VOL. 18 NO. 28

A Grand Rapids man was killed and four local youths were injured in a mishap Monday around 5:30 p.m. The accident took place on Pettis Avenue near Egypt Valley Road. Irving Rose, 63, of 128 Fair SE, was taken to Blodgett Hospital where he died of severe chest injuries.

The youths, David Kruer, 16, of 711 Ada Drive, Michael Weare, 16, of 940 Thornapple River Dirve, and Theodore Banta, 15, of 1885 Spaulding were passengers in a car driven by Gary Osmolinski, 16, of 981 Buttrick. Apparently the four were enroute to a homecoming float under construction at a barn located at 817 Pettis.

The Osmolinski vehicle turned around in the entrance to Reith-Riley Company. The Rose vehicle was proceeding northwest bound on Pettis when the Osmolinski car pulled out from the driveway. It is believed that Osmolinski looked left to right when he approached Pettis from the driveway and did not see the Rose car. A short hill and trees may have blocked his vision. Rose was traveling approximately 55 to 65 MPH.

Osmolinski and Weare were taken to Butterworth Hospital for treatment of injuries, and Banta was taken to Blodgett Hospital for surgery. Kruer was treated and released at Blodgett.

Police Busy Bike, Gas, Tires Among Items Stolen

The Lowell High School Band, under the direction of William Mills, was the only class B band to receive a first rating in competition at Cedar Springs' Red Flannel Day outing last Saturday.

Friday afternoon Lowell Police were called to investigate a property damage accident on West Main Street in front of Thomet Chevrolet and Buick. A truck driven by Douglas Charles Neison of Brighton backed into a car being driven by John Frederick Vlastiun. Nelson was implicated as being at fault. No citations were issued.

The snowmobile to be given away in December by the Flat River Snowmobile Club of Lowell is being displayed at Chrouch's Radio Service on East Main Street.

Beginning October 12, the Lowell VFW Hall on East Main Street will be open every Saturday thereafter from 12 noon until 6 p.m. for use by its members. ***

Another accident Friday afternoon, involving three cars brought the Lowell Police to the intersection of West Main and South West Streets to investigate the personal injury accident. Joann E. Grace of Lowell was issued a citation for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead, when her auto struck a car driven by Chris Edward Wittenbach of Ionia. The Wittenbach vehicle then hit a car driven by Doris Mae Hale of Saranac. ***

When the registration deadline for the November 7 General Election arrived last Friday, the City of Lowell picked up 52 last minute voters. City Clerk Blaine Bacon took in 21 applications between 5 and 8, bringing the city's registrar to 1,692. He accredited the increase to the promotional drive sponsored by the Lowell Area Jaycees, and their fine efforts to get people registered and exercise their right to vote.

Mrs. George Butler, Lincoln Lake Avenue, Lowell, was the first caller to recognize our mystery man, Vern Armstrong, last week.

A free subscription will go to the first person who calls 897-9261 after noon on Friday and gives us the correct identification to our mystery lady this week.

Forest Hills Voters Defeat Bond Issue

An estimated 30 percent of the voters in the Forest Hills School District went to the polls October 3 and turned down a $2.75 million bond issue, which would have built a new middle school, a cafeteria and a mitorium to Forest Hills Northern, a swimming pool and 10 new classrooms at Thornapple.

By a vote of 1,373 to 1,035 residents said no to the bond issue which would have raised taxes 35 cents per $1,000 for a 7.40 building millage. Forest Hills operates on 31.40 mills.

After last Tuesday's defeat, the Forest Hills Administration will make a reassessment of residents' attitudes about school needs in Forest Hills, before bringing the issue to another vote, possibly within a six months period.

THINGS TO COME

High meat prices and the big purchases of U. S. grain by the Russians are expected to help boost this year's net farm income to a record of about $18.4 billion ... Spanish treasure salvaged from sunken galleons will be auctioned in New York late in November. Four complaints of larceny, registered with the Lowell Police Department since the first of October, remain open and still are under investigation.

