"What shall I do with the outside of my house?" is a question often asked by those who wish to paint. In exterior decoration, the surroundings should be taken into consideration, and the building treated in such a way as to harmonize as nearly as possible with them; especially should this be the case in suburban residences, as there is nothing that so effectively destroys the beauty of a landscape as to see a house painted in colors that are in discord with objects about it.

This subject has become so important, we have naturally taken a great interest in it and have given it no little study. We shall be pleased to answer any specific questions that may be addressed to us.

ATTENTION is called to the fact that nearly all other manufacturers of mixed paints are obliged to give a rate for the covering capacity of their paints, requiring from 15 to 25 per cent more than this, simply because THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT is properly made and of pure materials, and therefore admits of being rubbed out under the brush like any pure lead, zinc and oil paint, not requiring to be "flowed on," as the manufacturers of cheap paints direct their products to be used.

THE VETERANS PROTEST.

VEHEMENT OPPOSITION TO THE RETURN OF REBEL FLAGS.

Commander Fairchild's Remarks to the Grand Army at New York—Resolutions Denouncing the President's Action—Much Excitement Among Ohio Ex-Soldiers—The Order Revoked.

NEW YORK, June 16.—May God pity the hand that wrote the order! May God pity the brain that conceived, and may God pity the tongue that dictated it!

Grand Army veterans heard those words with bated breath and glanced at each other with awe as the terrible sentences rang out from the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic Wednesday night in Association hall at Herald's. The occasion was a reception tendered to the commander-in-chief by Alexander Hamilton post, No. 188, G. A. R. Veterans were present from every Grand Army post of the city and vicinity. Before the meeting opened it became known that Gen. Fairchild had received a letter from the adjutant general of the United States army stating that the president had approved the recommendation and the writer had been instructed by the adjutant general to return all the Confederate flags in the care of the department to the southern states from whose regiments the flags had been captured during the war of rebellion.

Gen. Fairchild entered the hall with stern features. Without hardly waiting for the usual courtesies, the one-armed leader burst forth with the expression received above. The general told of the news received by telegram that the president had approved of the return of the rebel flags, and how those flags had been won by the veterans of the Grand Army in open conflict with the enemies of the nation.

The veterans had placed their trophies in the care of the war department. They were intended, he said, to be kept in the archives of the nation as mementoes of the hard-won fields of battle. He continued: "How can the present loyal government of the southern states accept souvenirs of treason such trophies? After their professions of good faith, must they not return them to the secretary and say that they have nothing to do with the flags, as the rebel organizations are dead? Gen. Fairchild said that he had frequently listened to sentiments which caused him to bite his tongue in his effort to maintain self-control. In nine months past he had visited Grand Army posts in every state in the north, east and west. He had never in any post meeting heard anything but kindly feelings expressed toward the president who had looked into the gun-barrel of the northern troops of the war. As commander-in-chief he had tried to encourage this kindly feeling. Now this was changed. The time had come when he had to choose between resigning and protesting as a private citizen. But he was satisfied that 500,000 Grand Army veterans would resign and protest as a private citizen. He would resign and protest as a private citizen. He would resign and protest as a private citizen."

These remarks were received with shouts and cheers. They elicited Gen. Fairchild, late inspector general of the department of New York, under Gen. Ricketts, leaped to the platform and offered resolutions denouncing the president's action, which were adopted with a shout.

EXCITEMENT IN OHIO
Ex-Soldiers Protest Against the Return of the Rebel Flags.
COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 16.—The office of Governor Foraker presented Friday morning Wednesday by the local ex-soldiers, who called to express themselves in regard to the order of the president proposing the return of the rebel flags. In addition to those who were present, a number of telegrams all day from every part of the state, urging him to stand firm against the order and not allow any of them to be taken. One telegram suggests that it would be better to have the state house burned and the flags with it than to be disgraced. One of the telegrams which was forwarded was as follows:

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 15.—To Gen. H. V. Boss, Washington: Get the best legal advice, and if action can be maintained have appropriate law proceedings instituted to prevent the return of the rebel flags, especially those captured by Ohio troops. If this is not done, it will be a disgrace to our state to allow them to be returned to the rebel states. All expenses will be provided.

The dispatch is signed by J. H. Foraker, H. M. Bell, C. W. Walcott, P. W. Huntington, W. J. Cantel, George C. Nash, John C. Brown, David Lanning, C. D. Fineston, W. J. Elliott, G. M. Peters, A. S. Bushnell and W. O. Mills.

The order rescinded.
WASHINGTON CITY, June 16.—The excitement here over the proposed restoration of the rebel flags is subsiding now as rapidly as it fermented. Early in the day, after Adj. Gen. Drum's circular letter to the governors proffering the return of the flags became generally known, Gen. Grant's Republican men were in arms and were loud in their denunciation of the proposed restoration. The president was criticized harshly for approving the restoration of these trophies. Of course as the president heard of all this, and with commendable promptness looked into the matter and put an end to the excitement and the threatened legal proceedings in a quiet way, by directing the secretary of war not to restore the flags. Gen. Boynton's legal proceedings which he intended to open in the courts Friday afternoon, but which were unavailably delayed, will now be dropped.

