1971 United Fund Campaign

Lowell's share of the 1971 United Fund Campaign goal is $9,165. As of October 22, $885 has been contributed. This represents 10% of our goal.

Thank God you can give—give gladly, and let's go over the top!

Job Made Easier By Concerned Citizens

Officers of the Lowell Police Department and the Kent County Sheriff's Department this week issued a note of thanks to the people who were concerned enough to help both departments in the apprehension of eight people involved in a recent drug raid.

"It is people like you who make our job, which is a thankless one, a little easier." "We know that this certainly was not an easy task for you, but it is one that must be done in order to effectively try to put a halt to this drug traffic."

"Once again, we would like to offer a special thanks to you, one and all."

The five adults, charged with possession, plead guilty to the offense of Use of Marijuana, and were fined a total of $154, and placed on probation for a period of one year.

In their continuing effort to control this type of action in Lowell, the police last week arrested Gary Cooper on October 21 for the possession and use of marijuana.

He demanded examination, and a $5,000 bond was set.

Fund Stands At $782.63

The Board of Directors of the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce would like to thank the following people and organizations who have donated to the Main Street Christmas Decoration Fund to date:

King Milling Company, Lowell Girl Scouts, Blaine Bacon, R.A.M. Hooker Lodge, Vern Phelps, Jaycettes, Lowell Women's Club, and Home Show Door donations.

The fund now stands at $782.63. Anyone who is interested may see the decorations on display in the Chamber office, 101 W. Main Street.

Further donations may be made at the Chamber office, in the State Savings Bank, or drop some change in the JC's colorful canisters placed around Lowell.

Curley's Raiders Caught Quickly...

A report of a possible breaking and entering was investigated last Thursday evening by the Lowell Police Department at Curley's Club Diner on North Riverside Drive.

Officers found the front of the building secure, however, after contacting the building's owner, Curley Howard, it was found that entry had been made from the rear, along the river bank.

A quick inventory revealed that a number of candy bars and cigarettes were missing. Checking out all possible leads, the officers after questioning two juvenile suspects, solved the B and E.

The juveniles were taken to the juvenile home in Grand Rapids, where they were detained and later referred to the Probate Court.

Masquerade Parade To Start Cascade's Party

A parade of masqueraded trick-or-treaters will start the activities evolving around the Cascade Fire Department's annual party for the children of their area, Saturday evening, October 30.

Starting at 7 p.m., the parade will halt at the Cascade Fire Barn, where individual prizes will be awarded to those judged "best of costume."

Then there'll be cider, donuts and bags of candy for all the participants.

"BE QUIET YOU BIG DUMMY — Can't you see I'm resting, and with Halloween a night early I'm going to need all the rest I can get."

Trick-or-Treat Time Saturday

A host of pint-sized ghosts, goblins, witches, and other masqueraders will be visiting Lowell homes this Saturday evening.

Because Halloween falls on Sunday (October 31) this year, Lowell Mayor Harold F. Jefferies has set Saturday for "trick or treat" rounds in the City.

Halloween is a popular holiday, Jefferies noted. Nearly all of the state's approximately 1,835,000 elementary school children will become trick-or-treaters for a few hours, romping through their neighborhoods with little on their minds but the next treat.

Traffic and noisy, dimly lit streets are two of the biggest hazards that apply to this occasion.

Mayor Jefferies recommends that adults accompany their small children on their afternoon and early evening rounds, and that they inspect treats after returning home for possible hazards.

Local residents who wish to treat the costumed youngsters should turn on their porchlights, and parents should instruct their children to call only at homes with lights on.

Other safety rules aimed at keeping Halloween happy and fun-filled include making sure masks do not obscure the wearer's vision; provide light colored clothing that can be seen at night, and attach reflective tape to aid detection by car headlights; and a flashlight should be carried, so there is no danger of children being injured by walking into objects or holes they cannot see in the dark.

Jefferies also cautioned motorists to be on the alert for the over-eager trick-or-treater, and advises children to walk, not run; cross streets only at corners; walk on sidewalks, not in the street; and wait until the street is clear before crossing.

How Safe Is A Tree?

Between January and September there were 1,083 off-the-road automobile accidents with fixed objects in Kent County. The 70-90-year-old hard maples that majestically line Ada Drive are definitely fixed objects. Last Thursday evening a group of 150 Ada Township residents gathered at the monthly meeting of the Township Planning Board for an informational session on the state and fate of Ada Drive.

