Area Businesses Take Steps To Save Energy

While we, at the Ledger, have turned back the thermostat, agreed to dress warmer and make a drastic attempt to lower the lights, we began to wonder if other businesses and residents were, too, making any attempts to be conservative during this apparent period of crisis.

A quick survey of various businesses and industries in the area was made to determine what they are, or are not doing, to comply with President Nixon's request to conserve energy.

One of the major conservative steps has been taken at Root-Lowell Corporation where employees have been placed on a four day, 10 hour work week.

This action, according to a company spokesman will eliminate one set-up day, which, electricity-wise, is a big consumer. Thermostats have been turned down to 65 degrees in the plant, 68 degrees in the office, and lights in unused areas, such as storage rooms, etc., which normally burn all day, have been turned off.

At Eberhard's Warehouse Economy Mart time clocks which regulate outside lighting have been reset requiring less 'on' time. Other measures to cut down are being studied, but will not go into effect until word is received from the main office.

Lippert Pharmacy's thermostats now read 68 degrees. and owner Chuck Lippert has ordered all advertising signs to be turned off at 9 p.m. instead of midnight. Using only the minimum of security lights, we'll keep the lights in our back room off, when the area is not in use, Lippert revealed.

A spokesman at Lowell Area Schools reveals the thermostats have been turned down some, and night classes are being consolidated into one area in order to cut down on their consumption of electricity. Parking lot lights at the new Middle School will be turned off, except when special night activities are being held.

Franks 5¢ to $1 store will be turning on their front window lights later on the nights that they're open, and not turning them on at all when they close at 5:30. Besides turning their heat down during the day, they will shut the heating plant down when the store is closed.

During the course of the survey, we found some businesses with "no comment," while others were turning back the thermostats, some were adding insulation to parts of their buildings, and some were installing storm windows for the first time.

A different type of attitude was reached when area residents were contacted. One offered this suggestion-People can change their shopping habits, and have done so before. With rationed gas most people will be staying at home evenings. So, why couldn't Main Street stores close at 5:30 six days a week, beginning the day after Christmas, and continue it through January, February and March? All food stores, drug stores and restaurants should close at seven o'clock, and eliminate Sunday openings. Oil stations and garages could close at 8. A y business that does not cooperate should be censor d and then ignored by the citizens.

Ancher housewife feels her big savings will be made in the fact that where she used to cook at least three meals at night for different individuals of the family-one supper hour will be observed . . . "bring about the fact this will be the first time in several years that we've all sat down to the supper table at the same time. I've also consolidated all of the family wash, instead of washing a load here and there, it will all be done at once.'

Another homeowner explained that she'd been conservative for years, and there wasn't too much more she could cut back, except maybe go back to using an

In all, in one way or another, businesses and residents seem to be rallying around to support the local and national pleas to cut back.

Away from the local scene, one of the major cut backs is being made by Michigan Bell Telephone Company. An extensive state-wide energy saving campaign is being waged.

Lowell Light & Power, with its fuel oil allotment cut to 90% continues its plea with area residents to do their part in conserving energy.

William G. Rosenberg, chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission estimated that Bell's cutbacks will produce energy savings sufficient to light a community of 800 homes for a year and to heat them for four months. Gasoline savings resulting from the telephone company's program will free enough gas for residents of such a community to drive for upwards of

In addition to order a 50 mile per hour speed limit on company vehicles, other specific energy-saving measures that Michigan Bell is ordering into effect include:

- A reduction to 68 degrees in day time termperatures in offices in the company's 300 buildings around the state and to 55 degrees in unattended central offices.
- A nominal temperature of 50 degrees in garages during the heating season, with heat shut off in seldom used rooms such as storerooms, except when there is a danger of freeze-up and a minimum of 40 degrees will be maintained.
- Tests will be reduced on stand-by generators which provide emergency power to insure continuity of telephone service during commercial power shortages.
- Lighting will be limited in building corridors, cafeterias and lounge areas to the minimum necessary for their safe use. Security lighting will be retained.

The company also is banning the use of all decorative lighting, including Christmas decorations, through-

In addition, Michigan Bell will restrict other advertising lighting. All billboard advertising will be shut off at 9 p.m., and business office interior and display lights will be turned off after office hours.

Michigan Bell's familiar Yellow Pages sign which for years has flashed weather information to thousands of freeway motorists from atop the company's Oakman Building, near the Lodge and Davison interchange, will be lighted only during the evening rush hour.

Although some other companies are undertaking similar conservation steps, Michigan Bell's program will have a particularly significant impact because of its size. The telephone company operates the largest private fleet in the state, is Michigan's biggest private employer next to the "Big Three," and serves more customers than any other firm.

