Time To Renew Sign Permits

Current permits required for billboards subject to Michigan's 1972 Billboard Control Act expire June 30, the Department of State Highways reminds.

To avoid problems, sign owners should apply for 1973-74 permits before June 1, the Department said. The law applies to all billboards along some 7,000 miles of interstate and primary highways in Michigan.

In less than one year since the law became effective, 7,500 billboards have been removed, most of them by sign-owners themselves. The highway Department has removed 2,800, either because they were illegal, or because they became abandoned through the owners' failure to obtain the $3 annual permit.

Billboards without permits are tagged with red violation notices by the Highway Department. They are then subject to removal 60 days later, with the owners billed for the removal cost.

Billboards without the renewed 1973-74 permits will start being tagged in July, the Highway Department warned.

In obtaining new permits, owners should use the renewal application form sent to them when the original permit was issued. That form, with $3 for each billboard, should be sent to the Highway Department's District Office which issued the original permit. Renewal forms also may be obtained from the District Offices in this area at 1420 Front Avenue, N.W., Grand Rapids, Mich. Phone 451-3091.

Delicious Aroma Of Suki-Yaki

If anyone attending the Tuesday night Adult-Education classes last week noticed a most unusual aroma in the high school hall, they could have followed their noses to room A-14. An international dinner was being held by members of Mrs. McMahon's history class.

Each class member was responsible for furnishing a foreign dish of some kind and Harold Frank's wife, Toki, prepared hers right in the room. Besides the delicious suki-yaki, there was polynesian medley, breaded eggplant, shrimp, yem, salads, rolls, German-chocolate, cake, punch and coffee.

Mrs. Franks then talked to the class about her native country and its customs, showing pictures and answering questions.

Essay Winners Honored

Six area students have earned first, second and third place school awards for their entries in the sixth annual "America and Me" Eighth Grade Essay Contest sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

The winning essayists received personalized honor certificates, presented by representatives of the sponsoring firm. First place awards were given to Lori Canfield of Lowell Area Schools and Sue Smith of Forest Hills Junior High School.

In addition to receiving the certificates, the girls' names will be engraved on a plaque presented to their schools by Farm Bureau Insurance.

The second place certificates were awarded to Laurie Harris of Lowell and Barbara Thoman of Forest Hills. Third place awards went to Sara Smith of Lowell and Amy Zelent of Forest Hills.

The school awards were presented to the six young ladies by Dale Johnson, Farm Bureau Insurance Group agent of Alto.

Over 200 schools and 4,000 students participated in this year's contest, which was conducted through 42 Farm Bureau Insurance Group offices around the State.

In five years, the essay contest has expanded from a Lansing area competition to a massive statewide program. The topic, "What is my bill of rights for America?" is designed to encourage youth to seriously consider the heritage and future of America.

For the 1972 Essay Contest, Freedoms Foundation conferred the George Washington Honor Medal Award on Farm Bureau Insurance Group in February. This was the fifth consecutive award in as many years.

The local school awards represent an important first plateau in the statewide contest. Student essays earning a first place award are entered in statewide competition for the top award, a fully expense-paid, four-day, three-night trip to Washington, D.C. for student, parents and teacher. A Chicago weekend, and a trip to Mackinac Island await the second and third place winners, respectively. Also, display flags will be awarded to the top three state essayists and their schools.

A student at Lowell Junior High School, Miss Canfield wrote her essay on the "Bill of Rights." Her winning entry follows:

John F. Kennedy once said, "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country." How many of us have listened, I mean really listened to what he said?

In this poverty stricken world of pollution, drugs, ghetto streets and overpopulation for real? In the same sense, there is another world, a world of beautiful things... friendship... peace... togetherness... love... a sunny spring day. In reality do these seem, let's say different worlds make one?

How many of us have taken the time to ask ourselves this question? What can I do for my country? Can I wave my magic wand and say "ZAP" and have love and happiness fall from the sky? No... I can't, but there are other things I can do for my country. If I am a leader I can set goals that will improve my country. If I am a follower I can support my leaders, raise funds, I can show my love for my neighbors, friends, enemies and my country by helping the poor, listening to a troubled friend, and being kind.

