WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 .- The following order, announcing officially to the army the retirement from active service of Leut. Gen. John M. Schofield, was published Monday: "EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, Sept. 20, 1885.—Lieut Gen John M. Schofield has reached the age entitling him to relief from active military service. He is, in accordance with the provisions of law, hereby placed upon the retired list of the army to date September 29, 1895, with all the pay and allowances belonging to his rank upon such retirement.

'To is with much regret that the president makes the announcement that the country is thus to lose from the command of its army this distinguished general who has done so much for its honor and efficiency. His gallantry in war fully remember and appreciate how faithfully he has served his country in times of peace by his splendid and successful performance of civil as well as military duty.

"Lieut Gen Schoffeld's career, exhibiting an unvarying love for his profession, a zealous care for its honor and good name, a just apprehension of the subordination it exacts and a constant manifestation of the best traits of true Americanism, furnishes to the army an example of inestimable value and should teach all our people that the highest soldierly qualties are built upon the keenest sense of the obligations belonging to good citizenship.

"(Signed) GROVER CLEVELAND."

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Maj. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, at present commanding the department of the Atlantic at Governor's Island, announced officially Sunday night that he would go to Washington as successor to Lieut. Gen. Schofield. The title of "lieutenant general" died a natural death with Gen. Schofield's retirement, and Gen. Miles will be still a major general, though he will command the army of the United States.

Gen. Miles has received all his mil-Itary training on the field of experience ad of in the schools. He will be the first general for many years who Gen Miles is a native of Massachusetts, having been born in Westminister August 8, 1839. In 1861 he joined the Twenty-second Massachusetts volunteers and served throughout the rebellion with great distinction. He distinguished himself early in his career in the army of the Potomac and took part in every eugagement except one up to Lee's surrender at Appomattex.

sugarement except one up to Lee's surrender at appointator.

Gen. Miles' promotion was marked by exceptional rapidity, only about a year clapsing before he was made licutenant colonel of the Sixty-first New York infantry, and a month later, September 20, 1862, he was made colonel of the same regiment. In 1864 he attained the rank of brigadier general of volunteers, and early in the following year obtained his commission as major general of volunteers. In 1865 he was mustered out of the volunteer service and placed in command of the Fourth United States infantry, in which he remained till 1899, when he was transferred of the Fourth United States infantry, in which he remained till 1869, when he was transferred to the Fitch infantry.

Gen. Miles was commissioned brevet brigadier general March 2, 1875; brigadier general December, 1880, and major general in 1890, when he was assigned to the command of the division of the Missouri, which he relinquished last year to take command of this department on the retirement of Maj Gen.

Altogether the new commander has had a varied military career. Since the war he has been best known as an Indian fighter. He did fine work at the head of the Indian terridid fine work at the head of the Indian territory expedition in 1973. In 1876 he drove Sitting Bull over the Canadian line, captured a number of noted warriors and also succeeded in making prisoners of Chief Joseph and the Nex Perces. In 1878 he deteated and captured a band of Bannocks in Yellowstone park. Not long after this he succeeded in bringing in Sitting Bull, and thus was more a factor than any other man in the settlement of Montana and North and South Dakota. In 1886 he captured Geronimo and his band of Apaches in Arisona. His most recent claim to public attention was the part he took in suppressing the Chicago strike of the American Bailway union last year.

Great Mass-Meetings in Chicago Sympa-

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 .- Surrounded by patriotic mottoes, with the American flag as a background, the declaration of independence as a text book and the spirit of liberty as an inspiration, 4,000 persons yelled themselves hoarse Monday night in the cause of Cuban independence. There could scarcely have been more enthusiasm had the meeting been held in Cuba itself. Central music hall was not big enough to hold all the sympathizers and there was an overflow meeting in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association building. At both meetings the same resolutions were adopted and speeches were made by men prominent in civil affairs, all of whom uncompromisingly favored the freedom of the little island from the thralldom of Spain. The resolutions express sympathy for the revolutionists; call on the United States to recognize them as belligerents, and ask other countries to join in making this demand. They begin with the best known paragraph in the declaration of independence and end with a determination to continue the work begun at Monday night's two big assemblages.

