

CHANGE OF HEART.

Congressman Bryan Says Mr. Carlisle Is Thus Affiliated.

The Assault of Free Coinage Throws the Searchlight Upon the Kentucky Statesman's Position on Silver, Past and Present.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 28.—Before an audience that filled every nook and corner of the Grand opera house and overflowed into the street, ex-Congressman W. J. Bryan, of Nebraska, replied Friday night to the speech on the monetary issue delivered across the street on Thursday afternoon by Secretary Carlisle. In the course of his speech Mr. Bryan said:

Made Some Comparisons. "I have read the speech delivered by Mr. Carlisle in this city on Thursday; also the one delivered by him in Covington, Ky., last Monday evening, and I have compared them with the speech delivered by him on the 11th of February, 1878, in the house of representatives, and I am reminded of the language used by David in lamenting the death of Saul: 'How are the mighty fallen!' In 1878 Mr. Carlisle was hurling the bolts of truth at the plans of the Philistines, John Sherman, to-day, as a Goliath, he daily issues challenges to his former friends. His speech of 1874 was made when he was 43 years old, in the full possession of his physical strength and mental vigor. He had then been a practicing lawyer for twenty years; a member of the state legislature of Kentucky and a lieutenant governor of that state, and was then a member of congress.

Explanation That Don't Explain. "Mr. Carlisle did not refer, at Memphis, to his speech of 1878, but he did refer to it in Covington and said: 'Some of the opinions then expressed have been modified, and some of them have been changed altogether by subsequent events and by a more thorough investigation of the subjects to which they related; but, on the question of free coinage my convictions have never been shaken for a moment.' But he did not state, even at Covington, what parts of his former speech he repudiated, and what parts he modified. He served in the house and senate for about fifteen years after the making of that speech, and never, upon a single occasion did he attempt to withdraw the utterances of 1878 or to modify the emphasis with which he then spoke. He explains that he voted for free coinage in 1878 in the hope that it would be amended in the senate, but he never voted against free coinage until after the nomination of Mr. Carlisle in 1892.

"It is true that in 1878 Mr. Carlisle did say that he was opposed to the free coinage of silver, but he was not in all fairness, to have stated that he was at that time opposed to the free coinage of gold also. He said in his speech of 1878: 'I am opposed to the free coinage of either gold or silver, but in favor of the unlimited coinage of both metals upon terms of exact equality.'

Suffering from a Change of Heart. "So much for the position of Mr. Carlisle upon the question of free coinage. We do not deny him the right to change his opinion, but it has been more than a change of opinion; it has been a change of heart. Mr. Carlisle at that time was the Moses of the common people; he is now the commander in chief of Pharaoh's army. He was then the courageous and zealous leader of the masses in the effort to restore the gold and silver coinage of the constitution; he is now the foremost champion of the very forces that he then denounced with so much vigor.

Carlisle vs. Sherman. "In his denunciation of Senator Sherman at that time Mr. Carlisle stated in substance: 'First, that the interests of the "idle holders of idle capital" are different from the interests of the "struggling masses"; second, that Senator Sherman sympathizes with the capitalists, rather than with the masses; and third, that Senator Sherman, as a public official, sworn to do his duty, would be governed by his sympathies, and therefore, coin only half as much money as he would coin if his sympathies were with the "struggling masses."

"History bore out the prophecy made by Mr. Carlisle, because Mr. Sherman and his successors never coined more than the minimum amount. Senator Sherman and Mr. Carlisle are now in hearty accord. Has Senator Sherman at last become the champion of the "struggling masses," or has Secretary Carlisle become the champion of the "idle holders of idle capital?"

Mr. Bryan discussed various phases of the money question, quoting frequently from Secretary Carlisle and answering his arguments by arguments formerly made by Senator Carlisle or by statistics. He closed by saying that Secretary Carlisle had deserted the "struggling masses" for whom he formerly spoke, but that, even without his leadership they would be able to oust their ballots for the restoration of the gold and silver coinage of the constitution, and that the present efforts of Secretary Carlisle, instead of retarding the movement would make his former speech familiar to the American people and show them the danger of intrusting our financial policy to the "idle holders of idle capital" or to their representatives.

