturing Company are building a large addition to their main building and their new building on King's Island is rapidly progressing. Mr. Chamberlain informs us that the Company will soon be ready to commence operations and from appearances we judge they are prepared to do an extensive business. We certainly wish the Company success and a large amount of it.

Parties sending abroad for visiting cards frequently lose both their money and cards. Many slide concerns, that offer to print 50 cards for 10 cents, get the dimes and never intend to print the cards. They make money, though, and there are always people enough who like to be swindled to keep these snide concerns alive. Some of these concerns change their firm name about once a month in order to avoid exposure.

The leading afternoon paper in New York City now is The Mail and Express. Its proprietor has recently purchased $60,000 worth of new material, including two of the finest presses in the world, capable of throwing off 1,000 papers per minute, or 60,000 per hour. The Mail and Express is a model of typographical excellence and is edited with marked ability. It has brains and wealth behind it and a start ahead that means no going back.

Bowne brevities: Norman Chapel has gone to Wisconsin... F. L. Colson has removed to Alaska... Wheat yields 35 bushels per acre, and upwards... Mrs. Headworth contemplates moving to Lowell... Levi Blough will build a new house... Jas. H. Goggins is agent for Gen. Grant's book... John Studt Jr. goes to Dakota... The hail storm didn't strike Bowne... The Loganites want telephonic connection with Lowell and Freepport.

Elizabeth Ellison died Aug. 7th; born May 28th 1817, in New York State. Was the mother of eight children, four of whom are living; one a professor of religion. The deceased was converted in early youth and joined the M. E. church, but for a number of years has not been connected with any church, yet she has served her Savior. Her funeral was held in the M. E. Church Sunday at 3 o'clock. REV. J. W. DAVIDS officiating. COM.

The LOWELL JOURNAL gets the job of printing the delinquent tax list this year. The mercury would be congealed when Jimmy Hine fails to get a soft job intended for the relief of a sickly Republican organ. He much prefers the delinquent tax list to his list of wood subscribers for a cold day.—Grand Rapids Leader.

Thank you, David, Goliath no more. The JOURNAL has no list of "wood subscribers." We pay cash for wood and take cash on subscriptions. How's your liver, David?

The following item is going the rounds or the state press: "A distressing accident happened to L. C. Tilford, near Litchfield, Hillsdale county on Monday. Tilford was a horse trainer who recently went from Lowell. He was driving one horse and leading another when both were frightened at some cattle and jumped. The halter of the horse led became looped around his thumb and the thumb was torn out pulling with it about six inches of the cords and muscles."

Professor Thomas Edison, Professor Gilliland, of Indianapolis, and a number of prominent electricians and inventors of the country, visit Milwaukee this week to witness the test of an invention which promises to revolutionize the train dispatching system now in vogue. The arrangement is one whereby the train dispatcher is in constant communication with the trainmen as they are moving along on their regular run. A car for use in the test has been fitted out under the direction of Professor Hawkins, of Milwaukee.

We regret to learn that our esteemed Grattan correspondent, "Maud," was recently thrown from a buggy and seriously injured. The accident occurred while she and her husband were driving to Greenville. The horse became frightened and ran away, throwing out the occupants, injuring the left hip of Mrs. Lessiter very badly. She was taken to a house near by (Mr. DeBrees) where she is still remaining, unable to be moved. "Maud" has the sympathy of a host of warm friends who hope her recovery may be speedy and sure.

The banquet tendered by Mr. & Mrs. Medler to Rickert's Band Wednesday evening was a delightful affair. Covers were laid for seventeen and the tables were laden with the choicest and most palatable products of Mrs. M's sideboard, which is equivalent to saying "not to be excelled." Beautiful table and dress bouquets were tastefully arranged and the company whispered many sly compliments while enjoying the feast. The band played some of their finest selections and after a social visit of a long hour the company left their kindest wishes and adieux with the worthy host and hostess.

Israel Smith, of Grandville, died Thursday morning, aged 75 years. The deceased is the old man who was visited at his home, near Grandville, one night last winter, by Madden, Jennings and Sligh, notorious desperadoes of Grand Rapids, who dragged him from his bed, gagged him, tied him to a bed post and then robbed him of quite a sum of money which he had hoarded up and hidden away about the house. After securing the money, they left him standing, tied to the bed, dressed only in a shirt, with the cold air from the open door blowing on him. When found the next morning he was nearly dead and never fully recovered from the effects of his treatment.