SAILORS LOST.

Many Vessels Wrecked on the Lakes Dur

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 .- Advices from lake ports late Monday night report a total of ten vessels ashore. Several of them will be totally lost. Many boats are overdue at this port on account of the recent gale. Telegrams keep coming in saying that the missing craft are in havens down the lake awaiting the subsidence of the heavy seas. The suspension of navigation to the east shore for two days has resulted in a arge accumulation of fruitat all Michigan ports.

WHITING, Ind., Oct. 1.-At4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon the schooner John R. Raber, bound from South Chicago to Michigan City, Ind., went ashore at Dune Park, 18 miles east of Whiting. The drowned are Johnson, captain and owner of the boat, and an un unknown sailor.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Oct. 1. - News has just reached here of the loss of the schooner Elma with all hands at Pictured Rocks during the frightful gale Saturday night, and the captain and his wife and child and six members of the crew were drowned.

HIS RETURN DELAYED.

President Will Not Leave Gray Cables for Washington Until October 15. Washington, Sept. 30 .- The president's plans to return to the capital

October 1 have, according to statements made at the white house, undergone a radical change. It is now stated that he will remain at Gray Gables until at least the 15th. He is under engagement to visit the Atlanta exposition on the 22d, and it is supposed that he has arranged his business so as to remain at Gray Gables until about a week before it is necessary for him to start on his trip to Georgia. Private Becretary Thurber is expected to return, however, to Washington Tues-

To Crown the Cuar. LONDON, Sept. 28.—The Standard publishes a letter from its Moscow correspondent saying that great preparations are already being made for the coronation of the czar in the spring, as outdoor work is impossible during the winter. The government has allotted 6,500,000 roubles and the municipal authorities have voted 500,000 roubles more for a proper observance of the occasion.

Typhoid in Chicago. CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Physicians and the hospitals report many cases of typhoid fever. In the hospitals alone there are some 350 or 400 cases and estimates give 800 to 1,200 other cases throughout the various wards of the city. The disease is of the most virulent form and the doctors say it is fast becoming epidemic. Impure water and impure milk are considered the principal causes of the prevalence of the dis-

The Famous Bacteriologist Passes Away in France.

Repeated Paralytic Strokes the Cause of Life of the Celebrated

PARIS, Sept. 30. - Prof. Louis Pasteur, the eminent bacteriologist, died Saturday evening at 5 o'clock at Garches, near St. Cloud, in the environs of this city. Prof. Pasteur had suffered from paralysis for a considerable period of time. About eight days ago he sustained a violent paralytic stroke, and Friday suffered still another severe attack. He grew worse rapidly and remained in a comatose condition during his last hours. The end was absolutely without pain. His wife de-votedly watched his bedside. His son, his physician, his daughter and hissonin-law, M. Valleryradot, and two grandchildren, as well as Dr. Roux and Dr. Chantnesse, were present when he passed away. Life of the Bacteriologist.

Strasburg, in 1818. At the end of 1854 he was intrusted as dean with the organization of the newly created faculty of sciences at Lillie, and in 1857 returned to Paris and undertook the "scientific direction" of the Ecole Normale. In December, 1863, he was appointed professor of geology, physics and chemistry at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts, and was elected a member of the institute. The Royal society of London in 1856 awarded M. Pasteur the Humford medal for his researches reliative to the polarization of light, etc. He was decorated with the Legion of Honor August 13, 1858, was promoted to be an officer of that orders in 1863, and a commander in 1869. M. Pasteur has written numerous works relating to chemistry and bacteriology, for which in 1861 he obtained the Jecker prize. In 1874 the national assembly accorded to M. Pasteur, as a reward chiefly for his investigations on fermentation, a life annuity of 13,000 franca. He was raised to the rank of grand officer of the Legion of Honor October 24, 1878.

