EDITORIAL COMMENT.

—Yielding to the entreaties of his friends, President Cleveland did not attend the funeral of the late Vice President. It was urged that he ought not to expose himself to the perils incident to railroad travel at this time, and it was no doubt wise for him to remain at Washington. There it is sincerely hoped he may remain in security to the close of his term. It is hoped that no Gaiteau or other crank may gain access to his presence. Good men of all parties most earnestly hope that the President's life will be spared to fulfill his mission as the nation's executive head. It is to be deplored that his late associate has been removed by death. The people having chosen them to administer the affairs of Government for a term of four years, it was hoped that no interposition would come to prevent the perfect fulfillment of their mission. The absence of any law of succession makes the situation extremely embarrassing. Should the President die before the close of his term there would follow great confusion. The United States Senate being Republican, its president pro tem. and the acting Vice President will be a Republican. No true Republican desires to see a Republican succeed to the Presidency except in the regular way—by the voice and votes of the people.

—The death of Vice President Hendricks makes it necessary for the Senate to elect a presiding officer. The president pro tem. to be chosen will be acting Vice President. For president pro tem. the names of Senators Edmunds, Sherman and Logan are most conspicuous. Let the choice be Senator Edmunds. He has filled the chair most acceptably and Logan and Sherman are needed on the floor of the Senate.

JOURNAL JOTTINGS.

Wheat 83 and 84 cents.
Rickert's band plays at the rink tomorrow night.

The W. C. T. U. column is necessarily omitted this week.
The Peck-a-boo Club's third party will be a New Year party.

Mr. & Mrs. A. B. Mason of Grand Rapids are visiting Lowell friends.

Mark Twain was 50 years old last Monday. He writes "like 60."

Miss Nettie Styles of Ewart is in town to remain until after the holiday season.

Miss Flora Spooner, of Cedar Springs, was a recent visitor at Col. Sunderland's. A new switch board and other improvements are seen at the central telephone office.

Misses Nellie and Josie Harmon of Grand Rapids were recent visitors in Lowell.

Whispered that Miss Metta Rice of Grand Rapids will wed a fine young man Dec. 23.

The Rochester lamp beats all other lamps. Call at the store of H. B. Church and see it shine.

Call at H. B. Church's store and see the celebrated Rochester lamp. It is just what you want.

Messrs. Herbert Searles of Kansas and Gale Searles of Middleville were recent visitors at J. C. Scott's.

The Kent county teachers' association will hold a meeting at Sparta tomorrow. A good program announced.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Chapman Friday, Dec. 11, at half past two, standard time. By order of Com.

A marked improvement is seen in the telegraphic and general news columns of the Grand Rapids Eagle. That's what.

The M. E. Social will be held at Mrs. D. Oliver's Wed. Eve., Dec. 9. All invited to attend.

The young ladies class in modern literature will meet this Saturday with Miss Kittie Mason at 2 1/2 o'clock P. M.

L. W. Davis has retired as "mine host" from the Davis House. M. C. Barber is performing the duties of host for the present.

A. V. Pfister, late owner of the Hubbardston Advertiser, has sued the Lyons Herald for $1,000 for defamation of character.

Howard, Pease & Co's small adv., on the second page of the JOURNAL, will not be overlooked. They offer bargains to the public.

C. E. Resequie is Ludington's new postmaster. The President had to go outside the dictionary of proper names to find his man.

That a new passenger depot here is a necessity is apparent to every one familiar with the present very unsatisfactory accommodations.

Last Monday was the last day of the present year on which to legally shoot deer in the Lower Peninsula of this state. Call off your dogs.

Word has been received that G. W. Sampson and family who moved from Kalamazoo to Arizona last spring were all murdered by Indians a short time ago.

Grand Rapids is trying to induce the Connecticut Clock Manufacturing Company to locate their works in the Valley City. This company was recently organized with a capital stock of $250,000.

Mrs. J. C. Scott and Emma Searles started for DeLand, Fla. last Monday in company with Mr. and Mrs. P. Johnson of Alpine.

The city marshal of Grand Rapids was recently arrested for being drunk and disorderly. How is that for a guardian of the public peace?

Ben Soules has been building a feed mill on his land opposite Mrs. Jno. Shear's. Will be ready to do custom work in a few days.

Dwight Blakeney of Courtland township has been arrested, charged with stealing wheat from Chas. Becker and James Trask of Grattan.