Power Board Searches For Fuel

On November 15, 1973, John Jones, superintendent of Lowell Light & Power, attended a mid-west meeting in Chicago concerning the energy crisis, the availability of fuel for utilities, both municipal and privately owned and the problems the government is having of allocation of fuel to all users. At the same time King Doyle, chairman of the Light & Power board, was in Lansing meeting with the Department of Conservation and the governor's task force on emergency fuel allocations. He was told that while municipalities were high priority, in their opinion, the fuel situation is still very critical and we must all continue to conserve all fuel possible.

Two suggestions for your own home: (1) If the light is not needed, turn it off. (2) Run your refrigerator at as warm as it will safely keep your food. If you have an older one with a frost build-up, keep this cleaned off, as you will have much more efficient operation and you will save money.

Water customers are warned that during this period water may be discolored due to flushing.

Only four area hunters have reported their successes to the Ledger, so far, as the 1973 firearm deer season opened last Thursday. Opening morning at 9 a.m. Peter Mulder of Lowell bagged a 6 pointer; 7:20 a.m. Ronald Anderson, Lowell, 6 pointer which weighed between 155-160 lbs.; Jerry Rogers of the Alto Tavern shot a 6 point buck without even getting his shirt

Sixteen-year-old Bill Wierenga shot his first deer opening day behind their house at the corner of Bailey and Cumberland Avenue. It was a nice eight point-

One Sunday caller reported four big bucks hanging at Ozzie's Fruit Stand on Cascade Road, but failed to give his name, and we were unable to contact him. When our photographer arrived on the scene, only one deer remained.

FOUND BEFORE MISSING . . .

Lowell Police were advised on November 12 by Frank Baker of Lowell that his car was stolen at approximately 5:30 p.m. from the city garage. Mr. Baker thought his daughter had taken the car, but when contacted, she had no idea where the car was. The vehicle was recovered by the Kent County Sheriff's Department before the car was even reported missing by

ANOTHER CAR STOLEN . . .

Another car reported stolen November 12 was a 1968 Dodge Polara, 4 door, from Jackson Motor Sales on West Main Street. The vehicle sitting outside of Jacksons with the keys in it was about to be driven home by Mr. Jackson when he found it missing. Later in the evening the car was spotted by Lowell Police in the area of Murray Lake Road and Abraham

The driver, identified as a juvenile, was being sought by local authorities in connection with the theft. A chase ensued and the driver of the stolen car finally lost control of the vehicle at Two Mile and

The subject fled the car and was not located until November 14 when he admitted both thefts, and also an attempt to steal another car at Murray Lake on November 13. He was taken to the Kent County Juvenile Detention Center where he was lodged for the

Another check was cashed at the House of Townsend for a like amount. The checks belonged to Nel and Kathy Hillard of 4938 Abraham Drive, N.E., Lowell. The complaint remains under investigation by Lowell Police.

CASH REGISTER LOOTED . . .

Lowell Police are investigating a larceny complaint at Rosie Drive Inn on West Main Street. It appears that someone took $180 out of the cash register, November 14, sometime during the night after closing hours. The money was all in bills. An unlocked window was used to leave the premises.

CAR IMPOUNDED . . .

On November 14, Lowell Police were advised that a car with its lights on had been setting for some time at the end of Emery Drive, just outside of town. A check with the Secretary of State's office revealed that the car belonging to Bill Hunter was not reported stolen. According to Hunter, the car had been left at Thomet Chevrolet and Buick for repairs, and had a full tank of gas. When the car was found, it was out of gas. The car was impounded and the report remains under investigation.

WEEKEND ACCIDENTS . . .

Three property and personal injury accidents were investigated by Lowell Police over the weekend. One accident on November 15 took the authorities to East Main at Grove Street, where a car driven by Doris Marie Smith of Lowell collided with a car driven by Robert Lee Magee of Saranac. Mrs. Smith was indicated at fault for failure to yield the right-of-way at a marked intersection.

A collision at the intersection of West Main Street and Hudson resulted in personal injury to a passenger, Sandra Faye Hansen of Lowell, who received a laceration to the forehead. She was riding in a car driven by Shirley Ann Marvin of Lowell. The Marvin car, which failed to yield the right-of-way at a marked intersection, hit a car driven by Arthur Lee Tuin of Wyom-

Failing to stop in the assured clear distance ahead was indicated as the cause of an accident November 16 at West Main and Riverside Drive, in which a car driven by Constance Diane LaBine of Lowell was hit by a car driven by Thomas Richard Pether of Rock-

FIE AND FOR SHAME-WE GOOFED . . .