The "guest" speaker was Donald R. Schofield, secretary-manager of the Kent County Road Commission. Telling the audience that his primary interest was safety, he explained that the road with its present four-foot shoulders doesn't give a driver much room to maneuver within an emergency situation where control of the car is lost. He suggested that the new road could either have two lanes each 12 feet wide, two 10-foot gravel shoulders, and ditches for a total width of 71 feet or a four-lane street with four 12-foot lanes, an under-the-road drainage system, and curbs for a total width of 52 feet.

The opposition countered with the argument that an improved highway would promote faster, more dangerous speeds. A distinct note of worry for pedestrian and bicycle movement along the road, especially school kids coming from the junior high or high school, became apparent. Already filing a petition signed primarily by 122 Ada Drive residents the protesters hinted that despite Schofield's allegation, "This is not a safe road," there have been few accidents of any serious nature on Ada Drive.

The population projections cited by Schofield for the Ada area ran as follows: 1970, 4,500; 1980, 9,000; 1990, 15,000. The KKRC builds their roads with a twenty-year plan. By 1990 an average of 4,500 cars per day will class Ada Drive as a collector road, making improvements vital.

Reporting to the group that their objections received careful attention, Schofield acknowledged that the final go-ahead decision won't be made until December or January.

County Commissioner Fred Clancy, an Ada Drive resident, presented a letter to be read in his absence that pointed out that the road receives heavy use because of the public's fear to travel M-21 between Ada and Grand Rapids. "Accident Alley," as M-21 has been called, is slated for improvement by 1973 or '74 which could take some of the traffic burden off Ada Drive.

Clancy also noted that the area is scheduled for possible sewer and water line installation within one or two years which could mean tearing up a new road to make the improvements. A third proposal dealt with the lowering of the speed limit from 45 to 35 m.p.h.

An audience that came to the meeting with, as Forest Hills High School student, Mike Shultz, put it, "Trees on their mind," had found a spokesman in the truant Clancy who failed to even mention the trees.

A road commission forester was brought in by Schofield to examine the Ada Drive trees. He observed a "90% visual rot" in the trees on the north side of the road giving them ten years to live. The trees on the south side are younger with a life expectancy of 25 years. Schofield made it clear that the road can be built to save either one side or the other.

No one wants the trees cut down, especially the "most beautiful" one that grows in their front yard.

Feature Servicemen

All the girls and boys of the Lowell Ledger-Suburban Life area who are in the service, will be featured in the Nov. 4th edition of the paper.

If you would like your son or daughter's picture and/or address in this special issue, they must be submitted for publication by 5 p.m. this Friday, October 29.

Information can be mailed to Box 128, Lowell, or brought into the office at 105 N. Broadway Street, Lowell.

Ada Firemen Host Halloween Party

The members of the Ada Volunteer Fire Department will host the youngsters of their area at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 30, at the Ada Township Hall.

There will be free cider, donuts and apples for the kids, and the parents are invited also.

Five Candidates Seek Three Council Seats

Indications are that a light turnout of voters will participate in Lowell's first bi-annual November General City election next Tuesday.

Five candidates are on the ballot for three Council seats—Harold F. Jefferies, Mrs. Virginia Myers, Richard Conlisk, James Hall and Vince McCambridge.

Voters may cast their ballots for not more than three candidates on the City's automatic voting machines. Polls will be open in the City Hall, 301 East Main Street, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. All voters in line at the closing hour will be able to cast their votes.

The top two vote-getters in Tuesday's balloting will win four-year terms at the Council table, and the No. 3 choice of voters will sit on the Council for two years.

Mayor Jefferies and Mrs. Myers are incumbent members of the Council, finishing two year terms.

Jefferies, a right-of-way buyer for the Kent County Road Commission, was elected to the Mayor's seat in April of 1970. A resident of the city since the early 1930's, he was the former Editor of the Lowell Ledger. He is a member of the First Congregational Church of Lowell, and has been active in community affairs for some 25 years.

Seeking her third consecutive term in office, Mrs. Myers owns and operates an antique shop and restaurant in Lowell. She has been active in civic and political life, and resides with her husband, Dr. Harold Myers and family at 407 North Division Street, in the city.

Richard (Dick) Conlisk, 32, is making his first bid for a seat on the Council. He resides at 1301 Jean Ellen Drive in Valley Vista, with his wife, Rita, and their three children. A Production Manager at Stack-Pac Corporation in Cascade, Conlisk is a member of Lowell's St. Mary's Church.

A salesman for Jackson Motor Sales, thirty-six-year-old Vince McCambridge is also seeking election to the city's governing body. He resides at 1027 Lincoln Lake Avenue with his wife, Jean, and three children. Currently serving as vice-president of the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce, McCambridge holds membership in the Lowell Congregational Church, Lowell Masonic Lodge No. 90, Lowell Lions Club, and the YMCA Board of Directors.

