The losses on property are roughly atternoon Attorneys R. M. Wing, Daniel Donahoe and W. S. Forrest filed with the clerk of the criminal court a motion for a new trial in the cases of Dan Coughlin, Martin Burke, P. O'Sullivan and John Kunze, convicted of the murder of Dr. Cronin. The motion was filed in accordance with the order of Judge McConnell, before whom the arguments will be made Monday.

The motion is very long. It covers eleven typewritten pages and assigns thirty-nine causes of error in the rulings of Judge McConnell during the trial of the case. These grounds of alleged error embrace every point contested by the attorneys for the defense, and range from an objection to the court's overruling the motion to quash the indictments up to the assertion that the defense has, since the trial, fiscovered new evidence which the state of the church walls. FOURTEEN KILLED.

Error of a Drunken Boss Naar Louisville, Ky.

THE FATAL CAISSON.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 10.—The most appalling accident known here in many years occurred Thursday, evening about 6 o'clock, fourteen lives being lost. Fol-lowing is a list of the killed: William E. Haynes, John Kaox, James Mc-E. Haynes, John Knox, James McAdams, Frank Mahar, Pat Naylor, Thomas Ash, Monroe Bowling, Charles
Chiles, Thomas Johnson, Joseph Gordon, Hamilton Morris, Thomas Smith, Frank Soaper and Robert Tyler. The disaster was caused by the giving away of caisson No. 1 on the new bridge now being constructed between Louisville and Jeffersonville. The caisson was located about 103 yards from the Kentucky shore. tucky shore.

The engineer's theory of the accident, which is partially supported by facts obtained from the workmen who escaped, is that the foreman, who, it is alleged, ad been drinking, while attempting to educe the air pressure turned the valve reduce the air pressure turned the valve of the supply pipe too far and the pres-sure on the interior of the calsson be-came so low that the calsson settled in the mud of its own weight, at the same time admitting the water.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 11.—No more bodies have been recovered at the bridge casson since that of Hamilton Morris was taken from the outer lock of the entrance shaft Friday morning. Two other bodies were visible to the men who other bodies were visible to the men who brought out the body of Hamilton, packed in the mud and sand and wedged between the trap doors of the middle lock, where they had met death after escaping from the caisson room boneath, and in their struggle to get up the shaft had jammed the traps and prevented their own egress. At 10 o'clock Friday night the air pumps were shut off and the work of attempting to reach the interior of the caisson through the shaft was abandoned. Another caisson will be sunk alongside the old one, and an effort be made to reach the interior of the caisson room in which the fourteen the caisson room in which the fourteen workmen are entombed, by working from the new calsson.

THE FOOT OF A RABBIT.

WASHINGTON MAN WHO CARRIED ONE FOR GOOD LUCK.

If a man ever tells you there is luck in a rabbit's foot, believe him if you want to, but don't let him, under any circumsourenir to carry for luck. If he at-tempts it, be sure it is because he has a grudge against you, and desires to get even in a roundabout manner. There may be good luck in some rab-bits feet, but the particular one which this story concerns was the quintessence of misfortune, and its possessor is a hol-low eyed picture of despair, whose every movement has been productive of calam-ticons results.

Two weeks ago the owner of the charm was in the best of spirits and on good terms with himself and the world, and prospering. For a week the nightmare of ill luck has clung to him with the grasp of the old man of the sea, and cannot be shaken off.

A third friend who was standing by remarked at the time: "If I were you I marked at the time: "If I were you I would throw that cursed thing as far as I could. It's certain to bring ill luck. It was Saturday evening when the gift was received, but nothing eventful hap-pened that day. When the possessor of the talisman went to bed he began to think of the words of warning he had lis-tened to and it began to trouble him. The old time well, with its long "sweep" and single rope and bucket attached, or the more modern windlass, with its labor saving device of two buckets attached to a single rope, wound around a cylinder in such a manner as to let one bucket down while the other one is coming up, the same that was known to and so graphically described by the author of the "Old Oaken Bucket," or even the present wooden or iron pump, with its manifold attachments, are common objects in every small city and in the sewing machine I was able to do considerable work on uniforms for the soldiers.

I heard old Dan Poynette, an elderly man who had just enlisted, say one day that he dreaded neuralgia in the head more than the enemy's bullets, so I made the sacriet cap out of an old night cap that had belonged to my grandfather.

There were some scraps left over, out of which I concluded to make him a pin-wheel, putting two silver dollars in the inside that I had saved up.

He tried on the cap, declared it would be the saving of his life, wondered that he or his wife had not thought to make one, and, taking up the pin holder, saked what it was, and cried out at its said, talancing it on his hand.

"Oh, if you ever get hungry just take it to a sutler's tent and—eat it," I sung out, dancing away on a hippety-hop.

Early on the following morning the boys marched gayly away.

