

HINE'S DOLLAR WEEKLY JOURNAL

One Dollar a Year.

Office in Train's Hall Block.

Three Cents Per Copy.

VOLUME XXI.

LOWELL, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1886.

NUMBER 34.

LOWELL JOURNAL BY JAS. W. HINE.

How to Do It. And Then Do It. All subscribers in arrears can easily learn the amount they owe us...

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The editor of the Grand Rapids Leader trembles in his boots lest the "workmen," to whom he is daily making demagogic appeals, shall turn to the Republican party...

The Republican party is entitled to the confidence and support of the workmen of this country; it has done all that has been done to ameliorate their condition...

The Blue and Gray will fight it out at Music Hall next week Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Go early and often.

Mr. Henry Willis, of Battle Creek, the noted octogenarian who has long labored to secure a survey for a canal across the southern part of this state...

And so it goes. This man says the standard silver dollar is not a clipped dollar; that it is a whole, all-wool-and-ayard-wide dollar...

The true Jeffersonian simplicity of President Cleveland oozed out some time ago. In refusing to give the senate information regarding removals, etc., he has placed himself upon a very high horse...

Another brave soldier gone. The death of Gen. Winfield S. Hancock, which occurred at his post on Governor's Island on Tuesday afternoon...

The political editor of the Grand Rapids Leader says he will pay no more attention to the Telegram's assaults on his "consistency and honesty as a politician."

JOURNAL JOTTINGS

"Blue and Gray." The express office building has been elevated. "Blue and Gray" at Music Hall...

Three buildings were burned at Howland City Saturday night. Mrs. B. W. King of Battle Creek is visiting Mrs. McKelvey.

The mild, spring weather this week has whipped the sleighing. To Mrs. H. T. M. Treglow, Sunday morning, Feb. 7th, a fine boy.

A. W. Hine is taking lessons in banking at the Lowell National Bank. Z. Howe's dancing school trips forth every Monday evening at Music Hall.

Wheat receipts in Lowell have been quite large for the past few days. Our buyers are paying 82 cts.

The next meeting of the Kent County teachers' association will be held in Grand Rapids Feb. 26 & 27.

Don M. Dickinson was in Grand Rapids Monday, but this edge of the state didn't seem to settle much.

Geo. L. Stone of Grand Rapids is in town. George is winning a fine reputation as a designer in architecture.

M. C. Barber, mine host of the Davis House, is building a large hotel barn on the corner east of Chandler Johnson's.

Hastings expects to put up $75,000 worth of business blocks this year. That look like faith, hope and prosperity.

In Grand Rapids boys are arrested for sliding down hill. The men who drive fast horses—well the officers let 'em slide.

The Elgin (Ill.) Advocate says: "Blue and Gray is a great improvement on that old and popular drama, the Union Spy."

The Blue and Gray will fight it out at Music Hall next week Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

Jackson Coon succeeds J. M. Spore as postmaster at Rockford. Some of the demagogues tried hard to tree that Coon but failed.

The next regular communication of Lowell Lodge, No. 90, F. & A. M. will occur on Tuesday evening, Feb. 16. Third degree work.

Miss Blanche Campbell, formerly of this place, now of Marshall, Mich., is suffering from a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

Sherman Reaser of N. Y. State has been visiting his brother-in-law, A. A. Hall of Lowell, whom he had not seen in 27 years until his arrival here.

All members of the Lowell Fishing Club are requested to meet at the office of E. W. Dodge Esq. next Monday evening, to transact important business.

Mr. James Blain, father of Mrs. J. Q. Look of this village, was here recently, returning to his home in N. Y. state last week, accompanied by Mr. J. Q. Look.

The Peek-a-boo Club's party last night was well attended by ladies and gentlemen in mask and fine costume. Grand Rapids was well represented.

Dr. A. E. DeWitt, of Ada, places his professional card in the JOURNAL. He is a graduate of the Michigan University, and is establishing a good practice in his new field.

The G. R. & L. railroad shops in Grand Rapids were badly damaged by fire Friday night. Total loss estimated at $40,000; insurance $11,000, on the burnt portion.

The Ada Rink Association will give a Washington's Birthday Party at the Ada Roller Rink, Monday evening, Feb. 22, and preparations for a grand time are being made.

We are requested by E. W. Dodge Esq. to say that he has made arrangements by which parties can be supplied with carp for planting in streams and ponds. Apply early.

