

A FESTAL SEASON.

All Preparations Complete for the World's Fair Dedication.

The Order of Exercises as Officially Adopted—A Programme Covering Three Days of Festivity—Details Will Be Found Below.

READY FOR THE DEDICATION.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The programme for world's fair dedication ceremonies was completed Friday at a joint meeting of the national and local committees on ceremonies. It now has the approval of all authorities. It was decided to put no limit upon the time of speakers, but to allow their good judgment to dictate the proper length of their orations.

There will be three days of ceremony under the direction of the exposition company, beginning Thursday, October 20, and ending Saturday, October 22. Other entertainments of a semi-official character have, however, been planned, and will be carried out. Day by day the arrangements are as follows:

The night of Wednesday, October 19, an inaugural ball and reception will be given in honor of President Harrison and other distinguished visitors. It will be held at the Auditorium hotel and will be conducted under the auspices of a citizens' committee. This is the ball formally intended to be given by exposition officials. Tickets are for sale upon invitation for $25 for two persons and $15 for single tickets.

The morning of October 20 the first official exercises will begin. Arrangements have been made for a monster civic parade, representing fraternal and other civic organizations. This parade will be under the direction of Gen. Joseph Stockton, of Chicago. Applications for position have been received from a sufficient number of societies to warrant the estimate that 80,000 people will be in line. Gen. Miles will be grand marshal of the parade, which will be reviewed by the president.

The night of October 20 Col. Henry L. Turner will give a reception and ball to officers of the army, navy, marine corps, national reserve, national guard and Loyal Legion. The entertainment will be held in the First regiment armory, Michigan avenue and Sixteenth street.

October 21 will be dedication proper and the national salute at sunrise will inaugurate the ceremonies. The procession of invited guests will be formed near the Auditorium hotel on Michigan avenue and proceed southward to Jackson park in the following order:

1. Joint committee on ceremonies of the World's Columbian commission and the World's Columbian exposition.
2. The director general of the World's Columbian exposition, and the president of the Centennial commission of 1876, at Philadelphia, and the director general thereof.
3. The president of the United States, the president of the World's Columbian commission and the president of the World's Columbian exposition.
4. The vice president of the United States, the vice president of the World's Columbian commission and the vice president of the World's Columbian exposition.
5. The secretary of state and the secretary of the treasury.
6. The secretary of war and the attorney general of the United States.
7. The postmaster general and the secretary of the navy.
8. The secretary of the interior and the secretary of agriculture.
9. The diplomatic corps.
10. The supreme court of the United States.
11. Speaker of the house of representatives and the mayor of Chicago.
12. Ex-President Hayes, ex-sec. Hon. John Sherman, Lyman J. Gage, ex-president of the World's Columbian exposition.
13. Ex-President Cleveland, ex-sec. Ex-Secretary Thomas F. Harard and W. J. Baker, ex-president World's Columbian exposition.
14. The senate of the United States, headed by the president pro tem.
15. The house of representatives.
16. The army of the United States.
17. The navy of the United States.
18. The governors and their staffs of the states and territories of the United States.
19. The orators and chaplains.
20. Commissioners of foreign governments to the World's Columbian exposition.
21. Consuls from foreign governments.
22. The World's Columbian commissioners, headed by the second, third, fourth and fifth vice presidents thereof.
23. The board of lady managers, headed by the president thereof.
24. One woman to represent each one of the thirteen original states.
25. Board of directors of the World's Columbian exposition, headed by the second vice president thereof, and the director of works.
26. Board of management United States government exhibits.
27. The department chiefs.
28. The staff officers and the director of works.
29. The city council of Chicago.

This procession, escorted by United States cavalry and light artillery, will proceed south on Michigan avenue to Twenty-ninth street, where it will receive the president of the United States, after which it will proceed south on Michigan avenue to Thirty-fifth street, thence east on Thirty-fifth street to Grand boulevard; thence to Washington park, where it will be formed in parallel lines on the west side of the parade grounds of the park.

The national and state troops will have been formed in the meantime by brigades in line of masses on the east side of the field at Washington park. As the president approaches the ground the president's salute will be fired, and on his taking his position opposite the center of the line the commands will change direction by the left flank, forming columns and pass in review in the usual order, except that the distance in column will be that in mass. The troops having passed in review will then become the escort of honor for the entire procession, and will continue the march via Fifty-seventh street to the exposition grounds, hence to the manufactures and liberal arts building, where the troops will take positions assigned them, the officials occupying the platform prepared for them. As the president's carriage passes through the exposition grounds a battery on the lake front will fire the national salute.

