

'It Was A Grand Parade'

"It was a grand parade," with only a few minor mis-cues, and Dick Roth, his parade committee, the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce, and the participants should all be given a big hand of congratulations for a job well executed.

Although Lowell made previous yearly efforts to have a Christmas parade, total involvement this year, spiked by a float contest, drew one of the largest viewing crowds along the sidelines, and offered the best overall participation.

HO - HO - HO - The man of the season, St. Nick made his annual appearance briefly Saturday, stopping long enough to dispense some goodies and check on "who's been naughty or nice."

A SPECTACULAR PARADE - For young and old. This Saturday's Santa Claus parade was a treat for all, featuring floats, figurines, and of course, Santa himself.

Despite the weather a very large crowd turned out for the festivities with the cold wind driving only a few indoors.

A team of judges awarded the grand prize money ($25) to the Flat River Snowmobile Club for their entry. Second place went to Vanity Beauty Shop for its all out appeal, tying in the theme of their business with Christmas.

For cleverness and originality, third place was given to the Ledger-Suburban Life float "We Cover The Town."

Animated figures, clowns passing out balloons and suckers, the junior and senior high school bands, mobile units, the floats and entries of every description marked the starting of Christmas in Lowell with Saturday's parade.

The animated figures were made possible by the following businessmen making cash donations for their rental—King Milling (2), Lippert's Pharmacy, Roth LP Gas, Buyer's Guide, Smith & Clemenz, Dey Machine and Tool, Bedell Jewelry, Bernie's Barbershop, Art's TV, and Arnie's Standard. All of these businesses give a great big thanks to the kids who were brave enough to wear them.

"We want everyone to know, that without their interest and enthusiasm, the parade just wouldn't have been possible," stated Dick Roth, parade chairman. "Thanks to everyone that participated, we only wish that everyone could have won a prize."

Besides the winning floats, entries were made by the Camp Fire Girls, Lisa Lee Lawrence, Western Auto Store, St. Mary's Catechism Class, the First Baptist Church of Lowell, the Methodist Church Youth.

Other parade entries were made by all the car dealers, the Lowell Jaycees, DeMull's, D & M Wreckers, the fire truck, police cars, Wesley Miller, E. Kauffman, Marcel Kropf, and last but not least, Santa Claus hitching a ride in Rev. Glen Marks' sleigh.

Census Interviewers To Visit Families

A sample of households in the Ledger-Suburban Life area will be included in a nationwide survey of employment and unemployment to be conducted the week of December 12-18 by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce.

Robert G. McWilliam, Director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Detroit, in announcing the survey, said that results will be used to calculate the number of persons in the U. S. who have jobs, the number looking for work, and the percentage unemployed this month, an important measure of the Nation's well-being. The survey is conducted monthly by the Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor.

The October survey showed that the total number of employed persons increased by 320,000 (seasonally adjusted) to a record level of 79.8 million, and the number of unemployed dropped to 5.8 percent of the labor force from 6.0 percent in September.

The December survey will also ask questions about any farm work done for wages or salary in 1971 and will provide up-to-date statistics on the number of persons doing farm work.

Census Bureau interviewers who will visit households in this area are: Shirley A. Ford and Mrs. Lucy Hall.

Schools To Receive State Aid Checks

The State Department of Education has furnished State Representative Stanley M. Powell of Ionia with a list of state aid payments which will be sent on December 1, 1971, to the 29 school districts which serve citizens of the 89th Legislative District.

This is one of six payments which are sent to the local districts from Lansing in the course of a year.

The figures in the second column give the total remitted to these districts since the last report under Title 1 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (federal program):

School District	State Aid	Title I
Saranac Community School	99,200	5,838
Lowell Area Schools	194,750	4,931

Post Office Releases Christmas Hours

Lowell Postmaster Charles Doyle today announced that windows at the Lowell Post Office will be open until 5 p.m. on the two Saturdays preceding Christmas, December 11 and 18.

Postmaster Doyle said the cooperation of customers in mailing early, will play a major role in speeding parcels and cards to their destination.

Donations Continue To Enrich Center

The establishment of a community center for Lowell and the surrounding areas, is being made possible by donations, big and small, to enable the working committees to renovate the building on Grand River Drive, furnish it, and maintain it.

Since their last report, the following donations have been received:

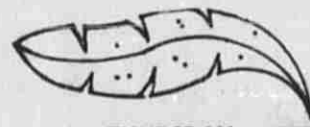

The Gray Y's under the direction of Al Eckman, cut the grass, cleaned the parking area, and did a little landscaping; Ada Florist gave a cash donation; Dr. VanderSloep, two new doors; St. Mary's Church, Father Thelen, a cash donation of $200; Lowell Community Chest, Dr. Reagan, $150 cash donation; Fairchild Oil Company, two stools.

