THEY PROTEST.

Trouble Over the Sale of Fire Island and for Use as a Cholera Station.

Residents of the Vicinity Secure an Injunction, and Offer Resistance to the Landing of Suspects.

MUCH EXCITEMENT.
New York, Sept. 12.—Judge Barnard, at Brooklyn, has issued a temporary injunction restraining Gov. Flower, D. P. Sammis, Dr. Jenkins and others from using Fire Island as a quarantine station. This action was taken on the petition of wealthy residents of Babylon and other towns in the vicinity of Fire Island, including Judge Wilnot M. Smith, E. B. Sutton, of the Frisco line; Judge Benjamin D. Stillman, ex-district attorney of the eastern district; Henry B. Hyde, of the Equitable Insurance Company; H. V. Post and C. H. Sands, son-in-law of the late Alexander McCue, once solicitor of the treasury.

Will Take Desperate Measures.
The people of Long Island are greatly excited over the plan to invade their neighborhood with cholera suspects and the wildest threats are made. It is quite evident that the residents are determined to prevent by extreme measures the landing of the steambot Cepheus should the injunction be dissolved. Justice of the Peace James B. Cooper says that the hotel and all its surroundings will be burned to the ground if a landing is attempted. Ex-Proprietor Sammis, of the Surf hotel, left for New York on the 8 o'clock train and had to be escorted to the railroad depot by a body-guard, the mob being determined to make an example of him for disposing of his property.

Fire Island is a sandy peninsula about 40 miles from New York, near the Long Island coast. Gov. Flower had commanded Dr. Jenkins to transport the Normannia's passengers there and hold them until their period of detention is over. This was in the face of the protest of the Long Islanders and was followed by their rebellious action.

A Vigorous Protest.
SURF HOTEL, FIRE ISLAND, N. Y., Sept. 12.—There has been more excitement in the last twenty-four hours at Fire Island than during the whole summer season. The sale of the place to the state for quarantine purposes has created a great hubbub among the people of the towns of Islip and Babylon, who predict all kinds of dire calamities as the result of landing passengers from vessels infected with cholera upon the beach.

Saturday night after the news was received that Gov. Flower had given orders to buy the island the board of health of the town of Islip, in which Fire Island is, called a mass meeting of citizens of the town to protest against landing of passengers at any place within the town jurisdiction. Suffolk hall, where the meeting was held, was crowded when Supervisor W. H. Young, the president of the board of health, called it to order. Speeches were made by the many prominent residents, who denounced the proposed use of the island, predicting great injury to the property adjoining and the ruin of the oyster and fish industries of the great south bay.

Misery of the Passengers.
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The much distressed cabin passengers of the Normannia are in trouble; that of a most serious if not perilous kind. Between the guns of an armed and fear-crazed body of men and the privilege of being confined on a boisterous night on a comparatively small steamer without provisions either for sleeping or eating, their condition has reached the climax of its misery. The 471 first and second cabin passengers who started Sunday afternoon on the Cepheus for Fire Island were compelled to return without landing and pass the night on that boat. The Cepheus arrived at Fire Island at 7:15. On Fire Island were 120 armed deputy health officers from the town of Islip. These men were there to prevent the landing of the Normannia's refugees. The pilot had been intimidated, he feared for his life and his position. After hovering about the bar long enough to make certain that it was to get no pilot the Cepheus turned about and started back.

Inhumanity Condemned.
There has been much lively discussion here over the successful attempt that was made Sunday by the local health authorities of the town of Islip to prevent the landing of passengers from the relief boat Cepheus on Fire Island. The inhuman action of these people is condemned on all sides and it is not proposed to submit to their dictation. The Cepheus, which was compelled to return Sunday night, has proceeded to Fire Island again, having on board the first and second cabin passengers of the Normannia, the former of whom she took from the Stomion.

Bay Men Still Belligerent.
Dr. W. A. Baker, health officer of Islip, who remained at Fire Island last night, accepted the answer of Secretary Balch, of the state board, that the local board had no authority to interfere as final and counseled his fellow-members against any further resistance to the landing of the Normannia's passengers. But the others decided to ignore the advice. More than 100 South bay cut-throats, sharpies, sloops and other small boats, each with ten or more men and boys on board, were under weigh at day-break, sailing from all points on the Great South bay to Fire Island. In all the boats every man who had or could borrow a gun or pistol, brought it with him and the entire flotilla carried perhaps 1,000 armed men.