The Rink will be open to-morrow evening with good music. Ladies will be admitted free. Tickets to gentlemen only 10 cents. Use of skates 10 cents. C. E. Bush, manager.

It is again asserted that the Rockford & Greenville railroad has again got the floor, and it is said the sale of $80,000 bonds which will be secured by the G. R. & I will make it a go.

Dr. White, of Jackson, a dentist of good repute, will locate in Lowell about the first of next month. His office will be with Dr. Tibbitts; the rooms lately occupied by Dr. J. H. Rickett. Dr. White is said to be a first-class dentist.

The Grand Rapids Telegram says: "Blue and Gray is much better written than the majority of military dramas, and excels in strong lines, clearly executed pictures and thrilling situations. It also abounds in the brightest of wit and humor."

Greenville has voted a bonus of $30,000 to the proposed Saginaw and Muskegon railroad. Which shows that Greenville doesn't think another railroad "will hurt the town."

road here we are liable to have a "cut-off" or two on one or two sides of us.

W. T. Adams, lecturer, sends notice that the next meeting of Kent County Grange will be held at Rockford, Feb. 17th; morning session to open at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Sherman T. Wilcox of Chicago, representing the Home Library Association of that city is in town. Mr. Wilcox will remain here a few days and will be pleased to exhibit sample books to all who will call on him at the Davis House and explain the object and plans of the Association.

Tom Kinnaird, the bully and bruiser, occasionally gets thumped out of time by insulted parties who make no pretensions as prize fighters.

Mr. N. A. Dunning of Mason, Ingham county, a gentleman widely known as the author of many able papers on the tariff question, is in town.

Editor George Seales, of the Plainwell (Mich.) Independent, packs a paragraph full of hard sense as follows: "We still occasionally find a subscriber who is so unreasonable as to expect us to furnish a local paper of the size of the Independent for $1.00 per year..."

Mr. Horace Noble was very unexpectedly visited by his relatives and friends last Monday evening; it being the occasion of his birth-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenuel Davis of Iowa are visiting at Mr. Morse's; also Mrs. Daniels of Iowa accompanied by Mr. Ben Morse's son.

Mr. Richard Harris' sister from N. Y. is spending a few weeks with relatives here.

Feb. 19th, the Lowell W. C. T. U. will hold their next regular meeting at the residence of Mrs. Albert Mount, 230, East Main.

The article last week showing who are entitled to bounties, occurred an error. We republish a correct statement below:

1. Men enlisting from March 6, 1863, to November 10, 1863 (both inclusive), in any Michigan regiment, company or battery, except the Tenth and Eleventh Cavalry, Thirteenth and Fourteenth Batteries, and First Colored infantry, entitled to $50 State bounty.

2. Men re-enlisting in their own regiments (after service of two years), from November 11, 1863, to February 4, 1864 (both inclusive), entitled to $50 State bounty.

3. Men enlisting or re-enlisting from February 5, 1864, to May 14, 1864 (both inclusive), in any regiment, company or battery, if applied on 200,000 call, and properly credited to the sub-district in which they resided at the time of enlistment, entitled to $100 State bounty.

4. Men enlisting from February 4, 1865, to April 14, 1865 (both inclusive), properly credited to sub-districts, entitled to $150 State bounty.

Two weeks ago the Alton Lyceum discussed the question of single vs. married life. For judges they had one married man and two old maids.

There are abuses of official influence in high places. There have been a number of infamous salary grabs. They are being perpetrated every day...

Excuse Waters. He isn't built that way. Besides, he is too busy now trying to pull the wool over the workmen's eyes. Didn't you know Waters was a hard-fisted laboring man?

ing: "What is Waters after now?" They smell a rodent. Even so sick a chap as Waters cannot fool the workmen, it seems.

This great war drama will be presented three nights next week at Music Hall—Wednesday, Thursday and Friday—under the auspices of Joseph Wilson Post, No. 87, G. A. R., by the author, Mr. C. H. Cobb, assisted by the best amateur talent of Lowell. It was recently presented at Powers Opera House in Grand Rapids—two nights and a matinee—where it drew large audiences and gave excellent satisfaction.

A very pleasant party at Gene Lee's Jan. 28, his birthday. Also fine presents, personals: W. H. Parker, wife and daughter Isadore visiting Campbell friends; Hod Holcomb recently at Mrs. Jno. Krums; W. Van Leuvan and wife of Ionia recently visited the Krums.