America, land of the free, America, a democratic land of people, for the people and by the people. The constitution, upon which our law is based... what does it have in it for me? I feel that the law that's unfair to the youth of America is to say, you cannot drive legally until you are sixteen years of age. You can't drink until you are eighteen. You cannot vote until you are eighteen. We are individuals, not robots that have to be programmed. We are different. We think different thoughts. Some individuals mature faster than others. There is no certain age for each level of maturity.

There are some constitutional rights we do have, but our elders do not observe. The right to say what we think. There is a difference between respectfully stating an opinion, and "sassing back." Many young people are begging to be heard. I think if more people would be willing to listen, life would be easier for lots of young people to cope with.

"What Is My Bill of Rights for America?" is the winning composition of Miss Smith. She wrote:

My bills of rights, For which I'll fight, They were given to me So to be free. When I was given this bill, It was out of my free will. I can write what I want, And say what I want. I can express my feelings Without kneeling. When I sleep, I shall not weep. But dream and dream, A beautiful dream. Not in fear. That anyone here, Would disobey my right to fight, For what I feel is right. This land is your land, This land is my land. This land is everybody's land. Until man is no longer around.

LOWELL WINNERS—Lori Canfield, Laurie Harris and Sara Smith.

FOREST HILLS WINNERS—Barbara Thoman and Sue Smith (absent Amy Zelent).

Between The Book Ends

We try to make it easy for you to read. At Kent County member library, you may borrow records, books and magazines without a library card. Just sign the slip with your name and take the books with you when you leave.

Kent County system libraries have many large print titles for those who have trouble seeing the print. The print in these books is twice the size of the original and yet most of these books are the same size and weight as standard editions. Many of the latest titles are available upon request.

At your Kent County member library, "Contemporary American Indian Leaders," by Marian Gidley, is a young adult book about current Indian organizers and their thoughts.

With the advent of summer days and nice weather, our story hour came to a close last week on Tuesday afternoon. We heard our favorite story "Amy's Doll" on record again and then Mrs. Briggs read the story of "Ferdinand the Bull." We finished decorating our plant containers, had a little time for finger painting and then we had a peanut hunt. Matt Vredenburg found the most peanuts and won 2 free tickets to the movies.

Story hour will resume again in October next fall.

Peak Period For Rabies

Rabies is around all year, but the peak periods are late winter and spring, reveals Gary Rash, Dog Warden for the City of Lowell.

Rabies is an acute, infectious, virus disease of the central nervous system of warm-blooded animals, Rash continued. This occurs mainly in wild animals but is also known quite well in the dog family. Humans can receive rabies through contamination with the infected saliva of rabid animals. This can be done by bites or licks.

Human rabies is very rare, but the violence of its symptoms and its inevitable fatality make it one of the most dreaded diseases.

Any animal can be a carrier of rabies. If someone in your family gets bitten by an animal, take them to a physician immediately. Also, you should notify the Health Department and Police Department.

Remember, an animal suspected of rabies should not be killed, unless there is no other way to capture it. If the animal has to be killed, be sure not to damage the brain. The brain is needed for laboratory analysis.

Do not keep wild animals around the house, for they are the main source of rabies. Also, keep your dog penned up, tied up on your house. A dog running at large can easily become infected with rabies from wild animals.

As most of you know we now have an Animal Warden in the City of Lowell. Local and State ordinances will be watched closely. A warning on a violation will be given when it is felt that just a warning is necessary. If it is felt a warning is not sufficient, then a citation will be issued immediately.

We have a large number of children in Lowell who will be spending a lot of time outside this summer. Let's keep the dogs from running loose so we can lower the risk of rabies infection.