UPHOLDS THE GEARY LAW. Supreme Court Decides That the Exclusion Act is Constitutional. WASHINGTON, May 28.—The supreme court of the United States has affirmed the constitutionality of the Geary Chinese exclusion law in the case of Lem Moon Sing, the California Chinaman who left this country and was refused admission. Justice Harlan, in the opinion, said that the statute intrusted to the collector the power of passing upon the facts in the case. Lem Moon Sing contended that he had acquired a domicile as a citizen of the United States before the passage of the exclusion law.

FRIENDS OF SILVER.

They Will Hold a Convention in Memphis on June 12 and 13.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 27.—The following address to the public, issued by the Central Bimetallic league of Memphis, explains itself:

"TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES: The arch enemies of the agricultural and producing classes of our country, moved by greed and encouraged by avarice, have conspired to transfer the essentially governmental function of issuing and controlling the money volume of the nation to a system of banking corporations for the sake of class legislation and void of any virtue which commends it to the consideration of a patriotic citizen. Undaunted by the failure to secure the sanction of the American congress the promoters of this inhuman scheme have boldly taken the initiatory step to attain the object of the conspiracy. Backed by the great power of ex-haustless wealth and the influence of high official position, they have publicly conveyed in his city of Memphis and openly declared their purpose. They demand that the constitutional and inherently sovereign right to issue money be delivered into their hands. They hesitate at no deception, they scruple at no fraud. Knowing the innate integrity of our people they grate of 'hot cast money.' Appreciating our aversion to paternalism they say the government must go out of the banking business.

"They hope and believe that we will not stop to consider that to exact a dollar which is true the statement that money of the constitution, established by the fathers, is dishonest for no other reason save the dicta of their illustrious accomplices and tools. They hope that the people will ignorantly confound the sovereign prerogative and the duty of government to coin money and establish a system of uniform weights and measures, with the business of loans and discounts inherently appropriate to the occupation of the private citizen. They think that we will forget that the question is not whether the government shall go out of the banking business, but whether the banks shall go out of the governing business. Thus they design by the aid of public sympathy to rivet the chains which will make free men slaves.

"To the end that their hopes may meet with disappointment and their conspiracy with failure, that the tolling masses of our people may be saved from an industrial serfdom more cruel and degrading than chattel slavery, something must be done to meet their cunningly directed and insidious assaults. "That the people may come together and take counsel of each other it has been deemed expedient to call together a convention to assemble at Memphis, June 12 and 13, 1895. Every community, every city and town and every state in the union is earnestly requested and cordially invited to send delegates to that convention. Every vicinity is urged to organize bimetallic clubs, and every club should be represented. It is proposed that this convention shall voice the sentiments of the people. The country needs their best thought, their most careful deliberation and energetic action. They have no money to employ hiring emissaries to draw up delegates from cotton exchanges and boards of trade. Their own intelligent patriotism is the only fund to which they can appeal.

"The object of this convention is to formulate some definite plan for future action, to give direction to the overwhelming volume of public sentiment favoring a return to our own, and establishing our independence of alien financial institutions; to devise means for such a campaign of education that hereafter it will be possible to elect only such men to the legislative and executive offices of the nation as are unswayed by power and unshook by spoils.

"W. N. BROWN, "President Central Bimetallic League. "D. E. ARCHIBALD, Secretary."

HUGH McCULLOCH DEAD.

Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Expires at His Home in Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Hon. Hugh McCulloch, formerly secretary of the treasury, died shortly before 9 o'clock this morning. With him when the end came were his two sons, a married daughter and a grandson. Death was calm and peaceful, the patient having been for some time previous in a comatose condition. Mr. McCulloch was over 80 years of age.