Dr. Jenkins announces that he has scattered among the armed mob from Islip, ready to act in case of an outbreak. A steam launch having on board thirty armed men from Bay-shore, which tied up at the Fire Island dock late Sunday night, steamed away about 3 o'clock a. m.

The Governor Arrives.
Gov. Flower arrived at the Windsor hotel here at 8:30 o'clock a. m. Immediately on arriving he began his investigation of the cholera troubles, particularly the situation at Fire Island. The governor says he anticipates no further trouble from Fire Island. The state, he said, would take possession at once. He is prepared to take any step, no matter how stringent, to keep the cholera away from New York city.

Dying by Thousands.
During the seven days ended on the 10th there were 15,000 deaths from cholera in Russia and western Europe. The total number of deaths since the outbreak of the epidemic was estimated at 250,000.

STOLE BIG SUMS.

Former Officials of an Investment Company Found to Be Defaulters.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 12.—The grand jury of this county has returned indictments against H. W. Lee Russell, formerly treasurer of the Lombard Investment Company of this city, and Montgomery H. Lewis, formerly office auditor of the company, charging them with the embezzlement of $36,000 from the company. Both men resigned their positions with the company last spring and went to the City of Mexico, where they bought into the Edward Butts Manufacturing Company of that city, and where they now reside. Measures have been taken for their extradition. Experts have been at work on the books for a number of weeks, and though not nearly done with the examination, have found shortages compared with which the amount named in the indictment is but a drop in the bucket.

Lewis has been captured at some point in Mexico, and is now held awaiting the completion of extradition proceedings. When these are completed he will be brought to this city.

FOUR CHOCTAWS SHOT DOWN.

Political Differences Lead to a Feud Which May Cause More Trouble.
MCALLISTER, I. T., Sept. 12.—Sunday morning about 5 o'clock a large number of unknown horsemen rode up to the residence of Joakattubie, a full-blood Choctaw, living in Hartsborne, I. T. The horsemen were armed with Winchester and revolvers and all commenced shooting at Joakattubie, who was lying asleep on his front porch, killing him instantly. Nineteen shots took effect in his body. The horsemen then proceeded to the residence of Lyman Pusley, who stood them off with a Winchester, although badly wounded. The armed party then left in the direction of Sam Bois, I. T. Three Choctaws named Nelson, Fraser and an unknown were shot and killed near Wallburton, I. T., about the time of the killing of Hartsborne. The cause of the killing is political differences. The country is in the greatest excitement and a force of United States marshals is on the scene. The troops may have to be called out.

PEARY'S GREAT ACHIEVEMENT.

Eclipses All Explorers on the East Coast of Greenland.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The stars and stripes have been planted at the two points nearest the north pole yet reached by civilized man. The navy department has received the following telegram from Lieut. Peary, at St. Johns, Newfoundland:
"The United States navy claims the highest discoveries on the Greenland east coast, Independence bay, 83 degrees north latitude, 34 degrees west longitude, was discovered July 4, 1892. The Greenland ice cape ends south of Victoria inlet."
The highest point heretofore attained on the east coast is about 75 or 77 degrees and was made by Holdenby, a German. The highest point on the west coast was 83 degrees made by Lockwood and Brainerd of the Greely expedition. Naval officers are delighted at the success of Lieut. Peary and his telegram was received with much pleasure.

JUMPED FOR THEIR LIVES.

Three Persons Burned to Death in Chamberly Hotel at Montreal.
MONTREAL, Can., Sept. 12.—At an early hour fire broke out in the Chamberly hotel, situated on Jacques Cartier square. The boarders on the third floor had to jump from the windows and in so doing Maxime Fitchault, aged 35, Baptiste Charbonneau and Jules Conmery sustained injuries more or less severe. When the fire was got under control, which was not before the whole building was gutted, a search was made, when the charred remains of two men were found. One was a sewing machine agent named Turcotte and the other a stableman. A medical student named Oidale was found so badly burned that he died on reaching the hospital. The loss on building and contents is about $10,000.

World's Fair Finances.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—The treasurer of the world's fair announces that up to date the receipts were $10,403,815; disbursements, $9,092,595, leaving a balance on hand of $1,401,000.

Three Schoolboys Drowned.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 12.—While bathing in the Tennessee river yesterday Frank and Ralph Curtis and George D. Sparks, young schoolboys, were drowned.

KILLED IN A GALE.

Death and Destruction in the Town of Marion, Ind.