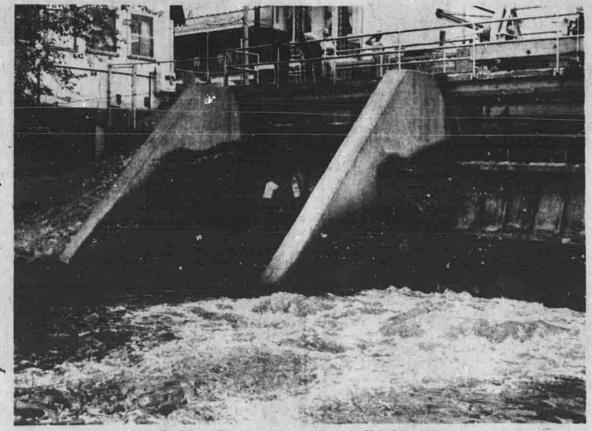

A fifth complaint October 4, brought the police to the David Coons residence at 404 North Division Street. Mrs. Coons revealed that a young man was in the house, but had left the house and rode down the hill on Division Street and turned onto Avery. The subject was apprehended and later admitted that he was the one who broke into the house.

The subject, a juvenile was taken to the Kent County Juvenile Detention Center and lodged.

Jackson Motor Sales on West Main Street, October 2, reported the loss of a set of wheel covers off a 1969 Plymouth. The same day, a red Schwinn bicycle, with no fenders, was taken from Tom Grim.

Approximately twenty gallons of gasoline was reported missing by Duane Hendrick on October 5. Mr. Hendrick stated that he had just had his tank filled up the night before, and the next morning he was running on empty.

Lynn Wittenbach of 705 Grindle Drive, reported the loss of two tires, a generator and a power steering unit October 6. The items were taken off a car sitting alongside the house.

Bieri Bros. Company make repairs on the Main Street dam.

FILES POLLUTION SUIT AGAINST SARANAC FIRM

The Michigan Water Resources Commission is seeking an injunction in Ionia County Circuit Court, to halt ground water pollution by Saranac Manufacturing Company, a metal plating firm operated by Harry J. Swanson, jr.

The Commission in its suit charges the firm discharges waste into seepage lagoons which eventually enters the ground water. Experiencing growing pains, with the need for room to stretch out, Lippert's Pharmacy in the heart of the downtown area, is doing something big about it-expanding.

Yes, this week, Lippert Pharmacy purchased the empty supermarket building on East Main Street, next to McCaul's Texaco, where they will have over 8,000 more square feet of selling area, to serve their customers better.

According to owner, Charles Lippert, "with this additional area we intend to give our customers a much larger selection of merchandise, a bigger savings on the goods they purchase, and better service.

"We hope," Lippert commented, "people will keep coming back again and again, with the incorporation of our goal, 'Selection, Service, Savings is our new way of life."

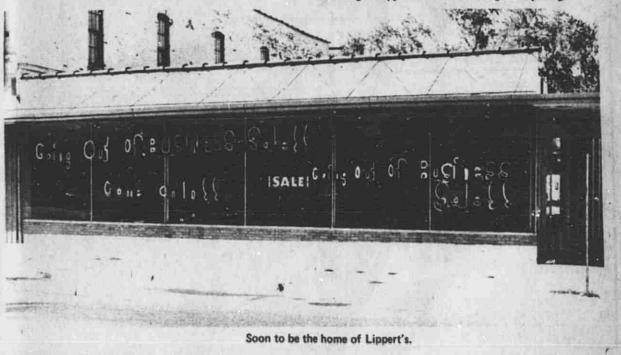

Lippert's expansion plans are being finalized, and he hopes to be in his new building by February of 1973. He will also maintain the present building.

His new location will offer a sixty-car parking lot, plus a full fountain service.