LOWELL JOURNAL.

JAS. W. HINE, PUBLISHER.

Lowell, Mich., FEB. 12, 1886.

Better late than never.

The "two elegant young bloods" so unceremoniously served up to the public in Morse Lake Ripples a few weeks ago, think it no more than right to explain, now that the laugh has subsided. It is true that on their return from a visit to Johnson's lumber camp they in imagination discovered a rabbit, but from the peculiar odor they were led to change their minds, but were very much mortified after visiting the saw mill and scaling those 2x4 inch logs to learn that they had insulted Ripples logging team. We beg Ripples' pardon and forgive him the smell. But for heaven's sake, Johnson, please corral those cattle; a few of them will go a great ways. Yours in affection, A. D. SAYLES AND A. S. JOHNSON.

A Complete Surprise.

Friday eve., Feb. 5th, will long be remembered by Clinton Wood and family of Cascade. 'Twas the 65th anniversary of his birth, and his children planned a surprise for him—and it was truly a surprise. At 7 o'clock all the children except Bert and wife of Chicago, and all the grandchildren, also Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and son, were gathered together round the cheerful fire, busily engaged in social intercourse, when DeRoy stepped from the room and returned bringing a large arm chair, at sight of which Mr. Wood's eyes were diffused with tears, and DeRoy, instead of delighting all present, as was expected, with an elegant speech, could only say from a heart almost too full for utterance—"Father, in behalf of your children here present, I present you this chair, hoping you may live to enjoy it thirty years." Mrs. Thomas then placed a nice tidy on the chair and Mr. Wood was requested to "try it." After being seated four little grandchildren, son and daughters of DeRoy Wood, gathered around him and sang the following very appropriate words, in voices so sweet and so dear that a thoroughly trained quartette might well be envious.

Welcome! welcome! one and all,
Old and young, great and small;
Here we meet to praise and pray:
This is grandpa's birthday.

God has spared us through the year,
And in mercy brings us here,
We will praise him while we may,
For this glorious birthday.

Here, 'mid singing birds and flowers,
And fresh wreaths from nature's bowers,
We unite both grave and gay,
To enjoy grandpa's birthday.

On the altar of our God,
Sprinkled with the Savior's blood,
Heart and mind and strength we lay,
On this sacred birthday.

And when our short race is run,
And life's work is all well done,
To each one may Jesus say,
"Welcome to Eternal Day."

After which Mr. Wood arose and said, in a voice choked with emotion, "Dear children: I thank you and am so glad you love me so well." His heart was full and more, but his tongue refused to do its office work. Mrs. Charlie Wood then by request sang "The Old Arm Chair," after which, as all eyes were suspiciously moist, 'twas requested that the little folks sing something jolly. They responded by singing a song of "Noah and his Animals."

This supper was announced and we gladly adjourned to the supper room—and such a supper! Well, the mystery remains, how so many chickens could be killed, so many cakes trimmed so beautifully and so many other good things prepared, and Mr. Wood not know it. Think the fact is self evident that the women can out wit the men. We had a jolly good time till 12 o'clock, then separated for our homes, hoping to celebrate many more anniversaries of Clinton Wood.

BROWN PAPER BASKETS.

How to Make a Nest and Serviceable Fruit and Flower Basket.