Although the neglect of many does not excuse the neglect of others, the number who voted in the November 6 election for Lowell City Council members was so pitiably small, the results failed to receive proper attention and the Ledger went to press without publishing the outcome.

We spologize to the 154 people (out of the 1575 registered City voters) who cast their ballots and also to the candidates receiving their votes!!

Tom Walsh, father of Michigan aviation, the day's speaker, was introduced by Al Hermans. Speaking on the topic, "Aviation in the Good Ol" Days" Mr. Walsh recounted the history of flying in Michigan during his 23 years as Director of Aeronautics for Michigan

Mr. Walsh told of the problems encountered in the early days of aviation, lack of airports, lack of money to build airports, etc. He also related the names of Lowell residents who were helpful to his cause, Mel McPherson, Carlton Runciman and Lou Yeiter. Telling how aviation is a growing hobby, Mr. Walsh noted several Rotarians who are licensed pilots: Dr. Kyser, Dr. Mueller and Roger Roberts.

While everyone admits that it is a bad problem, no action is taken to correct it. With the diverters on Lincoln Lake now, it is presenting more of a traffic hazard than ever with heavy trucks and cars using Amity. Some of the students openly defy cars and trucks to hit them, on occasion even lying on their backs in the street just asking for

"M.A.K." estimated 10 to 15 being there in the morning; however, during the lunch period there are from 25 to 35 on the corner. To add to the congestion some of their friends come with cars to visit and park in the street obstructing traffic.

How can a group of students be allowed to take over a busy corner and block traffic, harrass motorists, use obscene language, litter, and trespass without semething being done??? As long as the Police and the school officials are aware that they are smoking why not provide them with a lounge and get them off the street before there is a fatal accident? Like "M.A.K."

Increase Allotments For Food Stamps

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced today that food stamp coupon allotments will increase on January 1, 1974, for all participants in the food stamp program in the 48 contiguous states and the District of Columbia.

The Food Stamp Act, as amended by the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 (Public Law 93-86), requires that coupon allotments be adjusted semiannually to reflect changes in the prices of food as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The allotment increases are based on the cost of the USDA economy food plan as it is computed from Bureau of Labor Statistics food prices. The cost of the economy food plan through August 31, 1973 was $141.60 for a family of four with school children. Accordingly, USDA will raise the value of the coupon allotment from $116 to $142 for a family of four and make appropriate adjustments for other household

On AP Poll

The only Lowell losses in the last 2 years were a dis-puted 16-14 loss to Rockford and a 12-7 loss to Ovid-Elsie, then ranked third in the state. This year, they kept their state clean, allowing only 18 points all year. But Rowe wasn't so optimistic about his team's chanc-

"I was really concerned about injuries," he now admits. "Our outlook was a little dim after the Kentwood crimmage," he adds. Injuries in that scrimmage left the Red Arrows without co-captain Don Phillips and lefensive Mark Blough. Lowell also lost defensive tandout Robert Thompson when he moved to another school district.

Rowe said some polls picked Lowell as low as fourth and he wasn't exactly looking forward to an early season schedule that had Lowell on the road for 4 straight games-including games with Belding and Sparta.

But he said his team was a close knit unit that stuck together throughout the season. "Our kids have never been real upset about people getting down in our territory," said Rowe. He said his defense would stretch a lot but seldom snapped.

And the facts bear him out. Although many teams threatened to cross Lowell's goal, only 2-Belding and Delton-scored against the Red Arrows. "We've never had real big kids here," added Rowe,

'but they've got a tremendous amount of individual pride." "This is not a showboat team," Rowe continues. "There is no talking on the bus nor is there a lot of hoopla after a win.' Rowe notes one exception, however. After Lowell beat Coopersville to clinch the title, "all of the coaches got a bath," he remembers. Before every game, Lowell has a 5 or 10 minute devotional service. "It's not mandatory," says Rowe, 'but the whole squad still attends."

He says that a different member of the clergy is invited to preside over the service every week. "It's really helped in the long run," explains Rowe. "The kids are at ease with themselves when they walk onto football field.' A result of the close knit feeling that is evident on the Red Arrow team is a more honest relationship between the players and the coaching staff. "If someone's getting hurt on the field, we want to know what's happening," Rowe elaborates.

The spirit always runs higher on a winning team than on a losing squad-especially toward the end of the season. One can't help but notice that feeling of camaraderie during Lowell practices. And it extends to the coaching staff.

asked why Lowell was the league champ again this year. "I'm very sincere when I say this," he said. 'First," he said, "There's God. Second, outstanding kids. And third, a hardworking coaching staff."

Howell Minges Wins New Snowmobile

The Jaycee's Clubhouse was the scene of much acti-vity and excitement Sunday when the Flat River Club held their meeting.