Sarah Bernhardt fainted twice in a Paris theater Sunday night. There must have been a remarkably fine looking fellow standing by her side.

Jennie L. Gibbs of Grand Haven will meet the W. R. C. No. 49, for the work of inspection, Wednesday, Dec. 9, at 2 o'clock sharp at the Post rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Quick returned Monday from a three weeks' trip west, accompanied by Miss Cora Belden of Iowa who will spend the winter here.

Friday morning, Nov. 27, a Thanksgiving boy arrived at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Buck; a few hours later, but just as thankfully received.

Capt. John A. Elder of Lansing has been appointed special examiner of pensions. He has been a Republican, Democrat, Greenbacker, Fusionist and is now happy.

For most gracious compliments bestowed upon our unworthy self, by Farmer Reynolds of the Wolverine Cyclone, we are truly grateful. Praise from Sir Cyclone is praise indeed.

Silas K. Remington of So. Boston has sold his farm in Missouri and purchased a farm in Kansas. He offers to bet ten to one that Kansas is a good state to live in and will go there and find out.

Mr. W. W. Hatch, who recently sold his Dupree farm to Mr. Geo. Force of Morley, taking a stock of goods in the transaction is now at Morley. The family will move there in a few weeks.

Little Minnie Wright, about 9 years old, daughter of F. C. Wright of this town, is said to be a very brilliant musical genius. She plays the organ beautifully and reads difficult music readily.

J. M. Ragan and John Seifert of Grand Rapids have begun action against the D. G. H. & M. Railway Company, the former claiming $10,000 and the latter $15,000 damages for injuries received as brakemen.

Fred B. Hine intends to go to Kansas on or about Jan. 1. Dr. Malcolm will probably go at the same time. It is their intention to engage in the loan and real estate business there, in some growing and promising town.

Fred S. Clark, late business manager of the Grand Rapids Times, has accepted the superintendency of the Grand Rapids Electric Light and Power Co. Fred is full of push and will do well at anything he undertakes.

The State Grand jury will meet in Grand Rapids on Tuesday, Dec. 8, and continue its sessions until Friday evening of the same week. It will undoubtedly be an important meeting. The daily sessions will be held in Armony Hall on Ionia street.

We announce the Alba Heywood combination at Music Hall for Friday and Saturday Dec. 4 and 5. He comes highly spoken of by both press and public and is giving a first class entertainment in every respect. See photos at post-office where reserved seats are sold without extra charge. Admission 25.

Charley Woodruff, of the Ypsilanti Sentinel, banged away at the roller skating rink for two years, vainly endeavoring to wipe it out. He then put on skates and tried to scare the skaters to death but only succeeded in breaking one of his own arms. Charley has let out the job of annihilation to Father Time.

Grand Rapids Telegram: We have been favored for the last two nights with a grand entertainment by the Alba Heywood combination in their impersonations and musical specialties. They played to good houses and we bespeak for them crowded houses wherever they may go. They are deserving of liberal patronage.

The rink is being ceiled overhead and made comfortable for the winter. It will be lighted with gasoline, and in a few days the management will pass into the hands of Rickert's orchestra. Under their direction and management the rink will remain a very popular resort. Rickert's orchestra will furnish the music at all times, and will also play to-morrow night.

The pound social at S. W. Taylor's last Wednesday evening was a very pleasant affair. After refreshments had been served to the large company present, M. C. Barber, in behalf of the company, presented the articles brought to Rev. Mr. Powell, who thanked the friends for their appreciation of his wants and expressed himself as not altogether sorry for the "pounding."

A party of deer hunters, consisting of C. Francisco, J. H. Andrews, Joe Richmond, of Vergennes, H. Watkins, of Grattan, and J. H. Ward, of Ada, returned last week from a few days' hunt in Missaukee county where they had excellent luck. They killed twelve deer and wounded—but did not capture—a very large bear. The boys had a good time and we don't blame them a bit.

A Christmas Ball will be given at Train's Hall, on Thursday evening Dec. 24, to which the public are cordially invited. Floor committee, Henry Mitchell, John S. Hooker, J. C. Moore, A. K. Lamb. Music by Howe and Kellogg's band of five instruments. Bill, including dance number, use of Train's hotel, meat and oyster supper, and horses to hay, $1.50 per couple. P. Kelly, proprietor.