Care for Your Car

HOW TO ASSURE A JOYFUL VACATION

Make Certain Your Car Is Ready for Safe Trouble-Free Motoring

Is your car in shape for the strenuous schedule of summer travel you have planned? Or, like too many in this country, is it a candidate for an exasperating, expensive and possibly dangerous breakdown? It's a lamentable fact that too many motorists will expect a thoroughbred's performance from a car that is, in fact, more like a candidate for the Swayback Derby. Study after study shows that in critical safety and performance areas, the average car is not equipped to handle the long, hard driving most vacation trips require. Why is this so? Why do John and Jane Owner allow their cars to deteriorate? Champion Spark Plug Company recently conducted a survey which sought to determine the reasons for tune-up neglect. While the survey concentrated on tune-up, it is probable that the rationalizations given for not buying needed tune-up apply to other maintenance musts as well. The major reasons cited were: My car is running fine just the way it is. I don't have the money. As plausible as these reasons may have seemed to the motorists, they often defy either fact or logic (or both).

Consider these facts. Are most cars running fine just the way they are? Not according to compulsory vehicle check lanes or private diagnostic clinics. More than half the cars inspected at these facilities show dangerous safety and operational defects, many of them unknown to the car owner.

Who said, "I don't have the money"? Few of us have all the money we need. But a few dollars spent on preventive maintenance can save a lot of dollars spent on corrective maintenance. A squirt of lubricant often can forestall the breakdown of an expensive part. Certainly, there are reasons and excuses for everything. But you've invested too much money in your car to allow it to deteriorate. And you'll be investing too much hard-earned time and money on your vacation to let it be spoiled by a malfunctioning car. Bring your car in for a pre-vacation check at your favorite service outlet and really enjoy your summer driving.

Car Care Makes Roads Carefree

A scenic highway is a great place to enjoy life on a vacation trip. When a car is purring along the open road, the cares of the shop and the office seem as remote as the moon. That's why the smart car owner will make sure his vehicle is in shape for the trip — to keep those troubles remote. For, somehow, a beautiful stretch of highway can become a nightmare if your car is disabled along the shoulder. Care for Your Car to make sure every mile you travel is a joyous one.

Mysteries of Single-Car Accidents May be Traced To Worn Out Shocks

One of the fastest growing and most mysterious fatal accident statistics is the single car accident. It recalls when, for some undetermined reason, a car leaves the road and strikes a fixed object. Since victims of the single car accident cannot explain what happened, causes of the tragedy are difficult to determine. According to some traffic experts, a possible reason for at least some of the single car fatalities could be worn shock absorbers. When shocks are worn, a panic stop, possibly caused by an animal darting onto the roadway, could result in the car's front wheels lifting off the road's surface. This action could result in loss of control by the driver. Also, when shocks are defective, taking a curve at high speeds could mean loss of control. The average effective life of shock absorbers is about two years or 24,000 miles of driving. Beyond that point, shocks generally lose effective-ness and pose a safety hazard. Therefore, the motorist is advised to have the condition of the shocks checked routinely when the car is on the hoist for an oil change, lube job, wheel alignment or similar service. Motorists are also advised to match up the replacement shocks with the type of driving they do. In over-the-road driving with normal loads, regular shocks generally suffice. However, with frequent driving over rough roads and at high speeds, a heavy duty shock may be needed.

SEE AND BE SEEN! Among the most common reasons for rejection at vehicle inspection stations throughout the country are items affecting visibility. In some areas as high as a 50 percent rejection rate occurs on items such as lights and windshield wiper and washer systems. Experts say that headlight aiming should be checked several times a year. Wiper blades should be replaced every six months.

Some Motor Accidents Traced to Missed Meal

Abnormally low blood-sugar levels, induced by missed meals, may be a direct cause of accidents. This is the view of Miss M. S. Christian, Head of the Accident and Emergency Department at Wexham Park Hospital, Slough, England. In accident studies she found that several truck drivers who crashed for no apparent reason had extremely low blood-sugar levels.

In three cases, the drivers were either confused, faint or ill but each recovered after a shot of intravenous glucose and a meal. None of them was diabetic and all were young and healthy. The common factor was that each driver had at least 12 hours' starvation. This new danger was discovered by Miss Christian during a survey she is undertaking of the "unknown factors" in road accidents.

The survey, which will also look into the effects of such factors as tranquillizers and diabetes, includes a question to establish the relationship between the time of the accident and the last meal.