(Hugh McCulloch was a native of Maine, having been born in Kennebec, that state, in 1810. He studied law in his early manhood, and on being admitted to the bar in 1833 removed to Fort Wayne, Ind. He accepted the position of cashier of the State bank of Indiana, which incident undoubtedly shaped a career which developed into one of distinguished financial success. He filled the position of cashier and director of the branch of the State bank of Indiana until 1857. In that year he was elected president of the State bank, in which position he continued until 1863, when President Lincoln appointed him comptroller of the currency. After thoroughly organizing and putting his bureau into successful operation he was appointed secretary of the treasury by President Lincoln March 7, 1865, and he held that office throughout President Johnson's administration, until succeeded by Secretary Boutwell under President Grant March 11, 1868. Mr. McCulloch then established in London the banking house of J. & C. Cooke, McCulloch & Co., with which he continued until the suspension of the American firm of Jay Cooke & Co. in 1873, when the London house reorganized under the name of McCulloch & Co. A year afterward he returned to the United States. In 1884 he was again appointed secretary of the treasury, this time by President Arthur, serving until the first Cleveland cabinet was installed. Since then he has held no public office.)

DEBS IS DOOMED.

He Must Serve His Sentence of Six Months for Contempt.

The United States Supreme Court Refuses to Grant a Writ of Habeas Corpus—Synopsis of the Decision.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The habeas corpus case of Eugene V. Debs et al., growing out of the great railroad strike at Chicago last summer was decided in the supreme court of the United States Monday, its unanimous opinion being read by Justice Brewer.

The Case in Question. The opinion recited the facts connected with the origin of the case—a suit by the United States in the circuit court for the Northern district of Illinois for an injunction to restrain Debs and his associates of the American Railway union from interfering with the movement of the interstate traffic; the issuing of the injunction prayed for; the violation of the injunction by Debs et al. their arrest and punishment by Judge Woods for contempt of court, and the application of the petitioners for a writ of habeas corpus. The case was argued, it will be remembered, some weeks ago by Attorney General Olney for the government and C. S. Darrow for the petitioners, the contention of the latter being that the circuit court had no jurisdiction of the original bill and therefore there could be no contempt of court in failing to observe the terms of the injunction issued thereunder.

Substance of the Opinion. The opinion of the court was in substance as follows: "The case presented is this: The United States, claiming that the interstate transportation of persons and property, as well as the carriage of the mails, is forcibly obstructed and that a combination and conspiracy exists to obstruct the control of such transportation to the will of the conspirators, applied to one of their courts, sitting as a court of equity, for an injunction to restrain such obstruction and prevent carrying into effect such conspiracy. Two questions of importance are presented: "1. Are the relations of the general government to interstate commerce and the transportation of the mails such as authorize a direct interference to prevent a forcible obstruction thereof? "2. If authority exists, as authority in governmental affairs implies both power and duty, has a court of equity the jurisdiction to issue an injunction in aid of the performance of such duty, and are the relations of the general government to interstate commerce and the transportation of the mails such as authorize a direct interference to prevent a forcible obstruction thereof?"

"If authority exists, as authority in governmental affairs implies both power and duty, has a court of equity the jurisdiction to issue an injunction in aid of the performance of such duty, and are the relations of the general government to interstate commerce and the transportation of the mails such as authorize a direct interference to prevent a forcible obstruction thereof?"

"Under the power vested in congress to establish post offices and post roads congress has by a mass of legislation established the great post office system of the country, with all its detail of organization, its machinery for the transaction of business, defining what shall be carried and what not, and the price of carriage, and also prescribing penalties for all offenses against it. Obviously these powers given to the national government over interstate commerce and in respect to the transportation of the mails were not dormant and inert powers, but were held of these two matters, and, by various and specific acts, had assumed and exercised the powers given to it, and was in the full discharge of its duty to regulate interstate commerce and carry the mail."