Two Workmen Are Killed and Several Others Are Injured—Fatal Thunderbolts in Wisconsin—Run by Storms Elsewhere.

A TORNAO'S WORK.

MARION, Ind., Sept. 12.—A tornado passed over the lower part of the city Friday night, causing great damage and completely wrecking the buildings of the Indiana pulp works, by far the most important plant in Grant county, killing two men and dangerously injuring two others.

The killed are: Howard Green and Samuel Pond. The injured are: Lawrence Thorn, ankle sprained and badly injured about the head; Fred Talley, arm crushed and internally injured.

STORM IN WISCONSIN.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 12.—The most destructive electric, wind, hail and rainstorm of years visited this vicinity early Saturday morning. It traversed the greater portion of the county, spending its fury a few miles north of this city, and worked incalculable damage to tobacco and corn fields. Over forty acres of tobacco immediately around Madison were totally destroyed, the wind and hail completely stripping the leaves from the stocks. Much of the crop had been harvested, but many farmers lost their all. The ground was white with pieces of hail, many of which measured an inch in diameter. The loss will aggregate nearly $1,000,000. Dead sparrows covered the ground. Fruit and vegetables were also damaged to a great extent, apples on trees being cut to pieces and watermelons cracked open. In this city an extensive brick wall, 84 by 38 feet, a new addition to the city gas works, was blown down, and many shade trees ruined. Haystacks and buildings were set on fire by lightning and the thunder and lightning were terrific, surpassing all previous experience here.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Sept. 12.—During a heavy storm Friday night three valuable horses were killed in a pasture east of the city. At West Salem, 12 miles east, G. G. Hitecock's barn was struck by lightning, sixty tons of hay burned with a loss of $2,000, the insurance being one-half. Another barn in the same neighborhood was struck and several cows killed. The lightning ran one-quarter of a mile on a wire fence ending in a hog yard, killing several animals. Other fires occurred in the county, but the heavy rains have made the roads impassable and details have not come in.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 12.—From 5 to 10 o'clock Saturday night a fearful storm of rain and electricity raged in this vicinity. A great amount of water fell. Several horses were killed by lightning in the country near town and several men were shocked severely. The farmers are afraid the rain will be followed by a killing frost, which will destroy the corn, none of which is out of danger.

KILLED FIVE PERSONS.

The sequel to a Peculiarly Atrocious Murder in Virginia.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 12.—A dispatch from Wise Courthouse, Va., states that Dr. Marshall B. Taylor was on Saturday found guilty of murdering five people—Ira Mullens and wife, Arison Mullens, John Cheset and Green B. Harris. The defendant failed to prove an alibi and was found guilty of murder in the first degree. The five victims were in wagons en route through Pound Creek Gap where they were assassinated. Mrs. Mullens wore a money belt containing between $1,000 and $1,500. Taylor robbed her and secured this. A strong guard is on duty at the courthouse, part of the force who protected Tolton Hall, and Taylor will not be lynched. He will ask for a new trial.

A Yankee Sailor Stab.

GENOA, Sept. 10.—A sailor from the United States war vessel Newark was murdered here Thursday night. The Newark arrived to take part in the grand Columbus celebration. The sailor, whose name was Frank Reilly, went ashore and was killed in a lodging house which he visited. The murder is said to have been without provocation. Both the officers of the Newark and the local police are investigating the case.

Two Murderers Hanged.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 9.—Edmund McCarthy and Charles Craig, colored, were hanged in the annex for condemned prisoners in the Ohio state prison shortly after midnight. McCarthy killed Charles Netterman, a drummer at Cincinnati, on the night of August 23, 1890. Craig killed Annie Thompson, his mistress, in Cincinnati on September 13, 1890.

Death of General Cialdini.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Announcement is made of the death of Gen. Enrico Cialdini, the Italian soldier and statesman, aged 81 years. He was commander-in-chief of the troops in central Italy, took a prominent part in the battles against Austria and served as ambassador to Paris from 1873 to 1883.

Fatal Explosion of Ether.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Two persons lost their lives Saturday and five others were perhaps fatally injured through an explosion of ether vapors at 25 Rue Buffon. The explosion set fire to the house, and the flames devoured the building with such haste that two of the inmates were burned to death and five others are in a critical condition.

OVERCOME BY REBELS.

Mexican Troops Defeated with Heavy Loss—May Be a General Uprising.