At 1:30 o'clock the following programme of exercises will take place in the manufactures building under the director general as master of ceremonies:

1. "Columbian March," composed by Prof. John K. Paine, of Cambridge.
2. Prayer by Bishop Charles H. Fowler, D. D., L. L. D., of California.
3. Introductory address by the director general.

4. Address of welcome and tender of the freedom of the city of Chicago by Hempstead Washburne, mayor.

5. Selected recitation from the dedicatory ode, written by Miss Harriet Monroe, of Chicago; music by G. W. Chadwick, of Boston; reading by Mrs. Sarah C. Le Moine.

6. Presentation of the director of works of the master artists of the exposition of the World's Columbian exposition, and award to them of special commemorative medals.

7. Chorus—"The Heavens Are Telling"—Haydn.

8. Address—"Work of the Board of Lady Managers"—Mrs. Potter Palmer, president.

9. Tender of the buildings on behalf of the World's Columbian exposition by the president thereof to the president of the World's Columbian commission.

10. Presentation of the buildings by the president of the World's Columbian commission to the president of the United States for dedication.

11. Dedication of the buildings by the president of the United States.

12. "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah," Handel.

13. Dedicatory oration—William C. Breckinridge, of Kentucky.

14. "Star Spangled Banner" and "Hail Columbia," with full chorus and orchestral accompaniment.

15. Columbian oration—Chauncey M. Depew, of New York.

16. Prayer by his eminence, Cardinal James Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore.

17. Chorus—"In Praise of God"—Beethoven.

18. Benediction by Rev. H. C. McCook, of Philadelphia.

19. National salute.

The night of October 21 there will be a display of fireworks in Washington, Garfield and Lincoln parks. This is a change from the original programme, which contemplated a three-nights' display in Jackson park. Subsequently it was deemed hazardous to explode so many pieces in the vicinity of the buildings, and the arrangement was made to have a one night's exhibition in the three different sections of the city. No charges will be made for witnessing these displays.

Inaugural ceremonies in connection with the world's congress auxiliary will also take place the night of October 21. President Harrison will be the honorary chairman for the occasion and Archbishop Ireland will deliver the oration.

Saturday, October 22, will wind up the ceremonies. Arrangements have been made to dedicate state buildings at Jackson park and for military maneuvers at Washington park.

Admission to Jackson park on dedication day will be by invitation only. Those invited are national, state and municipal officers throughout the country. The only way to secure invitation, if not included in the list, is to purchase exposition stock, which is sold at $10 a share. A purchaser is entitled to an invitation. Arrangements have been made for seating 90,000 people in the Manufactures building, and room for 35,000 more people will be provided. There will be 15,000 reserved seats for specially invited persons, whose tickets will indicate the portions of the hall where good. All other ticketholders, excepting 2,500 distinguished guests, will occupy seats in the order of first come first served.

COLUMBUS HONORED.

The Six Days' Celebration in New York City Commences.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—After many months of preparation the great New York celebration of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus was ushered in Saturday by special services in the various synagogues of this city. The city in many quarters displays profuse decorations, and it is believed that by to-day hardly a house in the city will be without some semblance of decoration in honor of the great event.

The services in all the Hebrew temples were distinctively patriotic, differing only in this, that the synagogues adhering to the rigid ceremonialism of the orthodox faith permitted no interior decorations to interfere with the severe simplicity of the services incident to the Feast of the Tabernacles.

Special services were held in most of the churches. The choirs in some of the churches were assisted by orchestras, and elaborate musical programmes were given. The pulpits and altars were adorned with flowers. All of the discourses were prepared with special consideration for the children, so that the youngest attendant could appreciate the importance of the services.

To-day the secular part of the celebration will be opened with the school and college parade, with over 20,000 in line. The parade has occupied the attention of its promoters for weeks.

Four Workmen Killed.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 10.—A shifting train on the new West Virginia & Pittsburgh railroad became unmanageable on a heavy grade near Weston Saturday evening and ran away. In rounding a sharp curve the wild train suddenly ran into a car on which were six men, striking it with such force that the men were hurled 60 feet and the most of them were shockingly mangled, four being killed.