A 1958 graduate of Lowell High School, thirty-one-year-old James Hall, rounds out the candidates on Tuesday's ballot. He resides at 923 North Washington Street with his wife, Beverly, and four children. Hall, a supervisor of Interior Design at Steelcase, Inc., in Grand Rapids, was a graduate of the Kendall School of Design. A member of the West Michigan Historical Society, he edits the Society's Pioneer Times publication.

"At Reedy We're Ready" is the slogan that will be used to publicize Don Reedy's new real estate office at 119 West Main Street. Experienced in buying and selling all types of real estate, Reedy formerly managed the R. J. Ide offices here... Alas, it seems there's a vacant lot on East Main Street. Workmen this week are cleaning up the site of the old Masonic Building... Steel scraps were scattered all over West Main Street (M-21) Friday afternoon in front of Eberhard's Thrif-T-Mart, when a bucket carrier shifted its weight, losing its load...

Samples of the new Main Street Christmas decorations have arrived at the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce building on East Main Street. They are available for public inspection... Jackson Motor Sales on West Main Street is observing their 15th anniversary this week, coupled with their award winning 13th year as one of only five "Distinguished Dodge Dealers" in the state...

Eleanor's Fabric Shop will open soon in the former Gooden Shoe Repair Shop on East Main Street... This Friday night, Lowell High School will host Lakewood in their traditional homecoming game at Recreation Park... Mr. and Mrs. Norm Borgerson, world-wide antique dealers, have returned to Lowell for the winter...

Be sure to vote November 2 for the candidate of your choice in the City's General Election. Exercise fully your right to vote... Just a reminder, that the City's Water Department will be flushing the water mains until Friday of this week...

600 Attend Music Dinner

About 600 people enjoyed a superb assortment of foods at a potluck dinner in the multi-purpose room of Forest Hills High School Wednesday, October 20, as the junior and senior high band and choir members and their guests assembled for a get-together.

After dinner, a short business meeting was held, discussing possible money raising projects for the music scholarship fund. Then a program of music, by both the band and choir members, was enjoyed by all present.

Under the direction of Mr. Gillette, the junior varsity choir sang "Both Sides Now," and "Movin' On." The Varsity Choir sang "Elijah Rook," and "Pollution." "I Left My Heart in San Francisco," was rendered by the Varsity Ensemble, and the combined choirs presented "Felix."

The band marched in with the percussionists playing cadences, then they played "Light My Fire," "Goody, Goody" (a dance routine), "Monday, Monday," "South," "Brazil" (percussion features), and ended with "Showcase for Band" (a dance routine).

These numbers made the viewers aware that Mr. Sanderson, the band director, is also a choreographer.

Deeds Of The Devil

Is witchcraft attacking the American Literature class? It seems that Mr. Mastman's class is studying the "deeds of the devil."

During the last few weeks the students of the American Literature class have been studying and explaining the terrible fate of the people involved in the Salem witchtrials of the early 1600's.

A well-known play, "The Crucible" by Arthur Miller, was read and carefully examined by the students. After reading and discussing the play they were to write an opinion of how a similar "witch craze" would be accepted today and how people would react.

The story of Salem seemed to arouse the interest of the American Literature students.

David Carpenter has completed the foundation and floor slab, plus four courses of concrete blocks. The camp committee is in the process of building the cabin now at the home of William Wood.

After pre-fabbing it, they will move the sections to Gay-Lion for final assembly. The new cabin will be 16 by 18 feet, sleeping approximately 12 persons.

The service of dedication is scheduled for 4 p.m., with a picnic following involving all the church families and others that wish to join in on the service.

Catholic Parishes Completing Clothing Campaign Plans

Members of Catholic parishes in the area are completing plans for the 1971 Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign for the Needy Overseas during the week of November 7.

Inaugurated 23 years ago, this annual harvest of used but useful clothing is conducted under the sponsorship of Catholic Relief Services, the agency of American Catholics for international relief.

Monsignor Joseph C. Walen, Diocesan Director for the Appeal, announced this week that stress is being made this year on lightweight clothing.

Areas of greatest need are in warmer climates, Monsignor Walen said, although winter clothing also will be welcomed. East Pakistan refugees, numbering about 7 million, will be the major beneficiaries of this year's effort.

The clothing is distributed to the needy in more than 50 countries without regard of race, color, or creed.

There are 100 Catholic congregations in an 11-county area in Western Michigan which have been invited to participate in the campaign.