Some Great Discoveries.

His reception into the French academy took place April 27, 1882, when he delivered a panegyrie on M. Littre, to whose chair he had succeeded. In the same year the council of the Society of Arts awarded the Albert medal of the society to M. Pasteur for his researches in connection with fermentation, the preservation of wines and the propagation of synotic diseases in silk worms and domestic animals. Of late years M. Pasteur has devoted himself to the study of incoulation of diseases other than smallpox, and has schieved some very remarkable results in the prevention of hydrophobian patients from all parts of Europe, and even from America, traveling to Paris to put themselves under his care. Large subscriptions were raised in France to form an "Institute Pasteur," where the methods of the great discoverer could be practiced and taught.

July 1, 1889, a meeting was convened at the Mansion house in London for the purpose of hearing statements by Sir James Paget and hearing statements by Sir James Paget and others in favor of establishing a Pasteur institute in England. The prince of Wales contributed 100 guineas toward that object. A Pasteur institute has also been established in America under the direction of the pupils of Pasteur for the purpose of affording relief to Americans who could spare neither the time nor the money to make the trip to Europe for the purpose of placing themselves directly under the care of the great chemist. The cholera epidemic of 1892 led M. Pasteur to institute experiments in anticholeraic vaccinations, which proved successful in the case of animals.

Col. New Intimates Such Regarding Harrison and the Presidency. Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—On Saturday Hon. John C. New, a very close friend of ex-President Harrison was interviewed, at his own request by O. R. Johnson, a local newspaper man, who was vice consul general at London under Mr. New. In the interview Col. New said Gen. Harrison was not a candidate and would not favor either Reed or McKinley, if he should be consulted. He said, however, that he had no hesitancy in declaring that Gen. Harrison would accept a nomination for president in 1896. This belief he said, was not based upon any-thing that Gen. Harrison had said to him, but upon the unmistakable drift of public sentiment, ashe was the man in whom all the interest in national politics centers. Col. New continued:

"Gen Harrison has been president of this country once and the position could hardly bring to him any additional honor and he is country once and the position could hardly bring to him any additional honor and he is pot a candidate for it. By this I mean that he will not enter into a struggle for a nomination which could not bring him any more honor, but which would bring him more cares. If the republican party should find a man who it believes would be more acceptable to the masses Mr. Harrison would cheerfully acquiesce in the selection. If the sontiment of the country is for him he will accept the nomination. In brief, he will not put forth his hands to secure it, but if called to active leadership by his party he will assume the trust as a duty, the highest to which a man can be called in this country and one from which his patriotism would not permit him to shrink, no matter what might be his personal desires. There is another condition under which he would adopt the same course. If the delegates to the national convention should be divided so equally among other aspirants that divided so equally among other aspirants that they could not make a choice without a pro-tracted struggle, or if there should be bitterness through personal ambitions and aspira-tions, and Mr. Harrison should be chosen as a means of pacifying the factions, should such exist, then, too, he would accept the nomina-Gen. Won Her Suit,

JACKSON, Sept. 27.—Owen O'Neil, 28 years old, was sentenced from Jackson to three years and four months in prison last November for assaulting Theodore Wagner, a saloonist, with intent to kill. O'Neil was drunk at the time. A jury in the circuit court gave o'Neil's mother $300 as damages against Wagner for selling her son liquor. The Jackson Diagnor Dealars' association bore Wagner's expenses.

OVER-WEIGHT BAGGAGE Beason Why the Man Refused to Pay

The following incident occurred at a railway station near Rochdale, says the Florida Times-Union. A young man was standing beside some luggage waiting for a train, when a porter came up to him and said: "Sir, that luggage is over-weight."

"Who says it is?" asked the man, who stammered badly.