Symptoms associated with low blood-sugar are weakness, drowsiness, dizziness, mental confusion, double vision, aggression and other abnormal behavior. Because symptoms can show at levels not much lower than those after the normal 12 hour overnight fast, anyone undertaking a long journey should not skip a meal.

Truck drivers who make early starts without breakfasts are obviously at risk but so may be people on slimming diets. Just how widespread the problem is is not known, but clearly should be a matter of concern.

CAR CARE QUIZ THE NUMBERS GAME

If you are the typical driver, you'll put considerably more mileage on your car during spring and summer than you do in the cold weather months. That means your odometer will be spinning a lot faster. If your odometer could talk as well as spin, it might be the best car care adviser you've ever had. Why? The mileage recorded on the odometer is often an indication of when to have vital maintenance performed. This quiz links mileage with suggested service intervals. So, see how well you can listen to your silent odometer.

School Districts Faced With Increased Wages

School districts will have to exceed present federal wage guidelines, if Michigan teachers are to retain their current purchasing ability.

A report from the Michigan Education Association's Research Division shows that the prices of consumer goods and services are nearly five percent higher than a year ago. It also notes that food prices overall are ten percent higher, while meats, poultry and fish have increased 20 percent.

The report reveals that in 1972-73 salaries for beginning teachers increased 2.7 percent over 1971-72. In the same period of time, the Consumer Price Index increased by 3.65%.

The result is a decrease, by nearly one percent, in the purchasing power of this year's beginning teachers, when compared with the purchasing ability of 1971-72's beginning teachers.

Experienced teachers with masters' degrees had a 4.3% increase in salary schedule in 1972-73. This actually translated into only .6 (6/10 of 1%) increase in purchasing power.

To offset this problem, MEA says local school districts and the state legislature must consider an increase of six to ten percent necessary to provide teachers with adequate salaries in 1973-74.

Editor's Mail Box

BIRD'S EYE VIEW

This letter will note some observations relative to your food costs. You have heard and read many things about food prices and likely you are confused. One thing you are sure about and that is food is costing you more.

For years you have been led down the primrose path of relatively low food prices. With those low prices it meant the farmer never got a glimpse of that primrose path. Prices to farmers have been simply a matter of supply and demand. His efficiency in recent years has maintained and increased the food supply. This was done in spite of fewer farmers than anytime in this century.

His production per man hour has increased more than any industry or any other segment of our economy.

Now his costs of production have risen terrifically. Inflation and organized labor costs are all built into everything he buys. Yet the grower cannot pass these costs on directly like industry because the prices he gets are based purely on supply and demand—mostly on supply. Unlike industry he cannot control production with 10 days notice.

In a normal growing year the crops and livestock supply has been good with farmer's income very close to cost of production. 1972 was different. Natural disasters in several areas resulted in some growers losing everything and for others it was a year in which they 'hit'. Normal prices are so low that they must have a 'hit' year every 3 to 5 years for survival. For growers who were not in the disaster area, 1972 was a 'hit' year for those who grew potatoes, carrots, onions, blueberries, head lettuce, peaches, etc.

Farmers have been at the bottom of the economic totem pole. For their increased efficiency, high investment, high risk, and recent increased costs, this is not justice. They can only guess at what they will get for their food next fall. They cannot add on to prices received. The $4 per gallon gasoline increase that took place in Montcalm County April 10th and the 17.5% increase in fertilizer costs within the last two years. All other production costs have similarly risen.

Is the farmer making a killing? No, he has been nearly killed. Michigan net income per farm in 1971 was $3,022. In 1972 it was $4,071. Last year was an improvement but not enough. H. J. Heinz, Ore-Ida's parent company, found it more profitable to purchase potatoes than to grow them. They were willing to take a three million dollar loss to get rid of their farms in Mexico and Idaho.

Now, Mr. Consumer, the days of cheap food prices are over. This is unfortunate for the low-income and unemployed families. What is a fair price for food? You, the consumer, have the slightest idea because you don't know the cost of food production and marketing. So, don't complain until you find those answers.

