DAVID DUDLEY FIELD.

Death of the Eminent Jurist in New York City.

His Recent Return from Europe in Apparent Good Health Followed by a Fatal Attack of Pneumonia—Sketch of His Career.

A GREAT LOSS.

NEW YORK, April 14.—David Dudley Field, the distinguished jurist, died Friday at his home, 2 Gramercy place, of pneumonia. Mr. Field arrived from Italy only last Wednesday on the Columbia. He had gone abroad to take Christmas dinner with his only child lady Musgrave, and to attend the twenty first birthday celebration of her eldest son, Dudley Field Musgrave. His daughter is the widow of Sir Anthony Musgrave, who was governor of Queensland, Australia, when he died. She is living in East Grinstead in Sussex, about 30 miles from London. He then traveled about on the continent and took the steamer from Genoa for home.

He had been at his home at 9 Gramercy place since his return, and was thought to be in good health for a man of his age—89 years. He was taken with pneumonia Wednesday night. He had expected to spend his summer among the Berkshire hills, where he was born. He was engaged in writing his autobiography. Only last Wednesday he remarked: "My one great ambition is to have my codes adopted all over the world. They are written and published. It is only a question of time when they will be accepted."

His Estate.

Mr. Field's estate is valued at between $500,000 and $1,000,000. The property is unencumbered. Mr. Henry M. Field, his brother, said that the bulk of his estate will be held in trust for the grandchildren until they become of age.

Flags at Half Mast.

When the news of Mr. Field's death became known Mayor Gilroy ordered the flags on the city hall displayed at half mast, and the flag over the Lawyers' club in the Equitable building was also lowered. Judge Prior, sitting in part 1 of the court of common pleas, Judge Bookstaver, holding a special term of the court of common pleas, and Judge Gierich in part 3 of the court of common pleas, adjourned court when they heard of Mr. Field's death.

His Remarkable Career.

[Mr. Field was born at Hadam, Conn., and was educated at Williams college. He studied law, was admitted to practice when 23 years old and began his legal career in this city. He was chiefly known as a public man for his labors in the cause of law reform. Having been appointed in 1847 by the legislature of his state a commissioner on practice and pleading, he took an active part in the preparation of a new code of procedure. He was intrusted by the state in 1857, as president of a commission, with the task of preparing a political code, a penal code, and a civil code, containing the entire body of the law. Mr. Field undertook the penal code and Mr. Field the analysis of the political and civil. After many drafts and eight successive reports had been made the ninth and final report was submitted to the legislature in February, 1863. Mr. Field rewrote the civil code eighteen times. All these law reforms occupied most of his time for eighteen years.

Other states followed the example of New York. These codes have been adopted by nearly all the states and, in substance, by England and her colonies. An international code was next drawn up. Working with the Law Society in England, he drafted a code which was afterwards published.

Helped to Nominate Lincoln.

Mr. Field made his first public speech in 1842 at Tammany hall. Two years later he began to rally the anti-slavery remnants of his party to oppose the annexation of Texas. None was more active on the side of freedom during the Missouri compromise and the Kansas-Nebraska difficulty. He attended many conventions and always spoke against that portion of his party which upheld the slave trade. Mr. Field was a delegate to the peace convention during the last months of the Buchanan administration. In 1873 he attended a meeting at Brussels, which resulted in the formation of an association of economists, legislators and lawyers from all parts of the world for the reform and codification of the laws of nations, the object being to substitute arbitration for war in the settlement of disputes. Of this association he was chosen president. In the latter part of 1873 Mr. Field made a tour around the world, being received everywhere with the highest honors permissible to a civilian.

The Funeral.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Funeral services were held yesterday over the remains of David Dudley Field at Calvary Episcopal church. Many distinguished men were present. The remains were taken to Stockbridge, Mass., for interment.

Gold Production of the United States.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Director Preston, of the mint, has completed his final figures on the gold production of the United States during the calendar year 1893. The total production is given as of the value of $85,950,000, which is an increase for the year of 75,455 ounces, representing $1,518,422.

WILL BE FORGIVEN.

President Peixoto Offers Amnesty to Some Brazilian Rebels.

MONTEVIDEO, April 17.—The capture of Admiral Mello by the fleet of President Peixoto is looked upon here as being only a question of a few hours.