Last Friday was Harry Brown's 21st birthday. Harry is a Grand Rapids boy. The mere statement of the fact that Harry is 21 years of age is not especially surprising. He couldn't help it. But the fact that on that day when he became "of age" his guardian turned over to him about $60,000 worth of property is perhaps worthy of mention. Time will prove whether Harry still needs a guardian or not. Our address is Lowell, Harry, if you do.

Lowell takes the lead as a shipping point on the D. G. H. & M. And the coming year will show a great increase of shipping from Lowell over that of previous years. Let the Railroad company give us a new passenger depot and low freight rates in return for our patronage which is so profitable to the company. The time may come when the Railroad Co. may deem it advantageous to run a track from the depot to the village for the accommodation of shippers.

Capt. E. M. Allen, of Portland, will deliver his popular lecture on "THE BRIGHT SIDE OF ARMY LIFE," at Music Hall, in Lowell, on Friday evening Dec. 11th. Admission only TEN CENTS. He comes under the auspices of Joseph Wilson Post No. 87, G. A. R. After the lecture the G. A. R. and invited guests will enjoy a supper and social at G. A. R. hall. Capt. Allen, it will be remembered, delivered a very fine Memorial Day oration here a year ago last May. He is an eloquent speaker and we bespeak for him a full house.

Speaking of the terrible certainty of the uncertainty of things reminds us of the following dispatch which we clip from a daily paper: There is no longer any doubt that the T. A. A. & N. N. Railroad has gobbled the Lansing, Alma & Mt. Pleasant road. The officials on being interviewed are very reticent and probably will be until it is decided where the connections will be made. In any event it will very materially change the course of traffic among these towns. One rumor is that the D. L. & N. will pull out of Ithaca and thus give the T. A. A. & N. M. Railroad full control of that place, and that the consideration therefor is that the T. A. A. & N. M. Railroad will abandon St. Louis and leave it to the D. L. & N. In this case the T. A. A. would run from Ithaca over the present route to Alma and hence up the Lamp road to Mt. Pleasant.

It is announced that an effort will soon be made to recruit a new Salvation Army corps here under the English or Gen. Booth regime. The corps which disbanded here some months ago belonged to the American army. It is to be hoped if a new corps is stationed here that it will be officered by men, or women, who will insist upon better discipline than was enforced here during the declining days of the former corps. We sincerely trust that the new corps will not imitate the foolish idea that noise is religion, or that nervous prostration is the power of God. The JOURNAL would not say anything to deter any man, woman or child from entering upon a better life, but it does hope for the sake of religion, and society, and the public generally, that the usual pyrotechnic and gymnastic features of the daily performance may be eliminated from the army's manual here. And this, we feel assured, is the sentiment of the good people of this community.

Look-Rickert.
Married, at the residence of the bride's parents Thursday evening, Dec. 3, 1885, Mr. Dexter Gardner Look and Miss Evelyn Rickert, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. W. B. Rickert, all of this village; the Rev. J. T. Husted officiating. Mr. J. H. Rickert was best man and Miss Lou Treglow best lady. The ceremony was very pleasantly performed in the presence of about forty friends, after which a delightful feast was served. The presents were numerous and beautiful. The young couple are very popular and deservedly so. May their pathway through life be the very one they would again take if at the end of fifty years they were to go back and begin again.

More Light Needed.
The old way was good but the new way is better. THE ROCHESTER ELECTRIC LAMP is the wonder of the world!—65 candle power! THE ROCHESTER LAMP is non explosive and produces a light never before equaled. Its construction is simple and durable. It does not get hot like other lamps and is perfectly safe. Ladies are especially invited to call and see the lamps at H. B. Church's boot and shoe store, Train's Hall Block, Lowell.

Go to the City Bakery for first-class meals: 25 cts.

Don't buy stale candies when you can get them fresh every day at Rickert's.

Rev. D. O. Ball on "Third Party."