If you had been paying 20¢ for a loaf of bread and it went to 30¢ that's outrageous. If you had been paying 40¢ and it went to 30¢ per loaf that would be a bargain to you. This means the price of food is a relative thing—depending on what you paid previously. The time has arrived for the consumer to realign his priorities. More money will be going for food. This may mean driving a $3,000 car instead of a $5,000 one or one snowmobile in the family rather than three. The savings will be going for food.

This is Bird's eye view of the food situation by one who has taught agriculture, owns a farm, and has direct contact with 475 growers at the present time.

Center Dedicated

A $3 million Center of Free Enterprise was dedicated here on the grounds of the Amway Corporation of Ada with dignitaries and some five thousand spectators present. Erected and maintained entirely of private funds, the Center was built to commemorate the millions of Americans, especially Amway distributors, who still believe in the free enterprise system which has made our country the economic giant of the world today.

Open to the public, the Center contains exhibits from the Hall of Free Enterprise of the New York World's Fair and also houses the Free Enterprise Institute, an educational facility which will conduct seminars on the subject.

Among the hundreds of cables and letters of congratulations addressed to Amway Chairman Jay VanAndel and President Richard M. DeVos, was one from Vice President Spiro Agnew expressing his feeling that the Center of Free Enterprise and its educational facilities will play a unique role in promoting a broader understanding of the importance and value of our free enterprise system.

A large number of State Governors and leaders in industry from throughout the nation sent messages of congratulations to the two Amway executives, expressing admiration for their contribution and support for the Center of Free Enterprise and the ideals for which it stands.

Tight Race Going For Diamond Title

Forty Tri-River Conference baseball games have been played this season, and only two remain. In one of the remaining contests, Sparta High School will play at Belding and, if Belding can pull out a victory, the league race could end in a four-way tie among Belding, two-time defending champion Sparta, Lakewood and Lowell.

Lowell's Red Arrows made possible the quadrangular possibility last Thursday with a surprisingly 10-0 shut-out of Belding in a game shortened to five innings by the 10-run lead rule. In the battle for the cellar, Coopersville, a team which had lost 12 straight games, won its second straight with an 8-4 win over Cedar Springs to doom the losing Red Hawks to the league cellar.

Expand Karate Class

Response to the first eight week course in Okimawan Shorin Ryu Karate, sponsored by the Lowell YMCA was excellent. Because of this, it has been decided to expand the classes to twice a week workouts.

On Saturday mornings from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon, and on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 8:30 p.m., students of the art will gather at the Junior High Gym to learn the skills of Karate and Self Defense.

Visitors are welcome to watch, but beware, you may find yourself wanting to join the class! That's no problem though. If you find yourself interested you may join any time. The fees are paid monthly, and are only $4.50 non-members and $4 for Y-members for the first member of a family. If your spouse or children want to join, their fee is only $2 for each additional member of the immediate family.

The workout is scheduled to begin Saturday, June 16, 10:30 a.m. at the Junior High Gym. The summer classes are open to both men and women, age 12 and older.

Stop by early and watch the Judo classes which begin at 9 a.m. Saturdays, also being sponsored by the YMCA. It will be a very interesting morning for you. Join the fun, learn something helpful and feel great. Additional questions may be answered by calling 897-8924, or by contacting the YMCA office 897-7375. The club is also available for demonstrations for club meetings or banquets, etc. If you are interested, call Mrs. Weeks, one of the instructors, at 897-8924. Demonstrations can be of any length and are very entertaining.

Bass and Pike Popular Fish

Bass and northern pike seasons are in full swing despite the less-than-ideal weather. Wet and windy conditions have kept many sportsmen from the water, but those willing to endure the adverse weather have generally been rewarded well. Bass, as well as bluegills, will be found in water less than 12 feet deep in many lakes as they prepare to spawn. When these fish are found on their beds, they are much easier to locate and often strike readily at anything too near their nests.