We will commence this paper by trying to describe a brown paper basket for giving away with flowers or fruit, which, to those who do not already know it, will be found very useful. It is well known that baskets do disappear in the most mysterious way, and when lent to friends or sent away with garden produce are scarcely ever returned. These paper baskets are made of the stoutest brown paper, folded double and kept in shape by the gird headed, double stomped pins, such as bills are kept together by or packets of patterns, which pass through the folded paper and are thus divided and flattened back on each side. Different sized baskets can be made, but we give the dimensions of a tolerably large and convenient one. Take a folded piece of stout brown paper, twenty-one inches long and sixteen inches broad, fold down the four edges inward to the depth of four inches; then double out the corners so that the points cross each other outside the ends of the basket; then fix these by running the pins through and dividing the points, turning them each way. The double stomped corners are of course the one troublesome part, and practice will make perfect; but we may perhaps simplify matters by explaining that the two ends of the basket are first folded toward the center, then the sides folded on them, then a deep crease is made toward the point of the corner, which runs between the others and forms a broad arrow. The four sides now stand up. Put the left hand inside and with the right pinch the paper into the center crease running into the corner. Having done this, hold up the two sides with the left hand and flatten the pinched corner toward the center of the side, the same with each corner. The handle is then folded four times to make it extra strong, and fastened to the sides by two more nails. It should be fifteen inches long and two and a half inches wide when folded in four. This is strong enough to carry a bunch or two of grapes, as well as flowers. Ornamental baskets can be made of cardboard, painted brown, and then covered with pieces of irregular cork, previously strung together on thread. The handle is composed of loosely plaited strings of cork, either three or four, kept down by stitches of brown cotton. The edge of the basket is done in much the same way, the rest being put on in plain or twisted rows. This is a capital way of using up old corks, and amuses children for hours. The basket is afterward lined with satin, plush or cashmere. Flower pot cases and boxes can be treated in the same way.—N. Y. Herald.

ASTONISHED PERSIANS.

How a Traveler Won the Friendship of Suspicious Baluchians.

Mr. Ernest Floyer, in his recently published travels through Persian Baluchistan—a comparatively unexplored region, bordering on the Gulf of Oman—relates how he surprised and astonished two natives. He was journeying through the country with a caravan of camels, and happened to be on foot alone, considerably in advance and out of sight of the rest. Suddenly he came upon two camel-drivers, to whom he presented an extraordinary apparition in preposterous and unsanctified clothing and with a thing on his head two feet in diameter.

Imagine the astonishment of those tall, slender fellows with their aquiline noses and curly black beards! They had never seen and possibly never heard of a Feringi (foreigner), but to them I was evidently, first, a human being, and secondly, unarmed.

I had, however, a note-book and prismatic compass, of which last I had previously experienced the effect; and as they came they took a run of bearings, and ended by fixing the leading man and ostentatiously making a note of him. This rather disconnected them, but, assuming great authority, I called them up. At being spoken to in Baluchi, they got fresh access of confidence, and, muttering to one another, grounded their guns close in front of me, and commenced a torrent of questions.

I waited quietly until there was a pause, and then said, in a slow and dignified manner: "Salaam alikum."

It took at once. Their self-respect and politeness were both touched. Their intense curiosity had led them into a serious breach of good manners. The one false step was irretrievable, and with the slightest politeness I could assume, I pursued my advantage and went through the entire salutation:

"Peace be with you."
"And on you be peace."
"You are welcome."
"May you be in safety."
"Are you well?"
"Is all your house well?"
"By God's kindness all is well."
"Give news."
"I have none; and am only interested in your good health."

We were just beginning it all over again, for it is impolite to be the first to stop, when the caravan horse in sight. As camel after camel came round the corner, each led by one of our jaunty fellows fully armed, the faces of my two horses went through a series of dissolving views expressive of the greatest astonishment.—Youth's Companion.

From Greenland comes the story that little hamlets occupied by the descendants of the Norsemen are in existence, and that they contain a happy and contented population, uninfluenced by the events passing in the outside world, and untroubled by politics or base ball. Centuries ago the coast of Greenland was the Danish fishing ground, and the country, which then boasted a less rigorous climate than that which it is credited now, was not deemed unfit for settlement. It is something to know that other than Esquimaux humanity is vegetating there.—Philadelphia P. ss.

The territory of the United States where hops are successfully grown is very limited. A radius of forty miles, with Cooperstown, Otsego County, as its center, forms more than half of such territory east of the Rockies, the only other places being three of the northwestern counties of New York, small portions of Vermont and Michigan, and parts of Wisconsin. On the Pacific Coast the production of hops has increased from fifteen thousand bales in 1880 to seventy thousand in 1884, there being about one hundred and seventy-eight pounds to the bale.—Troy Times.

In a quiet and altogether unobtrusive fashion the veteran pedestrian Spencer has completed the herculean task of walking six thousand miles in one hundred and ten days, thus entirely eclipsing the performance of the noisy, much-advertised Yankee, Weston. An obscure daily note in the columns of little read sporting papers is all that Spencer has had in the way of publicity while on his arduous journey; but until English business acquire the art of giving lectures and wearing picturesquely eccentric costumes they will not be in it, as money-makers, with their astuter, if less athletic, Yankee rivals.—London Truth.