Bureau of Engraving.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The annual report of Capt. W. M. Meredith, chief of the bureau of engraving and printing, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1892, shows that treasury notes, certificates, etc., were issued to the value of $709,760,800, and revenue stamps valued at $154,000,000. The total expenditures during the year were $1,216,585.

Thrown Over a Precipice.

CRENSHAW, Cal., Oct. 8.—During the progress of a funeral procession with the body of a child here a coach containing the corpse and four mourners was thrown down an embankment 150 feet high and two of the occupants received fatal injuries.

CRESPO REIGNS.

The Victorious Revolutionist Leader Honored in Venezuela.

His Triumphant Entry to Caracas Followed by His Selection as the Provisional Premier.

A NEW RULER.

CARACAS, Oct. 10.—Gen. Joaquin Crespo was accorded an enthusiastic reception upon his triumphant entry into Caracas Sunday. He marched into the capital at the head of the remainder of his army, 3,000 men having taken possession of the city Saturday.

Made President.

A council of his officers and advisers was held and the result was the proclamation of Crespo as provisional president of the republic. He is to hold office only until the regularly elected congressman shall have had time to meet again and proceed to the election of a constitutional successor to ex-President Raimundo Andueza Palacio.

His Cabinet.

Crespo then issued a proclamation naming the following cabinet: Minister of foreign affairs, Pedro Ezequiel Rojas; minister of the interior, Leon Colla; minister of finance, Senor Pietro; minister of war, Guzman Alvarez; chief of police, Gen. Victor Rodriguez; chief of telegraphs, Leopoldo Baptista; minister of public works, Munoz Tebar; minister of instruction, Silva Gaudolphy; general in chief, Ramon Guerra; governor of Caracas, Senor Andrade.

Ex-Officials Escape.

These are all well-known Venezuelans who have aided the cause of the legalists by active service in the field or by financial contributions. The provisional cabinet gives general satisfaction. It will restore order throughout the distracted republic. The rumors concerning the escape of the de facto president, Villegas-Pulido, and his ministers are confirmed. They managed to get a vessel bound for Martinique. It is said to be their intention to proceed to France.

KEEPING IT GREEN.

Irishmen Honor the Memory of Parnell by Visiting His Grave.

DUBLIN, Oct. 10.—The people who took part in Sunday's demonstration in honor of the late Charles S. Parnell equaled in number those who attended his funeral a year ago. Thousands of visitors came to this city from Cork, Galway and the north of Ireland. Floral tributes in the form of wreaths, harps and other designs were received from political bodies throughout the country, and completely filled the memorial car and two carts. The procession to Parnell's tomb was accompanied by bands and corporations of Dublin and Cork, who attended in state. J. J. O'Kelly delivered an oration at the grave.

FREIGHT AND HAND CARS MEET.

Three Men Die Instantly and Another Fatally Hurt.

WESTON, W. Va., Oct. 10.—Four men were killed in an accident near Pickens, W. Va., Sunday morning. A car load of lumber broke away from the train hands at Pickens, on the line of the West Virginia & Pittsburgh railroad, and in its course down a steep grade encountered a hand car containing T. E. Curran, of Baltimore, who was superintending the building of a bridge, and three other men, who were going to work. Three of the men, including Mr. Curran, were killed instantly, and the fourth lived until evening.

Mormons in Conference.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Oct. 10.—The sixty-second semi-annual conference of the Mormon church closed Saturday, with 15,000 in attendance at the closing session. The president failed to come forward with the customary new revelation. The reports of the various stakes in Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona and Mexico showed a total membership of over 200,000. It was decided to dedicate the new temple on April 6, 1893. This building was commenced forty years ago, and has cost $2,500,000.

Free Delivery to Four More Towns.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The free mail delivery service has been ordered at the following offices December 1: Austin, Tex.; Watertown, Wis.; Independence, Ia.; and Ashtabula, O. In case any of these cities fail to comply with the regulations as to posting names of streets and numbering houses before November 30, 1892, the order establishing the service will be rescinded as to non-complying offices.

Won a Professorship at West Point.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The contest for the position of professor of modern languages at the West Point military academy, a position which carries with it a salary of about $4,000 per annum and the rank of colonel, has ended in favor of Capt. E. E. Wood, of the Eighth cavalry, the present assistant professor of Spanish at the academy.