Fishermen will find a wide variety of artificial baits effective for bass fishing as well as natural baits such as nightcrawlers and minnows. Favorite spots for bass include the Flat, Muskegon, and the upper stretches of the Thornapple Rivers, and Murray, Campau, Morrison, and Lincoln Lakes. Excellent catches of bass were reported on Wabasis and Bostwick Lakes by anglers fishing off weeds, logs, and drop-offs.

Tri-Beta is a service organization that brings lecturers to the Michigan State University campus to give presentations in various areas of the Natural Sciences (Forestry, Fisheries and Wildlife, Zoology, and Botany).

Ag Outlook Is Uncertain

We don't really know what to expect for agriculture this year according to Walter Wittenbach, Chairman, Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Quoting from Carroll G. Brunthaver, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, who stated, "We don't know if the Russians will get a bumper grain crop though the odds are they won't. They had an extremely cold winter in 1971-72 with heavy winter kill followed by a severe summer drought."

"We don't know if India will buy a lot of grain because of major production difficulties caused by failure of monsoon rains. Australia and South Africa also had serious droughts."

"The Peruvian fishmeal industry which normally supplies an important part of the world's protein feed, suspended operations because of poor catches. We don't know if they will be back with significant production. We don't even know yet if U. S. farmers will be able to get into their rain-soaked fields in time to get anything like the crop plantings and yields they have planned."

"We do know, however, that demand for farm products will be very strong and we believe the U. S. has a strong comparative advantage in agriculture."

"We have unmatched natural resources for farming with abundant fertile acres," Brunthaver continued. "We have a long lead in research and technology. We have a huge investment already made in our excellent farm supply system and in our marketing system for farm products."

"Our transportation system, though overloaded by the sudden rush of farm exports this year, is already gearing up for increased traffic, with over 9,000 hopper cars on order April 1, new barges on order, the nation's highways being improved. All of this adds to our comparative advantage."

"Finally, we have the world's finest corps of farm managers-unmatched for education, technical know-how and business acumen. They are the survivors of a very tough school."

Summer Workshop For Band, Orchestra Students

A summer workshop for high school band and orchestra students will be held on the Eastern Michigan University campus in Ypsilanti from June 17 through June 29.

A balanced schedule of classes, recitals and recreational activities provide a valuable experience for students in grades 9 through 12.

In addition to performing with the band or orchestra, students may participate in classes in theory, conducting, and in chamber ensembles and recitals.

Registration forms may be obtained from University Conferences, Division of Field Services, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, Mich. 48197.

Housewife's Time Blocks

"I'd like to come back to college, but I just don't have time to be on campus every day." All too often the potential woman student with a family makes this comment.

To overcome this objection, Grand Rapids Junior College will offer several classes in three-hour time blocks beginning this fall. Women-or men-for that matter-who are interested in such courses may select from several areas: English, Speech, Psychology, Political Science, Sociology-and earn as many as 6 credit hours in a semester by returning only one day a week.

Interested individuals are urged to call 456-4916 regarding these courses.

When it's a matter of forms... put it up to us!

When it comes to your invoices, order forms, shipping labels, etc., come to us. We'll design forms to fit your business like a glove, print them to perfection!

Dr. Ritsema Speaks To Local Teachers

Dr. Jeffrey Ritsema, an optometrist who has established practice in the Forest Hills Professional Building, recently contributed to our community in a series of lectures given at each of the elementary schools of the Forest Hills school system.

Dr. Ritsema and his associate, Dr. Michael Caplia, are the first team of eye care professionals to locate in the Forest Hills area.

Jane's Jabber

As weatherman, Buck Matthews, said Monday night, "the weekend was enough to cause one to go to the basement—start building an ark and gathering in the animals." He was right, there, all right!

On what would otherwise have been another gloomy Sunday, our day was brightened by the arrival of "Henry's" baby, "Henry," short for Henrietta, is a bay mare horse.

Now, no human female in the same condition could receive any more careful scrutiny. It could provide more as a subject for conversation, than a mare horse who is about to foal.

To Local Teachers

These visual difficulties often result in academic underachievement and can be dealt with by a qualified eye doctor. He stressed the importance of early detection and treatment of visual difficulties and that it is the ultimate responsibility of the parents to maintain the visual welfare of their family.