President Peixoto's government, through the Brazilian minister here, offers to pay the quarantine fees and all other urgent expenses, together with free passage home, of all Gen. Salgado's refugee forces who desire to return to Brazilian territory. This is coupled with a guarantee of freedom from political persecution on account of their recent rebellion to all of them who abandon hostility toward the constitutional authorities.

Word has been received here from Santa Victoria, in the province of Santa Catharina, Brazil, that after Admiral Mello's fleet left Uruguayan waters he attempted to regain a foothold at Rio Grande City. He landed a force of men on the beach south of the harbor entrance, but President Peixoto's troops attacked them so successfully that they were forced to reembarc after sustaining a loss in killed, wounded and captured of more than 500 of their number. The fleet then sailed north with Mello still on board the Republica, and is now near Pernambuco.

One of President Peixoto's gunboats, the Cabidello, blew up near Belen the other day, killing or wounding fifteen of the crew.

BUENOS AIRES, April 17.—Five of the warships that belonged to the Brazilian insurgent fleet commanded by Admiral de Mello arrived off this port Monday night. The vessels are the Republica, Meteoro, Iris, Urano and Esperanza.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Many Obstacles Reported in the Way of Business Improvement.

NEW YORK, April 14.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

"Business improvement meets many obstacles and is scarcely as distinct as it has been in recent weeks. Strikers have checked the improvement in building and some other trades, and scarcity of coals has caused the closing of some iron works, while a strike of all bituminous coal miners is ordered and may prove serious. More favorable crop reports than were expected, which justify larger hope for next fall, have arrested the upward tendency in prices of products. The revival of sold exports occasions much disquietude, but the gradual exhaustion of goods in the hands of dealers makes the consumption of the people more distinctly felt and apparently larger, and this demand increases with the gain in the number of hands at work.

"It cannot be said that the uncertainty as to the future has materially diminished, but there is evidently a growing impression that there will be no important legislation on the currency or the tariff. This impression, whether erroneous or not, influences the action of many. On the whole, though progress is still obstructed by uncertain ties, it has not been arrested. The most cheering sign is the decrease in importance of commercial failures, for though one mortgage loan concern has failed with liabilities of $5,500,000, the liabilities in all commercial failures for the first week of April were only $2,193,834, of which $800,357 were of manufacturing and $1,393,477 of trading concerns. The failures this week have been 218 in the United States, against 187 last year, and 34 in Canada, against 22 last week."

A GREAT STRIKE.

Fully 1,500 Miles of the Great Northern Railway Tied Up.

HELENA, Mont., April 14.—A general strike on the Great Northern railway extending from Larimore, N. D., to Spokane, Wash., on the main line, and from Havre to Butte, on the Montana Central, was inaugurated at noon Friday. Nearly 1,500 miles of road are tied up. The strike embraces all classes of employes. Every conductor, engineer, fireman, brakeman, operator, clerk, shopman, section man, car repairer and coal heaver between the points named quit work together and the switchmen with the exception of those employed in the Butte yard.

FOR UNIVERSAL PEACE.

World's Fair Arbitration Memorial Forwarded to All the Nations.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The state department has received for forwarding to the forty-nine independent nations of the world official copies of the memorial for international arbitration prepared at the World's Columbian exposition. It is signed by all the officers of the exposition and the prominent members of the congresses held at Chicago last summer, by the members of the present cabinet, leading senators and representatives, and by prominent men and women generally. It is a beautiful and unique document.

Washington Waking Up.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Washington authorities, civil and military, are beginning to take an active interest in the arrival of Corey's army. As the commonwealth approaches and the stories of detachments from various cities begin to be authenticated it looks as if there would be a rather troublesome problem for the district authorities to solve. The question is, what will be done with the Coreyites after they disband? The individual members of the army will be without means to get out of the city, and Gen. Corey has disclaimed all intention of leading away the men he brings in.

Supreme Court Begins.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The supreme court has announced that it will hear no further arguments after April 27, and that it will take a recess on April 30 until the fixing of the date for the final adjournment hereafter.

Killed by a Private.

FORT BUFORD, N. D., April 18.—Corporal John Hartwell, Twenty-fifth infantry, was shot and almost instantly killed by Private Basil Williams of the same company.

WINS HER SUIT.

Madeline Pollard Given a Verdict Against Col. Breckinridge.

The Jury Says He Must Pay Her $15,000—He Will Seek a New Trial—Women Want Him Expelled from Congress.