Lincoln to Stamp Illinois.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The cable announcing the departure from London of Minister Lincoln for a visit home is regarded by many politicians as significant. The general opinion is that he is coming to take the stump for Harrison, and that whatever influence he possesses is to be exerted in Illinois.

Three Lives Lost.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 10.—Benjamin Anderson, Felix Stevenson and William Stevenson were drowned in Lake Winnipeg by the upsetting of a boat.

MICE DESTROY $10,000 CASH.

An Old Miser's Wealth Is Used to Make a Nest.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Edward Kelly, an old farmer living near Griffin's Corners, Delaware county, has just met with a peculiar mishap. Kelly is known in the neighborhood where he resides as somewhat of a miser. He places no faith in banks or securities except greenbacks and real estate. Some time ago he sold a large tract of land for a big sum of money, which he added to his accumulated wealth, making in all about $10,000. Last week he had occasion to examine his treasure, which he kept secreted in an old box snugly concealed among a quantity of newspapers. He was surprised upon opening the box to discover that mice had entirely destroyed his fortune in preparing for themselves winter quarters. Not a piece of the money was left large enough for identification. The old man raved like a maniac when he discovered his loss.

CARELESSNESS CAUSES DEATH.

A Helper's Negligence Results in a Machinist Being Bolted Alive.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 10.—Thomas F. Johns, a machinist, met with a frightful accident, which caused his death Sunday. The dry dock company was testing the new steamer Wyandotte and some little faults were found with her machinery. Johns was engaged in taking the cap from her throttle valve when it blew off and a heavy piece of iron struck him in the stomach, rendering him unconscious. He fell into a corner, where the steam and hot water poured on him. The man was literally boiled about the neck and trunk, but lingered until afternoon. It seems that a helper had neglected to turn off the steam.

CRUSHED BENEATH AN ENGINE.

Three Men Lose Their Lives in a Train Wreck in Colorado.

PUEBLO, Col., Oct. 10.—At a late hour Saturday night a freight train was wrecked by striking a cow on a small bridge 6 miles north of Pueblo, on the Denver branch of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. The engine was thrown from the track and buried under a half dozen cars. Three men were crushed beneath the engine. They were Engineer Joseph Miller, aged 40, whose parents live at Elgin, Ill.; C. C. HUGH McNEIL'S HEN.
By ALFRED R. CALZOUN.
(Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.)

"You were Lin Moore's friend before the war?" I said.
"Yes, the d-d traitor; but I hadn't his friend no moah, and of so he's cooched in these far hills, I'll go miles and miles on my hands and knees to see him strung up."
"You're all wrong on the instant as to the fellow's leanings, but anxious to make use of him I reached out my hand and said: 'Good for you, Hugh McNeil! I'm with you well enough, though I don't like you.'"

"What hadn't you us Yanks with him blue clothes on?" he asked, and he eyed us over again.
"Your Hen wears a blue jacket; does that make him a Yank?"
"Wa-l, no; co' nawthin could be made of him anythin but what God Almighty made him, and that's a d-d o-jit."
"Hugh McNeil, have you any money you want?"
"By this time we had all dismounted, it being a rule to rest our horses whenever we had to make a long haul, and in five minutes we had plenty of Confederate money along, and I decided to pay him liberally in this if he would re-lease his Yanks and get some corn for our horses."

"With a long string of oaths he assured me that this was a 'pore man,' but if he had any money he was sure he could get us all the bread, meat and corn our party wanted.
"I gave him a hundred dollars in the promises to pay of Confederacy, and in the bills were of small denotation, the pile counted into his dirty palm looked like a fortune. The sight of so much money had on him a most soothing effect. He told us that his wife was dead, but that his daughter kept house for him in a cabin close by, and that if we came there and let our horses graze he would go off and 'skrimmage' for the necessary supplies."
"In answer to my question as to whether there was any danger from the Yanks in that neighborhood, he assured me there was not, 'nor from gray nuthers,' and I insisted that he give unusual emphasis to the latter assurance."