"The decision says, however, that there is no such impediment in the national government. The strong arm of the national government may be put forth to brush away all obstructions to the freedom of interstate commerce or the transportation of the mails. If the executive and the army of the nation and all its militia are at the service of the nation to compel obedience to its laws. In the present case the right to use force does not exclude the right of appeal to the courts for a judicial determination and for the exercise of their powers of prevention. Indeed, it is more to the praise than to the blame of the government that instead of determining for itself questions of right and wrong on the part of these petitioners and their associates and enemies, and determining by the club of the policeman and the bayonet of the soldier, it submitted all those questions to the peaceful determination of judicial tribunals, and invoked their consideration and judgment as to the measure of its powers.

Acts Worthy of Admiration. "After further argument the opinion says: "After earnest and eloquent appeal was made to us in eulogy of the heroic spirit of those who threw up their employment and gave up their means of earning a livelihood, not in defense of their own rights, but in sympathy for and to assist others whom they believed to be wronged. We yield to none in our admiration of any act of heroism or self-sacrifice, but we may be permitted to add that it is a lesson which cannot be learned too soon or too thoroughly that under this government of and by the people the means of redress of all wrong is through the courts and at the ballot box, and that no resort to real or fancied, carries with it legal warrant to invite as a means of redress the cooperation of a mob with its accompanying acts of violence. "We have given to this case the next anxious and careful attention, for we realize that it touches closely questions of supreme importance to the people of the country." The court then sums up its conclusions substantially as given above and denies the petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Men Affected by Decision.

The men who are affected by the decision are Debs, Howard, Kellher, Rogers, Burns, Hogan, Goodwin and Elliott. They are president, vice president and directors of the American Railway union. Mr. Debs is now in Terre Haute.

ANOTHER LETTER.

President Cleveland Writes to the New York Democratic Editors.

New York, May 25.—Two hundred and twenty-seven editors and their friends were present at the banquet of the Democratic Editorial association of the state of New York held at Delmonico's Friday night. Before the speaking letters expressing regret at not being able to be present from President Cleveland, Postmaster General Wilson, Secretary of War Lamont and many others were read.

President Cleveland in his letter said: "Our party is so much a party of power, and its proper action and usefulness are so dependent upon a constant adherence to its doctrines and traditions that no tendency in our ranks to follow the misleading light of a temporary popular misapprehension should go unchallenged. Our victories have all been won when we have closely followed the banner of democratic principle. We have always been punished by defeat when, losing sight of our banner, we have yielded to the blandishments of undemocratic expediency.

"There is a temptation now vexing the people in different sections of the country which assumes the disguise of democratic party principle, inasmuch as it presents a scheme which is claimed to be a remedy for agricultural depression and such other hardships as afflict our fellow citizens. Thus, because we are the friends of the people and profess devotion to their interests, the help of the members of our party is invoked in support of a plan to revolutionize the monetary condition of the country, and embark upon an experiment which is discredited by all reason and experience, which invites trouble and disaster in every avenue of labor and enterprise, and which must prove destructive to our national prestige and character.

"When a campaign is actively on foot to force free, unlimited and independent coinage of silver by the government at a ratio which will add to our circulation unrestrained millions of so-called dollars, intrinsically worth but half the amount they purport to represent, with no provision of resource to make good this deficiency in value, and when it is claimed that such a proposition has any relation to the principles of democracy, it is time for all who may in the least degree influence democratic thought, to realize their responsibility. "Democratic care and conservatism dictate that if there exists inconvenience and hardships resulting from the congestion or imperfect distribution of our circulating medium a remedy should be applied which will avoid the disaster that must follow in the train of silver monometallism.

"Yours very truly, "GROVER CLEVELAND."

LYNCHED IN ILLINOIS.

The Two Assassins of a Young Lady Hanged at Danville.