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 12.—About a year ago a female saint arose at Tomasahe, in the state of Sonora. She was on the order of a reformer, and charged that from priest to pope they were corrupt and failed to discharge their duty. During the winter a priest preached against her. This so excited the people that he would have been killed had it not been for government interference. The Indians defied the troops and several were placed in jail.

After this thirty-one of the Indians formed a military organization and started out on a pilgrimage to visit their saint near Alamos, in the state of Sonora. They were met by a body of government troops and an encounter was had, in which five troopers were killed, including Capt. Enrique. The pilgrims then proceeded to the ranch Cobora. The saint not appearing, they wept in their sorrow like children. Upon their leaving they took away everything they supposed to be the property of the saint as relics and returned to Tomasahe.

The election troubles occurring about this time a political party was organized under the leadership of Cruz Chavez, a brave and brilliant young man. Gen. Ranjel, with the Eleventh battalion of infantry, marched against them with the object of making peace or reducing them to submission. Arriving at Tomasahe, at the foot of the Sierra Madre, the troops were surprised by the rebels and several were killed and the entire staff made prisoners and the battalion was dispersed with heavy losses. The government has a strong force in the country, but the rebels have the advantage, as their country is over 20 miles from the railroad and is so inaccessible that wagons cannot be used. The latest reports have it that the rebel force is over 500 strong and that the government has sent over 500 men against them and have met with signal defeat.

On Wednesday last Capt. Martinez and 300 men left the city of Chihuahua for the scene of hostilities. At about 100 miles west of Chihuahua the regulars encountered the rebels, resulting in the loss of Capt. Martinez and forty soldiers, while the rebels came out without the loss of a single man. Saturday night two companies of government troops left Juarez for the scene of action. The government is doing all it can to suppress the revolt, but the Indians in the mountains have put to rout every advance of the regulars without loss or capture, and now hold as hostages Gen. Ranjel and his staff.

It is feared that this is but the beginning of hostilities and that the success of the Indians will encourage the dissatisfied element of Mexico to a general uprising, and that the government will succumb to the force and power against the present administration of Diaz.

SHOT BY A WOMAN.

Mystery Surrounding the Death of a Young Michigan Farmer.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 12.—James Wice, a prominent young farmer of this county, was murdered Saturday night by a woman named Mrs. Dalton. There were no witnesses of the affair, and it is impossible to learn the truth. The woman claims that Wice chased her, and that she ran into her house, took her revolver and shot him dead. Wice bore the best of reputations, and was well connected. The woman is old and demented. Neither she, her husband nor her son reported the matter to the police. People who saw Wice near where he was murdered say there were two men with him, but they have not been found.

OLD FATHER PETERS.

By ALFRED R. CALHOUN.

As soon as the sun had gone down that night Bradley and a few of his friends went up to the peaks and lit the fires. On his way back he stopped at Father Peters' house and said in his usual way:

"The time for fight has come, thank the Lord, for he can't be so kind that he will let us win. Now let us hurry."

Father Peters and his family saw the necessity for a remedy on his part, no groans or cries from the women. They gathered up each a change of clothes and the little things that are so precious because of association rather than for their intrinsic value.

By ten o'clock that night thirty-one men and half as many women, the latter wives or sweethearts, had assembled in the blacksmith's shop. Those from the farthest points could have seen the confederates, and there could be no doubt as to their purpose or their destination.

Bradley sent out pickets—"spies" he called them—who were to watch the approach of the enemy; then he started a fire in the forge, fastened a few fallow dips to the black walls, and, having commanded attention, he stood up on the boys' block and shouted:

"My friends, shall we us do—retreat to the north or stand and fight?"

This was followed by a few seconds of silence so intense that every man could hear the beating of his own heart, and with frightened eyes the women looked from face to face. At length a strong, clear, familiar voice rang out:

"In the name of Great Jehovah will we stand and fight?"

All eyes turned in the direction of the speaker, but not to ascertain the speaker. Into the full light of the forge, which was strong and clear blowing, walked Father Peters with the battle-axe in his eyes and a rifle in his hand. A moment of awe and silence, then the blacksmith shouted:

"For Father Peters, boys! Cheer, cheer, boys, cheer!"

And they cheer and swing their hats, and their eyes brighten as if there were some great thing to be done. The old clergyman drew from his breast a small United States flag that he carried off among the rocks and things from his house. He always hung it over the meeting house door on Washington's birthday and Fourth of July.

"We are you ready to swear to this?"