Often, as the time of foaling is believed to be imminent, the alarm clock is set and the would-be midwives tuggle sleepily out every hour to check the mare's progress—if any.

There is a certain thrill in being on hand for the great event, but this happens rarely. On only a couple of occasions has the mother-to-be obliged me. It would seem that horses, like humans, prefer to give birth during the night time hours. But, it is a miracle to witness, for without any prenatal instruction in the art of natural birth, and usually without obstetrical aids, the mare foals—with no fuss—no furor. (She doesn't have to take the curlers out of her hair, pack a bag and make a mad dash for the hospital). She simply finds her place in the pasture and lets the miracle happen.

And so it was with "Henry" last Sunday morning, early. There was the foal, discovered during morning chores. Only an hour or so old, but up on wobbly legs, she was a pretty little "chocolate mist" colored filly.

Word spread and very shortly "Coco" (tentatively named) had an audience for the rest of the day. No hospital visiting hours here.

Soil Stewardship

Governor William Milliken and the 85 Soil Conservation Districts throughout Michigan have united to declare the week of May 27-June 3 "Soil Stewardship Week."

The nationwide observance calls attention to the importance of soil and water conservation activities in utilizing natural resources for the benefit of mankind.

B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture and chairman of the State Soil Conservation committee, points out that Michigan's soil conservation districts, organized and administered by local people, have for many years provided leadership in carrying out effective soil and water conservation programs.

Theme of this year's observance is "Changing Challenges," which emphasizes the need for soil conservation practices in urban as well as rural areas.

OPEN LETTER from DAVID GERST
Dear Friends,
After a family experiences a bereavement, it is often suggested that the family move slowly in attending to various legal and financial matters. These will involve such persons as the attorney, the bank, the insurance counselors, and their best advice should be sought. In matters that do not require an immediate decision, the passing of a little time may encourage the right decisions to be made.
Respectfully,
David Gerst

Snowboat Issues Call For Talent

One of the outstanding Talent Search events in Michigan is underway according to the chairman, Dr. Clark Vredenburg, of the Lowell Lions Club, sponsors of the event.

All individuals and groups desiring to compete in the 1973 Lowell Showboat Talent Search should write to "Talent Search," Lowell Showboat, Lowell, Michigan 49331.

Description of their act and talent, name of group, age (if an individual), number of persons in group acts, and address and telephone number should be included in the correspondence.

Dr. Vredenburg, who advises early entries, added that all entrants would be notified by mail when to appear for their auditions. Deadline for entries is June 9.

Auditions are scheduled for June 18 and 19 at 7 p.m. in the Lowell High School Auditorium. From the two nights of auditioning approximately 40 acts will be selected to compete in the Pre-Showboat finals on July 14, on the Showboat dock-stage.

Twelve winners will have the opportunity of appearing, two acts per evening, on the Showboat during the first weekend, July 19-21 and the second weekend, July 26-28.

Heading the first weekend show will be "The Mark Curb Congregation" "Boots Raldolph" will be the featured star the second weekend.

Jam Session Creates 'Goodwood' Sound

If you were above the Cascade Dam on the Thornapple River on the afternoon of Memorial Day, the sound that you heard was not that good 'WOOD' sound, but was that 'Goodwood' sound from the yard of Lyman and Mid Sperry on the Thornapple River.

The party on their property was given by a former Thornapple River resident of about 12 years ago, Bob Willwerth, currently of Los Altos, California, who entertained a group of 60 of his old friends and practically all of them old-time musicians. The music was—what else?—a strictly Dixie jam session.

Among those participating were Bill Watkins, John Jarosch, Shelley Robinson, George Davis, Max Udell, Johnnie Bulgarella, Ozzie Kristen, Eddie Ryder and Walt Palm and Sy Dykhouse, both of Cascade.

Nobody went thirsty—and a lovely lunch was catered in.

A piano was obtained for the occasion from Grinnell Bros.

It was a most momentous occasion for those attending and a great time was had by all.