Beachum's Furniture, filing for two medical rooms; C. DeFouw, of Wyoming, deep sink for dental clinic; Mrs. Briggs, librarian, one refrigerator; Sally Snyder, clothing; Ila Ketcham and daughter, one baby crib; Mrs. Fred Owen, baby play pen; and three donations of clean-used clothing.

Still needed are filing cabinets for one medical room; four fluorescent lights, and folding chairs.

Due to the holiday rush, in trying to aid needy families, the Center officials ask you to excuse them for being so slow in picking up donations. But, when time is permitant, we will be there.

They also issued their heartfelt thanks to everyone involved in helping to make this Community Center a reality. "We hope to do our best to serve the area in serving you our neighbors and friends."

Public Hearing Draws Interest

The dilapidated interior of the Lowell City Hall greeting Council visitors Monday night, made one wonder whether the issue at hand, the caring of the elderly, shouldn't be second on the agenda to renovation of the 1910 structure.

But, as one city official put it, "we must look after the citizenry we serve, before a clean-up job on the home-front can even be given due consideration."

Missing ceiling tiles, cracked and paint peeled walls surrounded interested citizens as Mayor Harold F. Jefferies gave the meeting to order at 8 p.m.; took roll call (Anderson, Mueller, Jefferies present); gave unanimous approval to pending City disbursements; opened bids on Well and Pump Inspection and Redevelopment Work, Contract No. 1; finally settling down to the main concern of the evening—the introduction of an ordinance governing Nursing Homes, Custodial Care Homes and Homes for the Aged within the City of Lowell.

The proposed ordinance, ten lengthy pages, was read flawlessly by City Manager Blaine Bacon. Several gasps, oohs and ahs were prevalent as he started with Section 14-11 and almost breathlessly concluded with Section 14-77.

Mayor Jefferies then explained the city's main concerns, stemming from repeated verbal and written complaints on some of the circumstances being used in some of the homes presently under operation. He further explained the ordinance was not aimed at forcing present operators out of business... but setting minimum standards to provide the best welfare for the senior citizens.

The mayor then opened the floor to interested parties, seeking out their likes, dislikes and commentary on the ordinance presentation.

Jack Hartley, the first spokesman questioned if the proposed document was patterned after another workable program.

The ordinance was drawn up by City officials, the City attorney and holds the same regulations now being considered for passage in the City of Wyoming.

Mrs. Mildred Bellows then asked about a facet not covered in the Ordinance, the keeping of household pets, a possible health hindrance, in the homes. The councilman exchanged passing glances saying consideration with a possible amendment to the ordinance would be given before final approval was made.

Retaliation to Mrs. Bellows' remarks came from nursing home operator, Mrs. Rachel VanAlstine, when she remarked patients should be allowed to keep their pets, if they so desired. When questioned if she had any further problems, Mrs. VanAlstine just grumbled "the whole thing is a problem."

Another homeowner, Mrs. Sarah Ploughman, revealed she only receives $6.60 a day per patient, exactly what she received several years ago, and to incorporate the new rulings of the ordinance into her present facility would be costly, and a hardship to others caring for patients. Her main complaints were on the restrictions of two exits from the second floor holding patients, and the fire extinguisher clause.

Mrs. Swierenga commented that the complaints made to City Hall should be revealed and directed to the individual homeowners, not made a hardship on the over-all. Mrs. Bowden queried, if the homeowners could not make compliance of the ordinance, and were forced to discontinue the care of the patients, what did the city plan to do with them.

Mayor Jefferies commented that the patients are placed in the homes by agencies or families, and that it was their responsibility, not the city's, to see that they were replaced.

A question on how the present homes in operation secured their licenses to operate was projected by Mrs. Herb Reynolds, an experienced nurse at Kent Oaks. With a remittance of $3.00, anyone could obtain a license to operate a home for the aged.

Fencing around homes, enabling unsupervised outdoor recreation, eliminating total household confinement was discussed by Dave Clark, jr., with the City taking this phase into consideration.

Ray Jones then approached the Council, asking if a time limit it was being placed, for compliance to the ordinance. The City remarked that adequate time would be given, before another physical inspection would be made.

Local pharmacist Chuck Lippert added that he felt the biggest point of hindrance to the owners would be the limitation on the space requirements per patient.

As the ordinance reads... all sleeping rooms shall be suitably arranged and properly equipped to meet the needs of patients. A minimum of sixty (60) square feet shall be provided for each bed. All beds shall be separated by at least three (3) feet at any point.

Bill Eggleston, owner of a home outside of the city, expressed his interest in Lowell's action, and asked several questions on enforcement.