"And are you ready to swear to this?"

"Now, my friends, I want each man to raise his hand and swear to me. Are you ready?"

"A hoarse, solemn 'Yes' was the response."

A few days after Magoo's raid it became evident that in another week, if nothing were done, they would be called on to face a more relentless foe than the Confederates under Zollicoffer and Crittenden, and that was families. While every man at the Crossing understood that if he had to fight it would be under the lead of Strong Dick Bradley, all, including the blacksmith, looked up to Father Peters as the man on whom they must depend for counsel, and as the man who was to lead the inviolable column from the mountains to the promised land where there were strong hands and keen bayonets to defend the old flag.

After carefully talking over the situation together, the preacher and the blacksmith assembled their friends in the smithy, and in the form of a prayer, delivered himself after this manner:

"My friends, winter is on us. Our country, the rebels, swarms in the hills, and if the reports that come to us are true, and I believe that they are, a few more days will see us at the mercy of the confederate army. I am a poor man, and I have no doubt many honest and Christian, but mistaken men, in the section army, but I do not know of any of them who are as true as you are. These are the kind of people who will be the backbone of our country."

Many of you have brought your wives and children here, and while this is natural I must believe it imprudent. If there had remained at home, or if they were scattered in the mountains, they would be freer to act. Father Bradley and I have prayerfully talked over the situation, and we have come to the conclusion that every day we spend here is a day lost to the cause, while our little stock of provisions is being reduced. We have therefore decided to start for Camp Dick Robinson tonight. Once there, those who are able to bear arms can be regularly enrolled and mustered into the service of the Union, while if we fight here we are apt to be regarded as guerrillas and for the present, at least, the government will be powerless to protect us."

"While my mission among you has been one of peace, and I have passed the age when I might be of much use even if I were skilled in the ways of war, with God's help, I can and I will fight if we are not permitted to reach the Union lines in peace."

"I will say to my good sisters and to the children who must remain behind, as their coming will not hamper the march, that it will not be long before we shall be marching to the north, and that their coming will insure protection to all. We must move with secrecy and rapidly, for there are spies all about us. And now I ask those who are willing to follow the lead of Brother Bradley to Camp Dick Robinson to take their stand at the back part of the smithy."

LAZARONI IN NAPLES.

They Have One Occupation, and That is Making Love.

A century ago there were thirty thousand "Lazaroni" in Naples. Neither disease nor war has diminished their number. Their children die at the hospitals for the survivors, and neither poor nor lodging costs them much.

A JEALOUS COW.

A few years ago, says a writer in the London Spectator, I had a quiet milk cow, and that was famous. While the stableman, and also showed an aversion to dogs. One morning I had just begun to dress when I heard my puppy bark in the yard. The next minute I heard a roar of unmistakable fear and anguish—a human roar. I dashed downstairs, and at the same moment arrived my own pit-bull terrier in hand.

There lay Thomas on his face in a dry gutter, the side of the road to the cow-house and the cow baying angrily at him. We drove off the cow and poor Thomas scuffled across the road, and through a wire fence, stood up and drew breath.

"Well, Thomas," said I, "what's the matter with you?"

"Well, sir," said Thomas, "I heard the pup bark and untied him, and I was just coming out of the cow-house with my arms when those came round the corner. She knocked me down and would have killed me. Thomas had, indeed, had a narrow escape, his trousers were ripped up from end to end, and red marks all along his legs showed where Rose's horns had grazed along his body. He was a good milker but this morning, since she's in a fury, he will milk her right enough, sir, by-and-by; just give her a little time to settle down," said Thomas. "It's only jealousy of that 'ere pup, and my master'll abide seeing me fondling of it."

In about twenty minutes Thomas called me down to see the milk. The cow had stood quiet enough to be milked. But the milk was deeply tinged with blood, and in half an hour a copious red precipitate had settled to the bottom of the pail. Till then I had thought the jealousy theory. After that I believed.

WIPES KNEW THEIR VALUE.

A Newboy Who Would Only Accept Five Cents for Saving Six Lives.

Human life is dull and in small degree interesting. It is only when it is in danger that it becomes valuable. A young boy named Wipes, who lives in the town of Belden Point, on City Island, has just saved six lives.

"I will say to my good sisters and to the children who must remain behind, as their coming will not hamper the march, that it will not be long before we shall be marching to the north, and that their coming will insure protection to all. We must move with secrecy and rapidly, for there are spies all about us.
