CROWD'S AT GARFTELD'S TOMB. CLEVELAND, O., May 31.—Probably the greatest gathering of people ever witnessed in Cleveland was assembled witnessed in Cleveland was assembled here Friday to participate in the cere-mony of dedicating the Garfield me-morial at Lake View Cemetery. The exercises began with a grand civic and military parade which proceeded to the cemetery, where thousands had congre-gated upon the great stand upon which the President, members of his Cabinet and many other distinguished men were seated.

when the procession moved there were at least 150,000 cheering people massed in Euclid avenue between Monumental Park and Lakeview, and thou sands more awaited at the cemetery. Business bad been universally sus-pended and everybody who could do so had come to see the grand pageant. With the exception of the Garfield funeral in 1881 there was never such a crowd gathered here before. The President was cheered almost continuously, and he rode bareheaded along the beautiful avenue, bowing his acknowledgments of the applause to the right and left.

There were thirty bands in the line. The procession was two hours in passing a given point. It was five miles in length and there were at least 25,000 in

The exercises began at 3:15 o'clock. Ex-President Hayes, who is president of the Garfield Memorial Association, presided. Bishop Leonard's prayer was presided. Bishop Leonard's prayer was an eloquent and earnest one. At its conclusion ex-Governor Jacob D. Cox, of Cincinnati, the orator of the day, was introduced and delivered a long and eloquent oration.

The hallelujah chorus by Handel was next sung, after which President Harrison was introduced. He was greeted by prolonged cheering and spoke with President Harrison was followed by Vice-President Morton and Governor Campbell, who made short speeches. There were cries for General Sherman, There were cries for General Sucriman who responded briefly. Secretary Win-dom, Postmaster-General Wanamaker, Attorney-General Miller, Secretary Rusk and Bishop Gilmour spoke briefly, and ex-Postmaster-General Thomas L. James bowed in response to the cheers that greated his introduction. Then there were loud calls for Major McKinley. who also spoke briefly.

Then followed an impress

A Murder Near Jonesville.

John Beard, a man 80 years old, who had been employed on Mrs. Mineva Burk's farm near Jonesville, quarreled with Alex. Shippy, a fellow workman, the other morning, and fired at Shippy twice, the second ball breaking his lower jaw and iodging in the muscles of the throat. He then turned the revolver on himself, planted a bullet behind his ear, and as this did not seem hind his ear, and as this did not seen to suffice he tried to cut his throat. Shippy was not fatally hurt, but Beard would die. There was an old grudge between the men.

I dreamt a dream at even,
When the day its course had run,
And my heart grew sad within me,
To think how little I'd done;
But I said, "I shall work to-morrow,
And make my name be known—
Till the nations of earth shall wonder
As my mighty power they own:" But alsa: and alsa: time peases,
The sun vices, shines and sele;
Each morning so full of promiseEach even so full of regreta;
And day follows day more fleetly.
While ambitica and gloyr raveTill at last, outworn and similess,
I shall sink in a nameless grave.

Sunday school.

Saturday was the last day of school and it wound up with dialogues and recitations, and a nice supper. There was a good turnout of parents and an enjoyable time was had by all. Some of the dialogues were necessarily omitted, for the reason that several of the children, who were in them, were taken to Lowell, to spend the afternoon. There seemed to be some illreling on account of the schoolhouse being locked when the patrons went there to hold a meeting, last Tuesday night, and that is said to be the cause of this little excursion,

After some difficulty she secured the privilege. She hadn't a penny in or out of the bank, but she had more backbone in her little body than many a six foot man can boast. She borrowed money from a friend who knew of her sterling from a friend with ande the necessary outlay for a start in the business. Some pur-chases were made that afterward proved

Miss Cons illustrated recently the valu-able work which women may do as memable work which women may do as mem-bers of the London county council. One of the girls employed at Barnum's show wrote to the committee complaining of the light in their dressing room. It was so had, she said, that scores of them had to stick candles in the ground and dress by their light. The matter was one of terrible importance, involving the safety of an enormous building and five or six thousand people. Yet the committee could not themselves go and examine the dressing rooms; it was not a matter the room one evening as their representa-tive. She did so, and found the state-ments quite true, and Mr. Barnum had

French society women have invented, to bridge the gap between luncheon and 5 o'clock tea, an entertainment which they call the "3 o'clock," and at which distinguished singers and actors are welcomed as guests without being expected to sing or act.

Annie Besant has given up her pro-jected American visit, and the reason for this change of plan is interesting. Mrs. Besant is a Socialist, and is interested above all things in the organization of the wage carners. She wished to study the condition of the working people on this side of the water, but has become convinced that social theories have no convinced that social theories have no such future here as in England. The thinking mind in England, she writes to a Brooklyn lady, is more philosophical, more liberal, than in this country, where lollars, and while money and work are elentier here because of our rapid growth, Socialist has nothing to learn from us, that, while the Bible and Shakespeare afford useful "stock quotations," the crudite Boston belle selects her nottoes from the classics, and the young lady of advanced culture chooses hers from Swinburne or Baudelaire. I was recommended, by one who had been cured by it, to use your Red Clover Extract. I done so and have been a happy woman ever since. The first application gave me more relief than all the medicine had ever taken. After using less than one-third of the solid extract sent me, I walked from my home down town, the distance of one mile, for the first time in .8 years. I can be on my feet all day, with out any suffering, my work is a pleasure to me and I no more look forward with dread to days of pain and suffering. Your Red Clover has given me new life and am positive of a speedy cure.