MISS POLLARD WINS.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Pollard-Breckinridge trial is ended at last and Madeline Pollard has a verdict for $15,000 against the silver-tongued congressman from the blue grass region. The jury rendered its verdict Saturday after having been out a little over an hour.

Wants a New Trial.

There was no expression of approval or disapproval from the crowd. Col. Breckinridge himself rose to make a motion for a new trial and the court adjourned. There was nothing but expressions of approval and regrets that the amount was not larger among the few senators in the senate chamber when the bulletin was announced to them and rapidly passed around the chamber.

Action of the Jury.

The jury took fifteen ballots before reaching a conclusion. The difference was mainly over the amount of damages to be granted, and there was but one man on the jury who favored the defendant. On the first ballot one juror voted for the defense and hung out for a time, but his colleagues thought he did it more for the sake of argument than because he was strongly in favor of Col. Breckinridge. A number of ballots were required to reach a compromise on the amount of damage to be awarded. Two or three jurors wanted to give the full amount of $50,000, while the others thought that merely nominal damages would serve to express their opinion that the congressman had treated Miss Pollard shabbily.

Miss Pollard in a Hospital.

Col. Breckinridge was very cool after the verdict had been rendered. He declined to speak at that time for publication, as did his attorneys. Miss Pollard was somewhat excited, but not hysterical, while awaiting the result and broke into tears when she heard it. She declined to be interviewed, and her attorneys said that she was anxious to efface herself from public sight as far as possible, now that the case had ended.

As might have been expected with a woman of her temperament, the long strain of the trial culminated in a nervous collapse, and Miss Pollard is suffering from nervous prostration. She was taken Saturday night to Providence hospital, a Catholic institution in a quiet part of the city on Capitol hill, where she is attended by the sisters of charity. The attending physicians do not anticipate any serious effects from her illness.

Women Want Him Expelled.

Hardly had the verdict been rendered when a meeting of prominent Washington women was called to take action regarding the case of Col. Breckinridge. Representatives of several feminine organizations met at Willard's hotel Saturday night, and after an interesting conference, adopted resolutions calling upon congress to consider the qualifications of Representative Breckinridge for membership in that body.

Some of the organizations whose representatives took part in the meeting were the Woman's Suffrage association, the Woman's Christian Temperance union and the Pro-Res-Nata. Mrs. Sarah La Feta, the president of the local Woman's Christian Temperance union, and Mrs. Ellen S. Mussey, the widow of the late Gen. Mussey, who is herself a practicing lawyer and is prominent in movements for the advancement of women, were among the leading spirits of the meeting.

The Resolutions.

The resolutions adopted were: "To the House of Representatives, Washington D. C.: We, representatives of the women of Washington, aiming toward the establishment of a higher code of morals and against the atrocious double standard which has cured society so long, declare that we do not believe manhood to be a license for uncleanness, but that, holding the same high standard for womanhood which men demand, one equally high should be required of manhood, therefore—

"Resolved, That we must have chastity for chastity, under one rule of right-bearing as rigidly in its application upon one sex as upon the other. From this standpoint we ask congress to consider the case of W. G. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, regarding his conduct so unbecoming a legislator. Be it further—

"Resolved, That we, daughters, wives and mothers of the commonwealth, express our belief that types of the highest manhood are to be found in congress; therefore, we ask in full confidence that the house of representatives join in the sentiment now presented by us and take some definite action to insure the high character of our country's administration, and help the future national councils to present a clean and unchallenged body of legislators."

MONUMENT FOR A HERO.

G. W. Humphrey Remembers the Man Who Died for His Father.

QUINCY, Ill., April 14.—G. W. Humphrey has just ordered a monument to be placed over the grave of Hiram Smith, at Palmyra, Mo. Smith was a victim of a tragic affair at Palmyra during the war. One of Gen. McNeil's men was missing, as the story goes, and he believed that he had been foully dealt with. McNeil announced that if the missing man was not found by a certain time he would select a number of citizens from the community and put them to death. People looked upon it as an idle threat, but the time came and the general did as he said he would do. Humphrey's father was one of the men selected, and would have been murdered with the rest had not his friend, Hiram Smith, volunteered to take his place in the doomed column and die in his place. Humphrey was a married man and Smith was single, and on this account permitted himself to be shot, so that his friend might be spared to his family. The children of Mr. Humphrey have long intended to erect a monument over the grave of the young hero, who died to save their father, but the matter has been put off until now, when the contract for the shaft has been awarded.