Again we went back to picking lint and watching the telegraph dispatches. Then the air seemed to fill again with recruiting officers, more men had been called for, and we saw brave boys marched gup and enrolling their names. There was news of battles, and the ayful dwords, "Killed," "Wounded," "Missing," flooded the land with tears.

In one of the lists we read the name of Dan Poynette among the wounded. We thought pityingly of the wife and children and offered them all the help possible. There were many calls for help in those days, and every heart was sore and bleeding.

"Dan has three wounds, his wife told use if he will be within thirty yards of the well the water began flowing from the mouth and by the time it had reached its maximum."

THE SIERRA BLANCA BOARER. An American wonder, similar in many respects to Johnny Bull's Yorkshire marvel, and which was fully described in the columns of the old Republican some three years ago, is the Sierra Blanca magnetic well on the Texas and Pacific railroad, in El Paso county, Texas. The well was drilled on the artesian plan in the spring and suppose of 1881. Some the spring and summer of 1884. Some little water was obtained and prospects were bright until a depth of over 600 feet were bright until a depth 8f over 600 feet had been reached, when the tools sud-denly dropped into a cavern; the bottom had in reality "fallen out," and they were treated to a rush of cool—not water, but air. Correspondents by twos, by singles, by dozens and by scores visit-ed it and telegraphed the results of their observations to the leading papers of the land. One of these, in speaking of the similarity of the shb ast flow of

in cean tides, says:

"From 10:15 a. m. to 10:15 p. m. a current of air rushes out of the pipe with a sound resembling the noise made by a locomotive blowing off steam, and so loud that it can be heard for forty or fifty read. At 10:15 p. m. the overflow. fifty yards. At 10:15 p. m. the overflic of air ceases and a strong suction sets which lasts for the next twelve hou this ebb and flow continuing day after day, and it has been observed by horse men that whenever they get in the neigh-borhood of this well strong magnetic forces are iclt and sparks given off if the horse's mane is touched."

Doubtless an exhibition of appliances for torture, authenticated by at least the belief of generations, would draw prodigiously. It is strange how few instruments of the sort survive possessing serious claims to confidence. Our own specimens in the Tower are just as authentic as the block on which, as the worthy heef eater declares. Anne Boleyn worthy beef eater declares, Anne Bolern lost her head. It is easy to understand that the governor or officials in charge of an old state prison would destroy such terribly irritating objects if they had time, when threatened by events that might lead to an exposure. Thus we are not surprised to learn that no machinery for torture was discovered in any of the Inquisition buildings that have been seized. But there are so many cases where it seems improbable that they would have removed or broken them up, that one is led to suspect the executioner may have kept his smaller instruments, at least, in his own quarters.—London Standard.

The Baboon as an Epleure.
The baboon, writes The Granf Reinet Advertiser, seems to be changing its nature with the changing climatic conditions. In former years he was a vegetarian, his worst offense being stealing mealies in the garden when he got a chance. Now he has taken to other ways of getting a livelihood. Said a farmer the other day to a brother farmer, "Have you lots of honey on your farm?"

"No, the baboons rob all the nests."

"How do they do it? the bees would sting them to death."

The answer was that probably the ba-sting them to death."

The answer was that probably the baboons did the work in the night, when the bees were drowsy, sleepy and dull. Anyway, he believed the baboons got off with the swag of honey wherever they pould get at a nest. Then Mr. Peter Booysen, of Mocitontein, has his story to tell of the new development of the baboon; it attacks the wild aloo, pulls it down and tears out the pith for food. Mr. Booysen, St., does not object to this, as he would be glad if all the wild aloe on his farm were cleared out by any on his farm were cleared out by any means whatsoever. The special wish of the father and son is that baboons would carrivora, and the rine and arsenic are now busy to destroy him.

Anyway, the poisoning clubs have classed the baboon with the wild carnivora, and the rifle and arsenic are now busy to destroy him.

Farmers give interesting instances of the difficulty of poisoning the baboon, the fellow being about as "slim" as a human being. One farmer believes the fellow tastes the poison as prepared and diaguised for him, and if he finds it to the storage of the s out a good thing for the stomach spits it out. That farmer, however has suc-ceeded in giving the arsenic such palatable surroundings that the shrewdness of the baboon is not proof against the palatable temptation and dies.

at Nuremberg has been sold to a London company. Prima facie we should doubt that the municipality of a town so famous for its antique relics would be willing—or, indeed, would be permitted—to dispose of a collection unique, so far as we know. Nor do the projects of the London company, as described, incline us to faith. But the report is circumstantial. Our enterprising fellow citizens propose to exhibit their treasures in the chief towns of Europe, and then to put them up for auction. Furthermore, it is asserted that the authorities of Berlin already look forward to the sale, and meditate buying the lot in bulk.

Doubtless an exhibition of appliances for torture, authenticated by at least the belief of generations, would draw propular remedy known. Both the method and results when