"Well, I think it is," answered the porter, "but we will weigh it." During the conversation a crowd had collected round them, and another porter came up and asked what was the

The porters then took hold of th luggage and carried it to the office and weighed it. "It is over-weight, and you have got fifty cents to pay," said porter No. 1. "Sh—an't pay it," the man said. "Well, if you won't pay it, we shall fetch the station master," said the por-

"Fetch wh-o you like; sh-an't pay it," again stammered the man The station master was duly fetched and on arriving asked what the bother was about, when the man again said: "F-irst he says it is over-weigh then he th-inks it's over-weight, and then he weighs it, and says it's over weight, and I have fifty cents to pay. Sh—an't pay."

"Well," said the station master, in rage, "why won't you pay it?"
"Because it is not my luggage," as swered the man, and walked off.

LAKE OF BOILING LAVA. One of the Natural Curiosities on

Mauna Loa, the gigantic Hawaiian volcano, has two craters or openin one of which, Kilauea, is the largest ac tive volcanic crater in the world. Th mountain is fourteen thousand on hundred feet high, and Kilauea is altu ated on the eastern side, about four thousand feet above the level of the This marvelous crater, says St. Louis Republic, is really a vast lake of boiling lava which rises and falls continually by the action of subterranean fires. In tossing to and fro like a publed sea of molten metal, the lave s dashed against the cliffs and hards there in the form of long, glassy filaments, gigantic knobs, miniature trees, and in imitation of glass, leaves, hands with us afterwards. Three of etc. Another form of glassy filament them were wounded near the spot Comto be found along the shores of this fiery lake is in the shape of queer bunches and tufts of lava made up of an aggregation of vitreous threads which the natives call "Pele's hair," Pele being the goddess to whom the mountain is dedicated. These glassy mountain is dedicated. These glassy threads appear to be caused by the passage of steam through the molten lava. In so doing small particles in the shape of bubble-like balloons are thrown into the air, leaving a tail behind like a comet. When the scene of these miniature steam eruptions is near a rock or the shore, all solid and cool surfaces are found covered with bunches of "Pele's hair." This "hair" was formerly used in mystic native cer-emonies, and of late years has been gathered in large quantities by curiosity

WATERMELON STORIES.

They Are Beating Fish Yarns Out of Sight and the End Is Not Yet. The fish-story Ananias is not sustaining his reputation this summer, and the watermelon Ananias is rapidly pushing him from his well-earned and long-held position, says the Boston Herald. Accounts of incredible meions rush in restless waves from the soutl while the season has not brought forti a solitary story of a wonderful catch of fish and that ten-pound brook trout has not as much as shown his nose up to date. A gentleman of the name of F. M. Caffey, of Haynesville, Lowndes county, Ala., has come to the front as the hero of the champion melon novelette. It is stated that he pulled a watermelon from his patch during the session of the Baptist association at Haynesville, which tipped the beam se seventy-three pounds. It is said to have been cut and set before twenty-eight delegates and visitors to the asso-ciation, and that after their appetite had been fully gratified the report is that there was enough left for a half-dozen more melon munchers. As Mr. Caffey's portrait does not a the account of the melon in the newspaper, there is every to believe that he is a my this melon will be cast into this melon will be shade by a melon of still greater size, shade by a melon of still greater size. and there is a strong likelihood that the business will not stop before a one-hundred-pound production comes to the front. The Georgia gooseberry that weighed fourteen and three-fourths ounces knocks this Caffey melon sky-high in point of daring invention.

There are on the Pribyloff islands, to the southeast of Alaska, probably from four to five million seals. Considering that each one of these will eat at les ten pounds of fish per day, the herd will consume six million tens of fish a year. As some naturalists claim that a seal will eat considerably more than ten pounds per day, this estimate is doubled by them. How expensive these seals are will be evident from the fact that the amount of fish consumer in England per year is less than six bundred thousand tons, which supply was valued at thirty million dollars. At this rating the seals of the northern Pacific get away with more than three hundred million dollars' worth of flat