PASSED AWAY.

Ex-Gov. and Ex-United States Senator Harvey, of Kansas, Dead.

JUNCTION CITY, Kan., April 17.—Ex-Gov. and ex-United States Senator James M. Harvey died at his home near this city at midnight Sunday.

[The ex-governor was born in Monroe county, Va., September 21, 1833. He was educated in the public schools of Indiana, Iowa and Illinois, and practiced surveying and civil engineering until he removed to Kansas in 1859, when he became a farmer. He served three years in the war as captain of the Fourth and Tenth regiments of Kansas infantry. He was elected governor of Kansas in 1880, and served one term. He also served three years in the United States senate to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Alexander Caldwell. He was a republican.]

Approved After Adjournment.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—A constitutional opinion of great importance was rendered by Judge Nott, of the court of claims, Monday in passing upon one of two cases arising out of the Weil and La Abra Mexican awards. The question presented was as to whether or not the president can lawfully approve a bill after the adjournment of congress. Judge Nott held that the president has that right provided that it be exercised within the days allowed him by the constitution.

John T. Davis' wealth had been estimated at $2,000,000. He leaves a widow and three children.

THAT BLUE PENCIL MARK!
Has Caused Many Inquiries. Is It On Your Paper?

At the top of the right hand column of the first page you will find a coupon which reads "Good for two cents" and some of our subscribers will find a blue pencil mark on that coupon. If you will read carefully you will see that it is "not good if cancelled with blue." The reason for this is that we have made arrangements so that all subscribers who are paid in advance will receive back all the money they pay, besides getting the JOURNAL, which means that the JOURNAL costs those who pay in advance nothing, for if they cut their coupons out and use them at the places printed on their face, they get their money back with which they can re-subscribe for the JOURNAL, thus making one subscription virtually perpetual.

But the "blue mark" who will find that only on the papers of those who are in arrears for their subscription, for while we are feeling very liberal and magnanimous we are not able to make arrangements whereby we can give money to those who are in our debt, although should we receive all that is our due from subscribers, we could make and would gladly make arrangements to care for the 1400 two cent coupons each week.

HERE AND THERE.
If I should die tonight
And you should come to my cold corpse and say,
Weeping and heartache o'er my lifeless clay—
If I should die tonight
And you should come to me and there and then
I might arise in my large, white cravat,
And say,—"What's that?"
If I should die tonight
And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel,
Clasping my hair above the grief you feel,
I say, "If I should die tonight
And you should come to me and there and then
I might rise the while, but I'd drop dead again."

Resolutions of Respect.
WHEREAS, in view of the loss we have sustained in our White Ribbon Band by the decease of our friend and associate, Mrs Margaret Moore, and of the near and dear loss sustained by those still living, therefore be it,
Resolved, that it is but a just tribute to the memory of the departed to say that in regretting her removal from our midst we mourn for one who was at all times a consistent christian and a truly devout woman.
Resolved, that as a Union we sincerely sympathize with the family of the deceased and commend them for consolation to Him who orders all things for the best and whose chastisements are meant in mercy. That we shall deeply feel the loss of her presence and influence in our meetings and that we shall strive to so live that we may be reunited in that home, where partings are no more.
Her suffering ended with the day: Yet lived she at his close, And breathed the long night away, To ease the restless sleeper,
But when the sun in his state, Illumined the eastern sky, She passed through glory's morning gate, And walked in heaven's light.