The flames spread to the yard of the White Cedar company, causing a damage of $5,000. The lumber yard of J. H. Pearson & Co., was also damaged to the extent of about $10,000. All the above property was well insured.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS

Michigan Legislature.

LANSING, Mich., June 15.—The last option bill was reported to the senate Tuesday and made special order for Wednesday. The house was in session nearly all day and killed the bill for minority representation. The senate passed the appropriation of $51,000 for a new state normal school building and $50,000 for the fish commission. The senate killed the resolution for adjournment June 25.

LANSING, Mich., June 16.—The bill prohibiting the lynch mob in this state has passed both houses and is one of the most important measures ever drafted. The Marshall liquor bill was favorably reported to the senate Wednesday, which passed the bill by a vote of 18 to 10. It now goes to the governor. Large sums were made by the sale of liquor, and which has already passed the senate. It changes the penalty law considerably. The house also passed a bill to punish and prevent offenses against chastity.

LANSING, Mich., June 17.—The state senate spent all Thursday on the liquor tax bill. It was amended in a number of points: permitting dealers to secure nearly anywhere in the township, giving the treasurer 1 per cent of the tax for collecting and lowering the tax to $200. The house passed the senate bill in a number of amendments. It makes important changes in the law.

LANSING, Mich., June 18.—The senate passed the liquor tax bill Friday, there being but one vote in the negative—Barringer. The tax is $200 for retail and wholesale and $300 for wholesaling spirits and liquors. There is some doubt of the agreement of the house on the amendment. The senate then took up the bill to provide for the enforcement of the liquor law, and it failed to pass—15 to 16. A reconsideration was ordered, and the bill was passed. Making laws upon liquor, etc., for the relief of the Western Manufacturing company of Detroit, an oleomargarine company which was forced out of existence by a law afterward.

FIRED A BAPTIST CHURCH

And Charges That the Pastor Hired Him to Commit the Crime.
SHELLEYSVILLE, Ind., June 20.—The Bethel Baptist church, located north of here, was burned Saturday night, and the incendiary, Charles Cole, caught and jailed. He confessed and swore out an affidavit for the pastor, Rev. William Snapp, an accessory, who alleged that Rev. Snapp offered him $50 to burn the church. Cole says Snapp wanted the church burned because some of the members had charged him with adultery with one of his parishioners in the year 1884, which was unmarriageable, and son of John Cole, recently released from the penitentiary.

The Minister of Prussia.
ST. LOUIS, June 21.—A special telegram from Jefferson City to the Post-Dispatch says the state supreme court has given a decision in the Hugh M. Brooks, alias H. Lewis Maxwell case, which was the first of the trial court is affirmed. This is the celebrated case in which Brooks under the name of Maxwell was tried for the murder of Charles Arthur Frasier at the Southern hotel in St. Louis April 1884, which was "taken up to the supreme court on exception. Brooks' counsel will now, it is said, move for a rehearing of the case, and if this fails they will seek to get the case into the United States supreme court on constitutional points. The date of execution was fixed for July 12.

The Catholic churches throughout London will celebrate solemn masses of thanksgiving and prayers for the queen's welfare.

The cardinal is not aware, he says, that any tickets admitting them to the jubilee have been returned by the Irish clergymen, but he can attest that if any clergymen have returned tickets they are still loyal and loving subjects of the queen.

JUBILATING BRITISHERS.

A GREAT DAY IN THE CAREER OF ENGLAND'S QUEEN.

Her Jubilee Celebration Drawing the Attention of the World—An Exceptional Favor to the Healer of the President's Congratulatory—The Chorus of Rejoicing Follows the British Drum Beat—Buffalo Bill Has a Full Hand.

LONDON, June 21.—Jubilee celebrations were held Monday in all large centers by the various county corporations. This was done in order to enable the county officials to attend the great services in Westminster abbey. The programs throughout were similar to those observed in all thanksgiving services.

The ceremonies to take place in the abbey were privately rehearsed Monday. The jubilee anthem is a grand conception, and was carried through with absolute correctness. Thousands of persons thronged the streets at midnight.

The queen received Mr. Phelps, United States minister, at Buckingham palace, for the purpose of allowing him to present President Cleveland's jubilee congratulations. Mr. Phelps was accorded a private audience with her majesty. Mr. Phelps was attired in plain evening dress. The queen's demeanor was most cordial.

Minister Phelps in delivering President Cleveland's autograph sealed letter to her majesty was received in a small reception room and not in the one used on state occasions, and other than the queen and Mr. Phelps, only the duke of Connaught and Lord Salisbury were present. The queen, replying to Mr. Phelps, expressed her deep interest in the kind feeling that had always manifested toward her by the American people.

The private reception of diplomats on such occasions is almost unprecedented, but the American minister had expressed a desire through Lord Salisbury for such an audience, and the queen replied that it would afford her much pleasure to receive him privately for the presentation of the president's message. Later in the day other diplomats bearing the congratulations of the heads of their respective governments were received in the customary manner.