Join Intensive Campaign For Community College

Plans for an intensive campaign to secure Community College status for Grand Rapids Junior College have been announced by Everett C. VanSlyke, chairman of the Community College Citizens Committee. The Committee, composed of interested citizens from throughout the Kent Intermediate School District, hopes to achieve a "Yes" vote on both June 11 ballot proposals concerning the Community College issue.

According to VanSlyke, the campaign is directed at "clarifying the two proposals and giving public exposure to the issues involved." The campaign is spearheaded by citizens who have volunteered their services and time to work on various committees for the passage of both proposals.

The Community College Citizens Executive Committee, for example, is comprised of VanSlyke, Grand Rapids; Mrs. Sam Massie, East Grand Rapids; James Avery, Godwin; David Clark, Caledonia; Mrs. Barbara Roberts, Grandville; Mrs. Harriet Jones, Forest Hills; Charles Porter, Grand Rapids; James VanSweden, Wyoming; and Casey Wondergem, Grand Rapids.

A body of major importance to the campaign is the Coordinating Committee, consisting of citizens from each of the 20 school districts which collectively form the Kent Intermediate School District. These committee members are actively working within their respective communities to inform voters on the local ramifications of voting Community College status for Grand Rapids Junior College.

Members of the Committee are: Charles Porter, Grand Rapids; Ed Berends, Byron Center; William Reed, Caledonia; Russell Durst, Cedar Springs; Mrs. Arthur Holland, Comstock Park; John Mackay, East Grand Rapids; William Colvin, Forest Hills.

Terry Sommerdyke, Godfrey-Lee; Ronald Duemler, Godwin Heights; Duane Ensing, Grandville; Floyd Wickerham, Kelloggville; Claire Houran, Kenowa Hills; Carl Waldherr, Kent City; Gene Cooper, Kentwood; Harold Metternick, Lowell.

To Enter U of M As Regents-Alumni Scholars

Two Lowell high school girls among a total of 1,160 outstanding Michigan high school graduates who will enter The University of Michigan in Ann Arbor this year, are honored as Regents-Alumni Scholars.

They are Marie Alice and Mary Pauline Anderson of 7181 Knapp Road, Ada.

Each year the University selects Regents-Alumni Scholars for their "superior academic achievement and their potential contribution to the scholarly community of The University of Michigan."

University alumni play an active part in the selection procedure. Finalists, chosen from all applicants for freshman admission, are referred to local alumni for interviews and recommendations. Nearly 300 Michigan alumni took part this year.

Regents-Alumni Scholars receive a certificate and a $50 honorarium. Financial need is not a consideration in the selection.

Governmental Units Form Regional Planning Commission

In accordance with a substate regionalism program being carried out throughout the state, a group of counties, cities and townships in western Michigan are gathering together to form a West Michigan Regional Planning Commission. This body will be an umbrella type planning organization responsible for developing planning programs and for coordinating all areawide planning efforts within the region.

The region in question is referred to as Region 8; one of a total of 14 planning districts in the state. The region covers 9 counties, namely Mason, Lake, Osceola, Montcalm, Mecosta, Newaygo, Ionia, Kent and Allegan, and also includes the major cities and townships within those counties.

MOLDING PREVENTS CHIPPING

Inexpensive chrome or plastic molding available at auto supply stores will help prevent chipped paint on car door edges. The molding slips over the door edges and stops paint from chipping when the doors are opened against a garage wall or adjacent cars.

Miss Lowell Showboat 1972 is Miss Cheryl Lynn Hoyle of Grand Rapids. Cheryl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Brink. A sophomore at Western Michigan University, Cheryl is majoring in Communication Arts and Sciences, and hopes to enter the field of television and theatrical work.

Cheryl will be performing a dramatic reading at the Miss Michigan Pageant in Muskegon, where she will represent the Lowell Showboat. She will also present her talent at the 1973 Miss Lowell Showboat Pageant on June 2. The Lowell Area Jaycees, who sponsor the local pageant and our Queen's Miss Michigan entry, are proud of Cheryl Lynn and wish her success in Muskegon.