Lippert's announcement last week that the soda fountain at his present store would be taken out due to the extreme maintenance expense, and substantial cost of replacement hit with rumbles of discontentment, and fell on very sensitive ears.

After careful consideration and evaluation of his customer's desires, Lippert restored the fountain in his new plans, Something big is happening in Lowell, and Lippert's is making it happen. Watch for their grand opening.

Someone Got Their Wires Crossed, No Call Was Received

"I'm lost for words," "I have no immediate answer," but, "I will get to the bottom of the story." These were the words of Bowne Township Fire Chief Harold Metternick last Tuesday when he was asked "why the Bowne unit refused to appear at a fire that morning at the Fred Klahn farm on Portland Road." Metternick's prompt search for the answers revealed that a call was never received by his department. Mrs. Fred Klahn who questioned the department's refusal, told Metternick that a call was placed through an operator (not a direct line to the County Fire Dispatcher). She was connected with a man, whom the caller assumed was the Alto Department; she was told that the fire was out of their territory, and it was not their policy to answer calls outside of their boundaries.

Stunned as he was when the complaint arrived, Met-ternick quickly reassured Mrs. Klahn that it was not the policy of the Alto Department not to answer any call "We go out of our territory at all times, our job is to fight fires, and we will make every effort to help any-one in need," Metternick said.

"I hope we have made a clarification of our policy," Metternick emphasized, "I would not want anyone to think that we would not be available when called."

Lowell Ledger-Suburban Life, October 12, 1972 Above The Board

Marge Kropt, former Lowell kindergarten teacher and now EIP consultant for the system, came before the school board Monday night to explain the EIP pro-

Mrs. Kropf's enthusiasm for the program was so contagious you could almost see board members ready to fire everyone else and keep only the EIP's.

Explaining the set-up fully for the first time, Mrs. Kropf likened the fledgling teachers to medical interns who first practice their knowledge under the guidance of an experienced master.

Following two years of basic college, the EIP intern has 10 weeks of intensive study of learning theory and teaching methods at the Michigan State Intern University Center in Grand Rapids. This is combined with classroom demonstrations, observations and participa tion. Next, the intern is placed in a regular classroom and co-teaches with the classroom teacher for another 10-week period. At this time the intern is evaluated by the classroom teacher and the intern staff as to attitude and ability before being allowed to continue in the program. In some instances the prospective teacher has been rerouted to other fields at this point.

Following a summer school session on Michigan State's campus, the intern will then teach in one of the area school system's for one complete school year. During this time an intern consultant (in Lowell's case, Mrs. Kropf) spends one full day each week in the classroom with the teacher for additional guidance and observation. The intern receives two-thirds of a beginning teacher's pay for this year and must also attend a class at the Grand Rapids center one evening each week during the winter term.

In listing the advantages of the EIP program, Mrs. Kropf also mentioned the many special teaching materials she is able to bring to the Lowell EIP classrooms through the Grand Rapids Center and the access she has to observe special pilot programs in other schools, reporting her observations to the Lowell administration. Something Special Blanche Mullen, the only woman and former teacher on the board, continues to speak her mind on strictly academic issues bringing to the board an educator's point of view.

Mrs. Mullen is right in there pitching during regular board business but she also always seems to save something special for the very end of each meeting.

This time it was concern about the class loads at Alto in the lower grades. She cited figures of 34, 33, 32 and 31 per room stating that she wished something could be done about it.

Supt. Sinke agreed that the situation was certainly not the best, not only at Alto but in the second grade at Bushnell as well. He added that administration is working on the problem and hopes to come up with a solution shortly.

Sinke's solution will probably involve either volun-teer mothers or para-professional assistants in the crowded room to give more individualized help under the teacher's guidance.

This solution may not altogether please Mrs. Mullen who is more concerned with out-of-work school teachers than para-professional aides, however, until the new building program provides more classroom space, it seems to be the only answer.