THE ENGLISH IDEA.
AN UNDERCURRENT OF ANXIETY TO SECURE OUR TRADE.
Interesting Comments From The British Press That Show How They Want to Sell Their Goods—Closed American Factories Mean Ruin For England.
Exports to the United States have not been going out quite so freely as other countries might have been expected, and if the new tariff bill is accepted, it will mean a large increase in tonnage is most probable.—Morning, England.
The Wilson bill would reduce the duties in many cases if it became law, and intending exporters to the States are therefore holding back all the goods they can in order to escape the McKinley duties, should these be ultimately repealed.—East Anglian (Ipswich) Times.
It will be a bad lookout for Welsh tin workers if America ever successfully makes enough tin plates to meet its own consumption. It will still worse if America can manufacture more than sufficient for its own use, for this will mean competition with Wales in markets now its own.—Western Mail, Cardiff, Wales.
There is at present going through the United States congress a measure which ought to prove of vast importance to Irish trade, but especially to the woolen industry in this country. The time to be the fall is not yet past, and a patch about has been in operation some time, but on the first day that it comes into play, the English and Scotch and other woolen makers will make a rush for possession. Dublin Times.
The Americans will settle their tariff with an eye to their own interests and not to ours. As free traders we may think the tariff a hindrance, but the Americans are a long way from seeing matters in the same light. British manufacturers should not let any chances slip them of utilizing to the full any opportunities for increased trade with the States. If formed tariff may one day affect them. But they must not trust too confidently to a reopening of an unimproved fine market for their goods.—London Standard.
The truth is that the effectual cure of the grave evils which afflict the body politic in the United States, and which, in spite of the immense expenditure of the republic, have evolved there a social problem at least as formidable and urgent as any which confronts the crowded states of the old world, may be the simple one of restoring to the people never accomplished until the people have got rid of the more sordid avatars of the horrid commodities be more in value than the importation of foreign, so we shall be sure that the stocks of the kingdom shall yearly increase, for then the balance trade will be returned in money or bullion. "Let the vanity of the times be restrained. Let that in apparel and which is more vain, than of fashion, to do all that is claimed for the excess of diet in costly meats and drinks deflected from beyond the seas should be avoided. Wise men will do it without a law. I would there might be a law to restrict retail. The excess of wine costs the kingdom much and returns nothing but surfeits and diseases. Were we wise as easily as we are, we would not be so fond of wine. If we would needs be drunk with wine, we might be drunk with half the cost." "If we must be in laces and emblems, let us do all that is claimed for the manufacture of the natives."
"But instead of crying up all things which are either brought from beyond the seas or made here by the hands of strangers, let us advance the native commodities of our own kingdom and employ our countrymen before strangers. Let us turn our hands to hand into cloths and stuffs of our own growth, and the hemp and flax growing here into linen cloth and cordage. It would not be long before our manufactures would be worth the materials worked by industry be multiplied to 5, 10 and many times to 20 times more in the value being wrought."
The Sheep Industry of Texas.
Texas alone possesses about 4,000,000 sheep, or about one-eleventh of all the sheep in the United States. These sheep bring into Texas each year about $7,000,000, which is expended in the state for feed, herding, shearing, salt, shekling and the lease of lands. There is a vast amount of wool produced in Texas now being utilized in the sheep industry that pays a good revenue, as the land thus used increases its taxable value, and it otherwise would be comparatively useless.
The agitation for a reduction of the tariff on wools has caused the value of the wool products to drop from 18 to 30 cents to 4 and 8 cents per pound—in fact, no sales at all—and the value of sheep has fallen in proportion. Taking into consideration the great number of men, directly and indirectly who are engaged in this industry and the vast amount expended annually among all classes of people, it must be conceded that the position of the people connected with this industry is less favorable than has appeared at any previous time. It is ruin that Senator Mills is advocating for his fellow citizens in his own state.
Do Not Dread the Smoke Now.
About two years ago there was a great outcry about too much smoke from the smokstacks at Chicago and elsewhere, and the question was raised of making laws to compel the factories to consume the smoke, as it specked the clothing while being driven on the lines. But the smoke was a by-product of what was first expected for free trade, and the consequence was that the factories soon stopped, and there was no further trouble from the smoke. But now all the people agree that they want the factories running, even if they do have to put up with smoke. Let the factory fires all burn again.

THE CLEVELAND BADGE.
A Prevailing Evil, Worn as a Necessity Rather Than an Ornament.
Here is a story from actual life that is too good to be lost: A lady in Macomb, wife of one of our mechanics who voted for Cleveland and reform, was down town the other day doing some trading in one of the leading grocery stores. She was well acquainted with the proprietor, and after through ordering goods fell into a chat with that gentleman.
The Cuckoo.
What cures the cuckoo
And fancies ease,
When Grover's favor
Rewards his fawning zeal?
The shops are closed
And business scarce,
What cures the cuckoo
When his master dares?
The cuckoo doubts not
So the Grover cures,
And daves not question
Aught that he decides.
But the people's wack
Mock the Grover's will,
Lay out the cuckoo
With November's chill.
—George A. Glean.