The address of British-born citizens of Boston, which is framed in oak and printed on cream-colored satin, was presented to the queen Monday. It was taken to one of the queen's private apartments Monday evening. Her majesty was much touched by the tokens, and read the ode with peculiar interest.

The Prince of Wales with his family and the Kings of Denmark, Greece and Sicily attended the Wilt West show Monday morning. The queen will confer a large number of the jubilee medals.

The list for 74 known persons, nine peers, two privy councilors, thirteen baronets, including Sir A. B. Borthwick, member of parliament from Kensington, who is already a knight, and thirty-five knights, among whom will be Mr. Henry Doulton, the porcelain manufacturer. The crown prince of Austria will be made a knight of the garter, and a large number of persons have been selected to bear the colors of the bath and of St. Michael and St. George.

There being no business on the stock exchange Monday, the market was a "jubilant" affair, and the closing of the day was attended by the exchange officials.

The Crown Prince Frederick William of Prussia, reviewed a body of school children at Sydenham, and was by them presented with an address of welcome. He made an apology through one of his attendants for not replying to the address, as he was unable to speak above a whisper.

A general jubilee holiday was observed at Madras Monday. At Wellington, New Zealand, Governor Seddon held a levee in honor of the queen's jubilee and reviewed a parade of the volunteer soldiers. General Estlinon presided throughout the island, in town and country, and the natives were kept up the celebration for three days. At Peterborough, Natal, the jubilee service will be held on Wednesday and 30,000 Kafirs will engage in a "joy dance" in the presence of the governor and his officials.

Bouides the multitude of Londoners who will turn out to do honor to the queen, it is estimated that at least a million strangers will be on the streets of London on Monday, and it is not at all improbable that many and almost certainly will occur in the crush, which will be a marvelous scene. Westminster abbey, has been put in readiness to receive an extraordinary number of patients and a special auxiliary staff of attendants, physicians and surgeons are already within its walls. The authorities are on the alert and every means for preventing accidents or robbing and taking care of the unfortunate is made available.

The rush for seats and standing room from which to view the procession was tremendous, and the few places left Monday night were held at fabulous prices. In respect of paying enormous sums for seats, windows and other advantageous positions, the biggest "gull" is the Cockney synonym for the American "ucker"—very Americans, many of whom paid $50 each for single balcony seats, and for the exclusive use of a balcony accommodating twenty persons $1,000.

Queen Kapolski's present to Queen Victoria, if not so costly as many of the offerings, was in its way as marvelous as some of the specimens of handiwork given by continental sovereigns. The gift consisted entirely of feather work of the most unique character, and is said by those who have seen the various portions comprising the collection to surpass in delicacy of workmanship and beauty of design anything of the kind ever seen here.

Regarding the statement that many Roman Catholics who had received tickets of admission to Westminster abbey had returned the same Cardinal Manning writes to the papers that any Catholic in the British service holding an office requiring his attendance upon the queen during the jubilee ceremonies must fulfill his duties, but this expression does not extend to others, not holding such offices, as commanding or acting against their inclinations. The Catholic churches throughout London will celebrate solemn masses of thanksgiving and prayers for the queen's welfare.

The cardinal is not aware, he says, that any tickets admitting them to the jubilee have been returned by the Irish clergymen, but he can attest that if any clergymen have returned tickets they are still loyal and loving subjects of the queen.

CHICAGO: The Queen thanks you and British people in Chicago for your kind telegram.

Jubilating in Michigan.

NEWAURE, June 21.—The celebration of the queen's jubilee at this place Monday was a great success in every particular. People of English birth from all parts of the country were in attendance. The mines in this vicinity for the most part had suspended operations. A long procession formed and paraded the principal streets. Religious services were held in the morning at the Episcopal church, after which the people repaired to the rink, where the day was spent in speech-making, music, English games of all kinds. The exercises were conducted by Royal Oak Lodge, Sons of St. George.

How Cork Celebrated.
CORK, June 21.—A few buildings and grounds were decorated and illuminated Monday night in honor of the queen's jubilee, and many others who would have made similar other displays were deterred through fear of attack. Their fears were well-founded, for an immense crowd marched to the illuminated houses and proceeded to smash the windows, men while cheering for Parnell and crying "To hell with the queen." The police charged upon the mob, but were met by valiant stones and with great difficulty cleared the street.

It is Feeling Over the Andrew Matter.
BOSTON, June 18.—President Scott, of the American college, is authority for the statement that the extraordinary and inexplicable decision of the Anderson board of visitors in the case of the accused professor Smith was not signed by him. The friends of Professor Smith are already in spirit talking of the decision as "a carefully-matched plot," a "jealous conspiracy," the outcome of the "malicious hate" of the "malicious hate."

Prize Money Offered by Professor E. D. Ward, of Park College, Detroit, for the name of a general chemist, who, it is alleged, have been following Professor Smith ever since he came to Andover. The feeling over the outcome of the investigation is bitter in the extreme.