DANVILLE, Ill., May 25.—Early Saturday morning a mob which had been in possession of Vermillion county's jail for several hours succeeded in locating John Halls, Jr., and William Royce in their cells, took them outside and hanged them for assaulting Miss Laura Barnett. From midnight when the crowd first made its appearance at the jail doors, until the victims were reached, it was the determined, desperate struggle of a frenzied mob to mete summary justice, battling against heavy oaken doors and iron bars, and occasionally halted by the grim stand of a little band of defenders of law and order under the command of Sheriff Thompson. No amount of parleying on his part and no plea from his wife could withstand the mob which had but the one object in view.

ORGANIZE AGAINST SILVER.

Hon. Don M. Dickinson heading the movement in Michigan.

DETROIT, Mich., May 27.—Hon. Don M. Dickinson is said to have become alarmed at the growth of the free-silver idea and last week he decided to start a campaign against it.

The result of his secret visit to Grand Rapids has now become apparent in the formation of a club nominally at Grand Rapids, but really intended to have branches all over the state.

It is said to be the plan to inaugurate a "sound money" ball rolling by organizing the anti-free silver men of the party in all the cities.

The declaration of principles opened with this sentence: "We, the undersigned, are opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver by the United States alone, and the ratio of 16 to 1." The rest of the matter states that free coinage would be a violation of sound money principles and would have a tendency to injure the interests of the people.

The new declaration of faith is against any adoption of the principles of populism by the democrats and republicans, but in favor of the national democratic convention. Such men as Judge Chapin, Dudley Waters, Geo. Smith and other democrats are in the more.

MRS. HUGHSON'S DEFENSE.

See the Arsenic Found in Her Husband's House.

DETROIT, May 28.—The trial of Mrs. Hughson, May 28.—The trial of Mrs. Henry Hughson, accused of poisoning her second husband, Nathan Douglas, has been taken up to-day in the trial in the Michigan supreme court. The case will not be reached until the latter part of the week.

The defense will admit that arsenic was found in the kitchen, but it will be denied that it reached there through the testimony of Prof. Vaughan, of the university, that it found arsenic in the kitchen.

The testimony of Prof. Vaughan, of the university, that it found arsenic in the kitchen, is added to support this theory. They will submit that it reached the kitchen by diffusion, and that opportunity was given for it to get there by a coat of $125,000, 22 per cent of which was metallic arsenic.

The People Tell of Their Experience.

THE DRUGGISTS TESTIFY: 647 Are Cured or Greatly Benefitted—Only 22 Say They Received No Benefit.

Although the Munyon Co. do not publish certificates of cures until they have been thoroughly tested by time, yet we have the right to print some of the grateful expressions from the afflicted who have used our medicines, as well as those received from the druggists.

A gentleman writes: "My husband has been entirely relieved of the rheumatism in his arms and shoulders, from which he had suffered for years."

Another says: "I think Munyon's Compound Cure is the best medicine I ever saw. It has cured me of a bad cough, from which I have suffered summer and winter for seven years; I support myself with others. Above all, it cures the superior merits which we claim will be equalled in no way to your advantage."

A gentleman says: "I have not been free from the pains of rheumatism for two years until I used Munyon's Cure; the pains are all gone now."

A young man says: "Munyon's Rheumatism Cure has cured me of my father, who has been a great sufferer for a long time."

John A. Hamilton writes: "Munyon's Catarrh Cure has done me more good than all the treatments I have ever tried, and I have used dozens. It has cured me of my father, who has been a great sufferer for a long time."

Farmers!

We have put a new department in the JOURNAL wholly in the interest of the farmers. It is headed "Farmers Wants" and as it is intended solely for farmers, to let their brother farmers know what they have for sale, want to buy, or have to exchange for something else, we have made a special rate for these ads.

Consult it this week for bargains and for terms of advertisements and if you have anything to sell, or exchange, or want to buy anything from pickets, cornstalks or straw, to a farm, try this column. We think that being classified and set apart so it will be easily found and the convenience of this column as a means of exchange, will be appreciated.