Contracts Awarded

The board awarded the contract for approximately 600 pair of safety glasses to Warren-Newkirk Company at $2.60 per pair. Asst. Supt. Don Kelly reported that he had Dr. Herbert Mueller check the lens of the samples provided by the company and had Mueller's okay as to the quality

Two Low Bids

Sullivan Floor Covering of Grand Rapids and Beachum Furniture of Lowell were the low bidders on the carpeting of the Middle School. The testing of samples and inspection of seaming diagrams will have to be completed before the contract is awarded.

Tables McMahon's Request

A request by the high school to be included in the in-service training scheduled for elementary and Middle School teachers was voiced by Dennis McMahon. high school principal. The training program stresses in dividualization of instruction and is geared principally to team teaching and open classroom situations and therefore the original feeling was that the more traditional set-up of the high school would preclude this.

However, the high school staff apparently feels that individualization of instruction can take place in any setting plus the fact that education throughout the system will be better as a whole if all departments thoroughly understand an overall program.

Since the cost is greater when all teachers are included, the board, even through they seemed to agree with McMahon's reasoning, decided to table any decision until the current budget figures have been updated and at that time will include the high school if at all possi-

New Training Rules

The board next adopted the new change in training rules as proposed by Athletic Directory Bob Perry and all the coaches whereby any suspension for infraction of training rules will be for four weeks rather than four games as previously stipulated. It is felt that this will be more uniform for all sports.

Voting Delegates

Blanche Mullen, Harold Metternick and Dr. Reagan were designated as voting delegates to attend the Mich-igan Association of School Boards meeting in Grand Rapids, November 1, 2 and 3. Phil Kropf, Dave Wingeier and Dave Miller will serve as alternates. Joint Meeting

As school board meetings go, Monday night's session would seem to the general public to be short and uncomplicated. The one-page agenda took only one and one-half hours. That's as far as the general public is concerned.

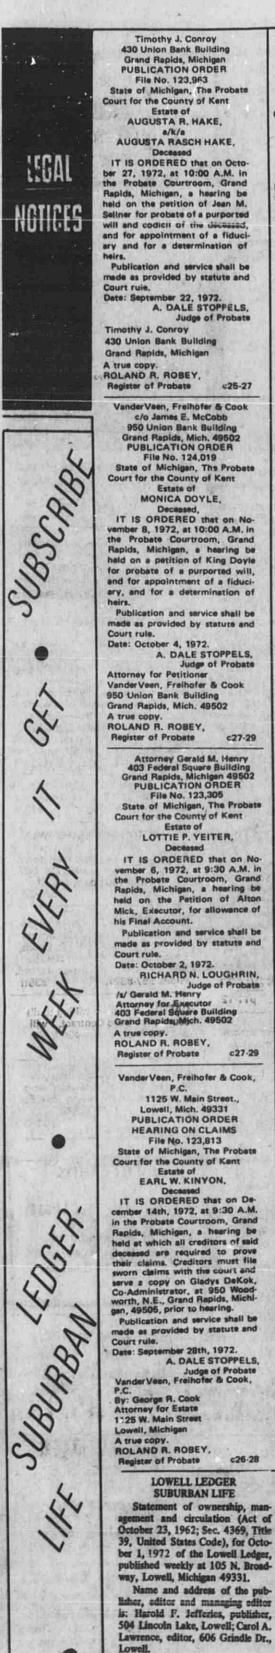

However, as soon as the meeting adjourned, the board reconvened in an "executive session" at the request of Lowell City Council members who then filed in to discuss the possibility of the two governing bodies joining together in both an office building and the construction of a school bus-city vehicle garage at the new Middle School site.

was not given for publication at this point but they are working on it.

These seven individuals put in a lot of gratis time in an effort to get the most out of the tax dollar for the children of this area. One might now always agree with their decisions . . . they do not always agree among themselves ... but they work at it awfally hard. This "short" meeting was the third one held in the past eight days.