While farmers are not receiving a high price per bushel for wheat this season they are nevertheless realizing more from their crop than they have done in some previous seasons when the price was better than it is now. The yield this year is much above the average and figuring the proceeds in cash per acre instead of per bushel, simply, the revenue therefrom is not bad. Compared with last year's crop and prices the present year's crop and prices are very good indeed. For instance: From Aug. 1, 1884 to Aug. 1, 1885, Wisner Bros. of this village bought of farmers 135,000 bushels of wheat at an average price of 77 8-100 cts. per bushel. The yield this year is much better than it was last year and the present price, 85 to 87 cts. makes the income much greater.

Messrs. Peckham, Roush, Yarger and Finch of Freepport were here Monday in the interest of a proposed telephone line from Freepport to Lowell. The enterprising citizens of their town have subscribed $250 to the project, the amount named by Mr. Taft as sufficient for them to raise. While it is understood that the Telephone Company is not constructing new lines at present it is to be hoped that the Company may be prevailed upon to look with favor upon this project. There are objections to an "independent line," it seems, that cannot well be overcome. We believe if the matter was fully presented to the Company by a joint committee of citizens from Freepport, Bowne and Lowell that the Company would put up this line. Telephonic connection with Freepport and Bowne is desirable and Lowell should not be behind its neighbors in trying to secure it.

The Ionia Standard (Dem.) thinks "now is the time to kick." It thinks so because David R. Waters, of the Grand Rapids Leader, is so hungry for official position. The Standard objects to his receiving an appointment and says "there is something lacking in the makeup of his spinal column which seems to prove fatal to his administration of an important office." The Standard says further:

"Mr. Waters was for two years warden of the state house of correction in this city, the most important state office in western Michigan. His management of that institution was such that there were some people, but not to either Democrat or Greenbackers in Ionia county. These facts sound harsh in cold type, but it is occasionally useful to tell the whole truth."

This is no news to the JOURNAL. But we reckon the Standard has not told the whole truth yet. The JOURNAL was given the "inside" of Warden Waters' administration at Ionia, by a man connected with the S. H. of C. under Waters who wanted the JOURNAL to publish what he stated to be the facts in the case. We declined to do so because, (1st) we were not then in position to know absolutely that his statements could all be substantiated and (2d), notwithstanding Mr. Waters, in the campaign of '82, abused and vilified us to the best of his ability (which was always quoted at par), we had no desire to retaliate simply because an excellent opportunity was offered. We take no special delight in sitting down upon a man so thoroughly sat down upon as is Mr. Waters at the present time, by so many men of his own fusion party. If there is anything we can do for you, David, let us know.

Meeting of the Lowell Fishing Club.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of THE LOWELL FISHING CLUB will be held at the office of E. W. Dodge, Esq. on Friday evening, Aug. 14th at 8 o'clock. It is expected that every member will be present, and all others who feel an interest in planting the streams near Lowell with Speckled Trout, are invited to be present and join the Club. Dated Lowell, Aug. 10 1885. JAS. W. HINE Pres. FRANK T. KING, Sec'y.

Resolutions

ADOPTED BY THE FIRST CLASS OF THE M. E. CHURCH UPON THE DEATH OF SISTER ELIZA SAYLES, AUG. 9, 1885.

WHEREAS, The ranks of our class have been broken by the death of our esteemed Sister and

WHEREAS, Her cheerful disposition and christian life have endeared her to the christian people of our village, therefore,

Resolved, That while we humbly accept the decree of our loving Father, we are deeply grieved because of our loss.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy and condolence to Father Sayles, and relatives and friends of the deceased sister in this hour of deep affliction.

S. HOAG, Class Leader, J. W. DAVIDS, Pastor.

J. B. Yeter wishes to make an assertion, which he can back with a positive guarantee. It is all about Ayer's Blood Elixir. He claims for it superior merits over all other remedies of its kind, and guarantees for it a positive and sure cure for Rheumatism, Syphilis, and all blood disorders. It frees the skin from spots and disease, and leaves the complexion clear. Ask him about it.