"Following him, we led our horses down the hill and up a long valley. By this time it was dark, but the light in front and the larking of the customary yellow cow told us that McNeil's house was near by.
"By the stream near the cabin we staked our horses in knee high grass, and though the fellow assured me that they were safe, we had to be on our guard. We found a young woman of two or three and twenty, whom he told me was his daughter, Min. As Min had dark hair, a good face and comely figure, I remarked that she must resemble her mother, and when I told her so she looked at me with her keen gray eyes as if she thought me a kivan.
"Oh, that stranger knows everything," she said, and she looked at me with a keen, sharp, Min. He told me so d-d sharp, Min, that we'll be bleeged to watch out."
"Min was all annoyed at her father, I thought, while he, promising to be back with provisions very soon, went out. Min, apparently indifferent to my self, went on making the meal for porridge to cook with my appetizers, and a few minutes later she had a mass of glowing coal on the hearth."
"It was not a spirit of gallantry or any foolish desire for a flirtation that made me eager for a talk with Min McNeil, though I must confess that I have tried to be available in my time to young women with fewer physical attractions. I asked her if she was not lonely out here in the mountains, and she made no answer, but she looked up at me with a slight smile of the head.
"Are you the only child?" I asked after a moment.
"No; that's her," she said.
"Is he in the army?"
"No."
"Not old enough?"
"No."
"Your father ever in the army?"
"No."
"He's our side, ain't he?"
"Which side?" she asked, and she looked at me with a keen, sharp, Min. He told me so d-d sharp, Min, that we'll be bleeged to watch out."
"Min was all annoyed at her father, I thought, while he, promising to be back with provisions very soon, went out. Min, apparently indifferent to my self, went on making the meal for porridge to cook with my appetizers, and a few minutes later she had a mass of glowing coal on the hearth."

"What hadn't you us Yanks with him blue clothes on?" he asked, and he eyed us over again.
"Your Hen wears a blue jacket; does that make him a Yank?"
"Wa-l, no; co' nawthin could be made of him anythin but what God Almighty made him, and that's a d-d o-jit."
"Hugh McNeil, have you any money you want?"
"By this time we had all dismounted, it being a rule to rest our horses whenever we had to make a long haul, and in five minutes we had plenty of Confederate money along, and I decided to pay him liberally in this if he would re-lease his Yanks and get some corn for our horses."

"With a long string of oaths he assured me that this was a 'pore man,' but if he had any money he was sure he could get us all the bread, meat and corn our party wanted.
"I gave him a hundred dollars in the promises to pay of Confederacy, and in the bills were of small denotation, the pile counted into his dirty palm looked like a fortune. The sight of so much money had on him a most soothing effect. He told us that his wife was dead, but that his daughter kept house for him in a cabin close by, and that if we came there and let our horses graze he would go off and 'skrimmage' for the necessary supplies."
"In answer to my question as to whether there was any danger from the Yanks in that neighborhood, he assured me there was not, 'nor from gray nuthers,' and I insisted that he give unusual emphasis to the latter assurance."

"To him or for you us you please, and of you us to him so far he isn't never come back to that cabin up thar, hit won't make me cry no tears."
"There was a sob in the girl's voice as she pressed my hand and disappeared in the darkness. It did not take me a half minute to outline my plans to the men and to impress them with the importance of taking the papers from my great pocket in the event of my being killed or even severely wounded, and getting them through to Mitchell, Bill or Negley."
"Hiding the horses back from the stream and leaving two men to guard them, with orders to permit no one to approach till we returned, I took the remaining four men and went quietly up the slope to the cabin. Loud laughter and the boisterous voices of many men talking at once convinced me while we were yet fifty yards away that Hugh McNeil had received re-encouragement. McKinley's Democratic Rival Contends.
One more triumphant. A Dispatch from Alliance, O., announces that Wallace H. Hays, editor of the Alliance Daily Review, a prominent Democrat in times past, and candidate for congress against Governor McKinley on the Democratic ticket in 1890, has been elected to the Democracy and comes out for Harrison and Reid. He gives as his reason that he has become thoroughly convinced of the great benefits accruing to the country from the tariff system, and that he is now a convinced supporter of McKinley's tariff system.

Physicians Puzzled.
Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The city is being troubled by a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitan papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart disease, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record thousands of cases. His New Heart Cure, a wonderful remedy, is sold at D. G. Look's, Thousands testify to its value. Write for circular. Mrs. Chas. Benney, Loveland, Colo., says its effects on her were marvelous. Elegant book on heart disease free.