EDITOR LOWELL JOURNAL.—Dear Sir, Several writers of note in the "third party" ("third") may indicate their rank as "reformers" are beginning to be nervous about the name "prohibitory". I wonder if they do begin to comprehend that to negative a wrong simply furnishes no food for a hungry soul, or life forces to run a government. The name they now suggest is "National Reform Party." Is it true that the hearts of these men are better than their heads? and after all they are sighing for the bread in their "Father's house"? May we not hope they will yet see that every great reform has its parentage and has a legitimate birth? Have we not a "National Reform Party" born out of due time? Where are the great reformers the Sacramental hosts of God's elect who have grown gray in the work, borne the burden and heat of the day and as truly laid down their lives for their country's weal as those who fell in battle for civil liberty? Have these never been attached to the work of reform? True, they did not elevate themselves upon some fancied pinnacle and cry to the multitude below to come up and be taught. They did not spend their strength in vain attempts to create a world. They had a more scriptural view of their mission, in a world already created and peopled with moral beings susceptible of responding to holy influences placed before them as moral agents. Reform is possible to moral agents as moral agents. And this must not be overlooked in our work as "reformers." Every moral reform is bigger than any political party. None ever yet comprehended the dignity of the work as such and none ever will. The prerogative of a reformer is above party, and his "weapons are not carnal." If you call American slavery a moral evil, it was put down by no political party as such. A people united for the life of a nation struck it down to save and perpetuate that life. As the greater includes the lesser so it was in the line of duty to destroy the one to save the other; but, mark, the salvation of the nation was the supreme work, the filling with holy enthusiasm and heroism crowded out the evil so that there was no vacuum left—no sighing for the restoration of what had been destroyed. This is the grand march of christian civilization. It crowds out the evil by substituting the good and leaves no void. The sun in his rising dispels the darkness by infusing his light. To prohibit, simply, has no moral significance. You must have active goodness or you have not touched a moral question for the weal of man, hence the fallacy of organizing a separate political party to reach one single department of moral reform. To divide and classify sin may be the work of one competent to judge of its enormity and fix the degrees of penalty; but for a political party to specify one particular form of vice and declare itself opposed to it, making that the main plank in its platform, is to publish its inability to grapple with life forces, maintain the liberties of a people notwithstanding the impediments that the "rum power" or any other obstruction to good government may interpose. That the open saloon and gambling halls are an unmitigated nuisance is not questioned by good men of all parties. That there is inherent power in any government worthy the name to declare them such remove, impose penalties, and treat them as every other obstruction to good government, I firmly believe, and such I understand to be the attitude of the party through whose instrumentality a LINCOLN and a GARFIELD were exalted to be, not presidents of a party, but of a nation. D. O. BALL, Albion, Mich.

STARTLING EXPERIENCE.
Next to scarlet fever, there is no disease among children more dreaded by parents than whooping cough. It is liable to come at all seasons of the year; it exhausts the strength of the little ones, and physicians are often unable to check it. Mr. F. W. Harbaugh of the Telegram, Baltimore, Maryland, had six of his children, aged from six to thirteen years, prostrated with this malady at one and the same time. A complete cure was, however, effected by Red Star Cough Cure; and Mr. Harbaugh writes that the cough, which generally lasts nine weeks, left in four weeks, and he is confident it would have disappeared sooner if he had been aware of the existence of such an invaluable remedy.

LESSONS IN PAINTING.
Miss Mattie Althen of this village has decided to give instruction in oil painting and will be pleased to meet at her home all those who desire to take lessons in the art. Terms reasonable. She will also take orders for holiday work at reasonable prices. Orders may be left at C. Alth's store or residence.

Guatemala has no many manufacturers. Yet the samples of harness and saddlery, of table wear, and of boots and shoes, speak well of them.

Our educators will be gratified by the exhibit of writing and drawing by the school-children in the Department of Verapaz. Free public-schools are solidly established in Guatemala.

On the Exposition Boulevard, near the Prytania street entrance, visitors will find the Elite Restaurant.—Mrs. C. C. Morehouse, proprietress,—a first class institution, with good cooking, polite attendance, with moderate prices.

There are scores of persons who are suffering from some form of blood disorder or skin disease, such as Scrofula, Boils, etc., etc.

Over 500 samples, sawed in small, flat slabs, of woods susceptible of varnish, for the use of furniture manufacturers, dyers, cabinet-makers, and art workers in wood.

Textile fibres and grasses, for manufacturers' uses are numerous. One of them is the "junk cane," out of the long threads of which, bleached, the Indians make a white hat equal to the Panama.

Among the manufactured starches is one made of the yucailla, a plant resembling the potato. Among the oils, one called chana is used in plants and is made from the despised chana berry.

There is another, and still another large invoice of these articles to arrive. I noticed the guaco plant, to cure snake bites; and plants to cure fever, liver diseases, etc.