Fall Colors Add To Outdoor Activities

Any self-respecting sportsman should find this a busy and exciting season. Sharp hooks are the order of the day as snaggers continue to make fine catches of chin-ook and coho salmon. Both the Grand and Muskegon Rivers contain large populations of salmon. The action is centered near the 6th Street Dam on the Grand River but sportsmen are doing well on most sections of the Muskegon River below Croton.

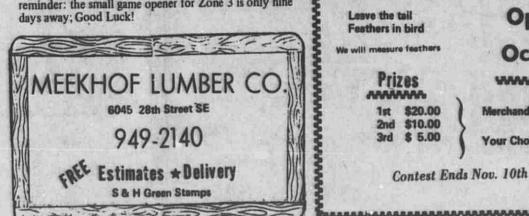

Coho and chinook salmon are readily caught in the Grand River. Best fishing will be pockets of deep water where the fish will be laying as they make their way upstream. Chinook salmon appear to be the primary tar-get of snaggers on the Muskegon River. A fish cleaning service has been established on the west bank of the Muskegon River near the Croton Dam, and at the High Rollway public access site. You may have your fish dressed free, although any eggs taken from the salmon will become the property of the concessioner. Last Friday marked the state waterfowl opener. Ac-cording to officials from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, the ducks have shown an increase in nomulation although the medlet openutation in depart population although the mallard population is down. Most hunters have been successful in the early days of the season.

Bow hunters after the elusive whitetail have generally faired rather poorly. There are many deer in the area but dense foilage have made shots difficult.

Squirrel hunters are also finding foliage a problem in locating their game. The Lowell and Flat River State Game Areas are favorite spots for squirrel hunters. Look for stands of tall oak and hickory trees for best results.

Fall colors should be at their peak this weekend. If the weather cooperates, hunting and fishing should be enjoyable even if you don't bring anything back. Just a reminder: the small game opener for Zone 3 is only nine days away; Good Luck!

In a non-league contest Friday night a Redskins shutout Baldwin, 22-0. Saranac opened the scoring with 1:35 left in the first quarter as Dale Stuart passed 15 yards to Don Vro-man on a fourth down play. The run for the point after failed.

in the second quarter, Saranac scored a safety as the bail was centered out of the endzone on an attempted punt. On the following kick, Bill Overbeck ran 50 yards to make the score 14-0. Peter Stuart ran the extra points leaving the score 16-0 at halftime. Saranac's final score of the game came with 7:27 left in the third quarter as Overbeck raced 19 yards on the Dale Courter led the Redskins in tackles with 18, while Smit collected 15 and Overbeck 12. Overbeck led the ground game with 109 yards in 14 rushes. This Friday, the Redskins will resume TCAA plays as they travel to Edmore.

Chief Warns: Check Out The Solicitor

Lowell Police Chief Barry D. Emmons revealed this week that there has been a recent rash of activity by out-of-state franchise sellers soliciting Michigan residents to purchase franchises or distributorships in a variety of business ventures, such as vending machine operations, door-to-door candy sales, cassette tape sales and other ventures which promise quick and easy financial success.

Often the prospective purchasers have been answer-ing ads placed in the "Help Wanted, Sales" or "Business Opportunities" columns of newspapers. When the company has been contacted, the representative usually arrives, meeting the prospective franchisee in a motel and explains the business in a vague and overly enthusiastic manner, then quickly leaves town having required the franchisee to pay for his distributorship either in cash or by means of a cashier's check.

Unfortunately, Emmons emphasized, many of the buyers of these franchises or distributorships have been victimized by oral representations of over-inflated profit margins and the ease of sales.

For example, a vending machine franchiser promises that they will guarantee locations for machines purchased by the franchisee and that they will keep the franchisee supplied with products for these machines. In many instances, however, the products either do not material-ize or the machines or products arrive in damaged condition or often arrive much later than anticipated by the person making the investment, or outlets are placed in locations where there is a reluctance to have them.