The final speaker of the evening, Ken VanLeeuw of the State Home Finding Staff confirmed the city's space requirements on the state level, but added that different cases, and circumstances could cause alterations.

Jefferies wound up the hearing by adding that the City would reevaluate the proposed ordinance, possibly inserting amendments and taking into full consideration the comments offered at this public hearing.

Besides topics discussed at the meeting, the proposed ordinance, which seemed to be fully acceptable to the majority present at the meeting, covered such phases of nursing attendance as license requirements, inspections, refusal of entry, rules and regulations of operation, buildings, equipment and maintenance, lighting, heating, sanitation, medical supervision, cleanliness, visiting hours, drugs, food, laundry, clothing, charts records, etc.

City Council members, City Manager Blaine Bacon and City Clerk, Mrs. Laura Sheperd listen with intent to the interested citizens at Monday night's public hearing.

Nursing home operator, Mrs. Rachel VanAlstine projects comments on the proposed ordinance.

Choir, Band Combine Talents For Concert

The combined talents of the choir and band at Lowell Senior High School will stage their annual Christmas Concert this Thursday, December 9.

Performing in the high school gymnasium, the themes of Christmas will be brought to life, as the choral group sings out the notes of joy, and the band catches the beat of variety.

The magical wand of Paul Balaam will lead his carolers into the traditions of Christmas, with William Mills directing his bandmen with a festive flare.

"It will be a variety program," Mills emphasized, "aimed at catching the inspirational sparks of the forthcoming season."

Always a regular treat to music lovers, the program offers complimentary admission (although any donations made will gratefully be accepted).

"The first notes of Christmas will ring out at 8 p.m. in the High School gymnasium," Balaam added, "and we hope that the gymnasium will be packed."

Weather-Caused School Closings

A Michigan system for relaying accurate, timely information on weather-caused school closings will be effective again this winter as a continuing pilot operation to provide further evaluation of it, according to Col. John R. Plants, State Police director.

Plants said experience indicates the system worked very well last year, its first season.

Participants include private, public and parochial schools, Michigan Department of Education, police agencies, radio and TV stations, the federal Environmental Science Services Administration (ESSA), the Michigan Law Enforcement Information Network (LEIN), and the State Police.

Participation by school districts is voluntary. Those who elect to participate notify a selected LEIN station (police) of the operational status of their schools (Open, Closed, etc.).

The LEIN station will transmit the information to the network headquarters at the State Police in East Lansing.

There it will be validated, then relayed through the State Police operations office over the ESSA network to radio and TV stations.

Those stations will then broadcast the information on the schools in their areas several times between 6 and 8 a.m.

Power Failure Causes Black-Out

Residents of Ionia County were inconvenienced when a "black-out" struck surrounding areas of Saranac.

At 6:55 p.m. on November 30, the Consumers Power Company in Ionia received the first call reporting power failure.

Workmen discovered that a broken connection from previous weather damage caused the situation. The damage occurred just east of the substation which is located on the corner of M-21 and Hawley Highway.

Five hundred residents were without electricity during the two hours it took for workmen to repair the damage.

According to office personnel the work was completed at 9:10 p.m. that evening.

Steamatic
... it makes shampooing a thing of the past!

Where Steamatic succeeded ...
Steamatic is an entirely new patented process. What it does is break down the static hold your carpet has on dirt, loosen the grime at the carpet base by a controlled heat solution, and then remove the dirt from the fibers all the way down to the backing. The idea seems simple enough ... but it took 40 years to perfect. And no one else has been able to do it. They've made machines that look similar ... but none of them have the four patents that make our system superior. Look what we took out of a rug that had just been shampooed.

Forest Hills' Eco-Activists Need Papers

Last December a troupe of eight eco-conscious Forest Hills High School students staged their first paper drive. Since that frostbitten Saturday they have collected nearly one hundred tons of newspapers, magazines, and tin cans in projects planned regularly at three month intervals.

According to David Gould, club advisor and mathematics teacher, "As long as people support our program with an active participation, we'll continue to provide an outlet for their old newspaper and cans." The group, Students to Overcome Pollution (S.T.O.P.), have scheduled scrap drives for the weekend December 10, 11 and 12.

Buyers of the discarded materials, Packaging Corporation of America and Padnos Iron and Metal Company will locate semi-trailers and bins in the high school parking lot where residents may dispose of their stored goods any time during the day.

Gould asks that newspapers and magazines be bundled separately while the cans should be rinsed, delabeled, delidded, and flattened. No aluminum can be accepted. For those without transportation, pick-up arrangement is available by calling 361-0373 or 949-2054.

Part of the earnings are donated to the West Michigan Environmental Action Council to which S.T.O.P. is a member organization.

Your sack of cans will help spare a chunk of mountain. Isn't that enough to make it worthwhile?