DEMOCRATS AND THE G. A. R.
They Would Not Give a Penny for Their Entertainment.
St. Louis, Oct. 10.—The Democrats of the G. A. R. at Washington today were not to give any recognition to the G. A. R. at Washington that it may be interesting to know just what the cold facts are. An investigation shows that the house appropriation committee made no appropriation for recognition of the event in framing the District of Columbia appropriation bill. Nor did the house bill passed in the action has been taken on that subject, a message to congress calling attention to the subject and suggesting the desirability and propriety of reasonable aid for a proper entertainment of the men who saved the nation.

The sons, one daughter, and five grand children attended the funeral, which took place Sunday afternoon, Oct. 9th, Rev. James Provan officiating. The remains were followed to their last resting place by a large concourse of friends.
Don't read! Don't think! Don't believe! Now, are you better? You men who think that patent medicines are a humbug, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the biggest humbug of the whole (because it's the best known of all)—does your lack-of-faith cure come? It is easy to "don't" in this world. Suspicion always comes more easily than confidence. But doubt—little faith—never made a sick woman well—and the "Favorite Prescription" has cured thousands of delicate, weak women, which makes us think that our Prescription is better than your "don't believe." We're both honest. Let us come together. You try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If it doesn't do as represented, you get your money again. Where's proofs so easy, can you afford to doubt.
For eight years I have suffered from catarrh, which effected my eyes and hearing; have employed many physicians without relief. I am now on my second bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, and feel confident of a complete cure.—Mary C. Thompson, Cerro Gordo, Ill.

PEER'S SHAM!
HOW HIS HEART "FAIRLY BLEEDS" FOR THE SOLDIERS.
His Comradship as Great a Delusion and a Snare as Judge Morse's.—Partnership Superior to Patriotism in the State Land Office.
From the State Republican:
Land Commissioner Shaffer is reported as saying once on a time, about two years ago, that his heart "fairly bled" for his soldier comrades. Inasmuch as Mr. Shaffer is making his run for re-election on his soldier record it may not be out of place to just recall a bit of history in connection with the land office. When the hero of Culp's farm was accidentally installed as high chief mogul of the office there were—
Veterans of the late war employed there, Messrs. Cameron, Hamilton, Lewis, Havens, Bowen and Noyes. When the grand old man from Cass stepped in they were asked to step out, and in their places have been appointed—
Just one veteran, a Democrat by the name of Olds.
How that heart must have bled.
The places of these veterans have been filled, and are now occupied by whom?
Well, for instance. There is: Shaffer, Miss Sadie, clerk state land commissioner, salary $1,200 per annum. Shaffer, Miss Gertrude, clerk land commissioner, salary $1,000 per annum. Shaffer, William T. S., clerk land commissioner, salary $1,000 per annum. All of the above reside with Mr. Land Commissioner George T. at 704 Ottawa street west, and are his daughters and son.
The other employes of the office are anything but old veterans.
How do old soldiers like this record? Old soldiers, even Democrats, should hesitate, and look up this man's record before they throw away their ballot.
When the general came to Lansing in the capacity of land commissioner he announced his intention of paying the mortgage on his farm from the proceeds of the family salary grab. He has without doubt been successful, as he told a friend on the train recently that the mortgage had been "lifted" and he was on his way to Cass county to purchase an adjoining eighty acres. This last "eighty" is to be purchased with money that should have gone to veterans for services performed.
How that heart does bleed.

Sore-throat and bronchial affections are speedily relieved and effectually cured by the use of that safe and reliable remedy, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and find it has no equal.

WORTH HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS.
My wife used only two bottles of "Mother's Friend" before her third confinement. Says she would not be without it for hundreds of dollars. Had not had so much trouble as before. DOCK MILLER, Lacombe Parish, La. Sold by D. G. Lee, Druggist.
A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmetta, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera but a violent dysentery which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Williams, a prominent merchant of Jamesburg, 20 miles from Helmetta, says Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in these numerous cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things ever made. For sale by Clark & Winegar, druggists.
It is not unusual for colds contracted in the fall to hang on all winter. In such cases catarrh or chronic bronchitis are almost sure to result. A fifty cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure any cold. Can you afford to risk so much for so small an amount? This remedy is intended especially for bad colds and croup and can be depended upon. For sale by Clark & Winegar, druggists.