Emmons cautioned everyone considering investing in any type of distributorship or franchise, that they contact either the Lowell Police Department, Better Business Bureau, local Chamber of Commerce or the Attorney General's Office to determine whether or not any complaints exist against the company under inquiry.

In conclusion, Emmons warned area residents to take note of the following, current practices, and warn a friend:

Magazine Sales

Do not be misled into purchase of magazines by "Pressure Pitches" that involve appeals to sympathy, ethnic differences or that claim to be gaining the seller points toward a college education, nursing degree, trip to Europe or any other special award. In fact, this office recommends that you refuse to pay cash or write checks to cash or individual sales persons as a "Down Payment" on magazine contracts. Contact your Police Department, Better Business Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, or Prosecutor's Office if you are solicited for magazine sales by persons using these methods.

Home Repair

Emmons would also like to remind you that this is fall repair time. BEWARE of the driveway and roofing repair gyps who "Just happen" to be in the neighborhood. If you need such work, check with your Chamber of Commerce regarding legitimate contractors in our area.

Furnaces

Beware of the furnace inspection "Experts" that appear in the fall. If a so-called furnace inspector asks to inspect your furnace, check his credentials and identification. Make certain he is a businessman with roots in our area. If any person, even after you have requested an inspection, tells you that your furnace needs replacing, get two other inspections. It is suggested that one be made by your local utility company if it is a gas or electric heat system.

Pyramid Schemes

Beware also of the illegal pyramid and chain-letter style franchise schemes. The most recognizable trait of these illegal schemes is the fact that their promoters concentrate on the unending sale of distributorships and NOT the retail sales of the product.

Prevention

1. In the City of Lowell anyone going door-to-door selling anything must be licensed by the City of Lowell, and you can demand to see it; if there is a violation contact the Police Department.1

- 2. Look for the seller's roots in the community.
- Get some trustworthy and knowledgeable advice.
  Take your time, don't make spending or invest-
- ment decisions in a hurry.

Honey Creek Expands Campus

Jack Wyrtzen, nationally famous youth speaker and founder of Word-of-Life, New York, will be the feature speaker at Honey Creek Christian Homes, four miles south of Lowell, as four modern buildings are officially opened Thursday, October 12, at 7:30 p.m.

Open House will be held on Sunday, October 15, from 2 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to both events.

The new buildings-two residences, a chapel, and a gymnasium-are valued at more than $200,000, doubling the campus building investment. Honey Creek Christian Homes is a non-profit, non-denominational organization supported by interested Christian friends and churches.

Honey Creek provides Christian personal care and professional counseling for boys assigned by the courts and welfare departments; boys now living at Honey Creek represent 13 counties in Michigan as well as Illi-nois. The new facilities will qualify Honey Creek to add 14 more youngsters to its enrollment under the laws of the State of Michigan.

Rev. Gordon C. Blossom, the founder and director, coordinates a staff of 12 fulltime employees and 4 parttime case workers. Commenting on the development of Honey Creek Christian Homes since its founding in 1969, Rev. Blossom stated, "The story of Honey Creek's development is exceeded only by the miraculous change in the lives of our boys as they respond to the personal care and Christian love of our house parents in the fam: ily-type setting of our program. We invite everyone to come and share with us this new chapter in the history of Honey Creek."

Honey Creek Christian Homes is located four miles south of Lowell, Michigan on Cascade Highway (old No. 16 Grand River Highway) ¼ mile east of the Ionia county line. Visitors are encouraged to take the Lowell-Charlotte exit on I-96, travel north to the blinker light at Grand River Drive, then east 3½ miles to Honey Creek Christian Homes.

Honey Creek Christian Homes was first granted an operating license by the State of Michigan on November 1, 1969 as a residence for neglected boys; they attend the Lowell public schools. The state license permitting increased enrollment is expected to be granted on November 1, 1972.