There were some happy faces and many disappointed ones when the big drawing was held. One little boy was heard to remark that "some dumb old lady doesn't know how to draw tickets!" Since your reporter wasn't a winner she is inclined to agree with the youngster.

The snowmobile was won by Howell Minges of Ann Arbor. I understand that Howell's wife, Velma, insists the prize is hers because she held the winning number, but we are going to let them fight that out by them-

The trailer was won by Cliff Post of Ada who has a machine but was going to borrow something to haul it on when he leaves for deer hunting this week. James Koster of Alto won the snowmobile suit, helmet, and boots. Sure hope he is a snowmobiler! Door prizes were won by John Will, Jane Anible, and Lucille Adrianse. Linda Wittenbach claimed the children's prize. The next club meeting will be held Sunday, Decem-

Divided Boulevard Design Approved By State

Design of a four-lane divided boulevard for 3.5 miles of M-37/44 (East Beltline) from near M-11 north to I-96 in Kentwood, Grand Rapids, East Grand Rapids and Grand Rapids Township, was approved today by the State Highway Commission.

The divided boulevard was one of two alternates under study by the Department of State Highways and Transportation. The other alternate was a non-divided five-lane highway. As approved, East Beltline will be reconstructed to provide two 12-foot lanes in each direction, divided by a 60-foot median. It is estimated to cost $6.9 million, including preliminary engineering, purchase of rightof-way and construction. It is scheduled for contract letting early in 1976.

The boulevard design would require 200 feet of right-of-way, 90 more than the existing 110 feet. The design also calls for two underpasses for Calvin College campus traffic and reconstruction of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad bridge over the highway.

Public Access For Hunting

Dorn Diehl, State Executive Director of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, reminds Michigan hunters that some of the best deer hunting is on our southern Michigan farmland and the U.S. Department of Agriculture has provided a program whereby private land owners are paid a nominal fee to allow public hunting on their lands. There are in southern Michigan over 2,000 farms that provide about 300,000 acres of hunting area. Diehl points out that there is no charge. The only requirement is that the hunter call at the farmstead and where a postcard is provided, the hunter should be sure to complete the questionnaire and mail the card to the local county Counties with the most farms are: Kent, 422; Branch 337; Hillsdale, 93; Mecosta, 99; Berrien, 103; Montcalm, 76; and Washtenaw, 48. Other counties through out the State have anywhere from 10 to 30. A list of these farms for any given county may be obtained from the local county ASCS office.

Services Many At Community Center, Volunteers Needed

The East Kent Community Center, formerly Lowell Community Center, is one of the Kent Community Action Programs (CAP) centers, and is located at 10763 Grand River Drive, 31/2 miles southwest of Established two years ago, the center has been set up to provide services to assist needy persons in the eastern portion of Kent County. Representatives of various agencies render their services from the center, saving area residents a trip into Grand Rapids. Services available at the center include:

Outreach Workers

Urban Agents are the outreach personnel who canvas the area. They identify problems and refer persons to the agencies that can assist, many of which are located in the center.

They also provide transportation, counseling, assistance with employment problems, help in finding families homes or apartments and emergency assistance for food, clothing, furniture, etc.

Health Services

A public health nurse is on duty at the center each second and fourth Monday of every month. She is here from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. for health information, counseling, health referrals and immunizations. These services are available for everyone in the

Planned Parenthood

A worker from the Planned Parenthood Association is at the center each Second and fourth Monday of each month from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. She provides information and referral for persons interested in family planning, etc.

General Counseling

Two professional counselors are available at the center for all types of counseling. Mondays-1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., Todd Johnson from Project Rehab is available. Thursdays-1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., Jack Boss from Kent Oaks is here. Please call 897-5111 for an appointment.

Advisory Board

The Center's Advisory Board is made up of area residents who are concerned about their community. People from the eastern portion of Kent County participate in meetings held once a month, on the third Wednesday of each month at 1:30 p.m. The meetings are held at the center. These meetings give area residents an opportunity to involve themselves in the planning and development of the programs and services offered at the center. The East Kent Community Center is here to serve people and we urge the involvment and active support of everyone in the area.

Volunteers

Volunteers are desperately needed to help at the center. We are in the process of implementing a comprehensive Volunteer Program. We are asking that any person interested in volunteering time for the center and its purpose, contact Karen Charon, the Director of the center at 897-5531. It is planned that Volunteers will be scheduled for a specific time convenient for them. Your help is needed. If you're interested, please inquire. We are sure that this Volunteer program will be very effective for all those involved. For more information, please call.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Remember

It will take a combined effort by everyone in the community to save electricity.
